Three New Plants Sure

By BRIAN AMARON
Staff Reporter

Belleville received an early Christmas present today with the announcement that $2.5 million worth of construction may begin in the city's north end next year.

Confirmed are three projects: an assembly and distribution plant for a large Japanese firm, another plant for a Canadian heavy industry company and an industrial plaza that will accommodate several firms. Negotiations are still under way for a 120-room Howard Johnson Hotel on North Front Street.

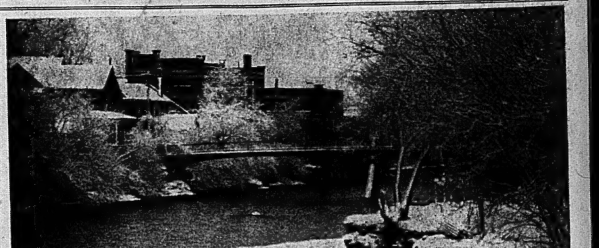
Work on the three industrial plants situated at the corner of 401 in the city's Northwest Industrial Park, will start next spring.

Tenants, several already definite, will declare themselves later.

Contractor Charles Murphy, owner and president of the Galway Group, revealed construction plans by phone from his Toronto office this morning. Son-in-law of the late Ben Bleecker of Belleville, he called the plans his "dream project for Belleville".

The two industrial plants will face Highway 401 directly east of Wilson Sports Equipment and be built on a 9.5-acre land parcel. Industrial commissioner Fred Bemis estimated their cost at approximately $300,000 each, exclusive of land costs.

As yet, the Japanese company has will lease one of the buildings remains unnamed but Mr. Murphy said it covers as 60 persons will be employed, possibly 45 from this area. He described the company as "a small offshoot of one of the largest companies in the world".



The plant will take three months to erect and house a "very small" assembly line a parts warehouse and a showroom for salesmen. Distribution will extend along Highway 401 as far as Montreal.

The other factory, fronting on Sidney Street, is similar but geared to "more heavy industry type parts." It will be the main Ontario office for the Canadian firm.

Third project in the area, the industrial plaza, is planned in stages. Galway plans to erect 30,000 square feet of multiple occupancy building at the same time as the industrial plants are going up. Another 70,000 square feet of space can be added as demand requires.

Cost here is between $500,000 and $750,000 for the entire project, according to Mr. Bemis. The price would vary depending on the tenants' requirements.

Bales Orders Fidinam Probe

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Dalton Bales told the legislature Thursday he has ordered "a full and thorough" investigation into the Fidinam affair.

Opposition members, who had demanded the investigation into the $50,000 election donation Fidinam (Ontario) Ltd. made to Progressive Conservative campaign coffers, greeted the announcement with desk-thumping approval.

Tuesday, Albert Roy (L—Ottawa East) suggested the Criminal Code may have been breached when the Swiss-based company contributed $50,000 to the party when the government-controlled Workmen's Compensation Board had approved a $15 million loan to the company and would be the major tenant in a new, $22 million building planned by the company.

Mr. Bales refused to commit himself until Thursday when he said he had instructed law officers to investigate "to ascertain whether or not there has been a breach of the criminal law".

Mr. Bales told reporters later he didn't know how long the investigation would take.

"I asked the officers to do it as expeditiously as possible. In my view it will take at least a week and probably more than that."

He said among those he expects to be questioned in the matter is William Kelly, the provincial Tory treasurer who collected the $50,000 donation from Fidinam.

Who Handled This Loan?

TORONTO (CP) — A Liberal member of the legislature said Thursday the officer who handles loans of the Workmen's Compensation Board had no knowledge of the $15 million loan made to Fidinam (Ontario) Ltd. by the board.

Eddie Sargent, who represents Grey-Bruce, said K. S. Thomson, the board's chairman of finance, told him the Fidinam loan "is the only loan that he hasn't handled."

"Who did put it through?" Mr. Sargent asked in a speech to the County Engineers of Ontario.

UN to Vote On Budget

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — A crucial vote which could affect the political and financial structure of the United Nations is scheduled today on a drive by the United States to reduce its UN assessment.

The voting is to be held in the General Assembly's budgetary committee on a U.S. resolution which would lower the American contribution to the UN's general budget to 25 per cent from its present 31.52 per cent.

Four Down, Four to Go Tally on Quinte Snow

By COLIN BRUCE, Staff Reporter

It is going to be colder and snowier outside before this weekend is through.

The storm front that brought four inches of snow to Belleville last night is now over Nova Scotia and is being replaced by a series of snow systems that will drop another three to four inches tonight and during the weekend, reports Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

The bulk of the snow will come this evening with temperatures dipping in the 20s. Flurries will continue throughout Saturday and Sunday as storm systems "come and go."

Temperatures for the weekend will hover in the high teens and reach the low 30s in the daytime, forecasts CFB Trenton.

The weather station at Tweed, the hardest hit northern community, reported two inches of snow with a low of 20 degrees.

White Lake had two inches and Palmer Rapids, generally noted for heavy snows, received only half an inch.

Both Plevna and Bancroft also received half an inch.

Health Cutback Necessary: Davis

TORONTO (CP) — Premier William Davis said Thursday that recent cutbacks in health and education spending were made to keep the province out of financial difficulty.

"There was no question," he said in an interview, "if the present rate of increases in expenditure was to continue, our deficit would ascend faster than the corresponding increase in revenue. That gap was widening.

"The province is sound," he said. "The credit of the province, for example, is very good. But we would see, in the future, if we didn't do something it would be very serious."

Mr. Davis said in health and education spending cuts reflect the province's determination to bring these areas of largest spending "under some degree of economic and financial control."

Mr. Davis said Health Minister Dr. Richard Potter is trying to change public thinking about health treatment. He said a period of adjustment will be needed for the public and health profession to accept a new health philosophy which stresses alternatives such as home care in place of hospital treatment.

"Some may accept the idea in general, but not like it . . . when it affects them personally," said Mr. Davis. "But I think the public understands . . . that the time has come when we must contain health costs."

Arctic Search For Aircraft Ordered Again

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department has resumed a search for a plane and four persons missing in the western Arctic, Defence Minister James Richardson said Thursday.

The announcement come at a press conference less than four hours after he told reporters the decision on whether to renew the search because of the intense concern of persons flying in the North about rescue efforts.

He added that search operations never were stopped completely, since the department had continued to monitor private planes in the area in case they reported any sighting of the missing plane or its passengers.

Four persons—two Eskimo patients, a pilot and a nurse—have been missing since Nov. 8 when they left Cambridge Bay, N.W.T., in a Gateway Aviation Beechcraft on a mercy flight to Yellowknife, N.W.T.

Andras Is Planning Changes In Jobless Insurance Rules

OTTAWA (CP) — Manpower Minister Robert Andras announced today that changes which he didn't specify, are to be made in the unemployment insurance program.

The "nature and scope" of the revisions will be announced in the speech from the throne opening the 29th Parliament next month.

At the same time Guy Coutiaeau, chairman of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, disclosed that payment of Jobless benefits will cost the federal treasury an estimated $2 million this year.

Final benefit costs will total "very close" to $1.9 billion, the bulk of which will be met by employer-employee contributions.

To help restore the health of the account, Mr. Coutineau announced the employees' contribution rate will be increased next year.

The new rate will be one per cent of insurable earnings. This will mean that an employee earning $100 a week will pay $1, compared with 90 cents per week this year.

The corresponding employer contribution for the same employee will rise to $1.40 per week from $1.26.

The ceiling on insurable earnings will be $160 a week beginning Jan. 1. Since benefits are two-thirds of average insurable earnings, the maximum benefit to be paid next year will be $107, minus income tax.

Hundreds of Teachers Submit Resignations for Year-end

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Schools in communities across Ontario will face a crisis after Dec. 31 unless contracts with teachers are signed, or teachers withdraw the hundreds of resignations already submitted to school boards.

More than 2,400 teachers had submitted resignations to nine school boards by Nov. 30, the deadline to make the resignations effective by Dec. 31.

The use of teacher resignations as a weapon in contract negotiations has spread this year to employees of separate school boards. It has been used before by the traditionally more progressive public and secondary school teachers.

In Cornwall, 202 of 383 French-and English-language teachers still working for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry separate school board under a contract negotiated for 1971-72, submitted resignations before Nov. 30.

In Peterborough, 242 teachers employed by the Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham separate school board, have submitted resignations to their negotiating committee. The committee is waiting until it has 300 resignations before handing any in to the board.

Teachers are to meet with the board's salary committee Wednesday. Talks broke down last week when teachers rejected the board's fourth salary offer of six per cent. Teachers want an eight-per-cent increase.

Wage parity with public school teachers is sought by 404 of 425 separate school teachers who resigned in MacEkrcs County; Frank Walsh, chairman of the school board's negotiating committee, said there are not enough funds in the board budget to cover the $100,000 a year needed for parity.

In Essex County, 85 per cent of separate school teachers have resigned, while public school teachers continue to negotiate.

The resignations weapon also has been preferred by 618 of Windsor's secondary school teachers, who have been negotiating on salary schedules and working conditions for 11 months.

Shortly after 487 of 537 secondary school teachers in Sarnia submitted resignations Thursday, contract talks with the Lambton County board of education were suspended indefinitely.

In Timmins, the board of education acted promptly when it received the resignations of 218 of its 244 secondary teachers. It accepted them.

CWO Leo Kelly Leaves Service

TRENTON (Staff) — A man who began his 42-year military career with the Governor General's Foots Guards by faking his age, will be hanging up his cap Dec. 5 after a long and colorful career.

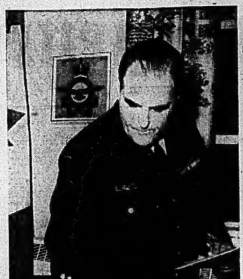
Leo Kelly, Base Warrant Officer at CFB Trenton for the past four years, will be 55 on Dec. 5 and that date marks his retirement.

He joined the foot guards on Dec. 16, 1932 at the age of 15 — two years younger than legal age. "I was big for my age," he explains. He served with the guards until 1938 and a year later joined the RCAF.

From that point on CWO Kelly served in many parts of Canada, toured dozens of countries and rubbed shoulders with kings, emperors, presidents, diplomats and two years ago had an audience with Pope Paul.

His first guard of honor duty was performed as a foot guard in 1933, when he was part of a parade at the old Ottawa Union Station for the Emperor and Empress of Japan. He has been a member of, or trained, guards of honor for Governors General Bessborough, Earl of Bessborough, Lord Tweedsmuir, the Earl of Athlone, Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Rt. Hon. Georges Vanier and the Rt. Hon. Roland Michener. He was in parades and guards of honor for Queen Elizabeth II, Presidents Dwight Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Charles de Gaulle.

He recalls Canada's first blackout of World War II. Stationed in Halifax at the time, he and several servicemen ducked into a fruit store in the downtown area as sirens wailed and a one-hour blackout began. It was just as exercise, but while they waited in the dark store, someone made off with a stock of bananas and the cash register.



He has many memories that include organizing CFB Trenton's 40th anniversary in 1971, taking part in 25th anniversary celebrations for the Air Force at Trenton in 1949, and organizing 40th anniversary celebrations at Rockliffe in 1964, trooping of the Governor Generals Foot Guards' colour before a crowd of 12,000 at Molson Stadium in 1954, and his Nov. 17, 1972 retirement party at CFB Trenton. He honored them by friends and fellow servicemen and one of whom flew in from Germany and other Canadian bases.

But there were sad memories too. While in Halifax during the war, he used to delivery daily letters from a young girl to her Air Force friend and often kidded him about it. One day he found the boy had been stationed to Dutch in a fight and had to return her letter. Another time he was ordered to return a 19-year-old airman who had gone AWOL again and CWO Kelly had to return to the farm.

CWO Kelly was born in Trenton, married to the former Catherine Wotton of Ottawa, and plans to remain in the Trenton area. He has no children.

Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Maud Kelly still lives in Trenton.

Three Plants Planned

Mr. Bemis said such a plaza has long been needed in Belleville. Many firms have expressed a need for more space, either for storage or manufacturing, and others can use the location to "get their feet wet in the community," he said.

The plaza, which Mr. Bemis described as an "incubator," will be divided into 5,000 square foot bays but can be enlarged or diminished according to the need. It is situated on a 5.8 acre site bordered by Hanna Street and Davy Road.

Mr. Murphy said he was "getting very close" in his negotiations with Howard Johnson's. He planned a meeting with officials from the restaurant and hotel chain today, with another scheduled for next week.

We have been working for four years on a major hotel project for Belleville," he said.

We own several sites in the Highway 14 - North Front Street area, all approved."

In such a hotel, he said, between 200 and 250 persons be hired from this area, many to be enrolled in Howard Johnson's own training program. Construction may begin early next spring at a cost estimated between $1.2 - $1.5 million.

The Galway Group is entirely Canadian and concentraites on Ontario centres. One of its projects is the 120-unit square foot Toyota factory in Toronto.

Mr. Murphy gave much of the credit for the announcement to Mayor J. Russell Scott whom he described as "a great salesman for Belleville." Both men, together, with Mr. Bemis and the part and current presidents of the Industrial Commission, Ald. Gerald Joyce and Ald. Bert Corke, have devoted considerable effort to bringing more industry to Belleville, he said.

Saint Nick To Visit In Picton

PICTON (Staff) — The Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce has booked Old Saint Nick for a weekend appearance in Picton on December 9. A gala parade will welcome him from the North Pole.

Municipal officials leading the parade will be Picton Mayor Margaret Ackerman and County Warden Ross Benway.

Christian Shop Opened

TRENTON — Mrs. Nancy Clements of RR 5, Trenton, believes there aren't enough shops in the Quinte area selling "good Christian literature," with the exception of one in Belleville.

"You know, the counters in most shops are piled with books on witchcraft and Satanism. The kids get into that and they aren't presented with the tasteful truth," she said.

Her husband, Dave, agrees. "You shouldn't have to walk into shops and look at all the smut on the shelves.

"Every town should have a Christian book store where items are presented with prices they can afford," Mrs. Clements says. And that's exactly what she set out to provide.

Now, in a small shop at 10 Murphy Street, in the centre of the downtown shopping district, Mrs. Clements has opened her own shop called the Christian Book Room.

Not only does it provide a collection of Christian literature, but a range of unusual gifts, following her theory of promoting the arts and crafts of local people.

There are hand-made table centres, especially designed for Christmas cactus table centres; hand - made candles; knitted shawls; locally made jewellery, and one of the most unusual items for sale — flowered greeting cards, made from real pressed flowers picked wild in the area.

The prices are reasonable. A sweater made by Dave's mother, Mrs. George Clements, sells from $7.50 to $10, depending on material used; the jewelry of polished stone and so-called "Gold Stones" polished by monks in Italy, sells for about $3 on an average. The flower cards are about 20 cents apiece, and second - hand religious books can be picked up for no more than a quarter each.

"We're not out to make a large profit," said Mrs. Clements.

A former gospel singer from the Wooller area who still sings on occasion, Mrs. Clements says that since she opened the book room, many people have dropped in for advice best wishes.

Because of recent mail strikes, full pre - Christmas stock and other orders have been slow to arrive. However, the shipments should be in within the next few days.

"I didn't have any idea how to start the shop," she says, "I started writing to friends and all the addresses I could find."

At some time in the future, she hopes to offer a selection of gospel records and a wider range of curios.

Because of outside interests that include social work, Mrs. Clements will keep her store open for only three hours each evenings 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. It will be open all day on Mondays.

Ratepayers Rap Disposal Site

HILTON (Staff) — After more than two hours of questioning experts Brighton Township residents left a public hearing here Thursday still unconvinced that the suggested sanitary land fill operation wouldn't pollute nearby water sources.

The township of Brighton and prepared a report be delivered Thursday. He told more than 35 people gathered at Brighton Township's municipal office the 70 acres would require heavy duty plastic lining to prevent seepage into nearby water sources. Also required would be a lagoon for treatment of effluent, before it is released into a nearby pond.

He proposed that a full-time attendant by employed, that refuse be covered at least once a week and that the area be completely fenced and surrounded by trees. He said it would cost about $1,500 a year for the 1.3 acres of landfill necessary.

The residents were not impressed. They felt the plastic would give inadequate protection from possible polluting seepage, that the use of bulldozers to cover it would rip the plastic even with a foot of sand on top. There was concern about invasion by rats and other vermin, flying paper refuse, fires and injury to delicate trees stocking operations in the area.

But the most serious objection registered by residents, Trenton Public Utilities Commission manager Douglas Manlow and Trenton developer Wasil Sidor, was the lack of any guarantees that streams and springs in the area wouldn't be polluted by seepage or runoff from the proposed sanitary land - fill site.

Close questioning of Kenneth Childs, supervisor of regional operations for the Waste Management Branch of the Ministry of Energy and Resources resulted in the following statements:

—should seepage occur, the site certificate would be cancelled, disposal operations terminated and a remedy

—plastic similar to that suggested, has been used successfully for liquid industrial wastes in several Ontario cities.

—no certificate would be issued unless the WMB is convinced there is no possibility of pollution.

Dr. Manlow, acting for the Trenton PUC, urged a full report. He said the PUC is concerned that the headwaters of a stream that feeds Mayhew Creek, which in turn supplies much of Trenton's water, flows within 1,500 feet of the proposed site.

"There are also numerous springs closer than the headwaters," he said, suggesting vegetable dye tests be conducted. In this manner, the flow of the waters, and possible emergence into water sources, would be determined.

"You offer no guarantees," said one man.

OMB Approves 52 New Houses

The Ontario Municipal Board Thursday gave its approval to a plan of subdivision for a new 52-home housing development in north Belleville.

The new subdivision to be built by J. L. Farrell Construction Ltd. of Belleville, is located east of North Park Street above North Park Gardens.

After planning the development for more than two years, J. L. Farrell said today "we will start building right away."

Gordon Woods Real Estate will be agent for the subdivision that is flanked to the north and east by parkland.

Chief's Report Discussed

TRENTON (Staff) — The problem of school crossing guards in Trenton, of recent concern to several parent - teacher organizations and boards of education, depends on a report by Trenton Police Chief David Saunders.

Town council Monday told a citizen's group they would continue to defer decision on whether to retain all adult crossing guards or proceed with plans to use students in at least three locations, until the chief has tabled his report.

Councillor E. M. Parker, who is not seeking re-election, said Tuesday Chief Saunders met with council during the last committee of the whole session. He said his presentation was based on preliminary findings and would have been "inconclusive" if made public.

Councillor Parker says the final report will be made public after the chief meets with all interested parties. Any thing at this time would only create 'a whole lot of controversy."

Despite the urgings of representatives of school boards, home and school, principals and parents who have met with council at its last two meetings, council says it prefers to wait for the chief. No mention of his having met with committee of the whole was made at Monday's council session.

Picton Hospital Faces Budget Cut

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital next year will face a $45,000 cutback in its annual budget.

Administrator William Cook said a board meeting will be held soon to discuss how the decrease can be effected.

The hospital was not ordered to phase out any of its 59 beds following a recent statement by health minister Richard Potter. No orders were given to eliminate obstetrical care in Prince Edward. At present there are 12 obstetrical beds at PECMH.

Steelworker Suffers Burns

TRENTON (Staff) — A Trenton steelworker is in serious condition at Kingston General Hospital suffering from multiple burns resulting from an industrial accident at the Central Bridge plant here Thursday.

James A. Thompson, 43, of 119 Stanley St., was stacking steel in an outside storage area when the boom of a crane moving pieces of steel to him came in contact with a powerline carrying 44,000 volts.

The current passed through the crane to Thompson who was holding onto the load of steel suspended by a cable from it.

Both men were taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital for Thompson, president of the Steelworkers Union here, was transferred to the hospital at Kingston for specialized treatment.

Mr. Collins was released from TMH last night.

Hospital Cutbacks

The Ministry of Health's directive to Belleville and other hospitals throughout the province to reduce the total number of hospital beds — with a saving in Belleville's case of $248,350 — is a bold move.

Something of the kind he been anticipated for some time, in the light of speeches by Health Minister Dr. Richard Potter. Now that the move has been made, public and hospitals know where they stand.

It is to be hoped that the reduction of beds will not result in a diminution of hospital care in the case of persons who are so seriously ill that they should be hospitalized. An immediate result likely will be a more rapid turnover of patients, especially those who are not seriously ill, to make way for others requiring treatment.

As of now, according to Dr. Potter, the average time spent in hospital by patients at Belleville General, is considerably more than the provincial average.

Staff cutbacks are anticipated, but hospital administrator Philip Rickard has said he hopes this can be handled through attrition instead of layoffs. Approximately 100 employees will be affected.

The cuts are to be effected before April 1, 1973, a factor welcomed by Mr. Rickard since it affords the hospital board and administration time to deal with the new situation.

The public at large might also take the implied hint to stay away from the doctor's office unless there is good reason for seeking his advice. When it comes to physical fitness, an individual can be his own best friend. Exercise, fresh air, avoidance of non-prescription drugs and other crutches are all factors that should be considered. Canadians may yet come to know the real meaning of physical fitness.

Christmas Spirit

We look forward with anticipation to Saturday's Christmas parade in Belleville. This is always an interesting day in the life of the community, especially for the children.

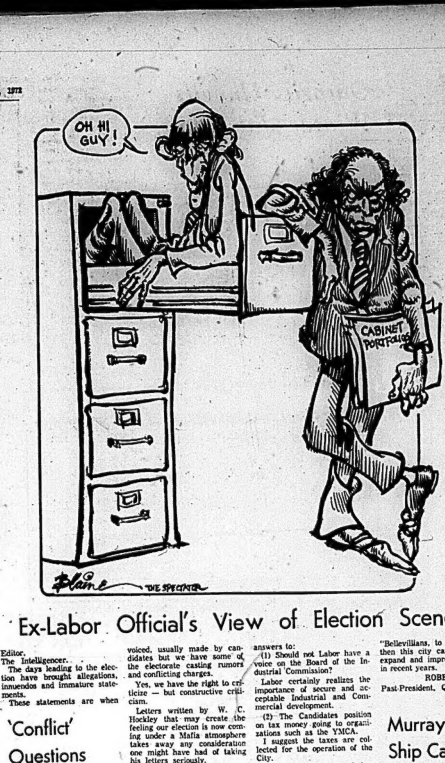
While we have the peace and freedom to enjoy such an occasion, it is as well that we remember those less fortunate. War, famine and civil unrest make life a hell for some.

We are reminded of the hungry of the world — fully a third of its population — by a poem contributed by Miss Vivian Wagner of Owen Sound. And while as a general rule (with occasional exceptions) newspaper poems do not accept contributions of verse, we are glad to pass on Miss Wagner's reminder of organizations such as Oxfam and Unicef in Toronto and Care in Ottawa for relief of needy persons overseas.

Reds Involved

We have been speaking of childhood and how today's growing-up process can be all too swift. But each of us has our memories of those earlier times. If memory is dim for some then picture the rolling green farmland of South Dakota, a small lake in the middle distance, a herd of cows grazing nearby and in the foreground, five children. Four girls and a boy, aged four and of surpassing good looks, they are watching for some long grass and are trying to net a dragonfly overhead.

The children are the Fischer quintuplets of Aberdeen, South Dakota, and the picture to which we refer — by photographer John Launois — appeared on the front cover of the old Saturday Evening Post on September 9, 1967. The quints were then aged four.



We have kept the pictures, for they are classics of their kind, mirroring not only the innocence, fun and wonder of childhood, but also an image of rural America that remains serene and lovely and far from the maddling crowd.

Childhood's Innocence

A year or two ago a cache of ammunition found in Belfast was identified as of Russian manufacture. Now we hear that rockets such as the one used against a police station in Strabeck (of pottery fame) originated in Russia.

From this we may deduce that the Soviet Union and its satellites are up to their old tricks — arming encouraging dissidents around the world — and be reminded once again that the Communist world is not to be trusted. It is known that one wing of the guerrilla movement in Ireland is Marxist in its sympathies and that this concept including its not just Ulster but the whole of Ireland.

Imagine if you will Cuba. Is it what the terrorists want — one branch at least —

Ex-Labor Official's View of Election Scene

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The days leading to the election have brought allegations, innuendos and immature statements.

These statements are when voiced, usually made by candidates but we have seen how the electorate casting rumors and conflicting charges.

Yes, we have the right to criticize — but constructive criticism.

Letters written by W. C. Hockley that may create the feeling our election is now coming under a Mafia atmosphere takes away any consideration one might have had of taking his letters seriously.

Belleville is The Friendly City and will continue to be, no matter which candidates are elected. This is created by the citizens more than those elected to office.

If the voters of this city believe there was a conflict of interest it will show in how they vote, by who they elect for Mayor and they'll not return those eight aldermen who voted against an inquiry. Would not 9,000 to 13,000 dollars be a lot of money to spend on the present confusion?

I believe we should vote for an individual for many of the obvious reasons, such as experience, ability, intelligence, and not by slate, as suggested, because other local candidates have Lady Mayors, so should we.

(1) Should not Labor have a voice on the Board of the Industrial Commissioner?

Labor certainly realizes the importance of secure and acceptable Industrial and Commercial development.

(2) The Candidates position on tax money going to organizations such as the YMCA.

The Quinte District Labor Council in its wisdom endorsed Mrs. Jeffrey as Mayor for Belleville but as a member of that Council, I could not vote in favor of such endorsement and I believe the feeling of many other Labor people will show I'm not alone in this belief.

To consider the abilities of the two candidates for Mayor and look afield for acceptance of either, one must consider the fact of appointment that provincial and municipal leaders have for Mayor Scott in his being elected President of the Association of Municipal Police Governing Authorities.

President of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario and Director of the Association of Mayors and Municipalities.

One statement by Mr. Hockley I do agree with and urge the voters heed most strongly is:

"Bellevillians, to the polls", then this city can continue to expand and improve as it has in recent years.

Past-President, Quinte District Labor Council

'Conflict' Questions

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The Three-Dollar question in our municipal election is the question of Conflict of Interest — this question may be a phony as a $3-bill.

What elected officials could have conflict of interests?

(1) A successful man who owns or controls considerable real-estate?

(2) A successful real estate broker?

(3) A merchant who may sell the City of Belleville any goods?

(4) An officer or director of a company who supplies a service such as a newspaper who sells advertising to the city?

(5) A professional such as a lawyer who has as a client anyone who has dealings with the city?

(6) Would a teacher who becomes a trustee on the Board of Education be in conflict because of his relationship with his peers?

Could any or all those people, if elected have a conflict of interest?

Are the people listed likely to be well qualified to serve?

If a member of council fails to declare a conflict of interest will he be liable on the application of a ratepayer to a county court judge to have his seat declared vacant and disqualified from holding office for a period of seven years?

If the conflict is serious could the conflict cost the city more than the cost of a judicial inquiry?

Is it not the responsibility of those raising the question of conflict of interest to ensure there is a judicial inquiry?

If one politician accuses another politician of conflict of interest and does not force a judicial inquiry, does the first appear to be playing politics?

Is the question likely to get a fair public hearing where newspaper and radio have at least some degree of common control especially where the question was raised by the editor of the paper?

These are some of the questions that bother me about this election. I don't always agree with the fellow I've heard people affectionately call "the rabbit", but I disagree completely with those who publicly call for an inquiry by members of council ending a motion in city council and then do not proceed to ensure such an inquiry is held. Could this be classed as irresponsibility or poor judgment?

Will such action likely cause capable people to seek office?

Is a man guilty because he is accused?

There are probably more good reasons for voting for one candidate or another, but because some one suggests conflict exists is not a good reason.

CURIOUS

Deputation to Council Voices A Complaint

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The aldermen of Belleville City Council were involved in their true colors at last Monday night's council meeting.

After listening to a deputation in respect to the proposed re-zoning in the east end of the city to allow Rollins construction company to build 12 town houses, they were asked if they wished to question the petitioners. Mrs. Vera Reynolds and myself. None of them had any questions.

Later in the evening when we were not there these brave councillors by way of innuendo attacked our motives and asserted that as a politician I am left to wonder how they could find any political implications in a presentation centred around civic concern for the area they live in.

Still later, these same courageous councillors found it necessary to invite mayoralty candidate Robin Jeffrey by the same silly tactic of innuendo.

Complaining earlier of a so-called piece of politicking by myself and Mrs. Reynolds, alderman Joyce distinguished himself by embarking on an unprofessed tirade of politicking by calling upon listeners at large to vote the present council back into office en bloc as they had done in the excellent Jack Aiding and abetting alderman Joyce was perennial "please remember all the time" Alderman David, who, in the absence of Alderman Jeffrey displayed uninhibited enthusiasm in joining the crowd in throwing stones.

Their miserable performance matched their indifference to the problems of those facing re-zoning, and Mayor Scott who is strong on "dignity" in the council chambers was heard in the background offering encouragement to those involved.

None of them will get my vote. They disgust me.

WILLIAM C. HOCKLEY

Critic on Receiving End

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Apropos the letter of Basil Kirby, I have received calls on several occasions from Mr. Kirby when I have had letters published in The Intelligencer. His has been most generous in his praise if the subject of my comments happened to have been a provincial politician. However, when the subject happens to be his own family physician he is "deeply vexed".

It seems I have Mr. Kirby as a friend when I write about the things that irritate him but I incur his wrath when I write about the things that irritate me. My letters were not "sarcastic" I note when the subject is a municipal politician.

As to what do I do, Mr. Kirby is lots of things including writing letters to newspapers.No, the subject of Mr. Kirby's piece certainly is not a magician or he would have disposed of the "conflict of interest" charges much better than he did.

At least, Mr. Kirby had the guts to sign his name. He was not afraid to stand up and be counted.

The Silly Season: From Licence Plates to Jobs

By DON O'BEARN
From The Intelligencer's Queen's Park Bureau

Every season has its silliest, and its adult children's hours.

Then he put the plates on his car.

He knows where the licence plates go.

It's so long since he has driven himself this is to his credit. He could have forgotten. But he is noted for a good memory.

The Provincial Council of Women has proposed that elementary schools should have courses in alcoholism, vandalism, drug abuse, unemployment, poverty and the problems of one-parent families.

And a bit of reading writing and arithmetic occasionally?

A Toronto secondary school has a novel (it says) experiment.

It has started a home economics class for boys.

Or give them a life sentence to do the dishes.

The Toronto Star, through Ottawa correspondent Anthony Westell, has come up with an answer to unemployment.

The problem, Mr. Westell says, could be solved by the stroke of a pen.

All that has to be done is for the federal government to give a job to everyone that wants one.

How is it that nobody else thought of that?

Mr. Westell's correspondence, by the way, runs on the editorial page not the comic pages.

It is understood there may be a change of position.

Not that the proposal is perhaps without merit.

Some of the people hired, for example, might teach courses to elementary school children on alcoholism, vandalism, drug abuse, unemployment, poverty and the problems of one-parent families.

Silent [Apathetic?] Majority Member Says His Piece

The Intelligencer.

Editor,

We hear a great deal these days about the "Silent Majority" but a more fitting designation perhaps would be the "Apathetic majority." Politicians at all levels of government are well aware of this trait in the electorate and tend to take full advantage of it in their wheeling and dealing.

I would therefore like to remind Bellevillians in the ranks of the "Apathetic Majority" and congratulate Mr Hockley on his letter last week with regard to under-currents, hidden forces, and subtle intimidation in the management and control of the Corporation of the City of Belleville I agree with him 100 per cent, mainly because I have not forgotten the tax of over 30 mills that came to light some 13 years ago about the secret dealings of the City Hall of the late and unlamented senior 'A' hockey team of the city.

Switching to a different subject, we read from time to time and hear from others in the city who are concerned about the proposed new Industrial Commission could tell us Belleville's share of Industry for the next 5 years 1972, 1966 and 1961, in equalized assessment. Such information of this nature would be a more valid indication whether Belleville is in fact going ahead.

I have one last comment and perhaps it is not realistic, but I have always thought that the best advantage of municipalities of a newspaper was to dig and bring to the surface dirt and get to light anything that was off color. In this regard it would be interesting to know how many properties have been sold in the last six months or so along the proposed new route that city council has planned new bridge with North Front Street. It would also be interesting to know the financial background of any such purchasers to determine if they were valid or acting merely as "fronts".

One of the lowest "11 o'clock" hours ever recorded marked the march of the electorate to the polls up to that time this morning. Murray Ship Canal Proposed

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I trust our local politicians are not confusing the hustle and bustle of new road construction, sewer installations, new bridges, high-rise apartments and so on, with economic progress that we are told from time to time is happening in our community.

No mention is ever made about the economic loss, and it will be considerable, that a forthcoming next year when Canada Cement closes out its operations at Point Anne. I do demand the official reason for relocating at Bath is the present plant is too old to be modernized. I suspect that 50 per cent of the real reason may be the lack of deep water facilities, which would be necessary for economical bulk handling of cement by large lake boats.

Anyway, now that we are losing this industry, now that we are not going to have a pipe line to Lake Ontario for palatable drinking water and now that we are not going to have a high level bridge to Rossmore, I would like to make the following suggestion for consideration by all three levels of government.

It is really quite elementary. Replace the existing Murray Canal with a ship canal 600 feet wide by 30 feet deep, with no locks at either end. This waterway would handle anything now passing through the Welland Canal. I can hear a thousand reasons why this would not be feasible but if this suggestion should strike a spark of interest, I would suggest that he, she or they visit the Welland Chamber of Commerce and take a guided tour of the Welland Canal bypass now nearing completion.

What would be the advantages of such a canal? It is of course too late to supply Point Anne with deep water shipping facilities, but it could perhaps have saved this industry for us if it had been a reality. Next, the quality of the water in the Bay of Quinte would have no alternative but to improve. And last but not least, your editorial writer from the south shore who has waged a long but losing campaign would have his high-level bridge to Rossmore.

QUINTE CANAL

EDITOR'S NOTE: One reason why such a scheme would not be feasible is that the depth of the water between the canal and Deseronto is no more than 17 to 20 feet.

In the legislature Thursday, Liberal Leader Robert Nixon, a farmer himself, asked Treasurer Charles MacNaughton why farmers haven't yet received this year's rebates.

"Why is it that your predecessor (former treasurer Darcy McKeough) was so efficient last year and you seem to be lax?

Mr. Nixon suggested the government last fall was "playing politics" in mailing the cheques early, hinting that it wasn't necessary to do the same in this non-election year.

Crime Increases

TORONTO (CP) — Crime still is increasing in Ontario, but not as fast as previously, the 1971 report of the Ontario Police Commission says.

The report was tabled in the legislature Thursday.

Increase in crime was down to 8.4 per cent from an increase of 14.8 per cent in 1970, the report states.

But, it says, there still remains more than a five-per-cent increase in crime over population growth.

Ontario Unveils Winter Job Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario unveiled plans Thursday to ease unemployment this winter, with a $50-million program to create a hoped-for 20,000 jobs.

The plan, revealed in the legislature by Treasurer Charles MacNaughton, is similar to one last winter that cost nearly $60 million and produced 32,000 temporary jobs during peak winter-unemployment periods.

An immediate reaction came from some of the provinces.

Mr. Lewis said if the province achieves its forecast of a 5.6-per-cent unemployment rate this winter, there will be 200,000 persons without jobs even with Mr. MacNaughton's new measures.

Stephen Lewis, New Democratic Party leader, who told Mr. MacNaughton in the house the incentives were not. Last winter, Ottawa provided more than $60 million for temporary employment projects in Ontario, the chief ones being Canada Manpower on-the-job training programs and Local Initiatives Programs (LIP).

"This year, despite the prospect of continuing high unemployment, no comprehensive federal program has been announced," the minister said.

"It now appears that only about $20 million will be available in Ontario under the LIP and manpower training programs."

He said he delayed his own announcement in the hope that Ottawa would come up with a

Trudeau Flying to London To Guard Trade Interests

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau flies to London Saturday, largely to ensure that Canada's economic interests are not forgotten when Britain joins the European Common Market and jolts traditional Commonwealth trading patterns.

He will spend two days talking with Prime Minister Edward Heath and, while Britain is fully aware of Canadian concerns, officials here say Mr. Trudeau wants this final opportunity to restate his case before the Jan. 1 membership date.

"It's imperative that we keep in the closest possible contact with the expanded market community," an official said Thursday. "And we intend to do this in direct negotiations with the community itself and with individual members."

Mr. Trudeau will touch on other subjects in his Sunday and Monday talks with Mr. Heath, but trade is clearly the main issue.

When Britain eleminates its preferential tariffs for Commonwealth countries, more than half of Canada's exports to that country will be adversely affected. In 1971, Canadian exports to Britain totalled $1.3 billion and 54 per cent entered the country under the preferred rates that gradually will be abolished.

But apart from trying to keep the market door open in Europe, officials say Mr. Trudeau also will emphasize the importance of Canadian resources and that Common Market countries must maintain open lines to these energy and mineral supplies.

Officials say Canada is making good progress in the continuing talks with the economic community and its members. This was recognized, they say, when the organization issued a communique saying there should be vigorous negotiations with the United States, Japan, and Canada.

"Without our efforts," said one government official, "it is doubtful whether Canada would have been named specifically beside the other two trading giants."

Banker Says Canada Can Offset EEC Loss

LONDON (CP) — The adverse effects on Canada of British entry into the European Economic Community (EEC) can be overcome if Canadian business "exploits fully the opportunities offered by the emerging new Europe," chairman of the Bank of Montreal said Thursday.

G. Arnold Hart said that "to be realistic one has to expect some fairly substantial structural shifts and adjustments in the Canadian economy as a result of the impending changes" in Europe.

He told a Canadian bankers' panel at the European Institute of Investors Conference that despite the difficulties that will be created in the short term "there has been a more general tendency to look at the potential long-term benefits for Canada."

There are several significant factors in Britain's entry to the EEC that should offset the difficulties which in the past have been viewed with alarm and despondency, he said.

GNP Rise Small

OTTAWA (CP) — The gross national product for the third quarter of this year rose slightly to an annual rate of $102.7 billion from $102 billion in the second quarter, Statistics Canada reported Thursday.

The agency said the figures "indicate a slackening in the pace of economic activity in the very strong second-quarter expansion."

WEDDING

DEMARSH — GREGG — TWEED — A double - ring wedding ceremony was held in St. Carthage's Roman Catholic Church, Tweed, recently, when Rev. Dean C. E. Baker, united in marriage Lorna Fern Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gregg, of Vernachar, Ontario, and Raymond William De Marsh, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Alphonse De Marsh, of Tweed. The wedding music was played by Sister Reta. Mrs. Don Rowe was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin and lace. The empire bodice was of chantilly lace trimmed at the high collar and at the cuffs of the long bishop sleeves with imported Venice lace, threaded with white satin ribbon. A border of the same trim starting from a V at the front of the waistline up over the shoulders and down the back as well as around the waistline completed the classic lines of the flicor - length demi - bolle skirt of antique satin. A semi-attached chapel train fell from the waistline.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Eythel Grant, sister of the bride, Miss Marilyn Gregg, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Eugene De Marsh, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, selected dresses similar to that of the maid of honor's, with identical blue flowers in their hair. They carried bouquets of yellow roses.

The flower girls, the Misses Norma and Gail Gregg, both sisters of the bride, were floor-length gowns of blue peau-de-soie with long puffy sleeves gathering ruffles at the wrists and wide white velvet ribbon forming a bow in front of the empire waist. While lace trimmed neck and cuffs. They had headbands of white lace and tiny blue flowers identical to the maid of honor's. Their bouquets consisted of yellow roses.

Maurice De Marsh, brother of the bridegroom, was the groomsman. The ushers were Alex De Marsh and Eugene De Marsh, both brothers of the bridegroom, and Eythel Grant, brother - in - law of the bride. Master Jeffrey De Marsh, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer. Mr. Allen Gregg, uncle of the bride was master - of - ceremonies.

Following the wedding ceremony a dinner and reception was held at St. Edmund's Parish Hall, in Stoco, where the bride's mother received the guests attired in a light blue lace dress with long sleeves and a pointed roll collar. She chose white accessories and a yellow corsage. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a light turquoise dress with black accessories and a deep blue corsage.

For a trip to New Brunswick and return through the United States, the bride chose a blue collared purple and white dress with long sleeves and a matching brass buttoned purple coat, with black accessories and a corsage of baby yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. De Marsh reside at 479 Minnie Avenue, Tweed.

Municipal Procedures Outlined at Guild

At the November meeting of the Women's Study Guild held at the home of Mrs. John Miller, members were informed of the duties and responsibilities which would be required of candidates in the municipal election.

Mrs. L. F. Reid opened the program by outlining the procedures followed, which are set down under provincial legislation. These govern eligibility, plus certain rulings in case of vacancies occurring after the election.

A municipal governing body has two functions — to formulate policy and to direct the administration in the carrying out of such policies. City planning problems and how they become so extensive were covered by Mrs. Reid, and she expressed the hope that Belleville's new official plan would be finished in 1973. Members were advised that if any particular committee or board appeals to them as a field of service, to submit their names to council at an early date for consideration.

The second part of the program presented by Mrs. John Miller concerned duties of elected members of council and a copy of the 1906, which covers this, was on hand. The question of remuneration where applicable were itemized and present members of each one named.

John Miller City solicitor handled a question and answer period and the main questions concerned rezoning. It was established that the public is well protected, with many opportunities to raise dissenting voices, and all angles are thoroughly investigated before decisions are reached.

Social And Personal

AT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McFarlane, RR 3 Roblin will be At Home to friends and relatives on Sunday, December 17, from 2 - 5 and 7 - 9 p.m. at the Township Hall, Selby on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Previous to her recent marriage, Mrs. Wilfred Ryan (nee Linda Archer) was entertain ed at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Alec Burley, Belleville. Mrs. William Goodfellow, Belleville gave a miscellaneous shower also.

and it was found that the applicant pays all initial costs, but advertising and hearings etc. are at city expense. Ontario Municipal Board makeup was another question. It has 19 full time members and is paid by the Provincial Government.

The devotional was given by Mrs. J. R. Reynolds and she stressed the importance of individuals in all areas of life, particularly in the exercise of franchise. Gifts for the Mental Health Assoc. were collected.

Salesman Given Car On His Retirement

FRANKFORD — After 50 years as a car salesman, Horace Carson, 75, of Niagara Falls, was presented with the keys to a new car by the president of Autoland Chrysler, on his retirement.

A native of Belleville, Mr. Carson first began working with cars on his father's farm in 1913 when he and his brother repaired and sold old automobiles.

In 1923, he went to work at a garage in Picton, moving to a dealership in Belleville in 1924. Mr. Carson went to Niagara Falls in 1934 and has worked for various dealers during his 38 years in that city.

During the past five decades Mr. Carson has seen many changes in the automotive industry, some positive, some negative.

Mr. Carson says speed limits have risen as the cars have become more powerful. "When I started the speed limit was 25 miles per hour. One time I was fined for passing through a corner at 12 miles per hour when the legal limit was eight miles per hour".

For Mr. Carson the most important innovation was the automatic transmission in the late 1940s. After that, cars improved more rapidly than ever before.

One of the biggest problems in the business today is that there are so many different models. Mr. Carson says this makes it confusing for the consumer while forcing the price of automobiles up.

"When I first started in the business there were two models — deluxe and standard — and there was only $150 difference in price."

With cars becoming larger and more powerful, Mr. Carson feels built-in safety features have become more important than ever.

Mr. Carson, who has a brother, Rev. A. Carson, Frankford, and two sisters from Fort Lauderdale and Niagara Falls, says he has no definite plans now that he is retired. He just intends to take it easy.

WEDDING

RYAN — ARCHER

St. Peter's Catholic Church, Trenton was the scene of a recent candlelight wedding when Linda Ellen Archer exchanged vows with Wilfred Urban Ryan. Father John Francis Grainger performed the ceremony with Sister Wilhelmina O'Hearn accompanying on the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Frederick and Pearl Archer, 61 Purdy St., Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Maud Ryan, Ottawa and the late Mr. Claude Ryan.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long velvet gown, which was accented with covered buttons from the neck to waistline. For her headdress, the bride chose a velvet Juliette cap with an elbow length veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and pink carnations, mixed with baby's breath and ivy.

Miss Pat Reid, the bride's attendant, was attired in a long fuchsia velvet dress. Her bouquet was of mixed flowers.

Best man was Barry Ryan, brother of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a rose crepe dress accented by black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will reside in Glen Miller.

More Women Delegates At United Nations

UNITED NATIONS (Reuter) — The 27th general session of the United Nations marks two important steps forward and one backward in expending the influence women wield at the UN.

On the positive side, two women have broken into all-male stronghold and more women are representing their governments at the General Assembly.

Ambassador Jean Martin Cisse of Guinea became the first woman president of the Security Council in the history of the international institution, leading the UN's major decision-making body for the month of November.

In September, Mrs. Helvi Sipila of Finland became the first woman assistant secretary-general, holding the highest administrative position a woman has ever had in the world body.

Mrs. Farnah Joka-Bangura, who has had an annual Sunday afternoon party exclusively for women delegates during the last three years, has a number of women delegates increases every year, going from about 165 in 1970 to 200 in 1971.

On the other hand, the number of women in the jobs that call for the highest qualifications or the most familiarity with foreign languages dropped to 546 in 1972 from 566 in 1971.

Part of the reason for the lag in female employment is the failure of governments under pressure on the male-dominated organization, Mrs. Sipila said.

"I had to accept my appointment because I was the first woman offered," Mrs. Sipila said. "If I had turned it down, next would have been quick to say women couldn't holder these demonstrations and talk with action. But it was difficult to have to leave my husband and four children to take the job."

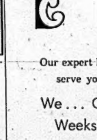
In addition to upsetting family routine for her three-year term, Mrs. Sipila said she was forced to sell the law practice she founded in 1943. Her husband is also a lawyer.

Mrs. Cisse brought with her the youngest of her six children, a nine - year - old girl, leaving her other children with her husband who is governor of a region in Guinea.

Breaking up her family for three years was a necessary sacrifice in the struggle to raise women's international status, she said, adding: "I don't know whether my husband liked my appointment, but he didn't stop me."

By contrast, she opposes advocating positions that benefit women unilaterally without universal humanitarian implications.

GLORIA NELSON, wife of Ivan Nelson, daughter of Mr. Burt Tuttle and Mrs. Fran Insley, both of Wellington, recently graduated from Queen's University with Honors Bachelor of Arts degree, 1st class standing. Mrs. Nelson is continuing her studies at McArthur College of Education.



Baptist Church's 11th Anniversary

To mark the 11th anniversary of Emmanuel Baptist Church in the east end of Belleville special church services were held. Dr. Emlyn Davies, now retired but former president of the convention of Ontario and Quebec Baptist Churches and former minister of Yorkminster Park Church, Toronto gave an inspiring message.

The subject of his sermon was "Imposters Who Speak the Truth" and was welcomed back by the congregation having been the speaker at the official opening of the church 11 years ago.

Rev. Charles Savage conducted the service and welcomed his congregations who were also from Sidney Baptist Church. Musical selections were contributed by the choir of this church and the special music was conducted by Mrs. Paul Wiegand with Miss Deborah Johnston at the organ. Guest soloist was Douglas Bailey of the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto.

A time of fellowship was enjoyed and lunch was provided by the hospitality committee.

Ann Landers
Worried Mother Asks Ann About Nymphomania

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago my 19-year-old daughter told me we would have to accept her for what she is—a nymphomaniac. I looked up the word in the dictionary and I am not sure she is one. I have the girl has been swept off with the New Morality or whatever the young people today call it.

My question is this: Is nymphomania a physical illness caused by too many hormones? Or is it a mental illness? Is it curable? I am too hurt and embarrassed to ask anyone. The library doesn't have much on this subject.

If you can answer just these questions I'd be grateful.—A Mother

Dear Mother: Nymphomania is a female's insatiable desire for sex. It is not a physical problem. It is an emotional problem created by feelings of inadequacy and insecurity. The girl who considers herself worthless and unloved is forever seeking proof that somebody cares. She tries to substitute sex for love. Such a girl can sometimes be helped by therapy, but she must want help—not hurt others.

Dear Ann Landers: When my father died two months ago a close friend sent the following essay. This same essay was given to him several years before with his own father passed away. Since receiving it, I have sent it to other friends who have suffered a personal loss. They all said it helped.

REDNERSVILLE W.I.

REDNERSVILLE — Environment was the key word at the November meeting of the Rednersville WI.

The guest speaker, Gary Rocknin's head of PACE in Belleville. This non-profit organization is interested in cleaning up the environment, with a special interest in the recycling of waste paper. One of the first steps in the right direction, Mr. Rock explained is to increase the awareness of Bellevillians of the problems and possible solutions. PACE is encouraging people to separate their waste paper from garbage so that it can picked up for recycling. He reported that local response thus far is disheartening. Mr. Rock advised that if citizens want to see action in this area, they should make their wishes known to those in power, and perhaps change would result.

His talk sparked a number of questions, after which he was thanked by Mrs. G. Townsend.

Another highlight of the meeting was the reading of a letter from the WI sponsored student in Hong Kong. He wrote of his studies, the difference in school systems and asked for information about Canada.

A collection taken for the Mental Health Association brought in $12.40.

Mrs. P Moran thanked Mrs. R. Redner, hostess for the meeting and Mr. Rock.

"In this sad world of ours, sorrow comes to all, and it often comes with bitter agony. Perfect relief is not possible, except with time. You cannot believe that you will ever feel better. But this is not true. You are sure to be happy again. Knowing this truly believing it, will make you less miserable now. I have had enough experience to make this statement.—Abraham Lincoln."

Please print it, Ann.—Making It Back

Dear Friend: Thank you for sharing those words of wisdom. They can be extremely supportive during dark hours of grief. I hope many leaders will clip this column and quote the philosophy attributed to Lincoln when they don't know what to say to a person who has lost a loved one.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 18 years old and have grown up reading your column. I started at age nine

I can't discuss my problem with anyone but a close friend —and that's you. For the past three years I've been aware that one of my breasts was larger than the other. At first there was just a little difference but now it is very noticeable. I've been stuffing Kleenex in my bra to even things up, but I know this is not a permanent solution.

All through high school I dreaded gym and kept myself carefully covered. I can't hide my body forever. Please, Ann, check with your medical consultants and tell me if there is some cream I can buy or some exercise I can do—or maybe have an operation to make one breast smaller.—Problem

Dear P.: Those creams and exercises are phoney. Don't waste your time or money. My advice is to see a physician. He will tell you whether to consider surgery to have one breast made smaller—or another type of operation, a silicone implant to make the smaller breast larger. Both operations are safe and permanent.

Women's Year

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The UN General Assembly's social committee approved a resolution proclaiming 1975 International Women's Year.

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONWELL

Will an avid gambler bet on anything?

"YES" is a rather safe bet, if "avid" gambler doesn't include all types of gamblers. Since even compulsive gamblers, refusing to bet on anything in which they must play a passive role, such as a horse race, may only shoot craps or play cards in which they roll the dice or bet according to the cards they hold. Since this kind of compulsive gambler generally is beset by an unconscious desire to lose, he wants to do it his way.

Can a woman love a failure?

YES, if the man is a failure in the material goals he seeks, not if he is a failure as a person. Sometimes a woman who loves and eventually marries a man who can't seem to click in his professional, job, business, etc., may be happier with him than she would have been had she met someone else. In her husband, she knows she has a man who can face disappointment and still maintain the basic qualities and characteristics that first attracted him to her.

Do table manners inhibit children?

CERTAINLY not; and it is never too early to teach tots to mind their manners when they eat. It is not that parents want to make snobs of their children either. Teaching table manners is a necessary part of children and with the notion that they will eventually be responsible for getting along with others. Another thing, good table manners are best learned by children imitating adults at the family dinner table.

Community Shower Held

RAWDON — A community shower party was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wallace of Toronto. The bride (nee Raye David) is the daughter of Mrs. Ira David and the late Ira David.

During the entertainment program, piano selections were played by Miss Margaret Hoard, Mrs. Mac. Sharp and Miss Brenda Williams.

Humorous readings were read by: Mrs. Clayton Thompson and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Kenneth and Doug. las Couch provided accordion and saxophone selections. Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a recitation. An assembly singing was conducted by Mrs. W. C. Cox with Harvey Couch with her. Kenneth supplying a musical background.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith conducted a musical contest with Mrs. Kenneth Weaver as musician.

Population Control

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Elin Hammer told a family planning clinic that women's magazines could help contain the population explosion by publishing fewer articles on how to catch a husband, cook for him and rear his children.

Successful Living
Every Day a Challenge

By DORIS CLARK

"Have a good day," a friend said to a little old lady. The latter replied, "Thank you. But I have other plans." — from The Lighter Side of the Reader's Digest.

I smiled, but I didn't think it was funny. I thought it was wonderful. To the "little old lady" — in itself a patronizing description — the well-meant advice was like saying, "Enjoy being put out to pasture; enjoy being a do-nothing, mean-nothing nobody."

But it seems that particular human had plans for her day. Saw meaning in being here on earth which would involve a day of challenge. There just could be difficulties in getting through it — but she meant to try her darndest to be in there pitching.

Enjoying herself would be a bonus — not the end and all of a do-little day.

Dear Doris: Our marriage is dead. My husband takes no interest in his children: even stops them from spending an hour or two with their friends at the week-end just to show he is the boss. And there are many other things. There is no happiness in our home.

My girl, 13, no longer respects her father. Says she remembers how her dad would pull her ears, slap her face and pull her hair when she was a little girl, because she didn't do everything right away when the "boss" told her to.

My children are just biding their time for when they can leave home legally. But if I leave him he can have me up for desertion. If I put him out of the bedroom he can use that as an excuse to leave me. — Want To Fell Human Again.

Dear Want: A father who will slap around a near lot is showing the signs of a child batterer. He was taking out his frustrations on her — frustrations we know nothing about. And this may still be the case.

If you find life with him intolerable for all of you, a lawyer will help you claim support in a domicile apart from him. Or if you provoke him into leaving, you can claim support where you are. There are laws to protect families from mental and physical abuse.

It may well be that you can find serenity for yourself and the children in a home apart. There is a closeness and mutual sense of helpfulness which grows up in many a one-parent household; and that is all to the good.

Talk it over with the social worker who does marital counselling at the Family and Children's Services of Hastings County, 311 Front Street, Belleville.

Dear Doris: I was also in the position of M.M., pregnant at 16, but my family thought I should get married, and I did.

It lasted a year, a year of pure hell for me. I am married to a boy too young to know the meaning of the word father or husband. We soon knew that this little game called "house" wasn't really where its at — not at our age.

If I had it to do all over again I pray to God I'd have the love for my baby and the courage to give him up. The people who had him to raise would do so because that was their choice alone, not a penalty to pay for a moment of forbidden passion stolen in youth. — M.P.

Dear MP.: Your words are more eloquent than mine, You have been through the torment of an unhappy marriage and divorce. I hope M.M. will read your message.

Potter Says Limit Possible To Post-graduate Training

OTTAWA (CP) — The time may come when Ontario may insist on limiting post-graduate medical training and limit the licensing of foreign graduates, Health Minister Dr. Richard Potter said Thursday.

"As things are at present, the demands of the public for free services are entirely out of proportion to our actual medical needs," Dr. Potter told a meeting of the College of Family Physicians.

"To continue to license more physicians than necessary can only lead to financial chaos."

Dr. Potter, who earlier this week announced cutbacks in hospital construction and the number of active treatment beds, promised further changes.

"If we are to cut costs and make our health care delivery system what we want it to be, further changes will be necessary. We have by no means achieved any final solutions."

Dr. Potter said foreign graduates being licensed to practice in Ontario "outnumber our own graduates by 2 to 1.

"It is getting more and more difficult for our own sons and daughters to gain admission to our medical schools."

The health minister said he was "very concerned" and could see no reason, "why we shouldn't provide opportunities for our own children to fill our needs."

He said Ontario needs more family doctors.

The main problem was not numbers, he said, but distribution.

Housing Policies Will Be Watched

housing policy in the next sess[ion] of Parliament will be watched closely by other governments and social agencies.

Provincial governments will be consulted before legislation amending the National Housing Act is presented to the Commons for final approval.

But municipal leaders have fears local needs will not be taken into account, making the legislation less effective than it should be.

The NHA amendments, introduced last June, died on the Commons order paper when legislation ended. They are expected to reappear substantially unchanged, in the session starting Jan. 4.

The government at the time said the amendments would signed to provide decent housing for low-income [fam]ilies. They ranged from aid for neighborhood and residential improvement to assistance for low-income Canadians seeking lower monthly mortgage payments.

The Canadian Council on Social Development called them "the most significant National Housing Act amendments since 1954," and now wants them approved quickly.

But other observers were

A report prepared for Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., written by Toronto lawyer Michael Dennis and made public by New Democrat Leader David Lewis in August, said the corporation remained too highly centralized, inflexible and lacking in clear social housing goals.

Both the Dennis report and a brief submitted by the municipal delegation to the federal-provincial conference in Toronto last week said local government largely has been ignored in housing decisions.

Municipal governments with revenue based primarily on property [tax]es cannot afford more expensive low-income housing, it said.

United Mine Workers Voting for President

WASHINGTON (CP) — Some 200,000 members of the United Mine Workers union begin casting ballots for their officers today in an election to be strictly supervised by the U.S. government as far as Americans are concerned. The results are not expected before mid-December.

The union's 6,000 members in Canada do not come under such supervision since there is no legislative mechanism for the Canadian government to oversee the vote as requested by the U.S. labor department.

Stanley Grocutt, of Calgary, secretary-treasurer of the union's District 18, said Canadian locals are "fully capable of running an honest vote count and there was no reason to comply with U.S. requests to need Americans in to do any supervising."

The principal election fight is between UMW President W. A. (Tony) Boyle, 70, whose last opponent was murdered, and challenger Arnold Miller of Oakley, W. Va.

The election was ordered by a federal judge after finding that Boyle's 1969 re-election over the late Joseph Yablonski was marred by widespread violations of labor laws in the U.S. vote.

Grocutt said Canadian locals "are pro-Boyle" and that there was nothing "crooked" in the Canadian voting in 1969.

While Canadian locals do not like the U.S. government's intervention in the vote in the United States, Canadian members will support the man elected and will not pull out of the union. Even if re-elected, Boyle still faces loss of his post.

Boyle is free on bond pending appeal of his conviction of illegally spending union funds on contributions to political candidates for Congress and the 1968 Democratic presidential campaign of Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Loss of the appeal would force Boyle, who faces a five-year prison term, to step down anyway. U.S. labor law forbids the holding of union offices by persons convicted of certain crimes, including embezzlement.

Miller, Boyle's opponent, is a 46-year-old retired coal miner who was nominated by Miners for Democracy, a reform group formed of supporters of the murdered Yablonski.

Several weeks after the 1969 election, Yablonski, his wife and daughter were found shot to death in the Clarksville, Pa., home. Several union officials have been indicted in connection with the crime. Boyle has denied any knowledge of the slayings.

Eligible to vote are some 120,000 working coal miners and approximately 80,000 retired miners in 25 states and Canada.

Eskimos Will Likely Learn from Computers

OTTAWA (CP) — Within the next three years, a small Eskimo child could be learning his arithmetic by conversing with a kindly computer thousands of miles away.

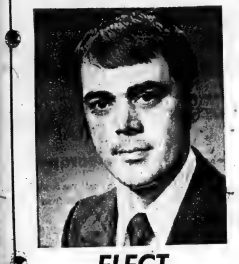
That scenario was put forward by communications department officials in interviews this week as a realistic example of what can be done with the planned communications technology satellite (CTS).

A joint Canada-U.S. project, CTS is scheduled to be launched in 1975. Its planned life is only two years, but both U.S. and Canadian officials are working hard to cram in as many experiments as possible.

Richard Gwyn, director-general of the environmental planning division of the communications department, foresees problems deciding what experiments will be performed.

"You're going to have some quite tough decisions to make on priorities because the satellite is up for two years.

"Approximately half — although it's far as neat as that — of that time belongs to the United States."



Still more time will be used in purely technical experiments, leaving limited time for social experiments like computer education in the North.

Heather Hudson, a department field worker, suggests computer education could produce good results in the North.

"It's been found working with blacks and Indians in the States that the computer almost seems more human, because it is something that relates to you at your own speed and in your own time, rather than a white teacher who may not have very much understanding of your own particular needs and interests."

Big Crowd Listens To Candidates

TRENTON (Staff) — The All Candidates' Night sponsored by the Trenton Chamber of Commerce at the Community Gardens Thursday night attracted a larger than usual crowd in spite of the heavy snowfall.

Meeting chairman Ted Parker, was so impressed with the turnout he observed "It's the best showing of public interest in a town election I can remember."

On Monday, local voters go to the polls to elect a mayor, six councillors and two Public Utilities commissioners, all for two-year terms.

Last night the 20 candidates in the field for the respective vacancies presented their platforms and called for support at the polls.

The issues touched on by the aspirants included relocation of the town's sewage treatment plant, adult crossing guards, a full-time fire department, development of the old post office site as a municipal parking lot and downtown parking garge and a recreation facility for senior citizens.

A poll of the candidates for their views on the proposal for the old post office site revealed there was a many for the proposition as against it.

A Good Guess

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — The school principal who once almost forecast perfectly the federal election results. On the eve of voting Paul Emile Larouche predicted the Liberals would have 107 seats, PCs 94, NDP 34, Social Credit 14 and Independents would have a single seat. He said he was proud of guessing so closely the final results, but that he was not pleased with the political situation.

Long-Suffering

LONDON (CP) — A welfare officer, visiting a factory in southeast London, reported that a man from the shop floor asked her if she would help him find "digs away from me old woman." She asked if he was no longer speaking terms with his wife. "No, mum," the man replied. "Just listenin' terms."

Disposal of Whey A Costly Problem

Federal and provincial financing for the construction of two whey drying plants — one in Central Ontario and the other in Eastern Ontario — may be in the offing.

This was stated at Thursday's closing session of the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association convention following discussions on the contentious whey disposal problem.

Ted Feley, president of the cheese makers' association, quoted a director of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board as saying that the two sectors governments were "considering" provision of funds necessary for construction of the plants.

But the convention learned that whey disposal was a political problem wherever cheese is manufactured.

In a prepared statement, Mr. Carr said Vermont's growing cheese industry contributes significantly to the state's agricultural and manufacturing base, but its principal by product — whey — had been possibly the state's largest single water pollution factor.

However, government funds were now being made available for whey disposal programs as state regulations against stream pollution had been put into effect.

Use of whey as a land fertiliser and its feeding to hogs and cattle are the low-cost solutions generally adopted but these also have pollution dangers.

On the other hand, whey drying plants are expensive, with sale of by-products covering only bare operational expenses and providing little or no return on investment.

Walter Joss, operator of The Trent River factory north of Campbellford feeds his whey to a herd of beef cattle and said he could use more.

But transportation costs all but rule out trucking for any distance.

In a question and answer period Mr. Joss agreed whey was a big problem for most factories.

But costly whey drying plants were impossible for single factories and he maintained it was time government did something to overcome the problem.

Pilot whey drying plants could be an answer, he suggested.

Mr. Foley said a central whey drying plant with a daily capacity of up to 300,000 pounds would cost approximately $500,000.

The Foxboro factory where he was maker produced an average of 80,000 pounds of whey daily.

Currently the Foxboro factory uses the lagoon method of whey disposal and also sprays it on the land as fertilizer, in addition the factory owner has a small beef herd to which he feeds whey.

Mr. Carr was the last of several speakers heard during the Thursday's closing session of the convention.

Mind Trip Stages Rerun

A mind trip many say is higher than heroin returns to Belleville next week.

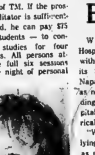
Transcendental Meditation, which claims to eliminate mental, physical and behavioral stress, is again the subject of a one - week course. Free introductory classes will be held Dec. 6 and 7 in Belleville, Dec. 7 and 8 in Trenton.

GREGG WILSON

Many remember Transcendental Meditation from Maharishi Mahesh Yogi who spread the gospel across North America several years ago following a visit by the Beatles to his home in India.

Since then, TM — the initials are in — has gathered momentum to the point where institutions such as McMaster and Harvard Universities publicly support the theory.

Some might dispute the mind-elevating stature accorded TM but conclusive evidence shows drug users of all types, including heroin addicts, tend to turn off to drugs once they're into the new trip.



TM advocates are pushing a booklet filled with scientific research on the subject. In January, 1972, study performed at Stanford University in California revealed a 50 per cent decline in heroin use after TM was practised for six months. The drop in marijuana use was even greater, from nearly 300 persons to fewer than 25.

"It helps develop more energy, intelligence and a more integrated mind," said Gregg Wilson, TM instructor conducting his third course here. "The LeDain Commission is behind it because it seems to be a drug alleviant, relieving stress in personal situations."

He stresses TM is not a religion but a mental technique. Requiring less than 20 minute meditation sessions per day, TM never loses its restorative effects if applied regularly.

Pointing to the booklet, Wilson said a pair of skeptical Queen's students recently decided to verify the incremental results outlined inside. Calls to research centres all over the world cost more than $100 but the skeptics were proved wrong, he said.

First night of the course is spent looking at slides while the second is devoted to the mechanics of TM. If the prospective meditator is sufficiently interested, he can pay $75 —$35 for students — to continue his studies for four more nights. All persons attending the full six sessions receive one night of personal instruction.

MARGIE POLLOCK

The course will be held at Centennial Secondary School in Belleville. The other locale is Trenton High School.

Former OPP Corporal Gets Top Compensation

A former provincial police corporal at Kaladar, wounded two years ago by a hunter's bullet, has been awarded $300 a month for the rest of his life by Ontario's Criminal Injuries Compensation Board.

The award to John Henry, permanently disabled by the gunshot wound in the backbone so he also receives $8,500 for pain, suffering and medical expenses.

The award is up to the maximum permitted by provincial legislation and was one of the largest ever granted by the board, said Belleville businessman Fred Deacon who is a member of the three-man compensation authority.

The award was made in what Mr. Deacon termed "a very justifiable case."

"This man has suffered tremendously," he said.

Some $3,500 was allowed Mr. Henry for medical and other expenses — which included a trip to Florida and the Virgin Islands after his doctors recommended rest in a warmer climate before an operation.

The balance of $5,000 was awarded for pain and suffering.

The board report dates the incident from Sept. 11 when Mr. Henry, then a corporal in charge of the OPP Kaladar detachment, went bear-hunting in the Cloyne area. He was sitting at the base of a tree when he heard hunters entered the clearing. One of them "seeing a dark object" moving at the tree, thought it was "a yearling bear" and fired his .303-Calibre rifle.

The bullet passed 2½ inches through the tree before hitting Cpl. Henry, causing spinal and other injuries.

The medical summation was that the injured man "will remain disabled."

Nelson Vanness of Northbrook, later was fined $500 in Napanee court for careless hunting and $20 for hunting without a license.

Mr. Deacon and Toronto lawyer R. C. Rutherford formed a two-man quorum on the compensation board which handed down the awards decision.

Campaigns Hinge on Volunteers

By PETER TEBWORTH

"Elections are a grass roots thing at the municipal level. I have no organization to fall back on or to pay."

These are the words of Mayor Russell Scott when asked about the financing of his campaign for re-election.

"Pretty well by myself" is how Mayor Scott is paying for his campaign. He says he does not accept any contributions to speak of but receives the help of his family and friends who share the bulk of the workload for the election on a volunteer basis.

Roy Jeffrey, campaign manager for his wife, Robin Jeffrey, is paying for the major portion of expenses himself. He doesn't know at this time what the final figures will be, but says it will be "quite a bit."

Mrs. Jeffrey's campaign is being assisted by small donations but she will not accept any large amounts because she does not want to be "obligated to anyone." She does not know herself who has contributed to her mayoralty fight, as Chase Jeffrey is handled by her financial manager, Bruce Hall.

"The main expense in most campaigns," according to Mr. Jeffrey, "is election workers."

Mr. Jeffrey cannot be made up entirely of volunteers. Men and women from all walks of life volunteered to help Mrs. Jeffrey, including "a lot of people who have never worked in an election before," he says. Mr. Jeffrey says that this is one of the most encouraging aspects of the whole campaign.

Both Mayor Scott and Mr. Jeffrey agreed that the major cost of each campaign is the purchase of signs and buttons and advertising on radio and in newspapers. Neither candidate had any figures on the cost of the estimated cost but Mr. Jeffrey states that this campaign is "one of the least expensive mayoralty elections according to past election figures."

Mayor Scott believes that this election will not differ much about the same as the last election.

One of the largest financial aspects of any mayoralty race according to Mayor Scott, "is a lot of leg work and energy which you can't put a price on."

Taxpayers Would Pay Bus Fare Reductions

Local election promises of free public transportation for the blind and handicapped could cost Belleville property taxpayers $50 dollars in tax money.

This was pointed out today by Mrs. Marylen Burtt, chairman of the Belleville Transit Commission, who said that the Ontario Department of Transportation and Communications has made it very clear that it will not pre-pared to subsidize senior citizens or any other group.

Mrs. Burtt said, according to Mrs. Burtt, is that city taxpayers will have to pick up the financial loss resulting from reduced fares.

In 1971 the city subsidized senior citizens transportation to the amount of $34,564 and the amount for this will undoubtedly exceed this figure.

"If reduced fares or free transportation is given to the blind and handicapped as well, the transit commission would have to ask a firm of during rush hours or something." Mrs. Burtt said.

Already, she said, the commission was in the position of having to put on extra buses for the rush hour period.

The provincial transportation subsidy is based on 50 per cent of the previous year's deficit, limited by a per-capita-based formula. The city's first subsidy payment was for just over $35,000, representing 50 per cent of a $71,067 deficit.

This year's budgeted deficit is $100,000, while under the formula the maximum deficit that would be considered for subsidy is $109,117.

But because of increased wages and other spiralling costs, next year's commission deficit could run as high as $150,000 and because of the subsidy formula limitation, the city would have to pay close to $100,000.

Increased wages, effective January 1, will increase the transit commission deficit by another $20,000 next year and this alone will very likely push the deficit over the maximum that will be considered by the province for subsidy.

"It would therefore appear that any further increase in the deficit will have to be borne by the city . . ." said Mrs. Burtt.

Maternity Beds Reduced By Hospital Budget Cuts

While Belleville General Hospital may enter discussions with the ministry of health on its $248.850 budget cut, in Napanee protest is mounting as news that Leonora and Abington Glazier Centers Hospital must close out 11 obstetrical beds.

"We should not take this lying down. We should object as strongly as possible," Napanee Deputy Reeve Ernest Marshall is urging the town's council.

Napanee residents will have to rely on maternity ward services at Belleville, Picton Hospital and Kingston's Hotel Dieu Hospital. The obstetrical unit at Napanee General Hospital is also being phased out.

The 52-bed out at Belleville was met by comment from Reid executive director Phyllis Rickard that the hospital "will co-operate to the utmost" with the ministry of health as it strives for efficient use of provincial hospital beds.

In contrast, E. H. Mills, administrator at Lennox and Addington Hospital called the 11-bed cut there "a regressive step and really dictatorial." Hospital board chairman of Napanee, Werk Poole, says the new five per cent ceiling on hospital budgets for 1973 can be achieved "by the staff and services in patients."

Plans for a $450,000 hospital expansion at Napanee will be shelved because of the budget

Foreign Equipment

TORONTO (CP) — Some Canadian hockey players will be using foreign equipment on the ice this year. When the German chip Paul Lorency buys Hot Toronto recently, it had unloaded nearly 100,000 Czechoslovak hockey pucks and about 1,000 of the hockey sticks, all bound for the Canadian market.

"Obviously some economies will have to be made," he stated candidly.

He said that the means employed to keep the budget within the ministry's new limits is a matter for the board of governors but he indicated reduction in beds may will be looked at" as a cost - saving measure.

Blithe Shopkeeper Boosts Hoarders

Jim Carre owns and manages a second-hand shop where his 18 cups of coffee each day to preserve his sanity.

"Business like this is enough to drive a guy crazy," said the bespectacled owner, clad in blue jeans and a woodsman's jacket.

Mr. Carre started his business when his obsession with collecting what he calls "collectibles" got out of hand and couldn't fit in the confines of his home.

Now in the basis of Mr. Carre's philosophy and the reason customers come in to "kick the stuff around" and gather little odds and ends for their collections.

Another type of customer Mr. Carre has a soft heart, but this type drives him up the wall.

"Such as the one who came in one time saying: 'I'm a welfare recipient.' She looked me straight in the eye when she said it, and I said 'You're so damn honest about it, go ahead and take what you want.'

"I have $800 worth of customers like that."

Mr. Carre likes helping people out and laughing at times when people never come back.

In the shop you can buy the final edition of the Toronto Telegram for $3.50 or you can buy a Chesterfield and chair for $20.

"That's a good price for someone who wants that per for a collection and we don't play games with the price of the furniture if someone doesn't have the money," he said.

Bypass Issue Divides Village

Residents of the village of Tweed will be asked to vote Monday on whether or not Highway 37 being bypassed around the municipality.

And opposing factions have entered strong campaigns for and against the idea of petitioning the province for the bypass.

The "vote yes" faction is for the bypass to relieve existing traffic volume through the village, the number of accidents and the mounting volume of exhaust fumes.

They feel that a bypass would enable council to plan for an industrial park and even a shopping mall in the heart of the village.

The "vote no" band, the Tweed Chamber of Commerce is urging residents to vote against the petition question. The chamber expresses fears of economic hardship should the pass become a reality.

It says a survey has indicated that 24 per cent of local business comes from the tourist trade and the fear is that if the village is bypassed this business would be lost.

Also, it is pointed out, if a bypass were built, the village would lose provincial maintenance assistance on Victoria Street with taxpayers having to pay 100 per cent of the costs of snowplowing, sanding and street repairs.

Church Favors Reduced Farmers' School Taxes

The Presbyterian Church is in favor of reduced educational taxes for farmers.

Speaking briefly to the opening session of the Central Ontario Cheese Makers as he gave the invocation at their annual convention Wednesday, Rev. David Murphy of St. Columbia Presbyterian Church, told the Church General Assembly recognized the plight of farmers in the way education taxes were assessed.

He said the assembly had recommended to the provincial government that education taxes be assessed on the income of citizens and that the province pay 100 per cent of education costs.

Also, Mr. Murphy said his Church Board of Evangelism was concerned with ecology and the current rate of depletion of the world's natural resources.

He said the sky was no longer the limit for world growth and if continued at the present rate the only result could be a decline in the standard of living.

But the practice of birth control in over - populated countries was not the entire answer.

Mr. Murphy said that because of the higher standard of living, are child born in the United States in his lifetime would use up 20 times the natural resources of a child born in India.

Unless natural resources were conserved and industrial wastes and other pollution cleaned up, the world will be faced with an impasse by the year 2,000, it was predicted.

The opening session of the cheese makers' convention saw welcomes by association president Ted Foley, and by Hastings county warden Carman Gibson as well as a brief talk by Ontario Dairy Princess Wendy Pollock of Ripley.

Dr. D. B. Emmons, Food Research Bureau, Ottawa, gave a colored slide presentation of a recent trip to Japan where he attended the International Dairy Federation annual meeting with some 30 countries around the world.

Contrary to general opinion, Japan was a big user of dairy products. It not only was 10th in world production of milk but 20 million pounds annually but was also a large importer.

He also said the possibilities of milk were processed into cheese, formulated baby foods and into milk - based drinks which command approximately 20 per cent of the soft drink market.

The convention continues today featuring talks by Joan R. Jackson, president of the National Dairy Council, and by W. Carr, dairying director for Vermont, who will talk on the utilization of whey.

What's Your Offer?

Jim Carre, proprietor of a second hand shop in the city, says the business drives him crazy but his love for collecting things has him hooked and now he can't get out. He is shown here holding the final edition of the Toronto Telegram which he is selling in his shop for $3.50.

Neither Coach Claims Grey Cup Edge

HAMILTON (CP) — The opposing coaches counted their cards and neither dared to claim an advantage so it remained for the Canadian Football League executive to liven up Grey Cup week festivities today.

The coaches — Dave Skrien of Saskatchewan Roughriders and Jerry Williams of Hamilton Tiger-Cats—faced a general news conference gathering Thursday.

They kept their remarks uncontroversial, talking about such things as the condition of the artificial playing surface at Ivor Wynne Stadium, where their teams meet in the championship Sunday, and about their injury-free lineups.

But today, the spotlight switches to the league's executive committee meetings, where expansion in the United States is expected to be one of the first subjects on the agenda.

The issue has the wealthier Eastern teams pressing for expansion while the West is expected to stand against the move.

In the words of CFL Commissioner Jake Gaudaur, it should produce some "interesting discussions."

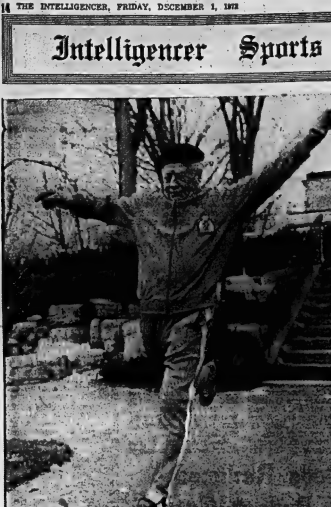
"We've been fortunate," said Williams, referring to the lack of injuries. "And our fortune continued through the last game. We'll be 100 per cent."

"We'll have the same 32-man roster that we had in the semi-final and final," said Skrien. "And they'll all be healthy.

"We do have three other players with us who are on the injury list—Nolan Bailey and Ed McQuarters especially — that would affect our over-all operation, but they haven't been with us for so long that we should be at the same strength that we've been at for the whole second half of the season."

Skrien said he thought the artificial turf here was more firm than when the Roughies played their first game of the season here last summer.



"I don't know whether Jerry would concur, but it seemed to us the turf was far more strong in the 80-degree heat then it is now in 30-degree temperatures and we like it better the way it is right now."

The 30-degree temperatures Skrien spoke of are likely to continue through to Sunday's game according to long-range forecasts by the local weather office.

Cloudy skies and light winds are also called for, but only light snow flurries, if any, are expected Sunday.

Sunday's national final is set to start at 1 p.m. EST, and television coverage will be provided on both the CBC and CTV national networks.

Other highlights of Grey Cup week Thursday included announcement of the league's Dark Lady of the Ticats was best rookie honors.

Practice Makes Perfect

Ti-Cats' Henley Wins Schenley

HAMILTON (CP) — The backstreets of Chicago were drawn into Canada's top football "awards Thursday night, shortly after it was announced Garney Henley was the best player in the country this year.

While Henley, known as Mr. Everything in this football-mad city, was graciously accepting the plaudits of well-wishers, Mack Herron of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the runner-up to Henley, said he should have won the award.

"We were just being presented to the public as two different people—a good guy and a bad guy, more or less," Herron said at a news conference following the announcement of the Schenley awards.

He added later, "... you know, Garney Henley being a school teacher, Herron being from Chicago, the ghetto."

Henley said he wasn't being drawn into any controversey, although "I had it tough in the early years, too."

The other top awards went to John Helton of Calgary Stampeders, best lineman; Jim Young of British Columbia Lions; best Canadian, and Chuck Easley of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, best rookie.

Herron said he agreed that Easley was the best rookie and that he (Herron) should have been competing against Easley rather than Henley for the top player award.

Henley, playing full-time as a wide receiver for the first time in his 13-year career with the Ticats, Eastern Football Conference champions, said 1972 wasn't his best year.

"When you consider all-around, I probably did a few more things in 1963 when I played both ways and very seldom left the field. I think I had a good year in 1963 and 1965, but it's very difficult to compare offence and defence from the standpoint, of satisfaction it's been a very good year for me.

"If you want to consider an over-all year, probably 1962 was my best year playing both offence and defence."

Henley, 36, was nominated as the best player in Canada in 1963, 1965, 1966 and 1971, but finished out of the money—

Asked whether he would have been more satisfied had he won the award as a defensive player, he said:

"Yes I think I would have because I don't think a defensive player will ever win it. People look at football as scoring, and the people who can run the ball, catch the ball and throw the ball are the people who are going to get most of the press and most of the attention. It's just human nature. . . . Defensive players probably have more work than offensive players; they have to stop those stars.

"But I'm most happy to receive it this way."

He said this year had "sort of" and he was not considering retiring.

Apparently, Herron wasn't the only loser who felt badly. Jim Stillwagon of Toronto Argonauts, like Helton a defensive tackle, lost to the Stampeder in the lineman voting.

He didn't stick around to meet the press, leaving the armories by a back door as soon as the ceremonies were over.

Helton had mixed feelings about his award.

"I didn't build myself up as a winner in my own mind, because it would have been a disappointment to lose. . . . I was tremendously impressed for Jim Stillwagon. How does he lose and I win?

"I . . . I don't really feel great . . . I feel honored but I don't feel like going out on the town tonight to kick up my heels as I know there is somebody somewhere who feels badly as I do happy.

"I'd feel deeply grateful and honored had it been me who went out and had a go with Jim Stillwagon tonight in front of everybody who was here and I came up the winner."

Easley, the rookie choice, said he was pleased at his win, but his immediate goal was to lead the Ticats to the Grey Cup championship against Saskatchewan Roughriders Sunday afternoon.

Jerry Ingram, Ottawa Rough Rider's 19-year-old placekicker, was happy.

"I'm coming back next year, you better believe that," he said.

Jim Young, the 'Lions' brilliant wide receiver, said his award is to be voted the best player in Canada.

This was the second time he'd been named best Canadian and "I've still not had a good year."

Split end was a new position for him—previously he'd played halfback for the Lions—and he'd only started getting used to being a receiver late in the season. Next year should be better.

"I'm a pass receiver now—I don't have to play football any more. If I stay away from injuries I can probably play another 10 years," he said.

Clarke Proves Point To Former Mates

HAMILTON (CP) — Dave Clarke has something to prove to the Saskatchewan Rough Rider brass Sunday.

The fiery defensive half, a kick return specialist on Hamilton's all suicide squad, was cut by the Western Conference club without getting a chance.

Saskatchewan and the Tiger-Cats meet Sunday in the Grey Cup.

The 23-year-old from Brantford used to call team-mate Garney Henley "sir" when both were at the University of Guelph where Clarke was a student, Henley the phys-ed instructor.

The Ticats drafted the gutsy little halfback when he graduated from Guelph, but Clarke wanted to grab a college title before embarking on a pro career.

He entered the University of Western Ontario last year as a post-graduate work and was instrumental in the London, Ont., university copping the College Bowl title.

Clarke was traded to Saskatchewan in a pre season deal that was to bring running back Silas McKinnie to Hamilton. McKinnie never did put on a Hamilton uniform. And Clarke was immediately reclaimed by Hamilton when the Riders lost interest.

"Yes, I'm vindictive," admitted Clarke this week, "especially toward the head coach (Dave Skrien) . . . because they didn't give me a chance.

"I stressed for one game against British Columbia (Lions) but they had no intention of using me. The next day I was gone."

Clarke concluded the only use Saskatchewan had for him was on the suicide squad where there is more chance of injury.

He performs the same task with Hamilton but, partnered with Gerry Sternberg, the pair provided the Ticats with an explosive threat that is geared to produce key yardage.

Clarke and Angelo Porter were the best in the East at running back kickoffs and Clarke, who averaged 31.8 yards a return to Porter's 34.1, ran one ball back 102 yards for a touchdown early in the season.

Porter returned another kickoff 96 yards for another major score.

Only Mack Herron of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who returned a kickoff 120 yards, ran farther than either of the Hamilton players.

Brock Feels Young For Grey Cup Battle

HAMILTON (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders' giant offensive tackle doesn't think he's too old at 33 to play professional football.

In fact, while many observers look at Sunday's Grey Cup game as the grand finale to a long and distinguished career for Clyde Brock, he says he isn't entertaining any such thoughts—just yet.

"Yes, I'll probably be thinking of it after Sunday, but I'll be giving it some deep thought. I won't make any hurried decision," the 6-foot-5, 275-pounder said Thursday in an interview.

"I don't think I'm too old to play in this game. I could probably play another two years. I've been lucky that I haven't ever had any serious injuries.

"An offensive tackle relies on initial quickness, not the constant pursuit a defensive lineman has to come with," said the four-time all-Canadian. "So age is more important in a defensive lineman."

Even if Brock does retire after this season, he'll remain in Canada "because all our friends are in Regina."

The product of Utah State who played in the National Football League before joining the Roughriders nine years ago, said he doesn't killer it he's physically conditioned. But "if I don't, I think I would want to live in the States anymore."

Brock, playing in his fourth Grey Cup, said he still feels the pressure, like an actor might get the butterflies before a big performance. But after the opening kickoff, it's just another big game.

He will be seeing quite a bit of Hamilton Tiger-Cats' defensive end Gary Inaksep and with Inaksep standing 6-foot-4 and weighing 260 pounds, the collision likely will send shock waves into the stands.

"I've only played against him once this year and, yes, he beat me a couple of times," said Brock.

"He's big and strong and has a real good inside move. I'm doubt the whole Hamilton defensive line will be putting on a lot of pressure. They stunt quite a bit . . . and we'll have to watch the safety blitz."

Reids Make Headway Towards First Pennant

By AL ZABAS
Staff Sportswriter

Reid's Dairy moved into first place in the Quinte Hockey League standings Thursday night with their 3-1 victory over the Teachers.

Though centre Reid Mallory failed to improve his individual standings, winger Denny Thompkins took up the slack in his linemate's scoring efforts by putting two goals past Teachers' goalie Casey Soden.

Ron Pointer tallied Reid's second third period goal as he deflected a Paul Zakos shot from point into the Teachers net. According to Reid's Bill Rushlow, who took over the coaching duties from defenseman Paul Zakos at the beginning of the season, part of Reid's success this year is due to the acquisition of six new players.

Reid's first string line consisting of Ted Waite - Reid Mallory - Denny Tompkins are all new members of the Dairymen. Waite played for the now defunct Stinson Quinte League team of last year, while Mallory and Tompkins played for the Loyalist hockey team. Bob Woodtke from Foreston Falls, Dan Garlick, and Shannonville's Jasson Morris also are first year members of the club. "For the past two or three years," said coach Rushlow, "we've been in the cellar of the league, but this year with our new players we're competitive. All the players are pretty good, they're good skaters and good shooters."

With only nine members of Reid's on the bench last night, coach Rushlow said, "if we had all of the guys out for every game, we'd be doing a lot better than we have been.

Coach Rushlow, who has participated for four years in the Quinte League, stopped playing this year when on top of his back trouble, "I had to get my upper lip sewn up. The injury topped it off for me, and when Paul (Zakos) didn't want to coach any more, I took over."

Zakos said that his coaching duties plus playing "were too much for me to do. It's hard to play, and coach at the same time, with changing lines and players on the ice."

Goalie John Gunter's shutout bid was snuffed out last night by Teachers Dave Sneddon at 1:05 of the third period.

In other Quinte League action last night, Central Tool moved into third place with an 8-3 victory over Belvedere Hotel. Goal scorers for the cabbies were Al Walker with two, Ted Schwager, Mark Aquafredda, Tom MacDonald, Dwight Rathwell, Kevin Allen, and Tom Pierce with one apiece. Belvedere's Larry Marshall notched a hat trick performance against Central goalie Ken Genereous.

Chargers Square Accounts

Centennial Seniors avenged a weekend loss to Trenton by taking a 49-45 decision as the teams met on the floor of Quinte COSSA basketball Thursday.

Trenton had defeated the chargers 31-25 in their weekend tournament, but came out second best in Thursday's tight contest. "There were only five free throws in the whole game. I think that's a tribute to both defences," said winning coach Bruce Faulds.

Vahe Parmakerian led the winners with 22 points while Brian Morphy punned in 13 and Al Millar 10. For Trenton it was Don Armstrong with 22 points and Eldon Garrett with 10.

Trenton edged Centennial 46-44 in the junior contest as Nick Alexander scored 16 points and Riggleger 12. Doug Yates had 14 points for the Chargers while Bob Williams and John Spitlerg hit for 10 each.

In the bantam contest, Centennial took a convincing 61-36 victory; Brent Babcock showed the way with 18 points, while Westlake had 14 for the losers.

Trenton Tops

After 10 of 36 games in the Carlings Five Pin semi-final competition held in Campbellford, Trenton's Dan Moon and Dorothy Swindells have taken the lead with a 2376 and 2255 respectively.

The two newcomers to the Carlings Championship have 20 games remaining to decide the top nine women and 10 men to go to Hamilton for the Carlings Five Pin Championship.

The final two 10 game sets will be bowled in Trenton on December 10th, and in Belleville on December 17th.

East vs. West In Basketball

Senior basketball teams from the Bay of Quinte east and west divisions will see action tonight at Quinte Secondary as Nicholson, BCI and Moira take on their western counterparts Trenton, Centennial and Quinte.

Rick Locke, basketball convener at Quinte this year, said that "the purpose of the meet is to allow parents, and anyone else interested-in high school basketball to see the standouts of the two divisions."

Locke also said that the games were "to try and raise interest" in the All - Ontario "AA" meet-up to be held in Belleville in the new year.

The eight to 16 teams will be coming from cities with populations of less than 50,000.

Quinte Club Needs Boxers

Wanted: Young men. Must be in good physical condition, fearless and prepared to work. Glass jaws need not apply.

The Quinte Athletic Club requires boxers for their upcoming competitions. The facilities are available at their Pinnacle Street location. They have gloves, headpieces, head protectors and training equipment. The club appears to be flourishing with 69 members who use the training facilities to get in shape, but they're short of competitors for boxing meets.

Club president Terry Bennett reports that offers for competitive meets have been forthcoming from boxing groups in Peterborough, Oshawa and Kingston.

"The Royal Military College in Kingston was interested in a meet, but there's no way I'd send our boys up against them. They're too experienced."

Peterborough, on the other hand, is a fledgling club, much the same as Belleville and plans are being made for a card in mid-January.

"We have a couple of boys training seriously right now," says Terry, "but we'd like to have five or six to fill out a card."

He stresses the safety factor in the sport. "With the rules governing amateur boxing, there's really no chance that someone can be hurt badly."

Bennett, Bill Tollen, Bill Slater and Joe Hunter have been coaching Joe Harvey and Joe Carroll in preparation for their first amateur matches.

The Polaris Colt 175 does all this for just $699.00. (The same kind of value goes into every other Polaris model too.)

That's why most second-time snowmobile buyers are switching to Polaris. They know what to look for in a snowmobile: features. And Polaris has them all, as standard equipment on all models.

The famous Polaris Star engine. The first engine designed specifically for snowmobiles. It has proven itself by winning race after race, year after year. The engine has an all-aluminum clutch which is so far advanced that it is electronically spin balanced to 12,000 RPM. It adjusts smoothly and automatically to the torque requirements of varying snow conditions.

Which brings us to the Polaris slide suspension system. You can say goodbye to those uncomfortable, unsafe rides over rough and bumpy terrain. A Polaris will literally glide over even the worst trails. Which means that you are in control of the machine at all times — even at high speeds.

Orr Accelerates Pace

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Orr took more than five months to get back to regular National Hockey League action after his mid-summer knee operation, but lately his recovery has accelerated drastically.

The Boston Bruins defenceman was conspicuous by his unusual lack of offensive rushing Wednesday night when Bruins tied Montreal Canadiens 3-3.

"I'm a little bit off still but that's because of conditioning," Orr said after the Montreal game. "In a few more games I'll be fine."

But Orr didn't wait 'a few more games". He scored two goals and set up two others Thursday night as the Bruins beat Buffalo Sabres 5-0.

In one other NHL game Thursday, Atlanta Falmes tied Philadelphia Flyers 5-5. New York Rangers visit California Golden Seals tonight while St. Louis Blues meet the Canucks in Vancouver.

Orr underwent surgery in early June for repairs on his left knee. He played a few games early in the season before he was forced by team doctors who insisted the knee needed more rest. The 24-year-old defenceman returned to regular duty Nov. 18.

Thursday night, Orr opened the scoring at Boston with his seventh goal of the season on a power-play slap shot in the first period.

-BOBBY ORR

Another of his slap shots from the point was deflected into the Buffalo net by Don Marcotte for the winning goal at 17:50 of the third period.

Orr's other goal early in the third period also came on long shot past Sabres goalie Roger Crozier and it was his eighth score of the season and fifth since his Nov. 18 comeback.

His other assist was on a goal by Ken Hodge while Johnny Bucyk banged in a rebound for the Bruins' other goal which tied the score at 4:4, setting the stage for Marcotte's winner.

But less than a minute after Clark got his second goal of the night for the two-goal lead, Bobby Leiter scored for the Flames and Ray Comeau got his second of the night at 15:37 to gain the tie.

Going into California tonight, the Rangers will have Larry Sacharuk filling in for the injured Jim Neilson. Sacharuk was called up from the American League Providence Reds Thursday after it was announced Neilson will be inactivated three weeks with a broken bone in his right foot.

Ward Wings in WHA

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Ward appears to be well on his way to setting at least a personal scoring record, if not a league mark, in the World Hockey Association. He scored his 20th and 21st goals in his 24th game Thursday night.

The two goals led New York Raiders to a 5-3 victory over Minnesota Fighting Saints and it was the eighth time Ward has scored two or more goals in a single game this year.

In other WHA games Thursday, Ottawa Nationals upset Cleveland Crusaders 3-2, Alberta Oilers tied Winnipeg Jets 3-3 and Los Angeles Sharks defeated Houston Aeros 6-3.

Ward, who scored three goals Wednesday in a 7-6 victory over New England Whalers, had only two goals in 17 games last season with the National Hockey League Vancouver Canucks.

His top goal production in seven professional seasons was a total of 35 in 1968-69 when he was rookie of he year with the American Hockey League Rochester Americans.

The 25-year-old centre from Cornwall, Ont., made the most of a 4-0 lead of New York with his first goal in the record period before a crowd of 3,891. Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden.

The victory was the third in a row on home ice for the Nationals but, despite their recent success, only 2,227 fans showed up Thursday.

A crowd of 5,200 was on hand at Edmonton to see the Oilers come from a three-goal deficit to gain the tie with Winnipeg.

Ernie Wakely made 43 saves in the Winnipeg nets and Jack Norris stopped 37 throughout the game, including the scoreless overtime period.

Gerry Odrowski and Bart Gerry Odrowski and Bart Crashley each scored a goal and had two assists each to lead Los Angeles over Houston.

Odrowski, Crashley, Gerry Vennerazzo and Ted McKendrick gave the Sharks a 4-0 first-period lead and Alton White made Murray Hall and Ted Taylor scored for the Aeros.

J. P. LeBlanc got the Sharks goal early in the third period and Paul Popiel closed out the scoring for Houston before a crowd of 4,576 at Los Angeles.

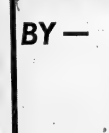
Sports Writer In Archives



OTTAWA (CP) — Papers and articles written by the noted French Canadian sports writer and broadcaster, Charles Mayer, have been donated to the Public Archives of Canada.

Mayer, whose career spanned half a century with the French newspapers Le Canada, Le Petit Journal and La Patrie, founded the French version of the "hot stove league"—an intermission program designed to entertain radio listeners between periods of early National Hockey League broadcasts.

In 1955, he was elected president of the Canadian Boxing Federation and in 1956 vice-president of the National Boxing Association. He died last November at age 70.

The Mayer papers include original drafts of broadcasts and articles as well as photos of hockey greats, Howie Morenz, Aurele Joliat and Maurice Richard.

The Public Archives said the acquisition of the Mayer papers is part of a larger plan to collect a history of Canadian sports.

Disqualified Self But Grys Can Run

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal ruled Thursday that Benjamin Grys disqualified himself as a Toronto alderman when he carried on an action against the city from July 2 to July 7 last year.

However, the decision does not prevent Mr. Grys from running in Toronto's forthcoming municipal election.

The court actin against Mr. Grys by Toronto citizens John Stratton and Nicholas Patterson began when Mr. Grys started legal action against the city for a declaration that he had no pecuniary interest in the rezoning of city property for a proposed apartment-town house development.

Mr. Grys came under criticism after it was disclosed that in March, 1971, his wife sold two houses in the development area for $180,000 and took back mortgages for $125,000. She had paid $31,350 for the property.

Mr. Grys sat as a member of the city's planning board and as chairman of council's buildings and development committee during approval of zoning changes for the area. He voted in favor of rezoning and did not disclose any direct or indirect interest in the matter.

Last March, Mr. Justice Lloyd Houlden ruled that Mr. Grys had remedied his act of disqualification by filing notice of discontinuance of his action against the city. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Patterson then appealed to the Court of Appeal.

Mr. Stratton and Mr. Patterson said they intend to make sure Mr. Grys repays to the city his salary as alderman since the time of his disqualification, through further legal action if necessary.

Alibi Attacked

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A Windsor restaurent owner didn't get a grocery order that he had testified was delivered on the day of a $1.2-million bank robbery here, a county court jury was told Thursday.

Chris Koufopantalis said earlier in the trial of five persons charged in connection with the holdup that he had seen one of the five, James Ernest MacArthur, 40, of Montreal, in an alley between his restaurant and the bank.

He said he thought his morning delivery of groceries had arrived when he spotted MacArthur in the alley putting something in a station wagon at about the time the Dec. 18 holdup took place.

In Thursday's testimony, John Drouillard, a truck driver for Superior Produce, said he made no delivery on Dec. 18 or at any time between Dec. 17 and Dec. 25.

Honor Poet

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — Students in high schools and elementary schools here will have a holiday today to commemorate the birth of Dr. John McCrae 100 years ago.

Governor-General Michener announced the holiday Thursday while taking part in ceremonies to honor Dr. McCrae, author of the poem In Flandrs Fields.

Man Killed

KINGSTON (CP) — A Kingston man was killed and his brother injured Thursday in an explosion at the Ziebart rustproofing plant at Kingston Township. Killed was Hans Suddergaard, 20. His brother, Ivan, 25, was taken to hospital suffering from burns.

Girl Identified

TORONTO (CP) — A 16-year-old girl found beaten to death in Aurora early Thursday was identified Friday night as Yvonne Leroux of nearby Weston.

Chief Inspector Wally Herkness of York Regional Police said the girl died of multiple blows that crushed her skull and lacerated her brain. He said it was possible she had been raped.

Bad Magic

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Thieves broke into a car owned by magician James Kerr and made $400 worth of his equipment disappear Wednesday night.

Mr. Kerr said the equipment is no good to anyone who is not familiar with magic and without it he will not be able to perform concerts booked for Christmas.

Nab Smokers

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Three teen-age boys were picked up by Oshawa police Thursday under provisions of the Tobacco Restraint Act, which forbids people under 16 to smoke or have possession of tobacco.

The boys, one 13 and two 14, were taken to police headquarters where the parents were called to collect them.

A spokesman for the police department said it has not been decided whether charges will be laid against the three.

He said merchants in the city have been warned they are liable to charges if caught selling tobacco to anyone under 16, even if a note is presented from a parent or guardian.

DR. MORTON SHULMAN

Potter's Advice Is Under Fire

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Morton Shulman said Thursday patients who have trouble getting a doctor to make house calls had better not take Health Minister Richard Potter's suggestion to switch doctors.

Dr. Shulman, member of the legislature for Toronto High Park, said in an interview that doctors are in such short supply in Metropolitan Toronto that they can't afford the luxury of house calls, because they could treat four patients in their office in the time it takes to visit a patient at home.

OTTAWA (CP) — A National agency to control the Canadian egg industry will be established early next year following an agreement signed Thursday by provincial and regional egg producing and marketing men.

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Robert Paul Renaud, a Collins Bay penitentiary prisoner who escaped from his escort Nov. 14 in Ottawa while on a temporary pass, surrendered to police Wednesday night.

Independent Canada Group Is Alive, Well, in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — The Committee for an Independent Canada (CIC) is "alive and well and living in the House of Commons," its national chairman, Eddie Goodman, said Thursday.

Mr. Goodman told a news conference that 56 members of the new Parliament, elected Oct. 30, are either card-carrying members of the committee or have expressed very active views" in support of committee objectives.

He said the figure includes three members of the Trudeau cabinet—Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie, Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner and Solicitor-General Warren Allmand.

By party, the total includes 27 Conservatives, 16 New Democrats and 13 Liberals, he said.

He was unable to name all individual members but said the views of new MPs were obtained in a questionnaire mailed by the committee to all candidates who ran in the election.

They asked one-third of the more than 1,000 who ran for the 265 Commons seats have yet replied to the questionnaire and he estimated that "about half" of all MPs now holding office probably are sympathetic to CIC objectives.

Mr. Goodman said he is hopeful the support among MPs will result in a broader Commons debate of national cultural and economic issues, and help translate into legislation some of the goals the CIC has been working toward.

Mr. Goodman said he sent a telegram to Prime Minister Trudeau last week calling for stronger legislation to curb foreign economic domination in Canada.

Brokers Find Times Are Tough

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the demise or merger of more than 100 American securities firms over the last few years that was supposed to have left the industry stronger than ever, evidences of weakness are reappearing.

James Needham, New York Stock Exchange chairman, calls it "the valley of a business cycle," but that is simply a broad euphemism for financial strains being experienced by the survivors of the recent shakeout.

In what seems in a small way to be a repeat of the old scenario, well-known securities houses are reporting sagging incomes, and in some instances they see little hope of recovery except through mergers.

For instance, Hayden, Stone, Inc. has reported net income for the three months ended Sept. 29 of only $24,568, or one cent a share, compared with $803,110 a year earlier.

The company's management echoed an old refrain. They said they now have "focused attention on tightening our cost control procedures."

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith Inc. showed a 32-per-cent decline in September earnings to $1.6 million from $3.3 million in September, 1971.

Merrill Lynch, the world's biggest broker, remains highly profitable, however, as do several other firms, including E. F. Hutton and Donaldson, Lufkin and Jenrette Inc.

First Boston Corp., an investment banker and underwriter, reported a 33-per-cent decline in earnings of the third quarter and Reynolds Securities showed a 15-per-cent drop.

Shields and Co. and Drexel Firestone Inc. were reported exploring possible advantages of combining, primarily to reduce fixed overhead. Halsey, Stuart and Co. and A. G. Becker and Co. were doing the same.

The condition of Wall Street is said to result from a combination of high overhead and sagging volume. Ironically, some of the overhead consists of computers installed to handle high volume.

What seems to be the biggest plague of all is the one alluded to by Needham: the cyclical nature of the industry. It is extremely sensitive not only to economic changes and expectations, but to the whims of investors.

Many critics claim that it is still suffering from the excesses of the late 1960s, when millions of new shareholders were attracted to investments and then disillusioned by both falling prices and low ethics.

The forced closings, tangled bookkeeping, the inability to deliver stocks that were bought or sold, and the threatened and actual losses of customer funds produced considerable ill will.

Old City Hall Gets Visitors

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's oldest city hall was opened to visitors recently as 60 members of a newly-formed citizens' group, Heritage Toronto, took a tour through the ancient, history-laden building.

"Toronto's unique," said Heritage organizer Mike Filey. "It's one of the few cities in North America with three city halls still standing. But they've tried to tear it down four or five times. We've managed to save it."

The original city hall, built from 1843 to 1845, forms the centre and front portion of the St. Lawence Market building on King St. East. Heritage Toronto intends to restore the building as a historical landmark.

Ald. Art Eggleton said the group is planning outings to other historical buildings in the city.

Tarzan Now Sixty And Going Strong

The Edgar Rice Burroughs creation of the ape man is in the midst of a revival that started in France, spread to other European countries, to Japan, and back to the United States.

New reprints of the 26 Tarzan books in 16 languages, an art book edition of Tarzan of the Apes, comic strips, merchandising, toys and advertising gimmicks will push the royalty payments to Burroughs' heirs to several million dollars this year.

The 1973 income will be the highest ever since the first Tarzan book in 1912, said Bob Hodes, general manager of Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc., located in a section of Los Angeles named for the ape man in 1930.

The company is housed in an old Spanish-style building Burroughs built on the 550-acre Tarzana Ranch—since broken up—and is controlled by his children, John Coleman Burroughs, Robert Burroughs and Joan Burroughs Pierce, and a grandson, Danton Burroughs. The copyright would have expired in 1968, but the U.S. Congress, in the process of reviving the Copyright Act, has extended all copyrights.

In his lifetime Burroughs was regarded as a pulp writer of escapism, and many libraries banned his books.

"During the important years of his life when he was writing, Dad had the hell panned out of him by the critics," said Hulbert Burroughs.

"He never took himself seriously, but I felt the things the critics said hurt him."

But critics are beginning to find new meaning in his works. Some French critics have compared Tarzan with Rousseau's concept of "the natural man."

Seals Stripped

OAKLAND (AP) — As Charles O. Finley was moving toward the top of the baseball world this summer, his National Hockey League team was turning into a reclamation project.

"We had the start of something and they let it slip through their fingers," says Stan Gilbertson, one of the frustrated young players on Finley's California Golden Seals.

Finley, the Chicago insurance millionaire, spent almost 10 years building his Oakland relics into a pennant contender. He was rewarded this year when they beat Cincinnati Reds World Series.

The Seals, in the second season under Finley's ownership, just missed making the NHL playoffs last year. Then came the summer raids by the new World Hockey Association, which signed eight promising young players off the Seals' roster.

"We had 12 to 15 guys on this club who were young, good players on the way up when the last season ended," said Gilbertson. "I thought we'd all be back to pick it up from there."

The Seals had just lost 2-1 to St. Louis Blues before 2,402 fans Wednesday night and dropped deeper into the Western Division cellar.

"This club had a future," said the 22-year-old left-winger. "Where is it now? It's in the other league!"

The ex-Seals in the WHA include Bobby Sheehan, Gerry Pinder and Wayne Carleton, all among the new league's top performers.

Gilbertson says there's no bitterness against the league jumpers. Most of them deserved or tripled their salaries of last season.

Proposed Trade Fizzles

HONOLULU (AP) — "Let's make the trade or forget it," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver. "Let's do something."

The Orioles almost did something with Atlanta Braves Thursday at the winter baseball meetings, as a result, Weaver went swimming instead of making a trade.

Minnesota Twins, Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs made the day's biggest splash of the day.

First, the Twins sent handyman Cesar Tovar to the Phillies for outfielder Joe Lis and pitchers Ken Sanders and Ken Reynolds.

Atlanta slugger Earl Williams was the man that Weaver considered.

"Get me Williams—and we'll win the pennant," the Baltimore manager had said while lolling on Waikiki Beach.

Ironically, the big names were agreed upon by the teams, but a little known player broke the deal.

The Orioles were set to send shortstop Mike Belanger, pitchers Pat Dobson and Eddie Watt and catcher Johnny Oates to Atlanta for Williams and two others, but the Braves refused to give up Taylor Duncan, a 19-year-old shortstop prospect.

Along with Williams, the Braves offered infielder Marty Perez and Leo Foster, another minor league shortstop.

The deal fell apart after three days of intense negotiations between the teams.

If the deal is not made by 3 a.m., EST, Saturday, it won't be made at all. That's the deadline for trading between the American and National Leagues.

The 32-year-old Tovar was easily the biggest name in Thursday's multiple-player swaps. Tovar hit over .300 in 1970 and 1971 but dropped to .265 last year. Lifetime, he has a .281 batting average.

"I'd rather have him at bat with a man on third and one out than anyone on our ball club," said Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark. "He got a piece of the ball."

Reynolds, 25, had a 2-15 record with the Phillies in 1972 while Lis, 26, had six home runs, 18 RBI and a .343 batting average in 65 games.

The 24-year-old LaRoche had a 5-7 record for the Twins last season. He earned run average was 2.84 with 19 saves in 62 games, all in relief.

Hands, 32, posted an 11-8 won-lost record for Chicago last year with a 3.00 ERA. He won 20 games in 1969.

Canadian Filly Unbeaten

TORONTO (CP) — J. Louis Levesque's La Prevoyante, the two-year-old filly that has gone undefeated in 12 races this year, has been named Canada's thoroughbred horse of the year by the Daily Racing Form in its annual poll of 22 selectors.

The filly, trained for her Montreal owner by Yonnie Starr and ridden by John LeBlanc in all 12 races, also was named two-year-old filly of the year.

Jack Jackson's Happy Victory was picked three-year-old filly of the year and Mrs. W. D. Latimer's Bella Geste was selected in the older filly or mare category, both by unanimous votes.

Other category winners were Zeca Spirit, owned by George Frendal, as best two-year-old colt or gelding, and Kennedy Road, owned by Mrs. Arthur Stollery, best older horse or gelding.

La Prevoyante became the third filly in a row to win horse-of-the-year honors. Last year, it was Lauries Dancer, owned by Mrs. Stollery, and in 1970 it was Levesque's Prarieclute.

Logan Leads Bonspiel

Logan thus won a berth into today's first round action, which carries a first prize of a four-wheel-drive vehicle for each member of the winning rink.

Other rinks in the first event semi-finals today are Hap Maxey, Moncton, N.B.; Hec Gervais, Edmonton; Ken Ber, ex-London, Ont., Bill Crober, Toronto; Ernie Lawrence and H. C. Lawrie, Unionville, Ont.; Ken Stewart, Burlington, Ont.; Bob Royce, Dundas, Ont., and Bill House, Barry Fry and Alex Lesnick, Hamilton.

Other rinks still in contention for some of the lesser prizes at the $45,000 bonspiel include Matt Baldwin of Edmonton and Ron Northcott of Calgary, both former national champions.

Semi-finals in all events are to be run off at five local arenas today and the finals are set for Saturday.

WINGER RECALLED

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Crusaders of the World Hockey Association have recalled right winger Al Rycroft from their Syracuse farm team in the Eastern Hockey League. Rycroft has scored five game-winning goals this season with Syracuse.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, DEC. 2

Aries (March 21-April 19): Refrain from pushing your own schemes onto friends or associates. Use the chance to get a complete review of your assets.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): There's no course open but to negotiate a step at a time, talk over in serene calm all differences—and there must be some.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Make constructive use of natural anxiety. Some tenseness or friction is inevitable under current conditions.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Your feelings are accessible to all: have no illusion about hiding them. Creative activity averts short tempers.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): You attract best, both temperamental and symbolic. It is a good time for some hard work clearing up last minute conditions at home.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Practicality returns to practice and you can get your affairs all tidy again. Pick up yesterday's loose ends.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct.22): Your money sits in your pockets: it's all too easy to disperse far too much of it. Speculation is tempting.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Keeping your demands moderate and sensible will get you all the needed co-operation to make this an enjoyable week-end.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Any effort at secret deals pops right open for all to see, so there is no point in even an indirect approach.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): In striving to get your work going smoothly, be tactful, tolerant of friends' efforts to be helpful.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your plans are apt to run collision course with those of somebody else, perhaps someone you do not know well.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Remember that what seems an irritant now could be worse or better, is likely nothing for lasting concern.

Splints May Help End Hammer Toes

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to correct hammer toes without surgery? I am 15 years old and am wondering if special shoes will correct this at an early age.—C.W.

Hammer toe (and I assume you are referring to the deformity of the second and third toes into a clawlike configuration) can be brought about by such a simple thing as ill-fitting shoes in childhood. Most often, though, it results from some inherent deformity.

Sometimes, splinting or a) stretch the overflexed tendons and correct things.

At your age, it might be worthwhile attempting something short of surgery. At least for a few years. If better fitting shoes or splinting (for example) doesn't work, then surgery will probably be your only hope.

In the meantime, hammer toe can be more than a cosmetic nuisance, since it can result in callus formation and possibly ulcers on the tips of the toes and the bottom of the foot.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 19 and have an irregularity problem. I have been taking epsom salts every morning to make me regular. Would this hurt me in any way?—C.J.

Yes. That is a harsh cathartic which forces the colon to act by sheer irritation.

First of all, you will never become "regular" that way—for you must use it with caution or with a colon that finally won't have enough excess of water to depend on this harsh treatment.

If you eat ample bulk (fruits and vegetables) you will establish a regular—and normal—movement. Also be sure you get enough liquids. Don't get in a panic if you go a day or two without a movement. The correct notion that everybody has to have a daily movement to be healthy has scared too many people into resorting to laxatives that they don't need.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a hysterectomy and repair work, and my tubes cut and tide. A friend had the same operation by another doctor. He tells her a Pap test is necessary and mine says it is not.—Mrs. R.W.

If the cervix was not removed, then a routine Pap test afterward is needed. If the cervix was removed the Pap test is of less significance but is of test is highly effective in detecting early cancer of the cervix; it is less effective in detecting cancer of more remote tissues, but at times will disclose a Danger of cancer is much lower when the uterus and cervix have been removed, as those tissues are more likely to harbor malignancies.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: One of my breasts is larger than the other, almost a whole cup size. Could this be some form of cancer? What could have caused it? Should I see a doctor?—L.S.

Not nearly as unusual as you may think. Few people are perfectly symmetrical. Some, for example, even have feet of different sizes. Best solution in your case is a bit of padding in your bra for the smaller breast.

Contract Bridge — B. Jay Becker

Test Your Play

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Spades and North leads the 3 of clubs. South wins with the ace and returns the deuce, which you win with the king. Assuming the trumps are divided 2-2, how would you play the hand now?

♠K Q 10 7
♥8 5 4
♦A 6 5 3
♣K Q 7

♠A J 9 5 3
♥K 3
♦K J 8
♣9 6 4

2. You are West, defending against Four Spades. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♥	Pass	1♠	Pass
4♠

You lead the queen of diamonds to dummy's ace. Declarer returns the jack of spades, which you win with the king as East and South follow low. What would you play now?

♠J 10 8 4
♥A Q J 5 4
♦A
♣Q J 3

♠K 8 7
♥7 3
♦Q J 10 4
♣K 10 8 7

3. Draw two rounds of trumps, ruff a club, and play a low diamond. If North follows low, finesse the eight. South wins, but must hand you the contract — whatever he returns.

Then, a diamond would go into the K-J and permit you to discard a heart on the ace of diamonds, while a heart return would end the hand that much sooner. A club return would allow you to ruff in your hand and simultaneously discard a heart from dummy.

The same result would accrue if North played the nine or ten when you put a low diamond to the K-J-8. You would simply cover with the jack and place South in the same unbeatable position.

2. Play the ten of clubs, which gives you the best chance of stopping the contract. You hope to win three club tricks (if partner has the Q-x-x of clubs and king of hearts). If he has neither of these holdings, your cause is practically hopeless.

It is important to lead the ten of clubs, not the seven. This covers the possibility of South's having A-6-x. If you led the seven, declarer could play low from dummy, trapping East's queen. This would hand him the contract even though East had the king of hearts.

Rented Dog Service Offered

Ted Kirk of nearby Lower Sackville, owner of Guardmaster Kennels, and a guard dog trainer for the last 15 years, now has 19 Doberman-Pinschers trained to protect warehouses and industrial premises from theft, vandalism and unsolicited entrants. And nine pups are in training to be added to the corps.

Autoport, a massive multi-million-dollar automobile handling facility at nearby Eastern Passage, stores some 15,000 new import automobiles in a compound surrounded by a wire fence—a would-be gold mine for thieves.

Autoport expressed interest in 1972 in renting dogs from Mr. Kirk and there have been no losses reported at Auto-port since the dogs began their vigil. Six dogs guard the operation.

Before the contract with Autoport, Mr. Kirk said he had been sending his dogs to the United States "where the demand for trained guard dogs is fantastic."

"I have received numerous inquiries for the dogs since they began at Autoport, but have no other customers yet."

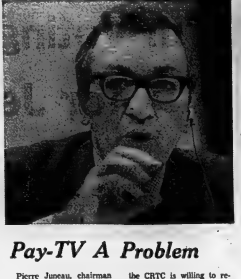
Mr. Kirk, also owner of G. T. Kirk Construction Co., said he trains Doberman-Pinschers because they were originally bred as guard dogs and, in his experience, are more intelligent than other breeds.

He usually screens about six pups to find one with a basic good temperament so that after it is trained, the owner can walk it in public without a leash.

The dogs employed at Autoport are "man-stoppers," he said. These dogs meet a person at a fence and try to keep him back whereas an attack-trained dog might wait until the prowler is inside the fence before it will react.

Attack-trained dogs had to go through re-training exercises occasionally, since the dog's obedience level had to be 100 per cent at all times.

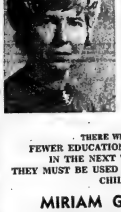
Dogs may be trained for almost any type of job, he said. They are able to find guns, track criminals, act as sentries and guard planes.



Mr. Kirk said his dogs recognize a knife or a gun and act immediately, even before the owner has time to realize what is happening.

Guard dogs have proved immensely successful as a psychological deterrent against theft and vandalism. "Often the sheer presence of a trained guard dog is enough to preclude a robbery."

But no one should have a trained guard dog for personal protection unless that person was trained in handling the dog. A guard dog might be dangerous if not handled properly.



He said his dogs are excellent with children. His two sons—aged 10 and three—handled the dogs often. "I've never trained a dog I couldn't trust with my children."

And he added there have been no unnecessary attacks on people by any of his dogs.

Pay-TV A Problem

Pierre Juneau, chairman of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission says the CRTC does not intend to let pay-TV become another channel for mass importation of American culture and mass export of Canadian money. He says the CRTC is willing to receive applications for experimental operations but wants the applicants to think of ways that pay-TV can help Canadian broadcasting and culture generally. (CP Photo)

Jewels Can Be Fingerprinted

LONDON (CP) — A small British firm has found an accurate way of telling how much a diamond is worth and has also come up with a method of "fingerprinting" valuable gems that might be stolen.

Diamonds are valued basically by weight, purity and the number of flaws they contain. Weight is easy to assess. Purity is decided according to color; colorless diamonds are the purest and most valuable, deep yellow stones at the other end of the scale.

Many dealers have a set of master stones against which they match other diamonds," said Roy Huddlestone, managing director of Diamond Grading Laboratories Ltd. "The snag is that the matching is done entirely by eye and everyone's eye is different.

Three years ago Huddlestone, who has been in the diamond trade since he was 14, set out to create the first ossibly understand international system of classification. He began by defining all the different terms in relation to each other while he looked for a scientifically accurate method of measuring color.

The yellow discoloration in diamonds," he said, "is caused by very small traces of nitrogen."

But most of the normal optical means of measuring color simply do not work with diamonds, mainly because the stone is deliberately cut to take advantage of the way light bends inside it.

Huddlestone found the equipment he wanted in a device called a reflectance spectrophotometer which compares the wavelengths of the light reflected from the diamond with those from magnesium oxide, the whitest material known. This gave him an accurate measurement of the nitrogen content to within a few thousandths of one per cent. And from this it was easy to work out a unit scale of purity which also takes into account such factors as the size and weight of the stone.

But instead of cashing in on this service straightaway Huddlestone kept his eyes open for other equipment that might help him to measure the flaws.

The equipment Huddlestone needed turned out to be an optical device used in investigating eye diseases. This gave him a clear view of the interior of a diamond at high magnifications and allowed him to measure the size of the flaws he found.

While Huddlestone was perfecting these two techniques Dr. Eileen Wilkes of the Clarendon Laboratory in Oxford found every polished diamond retained characteristic marks that distinguished it from every other diamond.

Now Diamond Grading is building up a data bank in which we hope eventually to hold details of most of the gem diamonds in the world," said Huddlestone. "Photographs of three or four facets are normally enough to 'fingerprint' any diamond.'

Beetles' Memories Improved by Cold

TORONTO (CP) — A University of Toronto psychologist says he has discovered that beetles' memories improve in colder temperatures.

For years, Tom Alloway has been studying insects' ability to learn and memorize in an Erindale College laboratory, and he has recently directed his efforts toward the common grain beetle.

Mr. Alloway trains them in a T-shaped maze which they run through to escape a bright light beam beating down on them. He has found that after the beetles take the correct exit six times in a row, they have been trained to remember the path.

However, the psychologist said the beetles will forget what they have learned after spending five days in room temperature. If they're kept at refrigerator temperatures fo 30 days, they remember "almost perfectly."

Mr. Alloway said he believes the explanation lies in the fact that cold temperatures put the insects in a dormant state. He feels memory is transferred to less and memorable in an Erindale College laboratory, and he has recently directed his efforts toward the common grain beetle.

"What goes on in man may be similar to what goes on in insects," Mr. Alloway said, adding if scientists knew what happens at this biochemical level when learning occurs, it may be possible to determine what goes wrong when disorders such as mental illness occur.

Dublin Protestant Writes Book About Orange Order

LONDON (CP) — A new book about the Orange order, published amid the continuing crisis of Northern Ireland, has stirred up a minor 'donnybrook of controversy despite being portrayed by its publisher as representing the highest possible degree of objectivity on the subject.

The book, by a Dublin-born Protestant married to a Roman Catholic, was quickly attacked by a prominent Orangy official who contends that it "uses hearsay evidence to undermine the movement."

The volume—simply called The Orange Order—includes in its 232 pages an account of the Protestant organization's history in Canada.

There the movement reached its peak shortly after the First World War, writes author Tony Gray.

Now the Canadian membership figures are down to about 150,000 and are dropping steadily, he maintains.

Gray, currently a resident of London, the 50-year-old Gray said in an interview that he believes a few Canadian Orangemen are even ready to cross the Atlantic and fight for the Protestant cause in Northern Ireland.

The Orange movement, Gray suggests, had its origins in the Irish upheavals of the late 18th century, only one period among many when sectarian and other forms of violence rocked the ill-starred Emerald Isle. . . Named for the Dutch King William of Orange, who assumed the English throne late in the 17th Century, the order proudly recalls that monarch's Irish victories over Catholic forces at the Battle of the Boyne and elsewhere.

"The very creation of the 'state' of Northern Ireland (in the 1920s) was a triumph for the Orange order," Gray writes in his book.

Obviously he considers the order, with its thousands of Ulster laymen and clerics sworn to defend their faith and Northern Ireland in general against any "papist" takeover, as a potent force in the present situation of the embattled six counties.

One estimate puts Ulster membership of the Orange movement at about 100,000 out of a total Protestant population of some one million.

In the cities, Gray indicates, Orangemen tend to be predominantly middle-class as opposed to the wider-ranging social makeup of lodges in rural areas of Northern Ireland.

The author quotes one leading Orangeman as saying that Ulster Protestants would fight if the mainland British ever withdrew from Northern Ireland.

"And if we won, we'd hand over a united Ireland to the Crown as a present," the quotation from the top Orangeman adds.

Gray's book, published by The Hodley Head of London, summarizes the centuries of Irish conflict leading to the ultimate establishment of the Orange organization.

But Rev. Martin Smyth, a county grand master of the Orange order, questions Gray's sources along with the author's objectivity and his accuracy.

Quinte Campaign Clamor Dies, Now All Await Monday's Votes

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The clamor of campaigning calms this weekend as opposing civic election forces remuster in mutual anxiety.

Their common concern: Outcome of Monday's vote.

Rivalry for city hall entrance seen Mayor Russell Scott's bid for a third - term re-election challenged by woman councillor Alderman Robin Jeffrey.

Other Quinte centres have mayoralty contests to be watched.

In Picton, major contractor Harvey McFarland, who broke a record run as mayor two years ago, is bidding for a comeback against Mayor Margaret Ackerman.

In Trenton Mayor Duncan McDonald has competition from Reg Martin, in the election arena for the first time ever because he didn't believe in acclamations.

But, in Belleville, there's another political energizer firing the city election scene: Behind the mayoralty front-runners is a keen field of aldermanic contestants, the largest in many a campaign — 18 candidates seeking electoral sanction for 10 council seats.

But there are new factors which indicate Monday's turnout at the polls won't be so serene you could hear a ballot drop.

In 1969, the city had around 19,000 eligible voters. Extension of the franchise down to 18 years has been a major contributor in boosting the count by about 50 per cent to almost 27,000.

The size of the statutory increase alone should be sufficient to ensure better balloting, although many municipal elections are notable for often lackluster response.

For instance, in 1967, the total mayoralty vote totalled 10,751 — an election of note for which Mayor Scott gained office for the first time by sliding the campaign from under incumbent Jack Ellis, now Hastings MP.

But in 1969, in a flaccid election devoid of hard issues in which Mayor Scott swept every poll, the vote — on a storm-swept polling day — was down to 8,900, little more than 40 per cent of the eligible vote.

The voters' response depends on variables like the weather — and unpredictables not so easily discerned.

Nonetheless, with such an acute mayoralty campaign, sharp full-blown competition for council seats, the big boost in eligible voters, the 1972 Belle-

Doctor Annoyed

Bid to Rap Press Lost

By KENNETH SMITH, Staff Reporter

A motion to censure The Intelligencer for publishing a story Wednesday that was aligned to have been against the public interest was defeated yesterday by the Belleville General Hospital board of governors.

Lengthy discussion of the motion gained board support for a frank, informal conference with the press about hospital matters and a call from Ald. Enos David for improved hospital public relations.

In moving for what he called a "dignified reprimand" by the hospital's the newspaper story, Dr. Kenneth Douglas contended people might misconstrue statements by Health Minister Dr. Richard Potter quoted in the story.

In interviews with Belleville radio and newspaper reporters earlier this week, the Quinte MPP had said BGH is poorly used and efficiency should be improved.

"The facts (contained in the story) are correct . . . but the people cannot understand the intent," stated Dr. Douglas.

He took the position that the story presented an incomplete picture because the facts of the hospital efficiency situation were lacking in the report.

"The public is not capable of understanding without knowing the facts," he said, adding he had mentioned his opinion of the story to The Intelligencer's management.

Other members of the board expressed alarm that a story with statements about hospital efficiency conditions may reflect on the hospital's administration and on the bulk of the medical staff.

Philip Rickard, the BGH executive director, told the board he had declined substantial comment to The Intelligencer's hospital reporter on the question of efficiency Wednesday. He indicated a willingness to discuss the situation with the press after the meeting. With the board's direction.

Dr. A. G. Allan stated it is important to have the matter put in proper view.

Ald. Ben Corke told the board "more solid advance has been made in the last seven years than ever before in the administration of this hospital."

Mr. Rickard then reported that the quality of service at BGH has been object of commendation by provincial authorities.

In a press conference that followed, Dr. Douglas, board chairman Ri. Rev. J.,P. Sullivan and Dr. Dexter Scott, the BGH chief of medical staff, talked candidly about conditions at the hospital.

In their statements and other discussions, the following points were made:

— The efficiency problem isn't narrow limits; it relates largely to the utilization of beds (Scott and Douglas).

— In its report on BGH, the Ontario Collete of Physicians and Surgeons says there is some justification for the utilization of beds situation at the hospital.

— Area characteristics cited by the College as partial reasons for the situations are a declining local birth rate, a mobility rate higher than provincial average and certain social conditions in parts of the region.

— Bed utilization has improved measurably in 1972.

Potter's Bursary Plans Raise Row

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Richard Potter, under heavy opposition fire recently for cracking down on medical enrolment, cried another uproar in the legislature Friday and he wasn't even in his seat.

The clamor was over a speech the minister made Thursday night in Ottawa about the province's program, begun three years ago, to provide study bursaries of $3,000 a year for two years, to university medical students who agree to practise after graduating in areas, such as Northern Ontario, where doctors are badly needed.

In his prepared speech, the minister said the bursaries program "will be phased out soon."

The point we have to consider is are we doing with the program what we started out to do? If not, we may well have to phase it out."

He gave figures to indicate the program wasn't working. Of 215 students involved in the program, 20 have withdrawn, 20 are now practising in designated have-not areas, and the others are still in university enjoying the aid provided by the bursaries.

Those who withdraw must repay the bursaries, but Dr. Potter said the ministry has had difficulty collecting the money. So far, 30 bursaries have been allocated.

Dr. Potter admitted he had not discussed his proposal to possibly phase out the program with Mr. Welch. That is not in Mr. Welch's office after the uproar in the house to clarify the situation.

In the legislature, New Democratic Party members, headed by leader Stephen Lewis, demanded to know from Social Development Secretary Robert Welch if the program was definitely going to be abandoned.

After several heated exchanges, Mr. Welch admitted he didn't know. Dr. Potter was not in the house for the exchange.

In an interview outside the house, Dr. Potter softened his the province $1.2 million with card, saying his intention was to "have a look" at the bursary program, which is now in the view of eliminating bursaries.

U.S. Wins Cut In UN Levy

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — A determined lobbying campaign by the United States paid off Friday as the General Assembly budgetary committee endorsed a proposal to reduce the U.S. slice of the UN budget.

The committee voted 67 to 20 with 32 abstentions in favor of a U.S. resolution which limits the share of any UN member to 25 per cent of the world body's budget. The U.S. now pays 31.52 per cent.

Mr. Trudeau said there were justified complaints about freeloading on the welfare system. Some measures to tighten the unemployment insurance scheme had been announced and there would be more.

The government in its new quarters installed Jan. 1 probably acted too quickly in its desire to make the Canadian system the best in the world, particularly for workers facing changing technology.

Australian Vote Won By Labor

From REUTER-AP
CANBERRA (CP) — The Labor party was swept to power in the Australian federal election today, ending the 23-year-old government of the Liberal-Country party coalition.

At his party headquarters, Whitlam, 56, hugged his wife Margaret and shouted to 300 supporters: "It was time."

Labor's campaign was pegged to the slogan, "It's Time" for a change.

With 27 seats undecided, computers gave the Labor party the necessary 63 seats to form a government in the 125-seat House of Representatives.

In the outgoing House, the coalition held 66 seats to Labor's 59.

Dublin Explosions Bring Quick Reaction

DUBLIN (Reuter) — The Irish government, outraged by bomb explosions that killed two persons and injured about 200 in Dublin Friday night, moved quickly today to implement strong new powers to stamp out subversion.

The two explosions in the city centre came as the Dail (parliament) was about to vote on government proposals aimed directly at dealing with the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Fears went of the bloodthirsty and devastation reached the Dail, the main opposition party reiterated its opposition to the previously-threatened legislation.

The crucial second reading was passed by 70 votes to 23 in the 144-seat house, with many opposition members abstaining.

The militant Provisional wing of the IRA quickly denied responsibility for the explosions. Army agents" or Protestant extremists from Northern Ireland.

From its headquarters in Belfast, in the north, the militant Protsjant Ulster Defence Association, (UDA) also disclaimed

Prime Minister Jack Lynch appeared on television after the explosions to condemn the "evil-minded men" behind such tactics. He called on the Irish people to support the security forces and said: "All the resources of the state will be utilized to protect civilians and guard our democracy."

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of Jewish terrorists known as the Stern Gang tried to assassinate President Harry Truman with a letter bomb in 1947, according to a new biography written by Truman's daughter.

Margaret Truman Daniel, in what is believed the first confirmation of the incident from Truman's White House circle, said explosives were contained in "a number of cream-colored envelopes" that arrived at the White House addressed to the president and various members of his staff.

Heavy Turnout Predicted Monday

Returning officers in Belleville, Trenton and Picton all agree polling stations should be busy places as voters rush to exercise campaigns.

"If there's a mayoralty race that's when you get people out," said Adam Stalker, Belleville clerk, perspective for his 12th election.

"Mr. McFarland generally has a strong organization working and he gets people to the polls," said Mr. Jarvis.

Tight races for reeve and deputy-reeve should also boost the total although the absence of plebescites could moderate things somewhat. Picton will have 13 stations open from 9 a.m. - 7 p.m. here.

"That extra hour in the evening may result in more couples voting," said Mr. Lacey.

Record voting in Trenton occurred in the mid-60s when 43 per cent of eligible voters cast their ballots. The last time an election was held, in 1969, the turnout was a bit over one per cent to seven per cent.

Higher turnout ever was in 1959, the year Separate electors were asked to select an entirely new slate. Nearly 70 per cent of the voting populate cast ballots following the Belleville McFarland controversy.

The number of polls has increased from 64 to 81 although each has fewer voters. Changes in the Ontario Municipal Election Act last June reduced the maximum number voting at each poll from 450 to 300, a more equal district is should delight in.

Voter interest has traditionally been higher in Picton, where 60 per cent constitutes the average turnout. That was the figure in 1970 when Mrs. Ackerman gained office by acclamation. This time, things could be different

Mayor Scott Stands on Record

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

"A main issue?" says Mayor Russell Scott.
"Jobs!"

"A big question is whether we proceed to grow in an orderly fashion — or go in another direction, which I think is the old direction Belleville went for 50 years."

The physician-turned-politician has now been in office five years, elected once as a challenger, re-elected, and now once again facing a challenge to his bid for a third term.

Industrial and commercial expansion has seeded the Belleville environment with change in recent years — a span that included the Scott city hall incumbency.

"Our greatest export for years was our youngsters . . . Now we're keeping them here — and they're in jobs," he says.

The mayor's claims come in a civic campaign that also has seen some polarization views on life's styles — warnings from several city hall candidates that there's something more to community life than continued commercial thrust, that industry must be selectively chosen.

The mayor feels that much selectivity already is written into modern industrialization by government and — public concern — environmental controls.

In fact, "jobs, a hell of a pile of them," have been created he says during the last five years of city council administration — the time he himself has been mayor.

But weren't there assisting factors — labor agencies, sector — government incentive grants, involved in attracting industry?

Mayor Scott agrees such expansion was the result "of efforts of many" but Belleville's elected council has a key role.

"I'm not discrediting the assistance of anybody. But, it has to be teamed together — commercial expansion the the climate must be right for a community to be acceptable by industry — and the right climate was created."

As a result of industrial and "whole complexion of the city has changed." Its new assessment - generated tax dollars permitting projects that have been talked about for 50 years".

Example?

The Dundas St. bridge project across the Moira, several major sewer projects, stepped - up sewage treatment phases, replies the mayor.

"They've been busy and productive years for the city. I think that's something to count."

The immediate future should see a continuation of such past policies, he says — geared to "orderly growth and proper planning".

Core of such safeguards will be a "proper official plan" "that the overwhelming majority of the people can live with."

He also ponders a citizens' advisory committee to provide a city - wide grassroots input into planning.

He would push for such a group if re-elected.

His re-election bid has engaged Mayor Scott in a contest — with Alderman Robin Jeffery — which has generated a suspenseful community wait for the results of Monday's vote.

It has been a keen contest, although no major controversies have been traded publicly. Even the conflict - of - interest charges levelled at the mayor earlier this year have not been fanned to an overtly fiery issue.

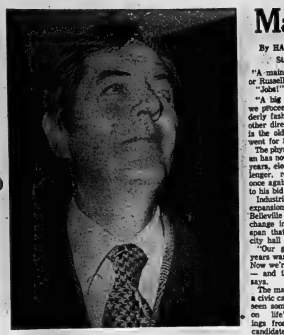
Nonetheless, that issue has the flickering somewhere in the now-fading embers of the campaign's crossfire.

Mayor Scott agrees it's a factor.

"Unfortunately the big lie is always a problem to counteract," he says.

He reminds that he's had his say on the allegations as far as he's concerned.

"Sure it's a factor, but what do you do with the big lie that's repeated? — knowing your conscience is clear, that you're morally and legally clear. . ."



But if it is a factor in the campaign, is he concerned with losing votes because of it?

"Not really. I'm not worried. This is a democracy and I have faith in the intelligence and reason of the people."

But, whatever the outcome of the 1973 city election, Mayor Scott has a prediction about the community before the next city hall campaigns.

For it, he returns to growth with a variation:

"Before the end of 1974 I think there's going to be municipal consolidation directed by the provincial government that will cover a larger area," he says. "We've got to be prepared and organized with our municipal neighbors."

Scott Seeks Third Term

Reeve Race Quiet

CANNIFTON (Staff) — No major election issues have emerged in the municipal election contest in Thurlow. None have been brought out in public meetings with the candidates and those running for office are detecting few widespread concerns as the campaign moves into its final week.

The race for reeve between incumbent Reeve Casey and his deputy reeve Borden Forsythe is one of only two re-ownership contests in the county. The position of reeve is also contested in Huntingdon Township.

"Horace and I have worked closely together and I am not going to criticize him," says Mr. Forsythe. "We have had harmony on council . . . there are no ill-feelings."

While both candidates are advertising and knocking-on doors throughout the municipality, they have agreed not to use lawn signs to promote their campaigns.

A 13-year veteran of township council, Mr. Casey has been reeve of Thurlow for the past 4½-years, years that the reeve says have brought considerable expansion of several municipal services.

Since he became reeve, Thurlow has launched a road Rebuilding program, built a new municipal garage, established its own fire department with stations in Corbyville and Point Anne, set up a township recreation program that this year had more than 400 participants.

Additionally, the council has come to terms with Belleville for the extension of services into Thurlow.

Reeve Casey operates a dairy farm on the two miles east of Highway 37 on the third concession, while Mr. Forsythe, with sons Don and Ken, runs another dairy operation a mile east of Corbyville on the fourth of Thurlow.

Borden Forsythe, on council for seven years, says he would direct efforts toward rebuilding roads in the northern part of the township. He has in mind particularly the improvement of County Road B (from west of Plainfield to north of Stirling).

While this is a county road and not the responsibility of Thurlow, he says he will press the county to do something about it.

Mr. Forsythe is also concerned about the condition of the ninth concession road and the roadways that run into it.

"The roads up there can sure use some work," he states.

In an interview, Reeve Casey also expressed interest in improving the North Thurlow road system.

The reeve says "the present council will do everything in its power to help Point Anne." He indicates he will be getting in touch with Hastings member of parliament Jack Ellis to try to bring a low income housing project to the community.

Borden Forsythe takes the position Canada Cement should be held partly responsible for seeing that its property-ties are "cleaned up" before it pulls out its plaster operations in the hamlet later this year.

"We need proposals now for the future of Point Ame," he says.

Deputy Reeve Forsythe also expresses an interest in launching senior citizens' housing and low income housing projects in other parts of the township.

"I am quite proud of the progress we have made" says Reeve Casey, "and I can foresee industry and commerce coming to Thurlow when we get water and sewers. We have had several industries looking at Thurlow."

Key to securing new industry will be the new Thurlow service area (that includes Canniffon and a swath of Highway 401, property).

Mr. Forsythe says this first service area is too large—that it should have included only sites first. He believes bringing in new industry before servicing residential districts would ultimately reduce the cost to homeowners.

Both candidates for reeve indicate they expect widespread support in the township and do not feel their support is concentrated in certain areas.

Running for deputy reeve in commercial and industrial Garnet Denyes and Fletcher Reid. Five men, Don McKeown, J. Walter Hamilton, Ernst Kneisel, George Beer, and Gerry Masterson are contesting the three remaining council seats.

Trenton PUC Quiet Fight

TRENTON (Staff) — Battle for positions on Trenton's Public Utility Commission are rarely hot and furious, a fact present chairman Charles Illston finds disturbing.

"The people don't realize the millions of dollars spent on the PUC," the incumbent member and chairman said. "Our monthly bills for water and light run between $100,000 and a quarter of a million dollars. That's well over the million dollar mark."

Mr. Illston, a 62-year-old retired public heating contractor, Belleville native and resident of Trenton for the past 30 years, is seeking another term on PUC. He has served as commission chairman for five years, split terms totaling 10 years as a commissioner, and between 1956 and 1957, as town councillor.

D. James MacDonald, also an incumbent commissioner, has served Trenton as mayor for 10 years, on council for seven years and the PUC for two years. A resident of Trenton for more than 50 years, he served as chairman of the town planning board for seven years and several committees, primarily recreation-oriented.

He is a director of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, chairman of Trenton's Centennial program, past president of Trenton Kiwanis, past president of the Home and School former chairman of the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board, chairman of the senior citizens' drop-in centre walkathon this fall, and a retired member of the RCAF who saw service during World War II.

To The Polls

After years of stagnation Belleville should be considered fortunate that it is moving more with the times.

The city has been making progress, but is it the orderly process that some like to claim it is?

The population has grown considerably and we have new homes, sub-divisions, a variety of dwellings in fact and while people must have somewhere to live (remember the time when the housing situation was much worse than it is today) there is concern that it is clashing with the traditional character of the city.

Zoning and re-zoning have been conducted in a patchwork, erratic fashion, at times with little or no consideration of residents' desires or needs.

And "developer" has become a dirty word — with or without justification according to how close those involved are to the situation.

But development this city does need. And yes, it should be orderly. Enough has been said about high-rise for an understanding of the kind of balance the community must seek to achieve, between the old and the new. It is with satisfaction, for example, that we note that new regulations governing the construction of new multiple family dwellings are now in effect. But there can be no objection, in a modern society, to high-rise per se, provided it shows evidence of proper planning and concern for the existing character of the city and the wishes of citizens.

We now stand on the eve of a municipal election, with a contest for the Mayoralty and a lively race for council seats. It is essential that we have a strong turnout of voters for it is undoubtedly as important an election as the city has ever had.

No administration is perfect, yet acknowledgement should be made of the work of the present council. Its members are all sincere and honest men and women who have served the community to the best of their ability. There have been considerable achievements under Council's direction. These will be remembered. There have been questionable decisions too, but that is the fate of any administration.

To establish a new administration in keeping with the needs and challenges of the contemporary scene here it is essential that everyone gets out and vote. The decision is for each individual, and no one should neglect this opportunity and responsibility to record his wishes at the ballot box.

Turbo May Return

Well speak of the devil . . . we had been wondering lately about the fate of Canadian National's turbo train, wondering if it would ever get back on the rails as it were and bring back the touch of glamor and elegance that was so rudely shattered when the train encountered mechanical troubles, even a level crossing accident, when first introduced some years ago.

The word now is that the train may be back in service between Toronto and Montreal next March.

Back in 1968 — in mid-December as a matter of fact — the advertisements for the turbo were coming indeed . . . the red-nosed turbo, suspended at the top of the ad and looking more like some serpentine creation from outer space than a train, the name TURBO in a great sloping script on the page and at the bottom a beautiful blonde hostess in one of the fetching jacket, skirt and blouse ensembles designed for the girls.

With the train in limbo all-this time and the train members of the crew undoubtedly well-catered and doing other jobs, recruitment this time likely will involve an entirely new group.

It could be some of the same trainmen and stewardess still available and working the regular trains. But the dreams of several of the hostesses of 1968 may have gone with the years, for they were chosen from the 21 to 27 age group.

We look forward though to CN's anticipated resumption of the turbo service and hope both train and crew will have better luck this time. As the ads of 1968 said in part: "Turbo is unlike anything you have known before . . . experience the turbo excitement . . ."

The Stay on 'The Hill'

Freshmen Members Win Accommodation Battle

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Five weeks before Parliament meets, the opposition already has won a noticeable victory over the government.

At a still undisclosed cost of what must be many thousands of dollars, the government over the past year has prepared 100 new and modern offices for members of Parliament in the Confederation Building which, until recently, was headquarters of the Finance Department.

Having moved out the Finance Department and spent a bundle of money modernizing the building, the government put the pressure on the MPs — especially the newly - elected freshmen — to move in.

The government did not want them moving into the parliamentary offices in the Centre and West Blocks because members of the cabinet wanted the space for its ever-expanding executive staffs.

But the freshmen, almost all of them Conservatives and New Democrats, were not about to be moved.

The catch with the Confederation Building, as they were quick to discover, is that it is off Parliament Hill.

Not to worry, the government's sweet-talked them, we will give you a shuttle bus, continuous 10-minute service between the Confederation Building and the Centre Block.

The Centre Block, with the Commons and Senate chambers, the parliamentary library, the restaurant, reading room, barber shop, lounge and assorted services is where the action is and the place to be.

This being the parliamentary geographical heart of the matter, the Trudeau government, in its four majority years, took over more and more space in it for the cabinet and its staffs, knocking down walls of single offices to create multi-roomed suites.

There was some compensation in moving to the West Block, big, handsome offices of two and three rooms. All air-conditioned.

But there was nothing to commensate an MP for moving to the Confederation Building off Parliament Hill. And so, with the moral support of Conservative Whip Tom Bell and New Democratic Whip Stanley Knowles, they held out for space in the Centre and West Blocks.

Never mind the con-job about the luxury of the Confederation Building, and forget the concerns about the bus service — they were not moving.

So, inside — or at least politically unwilling — to evict the freshmen MPs it obviously required squatters, the government is stuck with its 100 new offices and the big fat bill for them.

Imagine, a bunch of freshmen MPs — who, when they arrived here as much know Parliament Hill as a bunch of kids on their first day at school — standing off the government.

This has to be democracy at work.

If the government wanted more space in the Centre, then Tom Bell told them, it could move out its small army of non-parliamentarians, the executive and special assistants, the flacks and flankies of the cabinet ministers.

He went on to point out that the cabinet was an space-greedy it had even been building extensions of its "Great Hotel-style" offices into the hallways of the Centre Block.

The place for the cabinet palace guard, suggested Mr. Bell, was back in the departmental headquarters offices which were even more in the mode of "Grand Hotel."

Some of these departmental offices not only are excessively extravagant, more than specious and decidedly overstaffed — as has been indicated in answers the embarrassed government has given to opposition questions in the Commons — but are deluxe to the point of including kitchens, and dining rooms fully equipped with linens, silverware and fine china.

Four - piece bathrooms, of course, are standard equipment and there are a few with such extra frills as "resting rooms" where the tired cabinet minister may recline to renew his depleted physical resources.

There was the case in one of the new high-rise towers rented by the government where the plumbers neglected to put in all the hardware one minister thought necessary, and so holes had to be drilled through some 27 floors and ceilings to install the required bolts.

Cheers for the parliamentary freshmen — they have tasted blue cabinet blood and discovered in the tasting that majority governments are timid and anxious to please; especially the opposition.

"WHICH WINDOW DID THAT COME FROM?"

Public's Final Word Before Monday's Election

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I'm pleased to say we were glad to see someone write in and defend Mayor Scott.

Yes people of Belleville — we've been blessed of all that our Mayor has done for us. Or are we all going to go into the mudslinging against someone who has built our city.

For quite a few years. I've never seen any change in trying to fix up our parks, streets, etc. Since Mayor Scott has been in office "Everything is Beautiful" and I myself believe it will even be better every year we keep Scott in office.

So, only have to look around and see what and who we need for our mayor. Talk don't get things done — action and a lot of pushing and hard work — which Scott has done and should continue to do.

Mrs. F. W. LEWIS

* * *

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I have always been under the impression that in municipal elections candidates ran on separate tickets, that is, no parties are formed between candidates.

Aldermen Keegan, who only the other night got greatly annoyed when the question was placed before him how he would keep politics out of municipal affairs, now appears to be making an exception to the rule. He follows His Worship Dr. Scott around like a moth followers the flame; he shares billboards with him; he votes with him on controversial issues, and he even seems to look like His Worship.

Alderman Keegan obviously breaks his own principles of "no politics in municipal affairs" by having formed a two-man political party with the Mayor. Would it not be appropriate to have these two gentlemen run on the same ticket so that they can be defeated together, rather than separetedly?

CONCERNED CITIZEN

* * *

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Freedom to accuse with no responsibility to society to prove allegations will no doubt soon leave our Social Structure.

When the Editor of the German bad-mouthed and printed an alleged local conflict of interest, he raised considerable suspicion against the integrity of our city's Mayor and in fact, doubts about every public office holder.

It was fitting and indeed just, that this Editor-Alderman departed his position of public trust with the Thomson Newspaper chain for when it becomes impossible to either hear or read factual, vital public issues then democracy will soon end.

And when this reporting of charges is possibly linked with an aspiration to political gains, then it is even more important that the rights exercised by an Editor of any media be backed up by his personal responsibility to society for such charges.

Let us be clear-headed when we go to the polls on Dec. 4. We must continue to have good sound leadership in our City.

CONCERNED CITIZEN

The Intelligencer:

Orderly progress and steady development, so says Mayor Scott. The orderly progress has degenerated into an indecent rush to allow re-zoning requests by developers over and above the wishes of the citizens, and the steady development has become a mad scramble to weigh the action in favor of the developers' wishes before the brakes and sanity of the official plan arrive.

I am not sure where we are going, but as things are I cannot see we are going forward. I think it's nice to see the face of the city change in tune with our times, but must we be in such a hurry and over-ride the wishes of the taxpayers. Does Belleville have to be surrounded by concrete towers and buried under a continuing avalanche of concrete to constitute progress?

Sure there is a need for high-rise, town houses and low rental accommodation, but as the editorial in The Intelligencer inferred, and Aldermnac candidate Dr. Stock supports, don't put them where the people in the area do not want them.

Government Whips Will Be Busy

By FARMER TISSINGTON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Four of the most important men in the coming Parliament will be the party whips—those MPs chosen to ride herd on the other members. As the government will have possibly a majority, even over vote, MPs will be under great pressure to make sure they are in the Commons for the formal roll-call votes.

In a majority situation there is some relaxation in the control the whips exercise. Members are allowed to be absent on riding business, to attend a session of the United Nations or to go abroad on a parliamentary junket. In the last Parliament, cabinet ministers spent a great deal of time making speeches all over the country and taking trips to foreign lands. All this will be curtailed when the new Parliament meets in January.

An MP who is not on the job will have to have a good reason. And if they decide to take a night off for a social affair they will be required to advise their whip where they can be reached in a hurry if a surprise division is held.

The parties do not experience difficulty "whipping in" their members on formal votes. The first such vote will come on the debate on the throne speech when the Conservatives offer an amendment to the traditional motion to adopt the speech. The new Democrats normally offer a sub-amendment. These votes are held at pre-determined times so there is no excuse for an MP not being present.

But the votes more likely to result in an upset are snap ones forced by the opposition on short notices. Even in these cases, the whips do have some help. Under the rules of roll-call voting the division bell rings to summon members. The vote is taken only when the whips of the government and chief opposition party are satisfied they have mustered all the members they can. It is not unusual for the bell to ring for up to an hour while MPs are summoned from their Ottawa homes or called away from a dinner party. Old timers recall the bell rang for several hours on one occasion when Mackenzie King ordered several Quebec MPs to take the train to Ottawa from Montreal in order to sustain him in office.

In the coming Parliament, the strategy of the parties will involve much more than simply rounding up the available bodies. There may be instances where it is to a party's political advantage to encourage it to have all its members present. A party might decide it would not be advantageous to defeat the government and arrange that enough of its members do not show up to vote, although members of the party may be present do vote against the government.

The whips have the added responsibility of making sure their members attend the many committee meetings. Some important decisions are taken by committees, especially on the spending estimates, and there are not any division bells to warn MPs of impending votes in committee.

The practice of "pairing" has fallen into general disfavor in recent years. This allowed a government MP to be absent from a vote provided he obtained an agreement with a key position member not to vote. But pairing will not be followed, even on an unofficial basis, in the critical new Parliament. The MP never liked it, believing that only the government could benefit from such arrangements. The Conservatives have already agreed not to pair with the new Liberals.

It's going to be a "nose-to-the-grindstone" Parliament for all 264 MPs. The whips and their assistants will be under great and constant pressure for the fate of the government, and even the future direction of Canada, could depend upon the attendance of a single MP.

Election Scene In Toronto

The Globe and Mail

No matter how gifted a mayor Toronto elects, he'll go nowhere with a Council that is stupid, stubborn and fractured. Good aldermen are urgently needed. Aldermen who will serve Toronto, not themselves. Aldermen who have grasped the idea that the day when nobody successfully "fought City Hall" is done. Aldermen who are constantly responsive to what the people want Toronto to be and become.

"Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are made manifest unto God; and I trust also are made manifest in your consciences." 2 Corinthians 5:11

Here is a good reason for preaching as much as we can while we can. There are no special deals for deliverance outside the Bible while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work."

Council of Churches Passes Dozen Social Justice Motions

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Canadian Council of Churches, in its renewed commitment to social justice, passed more than a dozen resolutions Thursday dealing with such secular issues as the Mackenzie Valley pipeline and succession duties.

The 150 delegates began the final day of the council's triennial assembly by pledging renewed commitment to social justice.

Delegates pledged to promote justice because "the acts of loving kindness of individual Christians, and of churches in concert, have been insufficient to dent the burdens inflicted by our way of life" in some Canadians and on the majority of the world's population.

Rev. Norman Bernier of Kitchener, a Lutheran minister, was elected president of the council, replacing Dr. A. B. B. Moore of Toronto.

Mr. Bernier said in an interview he hopes the council "can get on with ecumenical work" as well as dealing with the social action resolutions.

However, he said the council is only "a loose federation" of its 11 member Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches, and that he is "a presiding officer, not a policy setter."

"We can only do as much as the member churches will support."

In a resolution aimed at protecting the rights of native peoples, the council will ask the federal government and provincial governments to halt four major Canadian development projects until their side effects are further studied.

The assembly voted without recorded opposition that clear proof must be shown that completion of projects "will not create unacceptable social, cultural or environmental damage."

The projects are the James Bay power project in Quebec, the Mackenzie Valley highway and the proposed Mackenzie Valley pipeline in the Northwest Territories, and the Manitoba Hydro Nelson River power development in northern Manitoba.

Another resolution urged the federal government to reintroduce succession duties and gift taxes.

The resolution says the shift of "succession duties and gift taxes from federal to provincial legislation encourages individual provinces to become tax havens in an ill-founded attempt to attract capital."

French-English relations in Canada, an important issue of discussion during the four-day assembly, was dealt with in a five-part resolution which called upon "member churches to take seriously the issue of French-English relations" and to express concern in action.

The resolution urges "both French and English-speaking Canadians to feel free to express themselves in their own language and culture." As well, the council will make its constitution and proceedings bilingual.

The federal government will be urged by the council to consult legislation "which affairs the responsibility" of Canadians to develop and share their own resources. The resolution recommended that the government review foreign ownership studies in considering new legislation.

After wrangling with the issues of social assistance and guaranteed income programs, the council voted to endorse the guaranteed annual income — as a tool to fight economic injustices in this country."

Delegates also called for the abolition of the death penalty, and urged the trial period for enacting death sentences comes to an end in December, and supported more liberal parole for their emphasis on rehabilitation for prisoners in penal institutions.

Missouri Parents Organize School

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — Fed up with public school education, a group of parents pulled their children out this fall and set up their own one-room school house seven miles north of here.

The children no longer take courses dealing with sex education, roots of prejudice, the causes of wars and the differences between liberals and conservatives.

Instead they memorize Bible passages, and science lessons preceded by scriptural passages and learn New Testament Greek. Order is maintained with a paddle.

There are 33 students in Grades 2-12 at the St. Charles Christian School. Two of them, both girls, are seniors. They are Deborah Cook, what they principal, Rev. M. H. Clark, calls the "socialistic and anti-religious" teachings at the public schools.

"The student here is exposed to better things, a better foundation for the right kind of living. He'll be ready to go out in the world and hold his own."

The trouble with public schools, Clark said, is "they're amoral. They're not telling the kids that certain things are wrong." The Christian school's literature says it is founded on "principles of right and rousness" and "good old-fash-ioned discipline."

Setting up a private school is not cheap. The parents who decided to do it here this fall have to pay tuition of $300 a year per student. The rate is lower for other children in a family. The red brick school building was bought as surplus from the public school system, and a bus is used to haul students, some of them living 30 miles away.

The parents are determined to make it work, however, and are talking about setting up other small schools and perhaps a junior college.

Bowery Mission Marks Century of Service

NEW YORK (AP) — When a stubble-chinned, broken-hearted Bowery tramp shuffles into line at the McAuley Water Mission here, he probably wants a hot meal, a change of clothes or a temporary haven from the bottom chill.

But the lonely, long, grey line symbolizes a century of service to destitute New Yorkers as the downtown Manhattan shelter—founded by Jerry McAuley, a reformed hard-drinking ex-convict—celebrates its 200th anniversary.

The mission claims to be the oldest rescue mission in the world, and the anniversary celebration highlighted a convention here recently of the International Union of Gospel Missions — 350 shelters that serve the skid road of the U.S. and several other countries.

Their rehabilitation work, which includes the distribution of five million meals and 2.5 million lodgings a year, stresses religion and the conviction that need to be "reborn" through Jesus Christ.

"God is salvation, rather than subsidy," said the union's executive secretary, Rev. Emile Leger, explaining the evangelistic fundamentalism that says "God saves a man, he will sober him up."

Mr. Leger, who gave up insurance work to serve the missions, said the union is easing the country's down-and-outs last resort "professor" of theology to Jesus and solved their problems.

Salvation is what happened to Jerry McAuley more than 100 years ago, when he met Mary with a counterfeiter for a father, he came to New York at 13 to roam the city's waterfront as a river thief.

By 19, he was serving a 15-year jail term in Sing Sing.

A boxer and ex-convict, "Awful" Jerrilly Gardner, preaching at the jail, was the start of McAuley's conversion — but it took Bible reading, bouts of alcoholism and missionary help to complete the transformation when he returned to the streets of New York.

McAuley's "vision" from God was a shelter where men like he once was could be "cleansed" inside and out. It was realized in 1872 with the founding of the Water Street Mission—a refuge near the waterfront where a tramp might get a sandwich, a cup of coffee and have his soul fed on lively, short services peppered with testimony from saved men.

By 1913, 50 similar missions were up and joined forces with the first shelter to form the International Union.

Israel Possessed Sense of Destiny

The amazing feature of Israel was its sense of destiny. It was smaller than Nova Scotia. Within its boundaries, nature seemed determined to lock the door and throw away the key. However, Israel could not more escape international involvement than Belgium in modern times. It was often a pawn in the game of empires.

Israel was successively a loose confederation of tribes, a people ruled by judges, and a state subject to kings. In the ninth century B.C. it almost disappeared through conquest. When the Exile ended, it became a province swayed by foreign governors and a community governed by the priests. A blaze of political independence under the Maccabees was extinguished by the Roman General Pompey in 63 B.C.

What of its cultural impact? Israel's poets were psalmists and prophets. It had no philosophy like Greece, no political science like Rome. It seemed a poor soil for any variety of seed like planting was great. We are fed from the harvest. Take away God and nothing would have grown. Add God and you have the explanation of fertility. One of Israel's spokesmen might well testify, "God is a sun and shield" (Psalms 84:11).

The small patch of ground made a claim that almost takes one's breath away. The world's condition, the more insistent the claim. For instance, Isaiah wrote, "There shall come forth a rod from the stock of Jesse, and a branch shall grow out of his roots . . . He shall not judge by what his eyes see, or decide by what his ears hear, but he shall judge he shall judge the poor, and decide with equity for the meek of the earth. . . the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea . . . In that day the root of Jesse shall stand as an ensign to the peoples; him shall the nations seek, and his dwelling shall be glorious" (Isaiah 11:1-10).

The hope of a Messiah became the most cherished Jewish possession. It changed by successive forms. But in all its forms there was the ardent expectation of one sent from God to be the Redeemer. Besides, wherever in the ancient world was there a religious life so pure and strong as that which nourished the next representatives of Israel. It had a lofty conception of God and the noblest ideal of behavior. The crop was ripe. God, who spoke in many various ways to past generations, was at last prepared to speak clearly and universally in his Son.

From Christ's life has flowed a more powerful force for the triumphal waging of man's long battle than any other ever known by the human race. Through it millions have had their inner conflicts resolved in progressive victory over their baser impulses. By it millions have been sustained in the greatest tragedies of life and have come through radiant. It has been the most fruitful source of movements to lessen the horrors of war, and to put the relations of men and nations on the basis of justice and peace. Time and again, the faith that Christ inspires seems dying, yet it lives. Cultures rise with which it is associated disappear, yet it has a phenomenal capacity for moulding new cultures. Every time the tide of faith goes out in history it comes back on a stronger, wider crest.

Therefore, Christians will enter the Advent Season next Sunday, Dec. 3, with confidence. Do you remember the story of Queen Victoria, when Handel's "Messiah" was first played in England? It had already become the custom for people on the Continent to rise to their feet at the "Hallelujah Chorus". But everyone thought the Queen should remain seated by reason of her station.

However, when the great strains of majestic music floated out, "And he shall reign for ever and ever", Victoria, with fine insight, got to her feet, lifted the crown from her head and stood with bowed head with the rest. The greatest was prophetic of the time when, at the name of Jesus, every head and knee shall bow, in heaven and on earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Antilles Considers New Rites

BRIDGETOWN, BARBADOS (Reuter) — A concerted attempt is under way to bring religion closer to the people in the West Indies.

Lengthy discussions were held by 80 delegates at a conference of the Antilles pastoral institute here on streamlining religious rites within the cultural framework of the people.

The institute was established earlier this year by the Roman Catholic Church to enable church and lay people to study the radical rethinking and reorganization taking place in church doctrine and practice.

Delegates came from Britain, the United States, Surinam, Aruba, the U.S. Virgin Islands, British Honduras, Bermuda, Bahamas, Guyana and the entire Caribbean.

Some of the delegates have insisted that the Roman Catholic Church and the established Christian churches in the region —the Anglican and the Presbyterian—must come to grips with the cultural and native expressions of religion in the Caribbean if they are to survive as a

Old Post Office Issue in Trenton Election

Pete Aziz

F. J. 'Pete' Aziz is an incumbent town councillor seeking his second term on Trenton council.

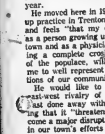
He actively supports additional housing for senior citizens and low income families.

Mr. Aziz says he supports completion of the proposed senior citizens' drop-in centre, suggested for Centennial Park.

He also supports "orderly progress for the community, with a planned financial outlay", Mr. Aziz says he wanted to see taxes kept "within reasonable limits," and pledges a "firm, businesslike approach to municipal affairs."

Married, with two children, the former member of Trenton school board has lived all his life in Trenton.



Dr. John Bonn

He moved here in 1955, took up practice in Trenton in 1970 and feels "that my contacts as a person growing up in the town and as a physician serving a complete cross-section of the populace, will enable me to well represent all sections of our community."

He would like to see the "east-west rivalry of years past done away with, believing that it "threatens to become a major disruptive force in our town's efforts to forge ahead."

Married, with three children, he is district secretary and a council member of the Ontario Medical Association, vice-president, medical staff of Trenton Memorial Hospital, and a member of its board of directors and a director of the Trenton Country Club. He believes with addition of a brother to his medical practice, he can offer the electors time to represent them.

Sam Clements

Sam Clements, a 33-year-old technical control superintendent at Domtar Packaging Ltd., is "appalled at the condition of Trenton roads" and promises to affect a credible road rebuilding program if elected to council in this, his first bid for a municipal seat.

An opponent of regional government, he wants to see wise and stringent controls on whatever money that has not already been committed by past councils and the Ontario government.

Mr. Clements wants a properly manned fire department and wants to see rising taxes kept "from skyrocketing".

A graduate of the University of Toronto, he is a member of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario, a youth counsellor at the Fresh Start Drop-In Centre n on Quinte Street, and a member of the board of the Bay of Quinte District of the Canadian Bible Society.

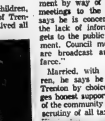
A native of Preston, Ontario he moved to Trenton two years ago. He is married and has six children.



Peter DeGroot

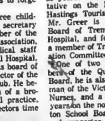
Peter DeGroot, town treasurer for six years,is a newcomer to political life. The 49-year-old creative of Holand and resident of Trenton for 19 years believes a new voice is essential for council.

He feels his experience in municipal finances and as a former member of the town administration board will offer a "unique" quality well-suited for advancement of Trenton.

Mr. DeGroot favors more democratic municipal government by way of opening all meetings to the public. He says he is concerned "about the lack of information that gets to the public at the moment. Council meetings that are broadcast are just a farce."

Married, with eight children, he says he settled in Trenton by choice, and pledges honest support for growth of the community and a "close scrutiny of all tax spending".

George Greer



George Greer, a postal clerk, is seeking his second council term for the past three years, urges continuing co-operation with neighboring communities for the over-all improvement of planning.

Born in Wellington, he has lived in Trenton for the past 25 years. Council's representative on the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Association, Mr. Greer is also on the Board of Trenton Memorial Hospital, and for eight years a member of Trenton's Recreation Committee.

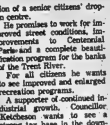
One of two elected members of the Quinte Planning Board, he is also a past chairman of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and a veteran of 10 years on the now-defunct Trenton School Board.

A supporter of plans for a senior citizens' drop-in centre, now in the planning stages, he says he will "strive to get the most mileage out of the income tax dollar."

Married, he has four children.

Stan Ketcheson

Stan Ketcheson, at 58, is a 36-year resident of Trenton and 18-year veteran of Trenton school board. Born in Frankford, he has lived in Trenton for the past 45 years, and is employed as a clerk at the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.



He is married, with one son, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Trenton Kiwanis Club and the Trenton Recreation Commission.

Mr. Ketcheson actively supports abolishing education tax for senior citizens, and pledges to work toward completion of a senior citizens' drop-in centre.

He promises to work for improved street conditions, improvements to Centennial Parks and a complete beautification program for the banks of the Trent River.

For all citizens he wants to see improved and enlarged recreation programs.

Leo McAuley

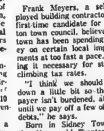
A former Murray Township councillor and building inspector, Mr. McAuley is chiefly concerned with plans for a senior citizens' drop-in centre planned for Centennial Park.

He is opposed to plans for a proposed municipal office park, eg grave concern as the former post office site becomes a prime commercial importance. He also doesn't see the need right now for a new municipal office.

The retired real estate salesman comes out in favor of the town police department, fire department and adult school crossing guards and wants all left unchanged, at proper strength.

"I'd like to see the heart of Trenton developed in a reasonable capacity; cleanup, face lift and the like.

He is a member of the Royal Canadian Legion.



Frank Meyers

Frank Meyers, a self-employed building contractor and first-time candidate for Trenton town council, believes the town has been spending money on certain local improvements at too fast a pace, making it necessary for steadily climbing tax rates.

He thinks we should slow down a little bit so the tax payer isn't burdened at least until we pay off a few of those debts," he says.

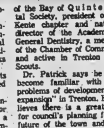
Stating he is not affiliated with any group or association Mr. Meyers says he will work for better streets, sidewalks and sewers.



Dr. Robert Patrick

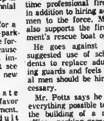
Dr. Robert Patrick, a Trenton dentist and resident of the town for the past 19 years, returns to the political scene after a one-term absence, although he has been serving on various committees since 1970. A member of the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board for seven years, he served as its chairman for three years. He has been an appointed member of the Quinte Planning Board since its inception in 1971.

He is a past president of Trenton Rotary, past president of the Bay of Quinte Dental Society, president of the Kente chapter and national director of the Academy of General Dentistry, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and active in Trenton Boy Scouts.

Dr. Patrick says he "has become familiar with the problems of development and expansion" in Trenton. He believes there is a great need for council's planning for the future of the town and feels it is his responsibility to help develop this objective.

Samuel Potts

Samuel Potts, a 32-year old insurance agency owner in Trenton is entering politics for the second time. He was unsuccessful in his bid for a council seat in 1970.



He supports retention of a complete complement of full-time professional firefighters in addition to hiring additional men to the force. Mr. Potts also supports the fire department's rescue boat operation.

He goes against council's suggested use of school students to replace adult crossing guards and feels additional men should be hired if necessary.

Mr. Potts says he will "do everything possible to prevent the building of a municipal office - parking garage on the old post office property."

The candidates believes residents should forget east-west rivalry, and promises to do everything possible "to tidy and draw them (residents) together and do away with a divided town".

Married, he has six children.

Ronald Price

Mr. Price believes the town's plan for a proposed municipal office-parking garage complex on the site of the former post office should go to the people for a vote. If turned down, he feels the site should be sold by the town.

He is against cutting manpower of the town fire department or any attempt to create a complete volunteer force and urges expansion of permanent firemen.

He believes plans to use school crossing guards would "jeopardize" children's safety.

Promising he would "inject new thinking toward the way our tax money is spent," Mr. Price urges any scheme to "dress up the town".

Married, with two children, he is a lifetime resident of Trenton. He is a member of the Trenton Minor Hockey Association.

Jack Robertson

Jack Robertson, retired Canadian Armed Forces Major, believes Trenton has been "a sleeping senator" as far as development is concerned.

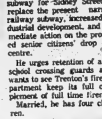
For the first time, he is seeking a council seat, in order to promote investments in Trenton by commercial and industrial interests, believing too much capital is lost to outside municipalities.

Mr. Robertson believes Trenton council should maintain a closer link with Sanders Park, for the good of the town and surrounding municipalities. He would like to see completion of Lower Front Region Conservation Authority plans and urban renewal of areas "that are substandard now".

Born in British Columbia, the 53-year-old candidate served on the now-defunct Trenton School Board, the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board and is now in his second term on the committee of adjustment. Until retirement at CFB Trenton in 1969, he spent 15 years in administration work both in Canada and overseas.

A resident of Trenton for 17 years, he is married, with one daughter.

Edward Todd



Edward Todd, a 53-year-old CP Rail carman and former member of town council for seven years, is again running in his bid into the political ring.

Born in Brewers Mills, he has lived in Trenton for the past 30 years, and is married with two children.

He promises to help "form a municipal government made up of all walks of life, interested in all sectors."

He is a Past Noble Grand with the International Order of Oddfellows, Branch 133, Trenton; a member of St. George's Anglican Church, Trenton; a past president of the Quinte Travel Trailer Club; president of the Travel Trailer Club Association of Ontario; official representative of the Wheels Afield Club and a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, for the past 31 years.

Mr. Todd is also a member of the Court of Revision for Trenton.

Paul Tripp

Paul Tripp, a member of council for the past eight years, and chairman of the industrial commission, wants to continue his work toward attracting additional industry to Trenton.

He states he will work for completion of park projects on the banks of th Trent River, urges relocation of railway tracks in the downtown area to encourage commercial development, wants to see active progress in complete curbing and sanitary sewer programs in Trenton and will work for completion of a widening and rebuilding program from Dundas to Sidney Street and Dundas St. West.

He served three years with the Trenton Board of Education, one year on the Trenton Public Committee, two years with the Quinte Planning Board and three years on the Lower Trent Conservation Authority. He is a member of the Shriners, a charter member of the Trenton Kiwanis Club, past member of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce board of directors and an associate member of the Royal Canadian Legion.

TRENTON REPORT

By IAN ROBERTSON

Robert Wannamaker

Robert Wannamaker, candidate for Trenton council believes facilities for youth in Trenton are "sadly lacking" and has come out in support of attempting to attract a YMCA or similar organization to meet his void.

The 32-year-old Domtar Packaging accountant, and lifetime resident of Trenton is president of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School, leader and group committee chairman of the Boy Scouts, and president of the Trenton Ontario district, youth organization under direction of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Mr. Wannamaker supports a unified council, improvement of roads, beautification of the Trent waterway system and town waterfront, a new roadway for Sidney Street to replace the present narrow railway subway, increased industrial development, and immediate action on the proposed senior citizens' drop - in centre.

He urges retention of adult school crossing guards and wants to see Trenton's fire department keep its full complement of full time firemen.

Married, he has four children.

Incumbent Duncan McDonald

TRENTON (Staff) — Trenton Mayor Duncan McDonald says he plans to "make a few discreet inquiries" into allegations that complaints to town offices are not being forwarded to the Public Works department.

Declined to elaborate further, Mayor McDonald said he has heard recently that, on occasion, residents request assistance from public works, and upon checking back with town offices, find the matter has not been referred.

Mayor McDonald said such cases are a prime example of the need for return of a committee system in certain departments. "Public Works is one that's a must," he said.

Under this system, an elected representative would serve on a committee visiting the yard in his position to call on him to answer complaints or examine a particular situation.

Mayor McDonald, in more than 10 years on council worked under the committee system, abolished several years ago. He says the Harding report done on the feasibility operation indicated the administrative board (made up of town clerk, deputy clerk, treasurer) action indicated the administrative could co-ordinate town departments and thereby save time and expense.

If re-elected, he promises to look into committees for public works and the old Protection of Persons and Properties Committee, Years ago, there were the Welfare, Public Works, Finance and General Government committees.

In announcing candidacy for re-election to his third term as mayor, Mayor McDonald stated he felt there were no overall major issues in the Dec. 4 election.

However, in recent weeks, issues such as retention of adult school crossing guards, construction of a municipal office - parking garage complex on the former post office site, a public transportation system, and closed-door council sessions have prompted some response.

Against removal of adult crossing guards, Mayor McDonald agrees with council's recommendation to wait for a plan that will continue to protect the children. Earlier this year, pleas were made for use of school students to replace guards, when the town finds increasingly more difficult to hire such year. The guard force experiences a rapid turnover, especially in winter.

Although two plebiscites on plans concerning the old post office site are soon accepted by voters, the Ontario Municipal Board dismissed a rehearing after public advertisements prompted objections to a third one. In the latter said, his position: "I've said sell the thing and get out of it."

He also agrees the town has spread out so much since disbandment of council's transit service 20 years ago, i h a t i deem might be a need. However, he doesn't think such a system could pay for itself, later on in the village, or municipality - run basis.

Mayor McDonald says matters of the committee of the whole are aired at the following council session, after open public discussion. He thinks this is a present objection is with people feeling left out of discussion.

Challenger Reg Martin

Trenton (Staff) — Robert Hanna opened Bob's Variety Store on Dundas Street East in Trenton, two years ago. Eight months ago he opened the Dundas East Sports Centre, in time to be seriously affected by reconstruction of Dundas and subsequent detouring of cars away from his door.

Reginald J. Martin, a neighbor and candidate for mayor in the Dec. 4 municipal elections, says many merchants, service station owners and restaurant owners have felt this bite. Although he feels his election platform has too many planks now to add another, he does feel some sort of compensation could be provided for merchants who are faced with this problem. "Maybe in the form of tax rebates," he said during a brief tour of the construction zone with Mr. Hanna.

Mr. Martin left filing of his nomination papers until almost the last minute. Since then the 46-year-old ex-armed forces man and skipper of a small Environment Canada survey vessel in summer months, has set down an everyevening election platform.

He supports return of a full committee system, with a councillor appointed to each committee and responsible for much of its operation. This, he says, would lead to a smoother-run municipality and better liaison between the people and council.

Record of public transportation, nonexistent for 20 years is one of his most recent concerns. Mr. Martin says he is offering no firm commitments but would instigate feasibility studies.

He even says several residents have expressed interest in installing a "dial a bus" service now in use in Kingston.

Mr. Martin feels senior citizens have enough of a burden staying alive and housing family homes on pensions and to this end feels they should be removed from education tax rolls. For the senior citizen he urges speedy completion of a proposed drop - in centre. But as he said on a recent - line radio program a week - ago, he feels a more permanent site for the Centennial Park could be found. He also feels the park should remain complete, for the purpose it was designed for.

The municipally candidate says Trenton should have adequate parking to facilitate the influx of business he is sure will be attracted by the construction of a Canadian Tire store on Ontario Street. He is in favor of "meters," he said during a brief tour of the construction zone with Mr. Hanna.

Mr. Martin is calling for unity and co-operation among council members to ensure success of the citizen". While opposition to proposals is necessary, he says, once the majority has ruled, council should act as a whole solidly behing accepted proposals.

Deputy's Job Brighton Battle

BRIGHTON (Staff) — In Brighton Township there is a two-way race for the office of deputy reeve, with Reeve Arnold Boss acclaimed for another term.

Maurice Harvey and Frank George are seeking the deputy reeve chair. And for the three council seats there are four contestants: Mrs. Lee Woodward, Roy Pattimore, Louis Platt and William Rome.

Mayor Harvey and Frank George are seeking the deputy reeve chair. And for the three council seats there are four contestants: Mrs. Lee Woodward, Roy Pattimore, Louis Platt and William Rome.

Wet or Dry In Brighton?

BRIGHTON (Staff) — Of all the municipalities in the Quinte district, Brighton's is the only one featuring a plebiscite again, voters will be asked to vote wet or dry on the question of allowing dining rooms the right to sell liquor in the village.

The wet or dry question has been defeated at the polls in recent years, but with the influx of new and younger people into Brighton, many are optimistic of a positive vote. The increasing tourist trade in summer months is a contributing factor, say many residents.

This village of 3,650 has a new reeve even before election. Before Monday, Mrs. Dorothy Britnell, former deputy reeve was acclaimed replacing Reeve Norman Roberts, who stepped down this week a seat on the Public Utilities Commission.

There are two candidates for deputy reeve, with five for the three council seats and three for the PUC's two seats.

Robin's Husband Supports Her

"I'm more or less the testing ground for my wife's speeches. I listen and suggest then Robin follows my advice," said Roy Jeffrey, his wife's mayoralty campaign manager. "Preparing speeches and tapes for the radio and attending plant tours, coffee parties are very time-consuming."

Mr. Jeffrey has taken a week's vacation from his job as a district sales manager for a pharmaceutical company to help his wife.

"Robin wouldn't be in this business if she couldn't handle it. I encouraged my wife to run for mayor and she wouldn't have if I didn't consent."

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey have one child, Alison, 11. "Alison is used to entertaining herself and it's fortunate that we only have one child. Our daughter is used to being with adults and being by herself. "Whenever Roy and Robin can take Roy and Robin can can take Alison with them they will, but Mr. Jeffrey said that his daughter is too young to be actively involved in the campaign. "I know now that Alison knows more about politics than anyone else her age. Robin and I discuss the campaign at home."

He myself am very grateful that we have a short campaign," said Mr. Jeffrey.

"These elections are very strenuous for everyone. The nervous tension from meeting a lot of people in such a short time develops into nervous energy which becomes pretty exhausting."

"I know my wife can handle this election. Robin will listen to both sides of an issue, and then takes a stand. She never rides the fence."

Mr. Jeffrey said his wife offers all she can, ideas and time. When she was a council member, she devoted a lot her time, it was a full time job. Whereas, the other council members held other positions at the same time.

"Because she's a woman, it's not a disadvantage. As for our household, it is fortunate that my mother is helping. She cooks and looks after Alison when Robin or myself can't be home.

The Jeffrey's dinners are always interrupted. Campaign questions and personal calls keep the phone busy.

Roy Jeffrey also said, "Robin is a home economist, dietician and a great cook. She buys the groceries and does the housework. But she's the type of wife who would get bored if that was what she always did."

Personal Touch to Her Poster

Roy Jeffrey, (left), Robin's husband and campaign manager has been busy this week working with his wife and managing her committee room. With him are committee room volunteers, Gary Rock and Lloyd Churchill. Roy said, his wife wouldn't be running for mayor if she didn't have his consent and he encourages her to do so.

Jewelry '73 Lighter

Spring jewellery, said Eleanor Lambert in her introduction to the American Designer Showings, is abstract but never subtle as it was a few seasons ago.

It is rich and real-looking. Pauline Trigere's jewellery, for example, is in hammered brass and carved pewter in styles ranging from biblical to baroque but is lightweight.

The deep-plunging neckline precludes jewellery. You do not gild the lily, the interest is the sexy plunge itself. For daytime, chunky bracelets and a new round disc that stands our from the arm are the latest. Few pins were to be seen. However, the most important accessory is the scarf or kerchief, really taking the place of neckline jewelery.

Not all designers favored the scarf motif but it is a definite trend. Geoffrey Beene, for example, ties scarves loosely under shirt collars or has three yards knotted like an Etonian muffler to dangle down the front of a costume, even a dinner gown. Oscar de la Renta also dangles long-fringed scarves down the front of suits. Jerry Silverman likes a neck chief scarf with collarless dresses. Victor Costa for Suzy Perette gives double duty to his long scarves. They are worn as a floating scarf or as a banding for the head instead of a hat.

Europe has made a great hat recovery. Hats were shown with fall dressy collections. The American designers are following suit. Every one seems to have a favorite shape. Kasper likes turbans, as do several others. John Anthony advocates small head-hugging cloches with his clothes. Several like medium or large brims, slightly downward sloping.

But whatever the style, hats are an important part of the total spring look.

The thick platform shoes-are appearing in all the collections. So you might as well buy a pair. You'll look unfashionable otherwise. They even go with evening dresses. Some have such thick platforms and such high heels that young wearers will have to learn how to walk in a ladylike fashion, after years of flats.

Keep in mind this advice from Beth Levine: "Height of the shoe becomes a key to a proportioned look. That's why platforms are right for pants and also give a longer look from waist to floor with skirts."

Doris Attends Meeting For Vanier Institute

By DORIS CLARK

"The future is in our hands. It is up to us to direct the course of our civilization." Dr. Wilder Penfield was quoting the words of our late Governor-General, Georges P. Vanier, founder of the Vanier Institute of the Family. His is the voice of a prophet.

I had the privilege, along with nearly 500 others, of attending the Institute's eighth annual meeting in Quebec.

What stood out for me? Several things. The serious work being done right across Canada in Family Life Education, for one. We are looking for ways to reach into family life early — preferably before it gets started: to launch truly well-suited couples into marriages with a self-awareness which will make their adjustments logical and fulfilling, as opposed to letting them muddle through — to disappointment, possibly complete failure when they fall off their pink cloud.

Family Life Education takes into its spectrum the natural needs of children, the reasons why they rebel; and helps youthful parents to see what they do when they praise or blame, feed or reward.

Dr. Margaret Mead, renowned student of human nature, told us we are born into a world of hostility, in which a boy sees his brother as a rival, youngsters are taught to fight for their rights, and that it is okay to kill other people as long as you are patriotic. But she did not leave us there.

She brought us right back to the teachings of Christ: You cannot overcome violence with violence. Our salvation lies in undertaking to care enough about our own families, our own country, to extend our love even to include our enemies.

This goes for families, communities, nations, the world. And if we do get to meeting up with the Men from Mars some day, it seems we are going to have to love them too. v

Dear Doris: We have just moved to this country a short time and I like to go shopping once in a while.

I have seen people stare at this party and laugh. I could not see anything to laugh at. She is doing no wrong and to my way of thinking this is evil. They even make remarks. — Disappointed in Canadians.

Dear Disappointed: Please believe me when I declare you were looking at representatives of a bad - mannered minority. —

The habit of ridicule is not limited to Canadians; and happens most often with persons who take this twisted way of attempting to make themselves feel superior. They are actually inferior to the disabled individual they laugh at.

You have not described whether the person was male or female, mentally incompetent or physically misshapen. Same response holds, whichever the trouble. See if you can be strong enough to befriend this member of the human race.

(Longer, fuller replies went privately to those correspondents who enclosed a stamped self-addressed envelope. Address your letter to Doris, in care of this newspaper)

Ann Landers

Male Annoyed With Ann About 'Pornography'

Dear Ann Landers: I am getting sick and tired of your statement that men who like pornography are cases of arrested development. Banana oil! The letter from that nut who went to pieces because she found some dirty pictures and a few reels of movies in her husband's tackle box was ridiculous.

Some people like sugar on their grapefruit. I happen to like salt on mine. Does that make me a case of arrested development? Preference is literature, art or music is a matter of taste. It would be a pretty dull world if everyone liked the same thing.

A while back you made an unflattering remark about a guy who insisted that his wife wear high heels at all times—even in bed. That letter gave me an idea and I'm frank to admit that it improved my sex life.

So please don't be so quick to shoot people down just because their ideas are a little different from the ordinary. Differences are what makes life interesting. —Me-Too'er

Dear Me-Too'er: They sure do. And what some people find "interesting" is a good clue to what kind of people they are. I don't happen to care for salt on my grapefruit, but if you do, I'll defend your right to have it. The same goes for the high heels and the pornography, assuming, of course, that you are an adult. But I still say if you need stag movies and dirty pictures to turn you on, you are a case of arrested development.

Dear Ann Landers: A word of comment on your advice to the young girl whose fiance died within weeks of the wedding. Your advice was so corny I couldn't believe it. You said: "Life is for the living." Big Deal I can tell you still have your husband.

I was widowed less than 18 months ago and for your information, keeping busy is not the answer. I take care of a big house, a huge yard, two active children. I accept every invitation that comes my way and I try to reciprocate. But life is never the same after you've lost the man you've loved for 17 years.

I don't play our favorite records. I don't look at old picture albums. And I don't mope around. But I am still plenty miserable. So don't use that corny phrase ever again to a person whose loved one is in the grave. —Still Grieving

Dear Friend: If the simple, unvarnished truth is corny, then I plead guilty. Another way of putting it is this: It's an exercise in futility to live on memories. The past is an unreal refuge, but worse than that, it's gone. I feel that the real salvation of widows and widowers is to look ahead and build something new.

Dear Ann Landers: I have this perfectly charming friend who is well-mannered and elegant, but wherever we play cards she sticks out her tongue and moistens the thumb of her right hand before dealing each card.

It looks dainty, but when you get right down to it, she is actually spitting on the cards. I consider this a nasty habit and I hope you will tell me if you feel the same way.—I Like A Dry Deck

Dear Dry: It's been 25 years since I held a deck, wet or dry, but I have a sister in California who plays cards and she tells me that almost all card players do this so the cards won't stick. It is not considered unhygienic —and so far as I know nobody ever got sick from it.

Think Big.

We finally did it.
We finally changed the looks of the Bug.

For openers, open the door.
And Wham-O:
"What's a nice big interior like you doing inside a Volkswagen?"
There's plenty of leg room up front.
There's lots of head room.
The windshield is curved and pushed away from your nose. It's 42% larger. (That's the windshield, not your nose.)
The padded dash is completely redesigned and easier to read (for those of you who like to read dashes).
The seats are more comfortable, curved and contoured to your body.
Inertia-type seat belts buckle up as standard equipment.
And wonder of wonders, it is now much easier for passengers to get to the back of the Bug.
With all the newfound room, we had to find a new ventilation system. Which we did. And it's so good that, now, even the side windows can be ventilated and defogged.
As for outside improvements, they're mostly hidden. (Although the taillights are nearly twice as large as ever before.)
Altogether we made 20 improvements in the Super Beetle for 1973.
But without a doubt, the biggest improvement of all is the feeling you get when you get inside.
Take it for a test sit today.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1972

Big Turnout Expected

BEN CORKE

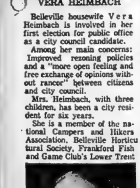
His community involvement pre-dates his Belleville years of service. Before coming to the city 18 years ago he served three years on Geralton council in northern Ontario.

Ald. Corke, 58, was first elected in 1959 and served six years, during which time his assignments included helping evolve the city's first public transit administration and two years as deputy mayor. He re-entered city politics in 1969.

He is concerned about the quality of life, a term, he says is far more sweeping in its significance than just pollution controls—involving many aspects of community life. He also wants no more written speeches in city council as a matter of commonsense parliamentary procedure. When someone has written a speech you don't know whose speech it is," he says.

Married, with two daughters, Ald. Corke is operator of three Front St. women's wear stores, is a past president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association and the 1970 chairman of the United Appeal.



VERA HEIMBACH

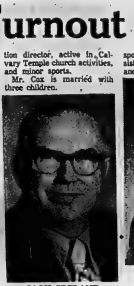
Belleville housewife Vera Heimbach is involved in her first election for public office as a city council candidate.

Among her main concerns: Improved rezoning policies and a "more open feeling and free exchange of opinions without rancor" between citizens and city council.

Mrs. Heimbach, with three children, has been a city resident for six years.

She is a member of the national Canoe and Hikers Association, Belleville Horticultural Society, Frankford Fish and Game Club's Lower Trent

JOE COX



Seeking a city council seat for the first time, Joe Cox calls for evening council meetings, serviced land for housing and industry and better roads.

The 38-year-old native Belleviliian, sales manager of "on Concrete Products manoc division, says he also wants integrity in council" and decisiveness" on all issues.

Participant in community and business groups, includes five years on the city's Recreation-Arena Committee; chairmanships in home and school associations; Belleville Welfer Employment Committee chairman in 1969; nine years secretary-treasurer, Quinte Home Builders Association; Quinte Construction Associa-sports, additional industry, assistance to the deaf, retarded and handicapped.

Mr. Cox is married with three children.

JACK IRELAND

Ald. Jack Ireland has a total of seven years' service on city council.

His first span of office was during 1957-62 while he reentered city hall politics in 1969.

He stressed the need for an official plan to ensure orderly growth, and is concerned about city traffic problems, solutions to which are "running years behind," he says. He also wants a reformed industrial commission, with a broadened role to cope with development needs being suggested by the provincial government.

His years on council have involved him with transit, traffic and public works and parks committee work.

He is past president of the Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Businessmen's Association, the YMCA the defunct Lake Ontario Regional Development Council.

Married with four children, he has operated an appliance store in the city for 21 years.

ART KEEGAN

In all, the 66-year-old native Belleviliian, has a total of 12 years on various city councils, 27 years on various city boards and commissions. His first term on council was in 1952.

His campaign platform is simply termed: "To continue the progress of this city."

In recent years he has served as Traffic and Light Committee chairman.

Ald. Keegan is married, has two children, four grandchildren.

TED KELLY

The 63-year-old Northern Electric department manager—a newcomer to city hall politics — has lived in Belleville 34 years and been active in its community endeavors including past president of the Parents and Teachers Association; Cubs and Scouts, member of the former city separate school board. He is a past member of the Industrial Management Club and is a member of Telephone Pioneers of America.

Mr. Kelly, married with four children, says at city hall he would seek reduced taxes for pensioners, more playground facilities and minor

ALBERT LENTINI

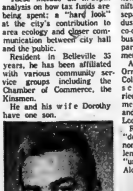
Running for the first time, Mr. Lentini emphasizes the need for new industry, providing jobs to keep young Bellevilians in their community. An overpass or underpass at the CN/CP Cannifton Road crossing is also a major civic need, he says.

Mr. Lentini, resident in Belleville since childhood, is a CN yardman and vice-president of the United Transportation Workers' Local 603. He was a founding executive of the Yardmen's Benefit Fund and is president of the Quinte Help Fund.

He is married, with one child.

ALEX MANJURIS



Preparation for a metropolitan type of local government will be one of the problems soon facing Belleville, Alex Manjuris says.

Seeking city hall office for the first time, the 41-year-old Unemployment Insurance Commission employee, also calls for new programs and more programs.

These include an in-depth analysis on how tax funds are being spent; a "hard look" at the city's contribution to area ecology and closer communication between city hall and the public.

Resident in Belleville 35 years, he has been affiliated with various community service groups including the Chamber of Commerce, the Kinsmen.

He and his wife Dorothy have one son.

STU MEEKS

Using the abilities of volunteers — agencies and individuals — in city programs to ease demand on local government funds is a proposal of Stu Meeks, city ambulance company operator seeking city council election for the first time.

Mr. Meeks also is concerned about the city waterfront area, its potential as a tourist attraction. He also wants to see a strong downtown core and political representation for the "working man's vice president."

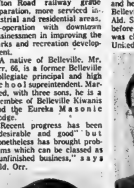
Born in Kingston, 12 years in Belleville, married with three children, he is a Korean war veteran. He operates a free water rescue service, is a volunteer fireman for Ameliasburgh and Thurlow townships, as well as round-the-clock radio despatcher for both units. A member of Hastings Mutual Fire Association

GEORGE MURRAY

Seeking city council election for the first time, George Murray, emphasizes the importance of getting Belleville's official plan approved as quickly as possible.

This, he says, will stop spot rezoning which is "making a mockery" of residential areas. He calls for better planning of civic spending to "stop the nonsense of ripping up streets three and four times to put in services ." There should also be strict laws for city crosswalks.

The 27-year-old lawyer has been a Belleville resident for the past three years and is married to the former Sidney Pringle, the city's only woman lawyer. Mr. Murray is a part-time teacher at Loyalist College.



ARNOLD ORR

Adoption of the city's official plan and implementing its zoning regulations will be a major task for Belleville's newly-elected city council, says Alderman Arnold Orr.

Other issues needing action, says Ald. Orr — first elected to council in 1961 — include improved traffic arteries, a new Moira River Bridge, Dundas Road railway grade separation, more serviced industrial and residential areas, co-operation with downtown businessmen in improving the parks and recreation development.

A native of Belleville, Mr. Orr, 66, is a former Belleville Collegiate principal and high school superintendent. Married, with three sons, he is a member of Belleville Kiwanis and the Eureka Masonic Lodge.

Recent progress has been "desirable and gratifying" but nonetheless has brought problems which can be classed as "unfinished business," says Ald. Orr.

ROGER PORTER

Among civic priorities, he says in a brief, must be determine quality of roads and how research is being spent compared to similar-sized municipalities; adoption of land - use plan so people building their own homes will be assured of proper facilities, protected against a "pop-up" of apartments and industry; a "viable and vibrant downtown core; full use of recreation facilities to include school gyms as a playgrounds; a $100 credit for

Married and a stockbroker, he is chairman of management board for the downtown improvement are approved by city bylaw and was 1970 business-section chairman of the United Appeal.

JOE RAYCROFT

Mr. Raycroft, 62, was alderman in 1965-66, during which time his committee work included parks and recreation, industry and a public works chairmanship.

New industry is one of the essentials emphasized by Mr. Raycroft. While opposed to neither parks nor recreation, he says the cost line on such projects should be held for "at least a year" while other priorities are met.

For many years operator of a heating and plumbing business, Mr. Raycroft now is in insurance. He is married with two children and currently is city representative on the Suburban Roads Commission.

JEAN SMITH

Need for planning to assure open space in all residential areas, is a prime interest of Alderman Jean Smith, seeking a second term on city council.

Environmental control —the main goal of her first election bid — continues her major objective, says Ald. Smith. Her council service included appointment as first chairman of the city's Solid Waste Disposal Committee, which unanimously attracted six neighboring municipalities in a cooperative effort to meet the problems of area garbage disposal.

Married with four sons, she and her husband have lived in Belleville 25 years. Among Ald. Smith's community work before entering city politics was chairmanship of the 1969 United Appeal.

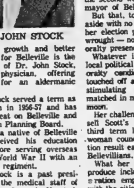
RICK WILLIAMS

Among newcomers running for city council, Richard A. Williams is emphasizing quality of life and human needs in his election bid.

Needed to attain such goals, says the 24-year-old Loyalist College psychology teacher is more sensible housing planning on a community-level to preserve the city's character while encouraging integrating new areas. New industry is needed — but should result from joint council - management - labor decisions and not deface the area. Ward system of civic representation would tie planning more closely to the community level. More "accessible" and "high-er-quality" day care projects built with provincial aid also are needed.

Resident in Belleville two years, Mr. Williams was bullder of the Queen's Law Students' Legal Aid project in the city. He is a member of the Belleville team in the Eastern Ontario Men's Basket-ball League.

PAUL RUSSELL



Serviced industrial land and continued acquisition of recreation and greenbelt facilities are among major concerns named by Alderman Paul Russell in his city hall re-election bid.

Both policies fell within a campaign slogan in which the city councillor sees Belleville as "a place to work" and a "place to live".

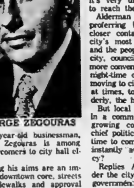
The 38-year-old lawyer was first elected to city hall five years ago and has been parks board chairman for the past three years.

A native Belleviliian, he is married with four children, and is a member of the Kiwanis Club.



DR. JOHN STOCK

Orderly growth and better planning for Belleville is the objective of Dr. John Stock — family physician, offering himself for an aldermanic seat.

Dr. Stock served a term as alderman in 1956-57 and has held a seat on Belleville and Subirban Planning Board.

He is a native of Belleville and received his education there before serving overseas during World War II with an armored regiment.

Dr. Stock is a past president of the medical staff of Belleville General Hospital, has served on the board of governors and been active in the John Ambulance work...He is founding president of the Belleville Mental Health Association.

GEORGE ZEGOURAS

Among his aims are an improved downtown core, streets and sidewalks and approval of an official plan.

Chairman of the 1972 United Way community appeal, he also is a director of the Belleville Industrial Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, United Community Services and the Rotary Club.

Born in Greece he has been 20 years in Belleville, is married with three children.

Robin Jeffrey - - Top Job?

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

There's little time for impartial reflection when personal pressure of a political campaign grinds to its peak.

But Robin Jeffrey fought a few minutes from her almost non-stop schedule to ask a such an aside on Monday's civic vote:

"I'm guessing it'll be one of the largest turnouts of the voters in the city's history. I think they want to cast a ballot in this election — and they are interested enough to see their votes count. And, if nothing else, my candidacy has stimulated that interest.

She didn't mention the something else: if the heavy vote she predicts evolves in her favor, Robin Jeffrey will be the second woman to become mayor of Belleville.

But that, too, is merely an aside with no bearing on what her election participation has wrought — nor what her mayoralty presence will produce.

Whatever is in Belleville's and political slant in a mayoralty candidate, she has touched off a civic campaign stimulating anticipation unmatched in many an electoral moon.

Her challenge of Mayor Russell Scott's re-election to a third term has involved the woman councillor in an election result eagerly awaited by Bellevilians.

A major issue: "I think is the lack of communication between municipal government here in Belleville and the people. There's a severe feeling among so many citizens that they won't be heard or listened to at city hall."

Vigorous citizens' protests over rezoning issues nurture the feeling. So do many individual inquiries which end major problems to those seeking solutions, she says.

And there's the fact that it's very difficult for many to reach the mayor.

Alderman Jeffrey has been preferring a plan whereby the closer contact between the city's most important office and the people — the city council, council meetings timed more conveniently for citizens, night-time office sessions, moving to city hall's first floor at times, to be handled by clerdy, the handicapped.

The local government, even in a community of 35,000 is growing complex. Can it's chief political executive find time to combine business and constantly available democracy?

Replies Ald. Jeffrey: Under the city manager form of government, that top civil servant handles administrative details "while the mayor should have the time to talk to as many as possible of the people about policy and the problems of the city.

"I'm going to fight to keep the contact with the people — even though I hope to retain the top position (as mayor) in this city."

Then there's another type of communication problem: Roads. On this one, she believes Bellevilians now are ready to support reinvestion of tax funds for rehabilitation.

"At no time do I fault the engineering department. It's never been given enough of the tools — which are dollars — for, say a 20-year planned rebuilding program.

"I believe the citizens are ready to see their tax dollar swung into redevelopment and reconstruction of the roads. They've what the citizens are complaining about and I feel they're prepared to spend the money on it."

Such an undertaking would not necessarily mean a tax hike, rather a change of priorities.

But I'm not saying that it definitely won't mean some extra tax" to complete such a rebuilding program.

The campaign has seen candidates stress industrial growth, the quality of life — seemingly in opposing stands.

Ald. Jeffrey combines the two in a policy she calls "new industrial and commercial development". It's a type of expansion, she explains, that would blend with the character of the community.

"I'm as interested in jobs for people as anyone could be. But it must be selective industrial and commercial growth to enhance Belleville."

But present business areas also need attention, in more ways than one.

There is, for instance, the need for redevelopment of the downtown core."

For a different reason, there is a problem to be tackled on behalf of suburban shopping areas. It's "decentralism".

"After all, they pay taxes, they need protection, and in a growing city we're going to have to give them the protection they're entitled to."

Her decision to run for mayor dates back to last June — and her campaign was organized and rolling immediately after the 1971 federal election no longer a voter preoccupation.

An inference of party politics has been thrown out during the campaign, involving, she says, volunteers, some of whom are from all three major political parties of the city — individuals "working together in this election but who never consider it on a provincial or federal level. It's absolutely no party politics."

And what if her campaign should result in leadership of city council — a council perhaps dominated by men?

She's always worked on organizations and on councils that were dominated by men and never felt it had any bearing.

That feeling is a thing of the past as far as I'm concerned."

One PUC Seat at Stake

Two incumbents and a lone challenger are the election stake for Belleville's Public Utilities Commission.

Commissioner Lyle Langabeer and Gerry O'Connor are seeking re-election while the challenger is Ron Fisher, director from city realtor Roger Gibson.

Future shape of public utilities is heading for a time of flux with possible regionalization of services run by the province — a major concern to Fisher — elected on both commissioners indicate.

To the Belleville area, says Mr. Langabeer, the city's filtration plant could become a core mechanism in an area distribution system. He voices concern that such takeovers could result in higher rates for city residents left without local representation. Any such proposals advanced now must be "listened to" carefully.

Mr. O'Connor says consideration of local representation must be assured to deal with the possibilities for Ontario

Hydro regionalization. Belleville for instance has utilities and plant and facilities valued at $8.7 million —3 an equity which must be protected.

At present, he says, Belleville has among the lowest residential hydro charges in east-central Ontario.

Mr. Langabeer has served seven consecutive years as commissioner. A railroad machine mechanic for CN's Kingston area, he is married, with two daughters, is a life member of the Masonic Order and director of the Belleville Exhibition.

Mr. O'Connor, a city jeweller, is president of the Eastern Ontario Municipal Water Association, director of the Ontario Municipal Water Association and the Ontario Municipal Electricity Association. A past president of the Belleville Downtown Businessmen's Association and the Belleville Sales and Civic Club, is married with two children.

Mr. Gibson says one of his major concerns is extension of city services into neighboring Sidney and Thurlow townships — a future eventuality for which more preparation is needed. He would also press for a report on present fluoridation of the city's water supply to compare with similar operations in other communities and standards set by dental professions.

A native of Sidney, he has been resident in Belleville for the past seven years, is married with two children, has his own real estate firm and is a Fellow of the Realtors Institute.

Picton Eyes on Ackerman, McFarland

PICTON (Staff) — Picton Mayor Margaret Ackerman has dubbed her campaign against construction tycoon Harvey J. McFarland a "David and Goliath" fight and has catapulted "a few facts" from her sling before voters go to the polls.

The blonde 45-year-old registered nurse who is seeking her second term of office spoke out against reliance "on a system of gratuities, benevolence and a paternal concept". She suggested such reliance could stifle the initiative needed in a strong community. Mayor Ackerman has stressed that the past two years have demonstrated council's ability to accomplish necessary work on its own.

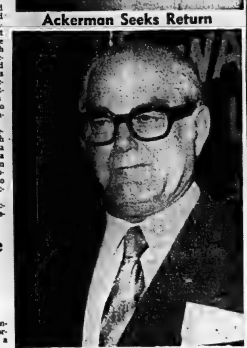
She has said that the town faces 1973 with a projected surplus of $48,000 in the budget.

Harvey J. McFarland, the "Goliath" of the election race, was mayor of Picton for two decades and surprised Picton fans two years ago when he refused to qualify his nomination allowing Margaret Ackerman to become mayor by acclamation.

The former mayor retired from public life then and spent several weeks in hospital. When it was suggested last winter that he had taken the mayor's chair of office with him when he left, Mr. McFarland indignantly replied that his mayoralty chain was the gift of friends. On one occasion he showed local reporters a framed certificate signed by the well-wishers who presented him with the symbol of office.

Mayor Ackerman did receive a chain last March when she was honored at a bon - voyage party prior to a trip to England. Her chain was bought by public subscription and will be passed on to each successive mayor of Picton.

Mr. McFarland has conducted a low key campaign, refraining from any comment on the work of the present administration. His only reference in Picton and Prince Edward during his tenure of office. He has frequently quoted payroll figures for the industries he brought here.



Picton Reeve Albert Piroth is running a close election race with Deputy Reeve Bird. Mr. Piroth has charged that the town is planning to spend needless tax dollars for street reconstruction when repairs are possible to correct sewerage infiltration. He has also maintained that the demolition of Daisy Street school was not called for. His opponent James Bird has insisted that he acted in the best interest of the taxpayers at all times and has declared politics is the art of compromise.

The office of deputy-reeve is being contested by councillor Ross Cronkwright and councillor Donald King, an insurance agent.

With six councillors to elect eight are running, among them incumbent Bessie Ward, Norman Murch, Robert Ingerfield, John Kinney, Russell Alexander, Larry Baker, Jack Evans and Larry Richardson.

Real Estate Executives To Visit

Company president Gordon Gray is among the guests who arrive Monday for a bus tour of the area and afternoon open house with community financial leaders

The visit coincides with the opening of a permanent A. E. LePage office here. The new premises, at 338 Front Street, are next door to the old, rented office.

Company officials have a special interest in Belleville. Manager Marguerite Cooke is the only woman to head an office and recent sales figures indicate the Quinte region is expanding at a rapid rate.

LePage's is Canada's largest real estate company.

Smokers Cause Fire

TRENTON (Staff) — Careless smokers may have caused a fire that damaged Doug Ridley's service station at 282 Dundas Street east and two cars under repair at the time of the outbreak . . . Friday noon.

The owner told firemen he saw two unidentified persons smoking cigarettes around a gas tank that had been removed from one of the vehicles. Next from the flames that resulted broke windows in the building.

Lavender Starts Puck Bouncing To Bobcat Four to Three Victory

Belleville centre Paul Lavender started the Bobcats on the road to their 4-3 victory over Toronto Wexfords in Metro Junior "B" hockey action Friday night.

Lavender made two breakaway attempts on Wexford goalie Lindsay Middlebrook at the tail end of the first period. The second solo assault on the goalie resulted in Belleville's first goal, and a 2-1 Wexford lead at the end of the period.

Lavender was quicker than the pass between Wexford defensemen Bruce Carrigan and Blain Tanner, as he intercepted the puck at the red line and broke for Toronto's net. His shot hit the left goal post and bounced away from a tally.

Lavender's scoring play at 19:46 of the first, came when Wexford's Tanner fell while bringing the puck out of his own end. Lavender scooped the straying puck, swept down on Middlebrook's right side, and flipped it behind the goalie's back for the score.

said after the game, "They played a very good game," said Bassin, "they were beating us to the puck. I have a healthy respect for them, after all, they came from behind to tie us in our first game."

The Bobcats met Wexford in October and earned a 6-6 tie with a 4-4 scoring apree in the final 30 minutes.

"You can't go out on a limb with this team," said the coach, "we have to play positioal hockey."

The Wexfords did play position in their first goal as Bob France fired a lead pass to winger Wayne Ormson at the Bobcat blue line. Ormson, one of Wexford's top scorers, winged in on Belleville goalie Bob Moore for the breakaway goal. Toronto's second tally came at 5:50 of the first on a screen shot from the slot by defenseman Bruce West.

Belleville retaliated in kind in the second period as Juveile call-up Peter Smrke netted the puck from the midst of a tangle of Wexford players around Toronto's net.

Though the Wexford coach said before the game that "forechecking and backchecking will be the key to the game," the defense on both teams proved to be the deciding factor.

In Belleville's case, Wally Dalnard tallied two goals in the third period -- his first at 5:35 and his second and the go-ahead goal for the Cats at 9:38. Dalnard's second tally found the back of the Wexford net from a scramble in front of goalie Middlebrook.

Wayne McGuckey, who played defense Friday in place of suspended Bobcat defenseman Darryl Cole, and Tim Yohn who falled to see the inside of the penalty box the entire game, kept the Wexford forwards out of the slot the greater part of the game.

Bobcat defenseman Neil Turner, at one point in the third period, dueled with his defensive counterpart Bruce Carrigan. Turner slapped the puck from point. Carrigan fell in front of it. The puck came back to Turner and the process was repeated till the Wexfords got the puck out of their own end, an infrequent occurrence in the third.

Toronto Wexfords' final tally came in the third period, as Steve Majors beat Belleville goalie Bob Moore on a breakaway.

The 'Cats travel to Stouffville Arena for a return match with the Wexfords Sunday.

Mallory and Ferguson Lead Lancer Charge

Loyalist College's Reid Mallory scores another one of his four goals in Friday night's 13-0 Ontario College Athletic Association victory over the Brockville St. Lawrence College. Mallory, along with team-mate Dave Ferguson, led the way with their four tallies, as the Loyalist Lancers earned a 4-1 win-loss record with the defeat of the Brockville Bulls.

Boys Win at Pony-Nite

Tim Soule Gets Pony In Box Not Penalty

Timmy Soule of 23 Harris Crescent took a long time to come down to the penalty box at Friday night's Belleville Bobcat - Toronto Wexford hockey game, but when he did arrive, instead of two minutes, Timmy received a pony.

Jim Matthews, general manager of the Bobcats, presented the prizes to the holders of the drawn tickets in the penalty box at the Bobcats annual Pony-Nite.

"I was surprised to win the pony," said 11-year-old Timmy," but I don't know if my father will let me keep it."

Roger Sprague of 48 Stanley Park Drive received one of the two bicycles. The 15-year-old said that "I had about 100 tickets, and I gave most of them away to the kids at school. I only kept five."

The winner of the other bike, though too big for her, was five-year-old Krista Hertendy of 5 King George Square. The dainty young lady said that though she had another bike, she was "very happy."

Soule Earns Award

At the first annual Minor Sports Banquet, Russ Soule, who has been involved in minor sports for the past 23 years, received a special award from the Belleville Minor Sports Association for his contributions to minor softball, baseball and hockey in Belleville.

Lorne Williams, director of the Recreation and Arena Committee in presenting Soule his award said, "His interests have been directed to all levels of these activities: house league, all-star, coach, manager, scorekeeper, P.A. announcer, groundskeeper and fund raiser."

"Most recently," said Williams, "he has been vice-president of Belleville Minor Hockey, convener of Belleville's OMHA, representative of teams and convener of tournaments." Beside Russ Soule's special award the purpose of the banquet was fulfilled in the presentation by the BMSA's president Tom Cavanagh of a Volunteer-of-the-Year award to Roy Payne.

"It has been through Roy's efforts," said Cavanagh, "that lacrosse has grown to become one of the strongest lacrosse associations in this area. Roy has been president of Minor Lacrosse since it came into existence four years ago."

Shy Miss Wins Bicycle

Dainty five-year-old Miss Krista Hertendy also took home with her a prize from the annual Bobcat Pony-Nite. The young lady was quite surprised at the size of her bike, but was assured by Jim Matthews, co-ordinator of the children's evening, that she could get herself a smaller one.

Quinte Tourney Cancelled

The senior east-west Bay of Quinte basketball tournament which was to be held at Quinte Secondary School Friday evening was cancelled by the Quinte physical education staff at the last minute.

According to Walter Uhrynuk, head of the Quinte staff, the decision was made to cancel the tournament on the grounds that "it was no longer representative of the east or the west.

"Unfortunately, everything happened at the wrong time," said Walter Uhrynuk, "but we are going to try and have it at a later date."

Napanee and Cloyne, two teams which had originally been scheduled for the eight school tournament, were unable to attend, but they informed the Quinte organizers on "Monday or Tuesday" according to Uhrynuk. Napanee could not field a team while Cloyne protested that it was too far for their basketball team to come.

Duggan said that his team was unable to attend because "it was impossible to get ready in time for the tournament."

With only five teams still remaining, the Quinte staff decided that the tournament could not be held and proceerly represent the respective basketball strengths of the Bay of Quinte eastern or western divisions.

Western Riders May Steal More!

Stewart Colligon of Toronto carries Chris Woods of Peterborough on his shoulder in Hamilton Wednesday. With his gun unholstered he gives a look which might ward off anyone who might want to steal his gal. Fans are gathering in Hamilton this week for this Sunday's upcoming Grep Cup game. Hamilton's Spirit Sluggish for Cup

HAMILTON (CP) — The young lady of enormous endowment turned slowly in the window of a downtown dress shop, modelling a gown that was mostly her.

Outside, in the 36-degree temperature, a young gallant raised his hat, leaned forward, and delicately kissed the window.

Grey Cup fever in a modest way, had arrived in Hamilton.

But so far, there seems to have been more precaution than revelry.

Policemen—both the civic and rental variety—patrol the halls of the two main Grey Cup hotels, the Sheraton-Connaught and the Holiday Inn. Security personnel man elevators that are usually automatic.

The press club took in

Amateurs Unhappy

EDMONTON (CP) — A group of amateur sports enthusiasts are not too happy that the Grey Cup will be presented to the victor Sunday at Hamilton after the final to decide the Canadian Football League champion.

Don Whidden, Edmonton Rugby Union president, has sent a telegram to Earl Grey—nephew of Governor-General Earl Grey who in 1909 presented the cup to amateur rugby union football—who will present the cup to the victors Sunday.

The Edmonton Rugby Football Union expresses gratitude for the historic presentation but we regret the cup is lost to amateurism and the rugby union game," Mr. Whidden said.

And, unseen but observant, the city police have gone on a 13-hour duty with no days off until the big game is over on Sunday.

Downtown taverns are crowded, but so far orderly. Bands play in hotel lobbies and the sound of the long, red, plastic bugles rends the night.

This is the first Grey Cup to be played in Hamilton since 1944 and in those days there was little of the festivity that really got going in 1948 when Calgarians brought their horses and staged their own Stampede in the lobby of the Royal York Hotel in Toronto.

Compared with Grey Cup week-high-jinks in Toronto and in Vancouver where things traditionally come unglued—this is a quiet one.

Or is it.

One Hamiltonian, moved to indignation at the suggestion that the Steel City might not be entering into the spirit of things sputtered:

"You don't think every Friday night is this wild, do you."

Mostly, the entertainment is in the hotel rooms and in the various hospitality suites, although things are expected to warm up after today's traditional parade, advertised as the biggest yet.

There's an aura of quiet despair about it all, pointed up by the man in the "Go-Cats-Go" hat, drink in hand, who tacked his way out of an elevator in the Sheraton right into a crowd of Saskatchewan Roughriders supporters.

As he was wafted aloft his plaintive cry echoed down the shaft:

"Hi, there, fellow fun-seekers!"

So far, it's that kind of a party.

CFL Shelves U.S. Expansion Plans

HAMILTON (CP) — The Canadian Football League has no plans for expansion to the United States today, but what happens Feb. 87

That question remained after the CFL executive committee shelved the expansion issue at meetings—Friday and league commissioner Jake Gaudaur said:

"It's off the agenda at this meeting. However, that isn't to say that it won't come up at the next meeting which will be held on the second Thursday in February."

Notices of motion recommending expansion to the U.S. and a franchise for New York businessman Robert Schmertz were withdrawn as was a third notice to consider expansion in Canada. Gaudaur told a news conference following Friday's meetings.

The notices of motion, placed before the committee last month in Winnipeg, were withdrawn after an hour's discussion because the owners agreed "there was conclusive indication that there wasn't sufficient evidence to take steps at this time," Gaudaur said.

He did not elaborate, but the move could be taken to mean the CFL owners are waiting to see what steps the federal government might take in efforts to keep the leagues in Canada.

John Munro, then federal health minister, met two weeks ago with Gaudaur and John Bassett, Toronto Argonauts owner who was one of the prime movers behind the motion to expand southward.

Munro said following those meetings the government would take any steps open to it to prevent the CFL going into the U.S.

Gaudaur denied that Munro, who was replaced in a cabinet shuffle this week by Marc Lalonde, was making any open threats.

"I would like to make it clear at this time, for Munro's sake and Bassett's, that is not the case. Munro did say, with a conversational background, what steps the government could take to preserve the CFL. I can tell you, though, that there was no threat atmosphere.

Robertson Reaches Milestone

Oscar Robertson reached a milestone and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar reached up, over and around New York Knicks in the National Basketball Association Friday.

With Robertson scoring 19 points to attain the 25,000 career point total and Abdul-Jabbar pouring in 40 points, grabbing 16 rebounds, handing out seven assists and blocking three shots, Milwaukee Bucks humbled the Knicks 104-97 Friday night.

Two weeks ago, the Knicks shocked Milwaukee, overcoming an 18-point deficit with 5:50 remaining by scoring the game's last 19 points for an 87-86 victory over the stunned Bucks.

Friday night, the Bucks were not to be denied. With Jabbar hitting for 24 points in the first half, Milwaukee took leads of 24-19 after one period and 44-38 at halftime. Milwaukee, which led 71-62 after three periods, broke open the game with 10 straight points, six by Abdul-Jabbar, early in the fourth quarter.

Robertson, in his 13th NBA season, became only the second player to attain the 25,000-point plateau when he made a three-point play with three seconds left in the third period. Only Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles Lakers has scored more points than Robertson.

In other NBA games, Detroit Pistons shaded Cleveland Cavaliers 114-113, Phoenix Suns topped Golden State Warriors 115-106, Chicago Bulls beat Kansas City-Omaha Kings 106-97 in overtime, Atlanta Hawks defeated Los Angeles Lakers 114-109 in overtime, Boston Celtics downed Philadelphia 76ers 105-90

Gaiety's Jule Paces For the Record Books

Gaiety's Jule, the natural favorite in Sunday's featured 10th race at Frontenac Downs will be pacing for her sixth straight win and a place in the track's record books.

Pictin driver Chris Storms will have plenty of competition behind four-year-old Gaiety's Jule as veteran performer Justa Guy Lass driven by Orley Coville and 4-mile dash champion Jim Dusty driven by Benny Wemp will go up against his horse.

Other horses in the 10th are Two Mountains Dear (with Bob Sleeth driving); Minor Mary (Keith St. Pierre); Bonded Stock (Joe Hawkins) and Prima Blossom (Gary Filson).

Belleville area drivers participating in Sunday's race are: Gary Walsh behind Lady Violet Direct and Canadian Way in the second and sixth; Al Vance behind Mr. Boyd and Skippy Rush in the third and ninth and Fred Jarrell behind Minado also in the ninth.

Post time for the 10-race card is 1:45 p.m. After Sunday, there remain only three race days before the month long holiday break at Mc-Ado's Lane.

PARIS (Reuter) c— French professional soccer players decided Friday to go on strike this weekend and refuse to play their scheduled First-and Second-Division matches. Bottom Dwellers Upset Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a night for upsets in the World Hockey Association Friday as Ottawa Nationals, Philadelphia Blazers and Minnesota Fighting Saints defeated higher-ranking clubs.

The Nationals, fifth in the Eastern Division, downed the West leader Winnipeg Jets 4-3, the sixth-place Blazers in the East defeated second-ranking New England Whalers 5-3 and Minnesota beat Alberta Oilers 6-4 to move into second spot in the West, one point ahead of Alberta.

Philadelphia, winning only its fifth game in 22 starts, showed signs of improvement with the return of goalie Bernie Parent and increasing scoring power by player-coach Johnny McKenzie.

Parent, playing his first game since being sidelined by a foot injury Oct. 25, stopped 32 shots on the Blazers' nets and McKenzie provided a goal and two assists to lead the attack.

McKenzie's goal came when the Blazers were shorthanded and gave them a 4-2 lead midway through the third period.

An enabled them to withstand an scored later goals for Ottawa while Chris Bordeleau and Norm Beaudin scored for the Jets.

Winnipeg pulled goalie Gord Tumilson in favor of an extra attacker with 64 seconds later but couldn't beat Ottawa net-minder Gilles Gratton for the tying goal.

Ottawa 67s Beat Petes 7-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three prolonged unbeaten streaks were preserved Friday night in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A action.

Ottawa 67s extended their unbeaten streak to 10 games with a 7-3 win over Peterborough Petes, Kitchener Rangers and London Knights accommodated each other's record by playing a 5-5-draw. Kitchener has played seven straight games at home without a loss while Knights have not lost on the road in eight games.

In other action, Toronto Marlboros inched farther ahead of the top of the league standings with a 9-3 romp over Sudbury Wolves and St. Catharines Black Hawks edged Hamilton Red Wings 7-6.

The Ottawa win streak has moved the club to within one point of second-place Peterborough.

In Toronto, Paulin Bordeleau scored two goals and assisted on two others to lead Marlies. Brad Winton, John Hughes, Bruce Boudreau, Peter Marrin, Tom Edur, Kevin Devine and Jeff Woodyatt added the other goals.

Tom Colley, Morris Tilanic and Wayne Chrysler responded for the Wolves who trailed 1-0 after the first period but lapsed to allow five straight goals in the second period.

On Sunday, Toronto visits Sault Ste. Marie and Oshawa goes to St. Catharines.

Braves Beat Voyageurs 5-3

Boston Braves finally overtook Nova Scotia Voyageurs in the eastern division of the American Hockey League Friday night by beating the league-leaders 5-3.

Meanwhile, in the west, Cincinnati Swords tied Rochester for first place with Tidewater Wings by salvaging a 3-3 tie with Richmond Robins.

In the only other game, Rochester Americans stayed two points back of Nova Scotia and Boston, now tied with 32 points each, by defeating Providence Reds 5-1.

The Braves struck quickly for openers with goals by Ron Anderson and Ron Boehm in 42 seconds. Richie Leduc, Chris Hayes and Steve Stirling scored the other goals for Boston. Tony Featherstone, with two goals, and Yvon Lambert, with one, were the Voyageurs' goal-getters.

The Swords needed to rally in the third period to draw even with the Robins. Frank Richardson and Murray Kuntz got the tying goals. For Kuntz, it was his second of the game. Woody Curreiej and Pierre Plante had got the Robins a 2-0 lead. Ron McCulloch scored the third goal for Richmond.

Dave Hrechkosy provided the best individual performance of the night—leading the Americans to victory with four goals. Barry Merrell got the third goal for the winners.

Rochester goalie Lynn Zimmerman stopped 40 Providence shots, but lost his shutout when one by Al Blanchard got past him.

Trimble Not Interested In Argonauts

HAMILTON (CP) — Jim Trimble, mentioned as a possible replacement when Leo Cahill was fired three weeks ago from the Toronto Argonauts head coaching position, says he's not interested in the job.

Trimble, a former Canadian Football League coach with Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes, spoke at the annual Grey Cup dinner Friday night and later said I has interview he was not interested in getting back into coaching.

"I'm very happy in New York," he said, referring to his job as director of personnel with the Giants in the National Football League.

NY Rangers Go Down While Blues Rise Up

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers, hampered by injuries, are beginning to slow down in their bid for the National Hockey League East Division lead while St. Louis Blues are making a sudden move at joining the action in the West.

For the second time in as many games, the Rangers had to come from behind to gain a tie Friday night, finishing with a 3-3 score against California Golden Seals.

That moved the Blues to within four points of sixth-place Philadelphia Flyers in the West which might not sound impressive except for the fact that Flyers are only six points back of division leading Minnesota.

The Rangers, who lost defenceman Jim Neilson for an estimated three-week period Wednesday as they tied Los Angeles 3-3, now are winless in their last three games.

Neilson's injury, a broken bone in his right foot, was his second of the season, and the Rangers have also lost Brad Park and Ab DeMarco from the defensive lineup and forwards Ted Irvine and Bruce MacGregor for varying periods.

A power-play goal by Rod Gilbert late in the third period as California gave Rangers the West Division with only five wins.

At Vancouver, the Blues wasted until the third period before going on a four-goal rampage. Jack Egers, with his second goal of the night, Chris Evans, Gary Sabourin and Floyd Thomson beat goalie Ed Dyck as the Blues outshot the Canucks 39-26.

Rookie Mike Lampman got his other Blues goal in the second period while Dale Tallon, playing his second game as a forward, and Bobby Leiende scored for Vancouver.

PM Facing New Challenge

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau now is being exposed to an entirely new political challenge with his commitment to govern in a way "that the Canadian people will see that we did understand the message of the election."

Observers agree this will be more difficult than Mr. Trudeau's approach with his previous government—that he would act in the best interests of Canada and "if the people don't like us they can throw us out."

Since the Oct. 30 general election, when his comfortable Commons majority was reduced to a slight plurality, the prime minister has made repeated statements that he intends to be sensitive to the election "message." And when he shuffled his cabinet last week, he said ministers would be acting "with the results of the election in mind."

Cabinet sources say Mr. Trudeau is showing "a new sensitivity" to the political climate in Canada. "He seems to be much more concerned with the public's reaction than he used to be."

Jobless Plan

Generosity Demands Tight Rein

OTTAWA (CP) — The minority Liberal government announced Friday that it has wide-ranging changes in store for the unemployment insurance program.

"Because of its very generosity," Manpower Minister Robert Andras said of the plan, it will be administered in future with a much tighter set of rules.

People "for whom the act was never intended" have been drawing benefits, the minister said at a news conference, which revealed that total cost for the program in 1972 is expected to top $2 billion.

The new unemployment insurance program, increasing and extending benefits, was piloted through the Commons in 1970 by Bryce Mackasey, Mr. Andras's predecessor, who resigned from the cabinet last week just before Prime Minister Trudeau's latest cabinet shuffle.

A key factor in the bill was that the federal government, the taxpayer, in effect—would shoulder the whole cost of unemployment insurance benefits whenever the national rate of unemployment topped four per cent of the labor force. It has not been close to that this year, hovering between six and seven per cent.

The idea was that the new Unemployment Insurance Act would be a spur to the government to take other action to hold unemployment below four per cent.

Mr. Andras said Friday that this may take some rethinking.

He said the government also would have to take a closer look at those who have drawn unemployment benefits, but who are not really in the spirit of the act.

Technically and legally such persons are entitled to benefits, the moral claim that could be the minister said, but they lack ascribed to a legitimate member of the labor force who had lost a job and was seriously searching for a new one.

In this category, the minister put students who had been lured into the labor force for a while or housewives who worked a bit to ease the burden of mortgage or new car payments.

If they work for eight weeks, under the present legislation, they are entitled to unemployment benefits, Mr. Andras said. But "they really aren't the hardship cases" and, given an act as generous as the one in force, they should not be drawing benefits.

Regulations also would be tightened for persons who lost work in one category, were unable to find a similar job and yet consistently refused to take something in a related field.

Moores Adds Four Ministers

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A new planning and priorities committee and creation of three groups of minister for initial policy-making highlighted Premier Frank Moores' cabinet shakeup Friday.

Mr. Moores added four new ministers, dropped two and split portfolio responsibilities to alter the names of 11 departments.

The new cabinet of 18 ministers, including one without portfolio and the Premier, was announced in a government white paper on the reorganization of Newfoundland's public service.

Mr. Moores took more than an hour to read the paper at a news conference, then spent about 40 minutes answering questions.

He said policy groups would be formed by ministers whose departments preformed related functions.

The groups include all members of the cabinet except the premier, John Crosbie, who remained finance minister and treasury board president, and William Marshall, who continues as minister without portfolio.

The three groups are to set initial policy on resources, social matters and government services.

Airports Serve Only Elite

TORONTO (CP) — Canada should not spend money on airports because they serve only the travelling elite, an airport expropriation hearing was told Friday.

Timothy Lash, speaking for the Metropolitan Toronto Airport Review Committee, said expenditure on the scale of an international airport could be used to provide mobility to the general population, something else added, an airport does not provide.

The hearing is listening to protests about expropriation of 18,000 acres of land for a proposed airport near Pickering Townhall. The hearing will continue next week.

Mr. Lash said a United States study indicated 17 per cent of the population do most of the air travel, suggesting that a Canadian study would show similar results.

A simple X on a ballot will decide your fate and mine but remember there are many issues at stake and some of them are:

(1) Preparation for a metropolitan type government
(2) A whole new set of priorities for our City.
(3) Immediate implementation of an official plan — let's have orderly planning, not chaos.
(4) A Budget that will fund our requirements and meet our objectives without undue hardship to the taxpayer, and an in-depth analysis as to how and where our tax dollar is being spent.
(5) More consideration for areas and groups which have been neglected.
(6) A good hard look at our contribution to the ecology of our area and support for present and new programs which are oriented in this direction.
(7) Recognition of our young people, they do not depend on tradition, they think for themselves — let's support them.

For the past few days I have received many queries and opinions about the administrative of our city and the consensus of opinion indicates that communication with City Hall is non existent and I am deeply concerned. That is why I am advocating an open door policy if elected.

This open door policy will not only encompass ourselves, the active adults of today but our senior citizens and young people.

News Roundup

Alcoholics Not Treated Claim MPPs

TORONTO (CP) — Social Development Secretary Robert Welch was criticized in the legislature Friday for a policy of regarding alcoholics like sick persons but not providing enough facilities where they can receive treatment.

Vernon Singer (L—Toronto Downsview) charged that in Toronto, where "the need is absolutely the greatest," the provision of treatment facilities for alcoholics is almost, in fact, non-existent."

Mr. Welch said the change in social attitude to the chronic drunk has resulted in judges being more lenient so many are not jailed but sent to detoxification centres.

It was "obvious" that there would not be enough beds to treat these persons.

But he said even with enough beds, there was no guarantee chronic drunks would remain in detoxification centres to obtain the full benefit of the program.

"There are those who advise us that if, in fact, you were to introduce some compulsory feature to the alternative you might well destroy the merits of the program."

Remedy Given

TORONTO (CP) — Motorists should not deal with an auto insurance company which raises premiums of a client convicted of a traffic offence but where no property damage or injury results, the legislature was told Friday.

John Clement, minister of consumer and commercial relations, said some companies have "filed this type of agreement" when motorists lose demerit points for offences under the Highway Traffic Act.

Situation Good

TORONTO (CP) — Conditions in Ontario's psychiatric hospitals might need some improvement, but generally the situation is "very good," Dr. G. A. Ives, director of the provincial health ministry's psychiatric services, said Friday.

His comments came after a special committee reported Thursday that planning of patients' treatment at Whitby Psychiatric Hospital is "far less" than acceptable.

Gets 7 Years

TORONTO (CP) — John Vanderkop was sentenced Friday to seven years in prison for defrauding Union Carbide Canada Ltd. of $880,000.

Vanderkop, 51, the company's former export manager, was convicted Nov. 16 by a county court jury. Judge Lloyd K. Graburn described the crime, one of Toronto's largest frauds, as "deliberate and cunning."

Cubans Visit

TORONTO (CP) — A Cuban trade delegation to Canada visited the Ontari elegislatur eFriday but refused to be interviewed by reporters.

A. B. R. Lawrence, Ontario resources development secretary, told reporters the Cubans felt it was 'a matter of protocol" to consult with federal officials before making statements about their trip.

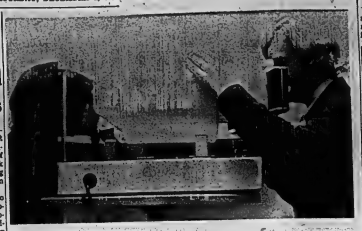
Pay Would Rise

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — If Canadian physicians and surgeons wer epal das muc has doctors in the United States, their incomes would be two to three times higher than at present, the chairman of the surgical section of the Ontario Medical Association (OMA) said Friday.

Dr. Robert Andrew of Windsor was speaking to the Windsor session of a special inquiry into medical care in Ontario sponsored by the OMA.

The increases would be due, he said, if his profession demanded "equal pay for equal work" as advocated by many of our industrial unions."

Key Find



TORONTO (CP) — A bone unearthed in France and which contains symbols engraved by man at least 135,000 years ago was decoded Friday as one of the key finds in archeology by a researcher at Harvard University's Peabody Museum of Archeology and Ethnology.

New Revolt?

TORONTO (CP) — A Metis official warned Friday that violence could erupt if the federal government follows some of its plans to develop the Canadian north.

Tony Belcourt, president of the Native Council of Canada, noted that the Riel rebellion was the last uprising by the Metis, but he added:

Hospital Layoffs Forecast

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ontario government's decision to curb spiralling health costs by putting the financial onus on hospitals will result in hundreds of empty hospital beds next year and a number of layoffs of hospital personnel.

A recent cutback in provincial grants means about 1,500 active treatment beds in hospitals will be withdrawn unless the hospitals can find the money to keep them in operation.

Health Minister Richard Potter said the government is not ordering hospitals to withdraw beds but simply is "not going to pay for them."

In Brockville, hospital officials say the 55-bed reduction in the two local hospitals may mean elimination of as many as 100 jobs.

However, administrator James G. Wilson said staff reductions will not be made immediately.

Bill Holland, administrator of the Oshawa General Hospital, said the provincial edict will mean that one floor of the hospital's new wing will not be staffed. He said the hospital will lose about 41 active-treatment beds.

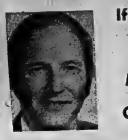
St. Catharines General Hospital will reduce its active-treatment beds to 500 from 540 but the hospital's executive director, Carey Robinson, said he agrees with Dr. Potter's motives.

"Our biggest problem will be to maintain the present standard of care," he said.

Kingston's two hospitals are faced with cutting 104 of their 913 beds as well as amalgamating obstetrical service in one hospital.



Both the Sarnia General Hospital commission and the St. Joseph's Hospital commission are making an all-out appeal the provincial ruling which would force them to reduce the number of their active beds.

At Greater Niagara General Hospital, 110 beds have been designed for psychiatric, detoxification, chronic or convalescent beds.

Administrators at Owen Sound, Woodstock, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury said they expect the provincial edict will not affect them.

Stamp Glue Is OK

OTTAWA (CP) — All material used to make postage stamps stick is cleared by the federal health department, said Friday.

What the Stars Say

BY JEANE DIXON

SUNDAY, DEC. 3

Aries (March 21-April 19): Solitude is appealing, should be used for prayer and serious contemplation of your situation and its meaning. Do the expected chores.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Peacemaking may rate first in your repertoire this Sunday. Exercise will blend well with other diversions, balances the day.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): A quiet Sunday of moderate habits — probably the optimum. If you'll tarry, cater to the feeling—it is normal for now.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Just being there, filling your proper space in the social order is both satisfying and effective. Be on your best behavior.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Getting all amenities completed may take more time and syncopate the listening than you'd thought, but is worthwhile. It's a slow Sunday.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Practical skills are a natural pursuit in a leisurely day. It is also right to read and catch up on correspondence.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some base and fix records and traces of older time's hold magnetic attraction for you. Search will turn up items you have missed.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Keep your social appointments promptly and in dignity. Added visits to those you have neglected lately are in order.

Sagittaries (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Opt for an even distribution of your time covering activities within ready reach, expending no dramatic changes or indecision.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Put material concerns aside altogether, see where meditation leads you. The future will differ markedly from present conditions.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Everybody is friendly enough but nobody shows much enthusiasm for strenuous participation. Get some rest yourself.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): This relatively easy Sunday should offer you plenty of time and space for relaxation, study, planning for next week's doings.

MON, DEC. 4

Aries (March 21-April 19): Shy away from specific promises or disclosures, as nothing is apt to be far enough along in its formulation.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): There's a second or a third meaning under the surface of any story you hear. And you may be letting your own secrets out as well.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Steady, confident routine is essential to hold the progress you've achieved thus far. Let others be upset at discrepancies.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): What you can do with your hands is timely. What you must let others do for you tends to be off-schedule.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): For once you outbestow yourself with deceptive ease. When the bubble bursts, remember you blew it yourself. A happy mood comes later.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): People are concerned with what you want to do, but they have to know enough of your wishes to make room. Abruptness leads to poor results.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You come closer to a long - sought objective. Oversensitive subjects, discretion; on others, brief explanations avoid misunderstandings.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Financial arrangements should be required with all flaws visible. What to do about them requires another day for reflection.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Let mirages hang peacefully, untested, to be admired until somebody else disturbs them. Pick up the potential benefits later.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Creative ventures of your own are favored. Participation in unusual schemes is subject to intervention from outside forces.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Opinions are only that today. Rely on long-settled routines and facts; experimenting needs a differing situation.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Taking cash while avoiding credit works well for success. When people "borrow" your ideas, they make them their own.

To Your Good Health

Numbness in Hand May Be Arthritis

By G. C. THOSTESON MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a frequent feeling of numbness in my hands, initially in thumb and first two fingers, and at times a dull ache near the elbow or wrist.

The numbness increases when I shake my hands or hold any vibrating instrument, lawn mower, auto steering wheel, etc. Many times I have to find a precise location for my arms in order to sleep without the numbness. I am 50, otherwise in good health.

Can this condition be lessened by exercise, by diet, or other means—A.H.

The two likeliest causes of numbness such as your describe are: 1 Arthritic-type changes in vertebrae in the neck exerting pressure on roots of nerves leading to the hands and fingers; 2. A condition called carpal tunnel syndrome, which is a narrowing of a "tunnel" or tendon space through which nerves run in the hands and fingers.

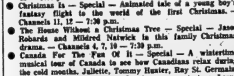
Certain items in your letter make the former seem more likely—one being the fact that you have to find a "precise location" for your arms to get relief. It would indicate that there is pressure in this area, and once the nerves is relieved, but that this position must be met with very careful limits.

Posture can be a factor. Do you have a tendency to slouch forward and "lead with your chin"? It's worth investigating.

Neither the nor exercise can answer the problem, and my suggestion is that a visit to a neck spine is in order, to see whether significant changes have occurred in the neck bones. Your doctor, in such a case, would determine whether neck traction would help you.

As to carpal tunnel syndrome, forcing the wrist for a minute or two will bring on the discomfort, and there are other tests be that a physician can use to determine whether that is the trouble. Surgery on the wrist can relieve that.

In either case (carpal tunnel or changes in the neck) you are wasting time hoping that "diet" or exercise will benefit it. Yet once the true cause has been diagnosed, effective treatment becomes possible.



Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 61 and in fine health but I have serious varicose veins. I love to walk, weather permitting, and can walk a mile or so without trouble.

We recently moved to a new area where there are no sidewalks, which makes walking difficult. I have been thinking of buying a stationary bicycle instead of walking. Would this serve as well? Cycling will be as useful as walking.

The bike, long relegated to the realm of old fogies, has come into new prominence as a means of exercise for people of all ages, in their 70s and 80s, and maybe a bit unsteady on a two-wheeler, have found the three-wheel bike just the thing. You ride it just like a two-wheelie, but it has two rear wheels.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been doctoring for about a month for my "gumbo" of the left knee. I have never heard of "gumbo." Is it a form of arthritis?—M.D.

No, not a form of arthritis. It is another term for inflammation of the knee joint. There can be different types of it.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
4 ♣	4 ♠	5 ♣	5 ♦
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass	7 ♣	Pass
7 ♠

Opening lead - king of clubs.

The quick and woolly hand occurred in a regional team of four championship. At the first table, South got to seven spades on the bidding shown. Had West led a heart, the grand slam would have failed, but he led a club and declarer easily made all the tricks — scoring 2,210 points.

At the second table, the bidding went:

East	South	West	North
4 ♣	4 ♠	5 ♣	5 ♦
Pass	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
7 ♠

The South player at this table, gazing at two club losers, could not afford to invite a grand slam by making a forcing pass, and he therefore decided seven clubs. He had not received the benefit of a diamond lead from North, and he had no particular reason to think his side had a good shot at a grand slam.

Still less did it occur to South that his opponent might make a grand slam, and, in a misguided effort to play safe, he led the ace of hearts.

This lead proved highly disastrous when East ruffed the ace, ordered dummy with a trump, ruffed another heart, returned to dummy with another trump, and discarded all four of his losers on the K-Q-9-8 of hearts, instead of going down four on the hand. East made seven clubs doubled for a score of 2,330 points.

The extraordinary outcome was that a grand slam was made at one table by the East-West pair and made by their teammates at the other table with the North-South cards! The team gain on just this one deal was a hefty 4,540 points, which is not considered tin in any league.

Heath Aware Of ECM Impact

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau continued to urge Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain today to keep Canadian trade in mind when he leads his country into the European Common Market next month.

Trudeau spent nearly seven hours with Heath Sunday, talking privately, then with officials, and strolling over the Chequers countryside, driving home the argument that Canada does not want to be cut off from European trade potential.

"Mr. Heath's position is one of understanding," said a Canadian official after the initial talks Sunday. "It's such a complicated matter that these prime ministerial meetings are absolutely necessary."

Britain enters the Common Market Jan. 1, and after that the traditional Commonwealth tariffs will be abolished. In 1971, Canada exported $1.3 billion worth of goods to Britain, and about 54 per cent would be adversely affected by the abolition of Commonwealth preferences.

Britain's terms of entry were established last year, but Trudeau said he wanted to talk with Heath on the eve of Britain's entry so Canada's concerns would be well known. He also wanted to explain Canada's position regarding its proposed membership on any supervisory commission established in Vietnam.

Saigon's Army Gets Air Help

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes made heavy bombing attacks against communication lines in an attempt to curb the resupply of North Vietnamese troops fighting a government counteroffensive just below the demilitarized zone. U.S. command sources reported today.

U.S. pilots flew 315 tactical air strikes against Communist targets in South Vietnam, more than half of them in northernmost Quang Tri province, the U.S. command announced.

U.S. fighter-bombers also were reported to have flown more than 90 missions Sunday against Communist supply routes in North Vietnam, destroying 15 trucks as they moved south toward the battlefront.

South Vietnamese troops have been hoisting north the retake territory lost in the early days of the Communist invasion in April. But monsoon weather has brought the drive in Quang Tri province almost to a standstill.

More than 50 B-52s dropped up to 1,000 tons of bombs on Communist troop concentrations and staging areas in Quang Tri during the 24 hours ending at noon, the U.S. command reported.

North Vietnam has an estimated 30,000 troops deployed in Quang Tri and has made extensive use of its long-range guns and mortars to check the advance of government forces.

Truce May Be Signed

U.S. May Ignore Saigon Protests

PARIS (AP) — Henry Kissinger resumed negotiations with Le Duc Tho today amid reports that the United States may be preparing to sign a ceasefire agreement without the Saigon government's concurrence.

They met at a villa near the North Vietnamese headquarters in suburban Choisy-le-Roi.

As his car pulled up to the villa, Kissinger said with a grin for the reporters and photographers gathered there: "I thought this was supposed to be a secret rendezvous."

The house had been used for some of the previous meetings.

President Nixon's top foreign affairs adviser arrived Sunday night from Washington. He gave no indication of what he would propose to Tho, the Hanoi politburo member Kissinger has been meeting secretly during the last year.

In the interim, a special emissary from President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, Nguyen Phu Duc, visited Washington. Nixon and Kissinger Reports circulated in the U.S. capital that they told Duc that North Vietnam would make no more concessions, and the U.S. government would delay no longer in signing the ceasefire agreement. Kissinger and Tho reached out in October.

Saigon has been insisting that any agreement include a guarantee that North Vietnam withdraw all its troops from the south, but North Vietnamese officials insist the document be signed in its original form.

Dispatches from Saigon have indicated the South Vietnamese government may now be resigned to seeing a ceasefire agreement signed. Premier Tran Thien Khiem has told cabinet members and high-level department heads to prepare for this eventuality.

The Viet Cong accused the Thieu government Sunday of drawing up a list of several thousand political prisoners to assassinate before a ceasefire agreement is signed.

It said Saigon was acting under the orders of the United States to repress "all those who have spoken out for peace and national concord."

A broadcast said since October the Thieu government has promulgated "decree laws" which provide for life imprisonment or death of persons presumed to be Viet Cong or pro-Viet Cong, that is, "those who want a peace agreement, signed and even those slightly unhappy with Thieu's personal dictatorship."

In less than a month, it said, "tens of thousands of raids have been carried out in which tens of thousands of persons have been summarily killed or imprisoned, including religious figures, intellectuals, students, old people, pregnant women, and members of his own administrative machine."

Franco Marks 80th Birthday

This was a particularly happy anniversary for Franco. His first great-grandchild was born on Oct. 23 and was named Francisco.

Alan Jarvis Dies on Sunday

TORONTO (CP) — Alan Jarvis, 57, former director of the National Art Gallery, died here Sunday.

The Brantford-born Rhodes scholar, sculptor, critic, commentator and columnist took over as director in 1955. He left in 1959 when asked to resign following a series of clashes over finances with the Progressive Conservative cabinet of then prime minister John diefenbaker.

Dozens of IRA Leaders Flee to Ulster Havens

DUBLIN (CP) — Dozens of Irish Republican Army men are believed to have fled to Northern Ireland to escape the Irish republic's tough new anti-guerilla law, security chiefs say.

IRA leaders are reported to have gone underground during the weekend as President Eamon de Valera signed the new legislation designed to keep the terrorists from finding sanctuary in the republic.

Many guerillas were thought to have decided to take their chances in the Roman Catholic districts of Belfast and Londonderry.

Dublin workmen renovated a former military jail in preparation for an expected influx of prisoners.

The new legislation makes testimony of a senior police officer that he believes a suspect to be a member of an illegal organization sufficient for conviction.

Meanwhile, in Northern Ireland, three civilians were killed, a British soldier was badly injured when a rocket hit an armored car, and a bomb in Belfast injured 22 persons.

The confirmed death toll rose to 659 in more than three years of communal violence.

A 25-year-old Catholic whose body was found near his Belfast home had been tortured and "IRA 4" had been branded on his back. His hands and fee had been burned.

The body of an unidentified man was found nearby.

The third victim was a Protestant woman married to a Catholic. Two bullets killed her as she stood in the kitchen of her Belfast home.

There were unconfirmed reports in Belfast that a request had been made to Provisional wing of the IRA to call a seven-day unilateral ceasefire during Christmas.

The suggestion was said to have been made by several people who had attempted to act in the past as intermediaries between the Provisionals and the British government.

The government is known to be unwilling to engage in any truce negotiations with the guerrillas. It feels that a bilateral ceasefire would give the Provisionals a chance to regroup at a time when the capture of some of the movement's leading members has hit them hard.

IRA chieftains in the republic were reported to be in the throes of urgent discussions to appoint a successor to chief of staff to replace Sean MacStiofain who was jailed nine days ago.

MacStiofain, who has been waging a hunger strike against his detention at the Curragh military hospital, was said unofficially to have taken soup. Sources expected he would consent to eating solid food shortly.

He broke a thirst strike last week and was described as being "on the mend."

Eire Gets Tough

Israeli Reported Meeting Arabs

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Deputy Premier Yigal Allon paid a secret visit to Jordan last week, and reliable sources indicated he met high-ranking Jordanians to discuss peace.

Allon's office confirmed he went to London. It had been announced when he left Wednesday that he was on his way to the United States for fund-raising speeches and a meeting with State Secretary William Rogers.

A spokesman in Allon's office denied that he had met with Arab officials in London. But several reliable sources insisted that he met more than once with Jordanian government representative during his stay in the British capital.

Allon is known to have met Jordanian leaders, including King Hussein, more than once, and details of these contacts have become routine.

Allon argues that, if Jordan reconciles itself to Israel's existence, it would break the Arab wall of hostility and generate a climate of peace in the Middle East.

Seoul Fire Kills 52 In Theatre

SEOUL, Korea (Reuter) — Police said today a short circuit caused a fire which killed 52 persons in Seoul's biggest theatre Saturday night and then arrested two technicians they alleged were responsible for the electrical fault.

The lastbody, burned beyond recognition, was recovered from the debris today. Of the rest, 27 were women, and two were children.

Police said the two men arrested may face charges of causing a serious fire and causing deaths by negligence of duty. The first charge carries a penalty of up to three years in jail and the second up to five years.

Apple Processor

New Industry Announced for Trenton

By IAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

TRENTON (Staff) — A major industry that will generate at least 75 jobs, and is designed to provide a market for local apple growers in the Quinte area, will soon locate in Trenton.

Paul Tripp, Trenton Industrial Commissioner this morning said Gordon Griffin, Fred Richard Potter has announced a half-million-dollar Ontario Development Council loan has been made to Fisher Brothers Incorporated of Montreal.

William Roney, FBI vice-president said in a telephone interview this morning the plant will cost an estimated $1.3 million.

"We hope to be ready by July of 1973," he said.

The company spokesman could not give the exact size of the new Trenton plant, but says it will cover at least 100,000 square feet.

He said one of the main reasons for locating in Trenton, and a major logic of negotiation with the Ontario government, was the economic problems of local farmers. Mr. Roney said the apple growers "especially last year, were hurt badly because there was on local apple processing plant.

"We hope to get all the apples for processing from your area," he said.

The 100 per cent Canadian firm has one plant located 25 miles outside Montreal. It was opened in 1911. Local manager will be Peter Carsley, an HBI pioneer.

In announcing location of the new industry, Mr. Tripp said, "It would have quite an impact on local industry."

The new plant will be located on Dufferin St. in the southwest industrial park near the Quinte Mall.

The property on which the processing plant will be built was owned by Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Roney said he was in Belleville yesterday on negotiate use of CN rails.

Announcement today comes in a welcome boost to town officials in light of the future shutdown of Canmos Imperial Mills, and loss of 185 employees by January.

Retiring Principal Antique Dealer

Carl Griffith, retiring principal of Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc has capped a multi - faceted career by starting his own antique business in the village.

But Saturday night the emphasis was on his academic career as teachers from CHSS honored him at a retirement testimonial dinner at the Four Seasons Hotel. They presented him with a painting and paid tribute to his contribution to the school.

Many years before the several careers in one lifetime theory became a popular principle, Mr. Griffith had adopted it as his style.

A native of Hamilton, he went to work after high school as a crane operator in a steel plant. After service overseas with the air force during the war, he returned to the steel plant as a foreman.

Mrs. Griffith's first change of pace came when he decided to attend the University of Toronto. After earning his degree he took teacher training and went to Chesterville to teach geography, history, industrial arts, commercial and physical education.

His next move was to Ridgetown as the department head of both history and geography. Eventually he moved north to become principal of Capreol High School.

While in Capreol Mr. Griffith became interested in politics and ran as an NDP candidate. Although his pa ty lost the election, it gained considerable ground in the riding.

After coming to Madoc five years ago, Mr. Griffith saw the school through a building program that doubled its enrolment.

Long an antique collector, he is the owner of a gun collection of considerable note. Now he is transferring his historical knowledge from teaching to an unique dealership.

Chairman of the testimonial dinner was CHSS teacher Wally Moffat. Superintendents John Garrett and L. P. Reid and former CHSS vice-principal, Robert Graham, outlined Mr. Griffith's career and Mrs. Janice Stephens Pearson, 16, of Belleville was driving the van about a half mile east of Stirling on the Bridge Road at the time of the accident. He was uninjured.

Y Care Centre Grants Run Out

Serving an average of 15 children a day, the centre, which began 11 months ago has received $21,000 from senior government programs.

The last grant, in the form of an extension, ended Thursday of last week, the Y responded for assistance in mid-October but has not been no-

DI Diamandides, general secretary of the Y, said this morning "I know of no other project that has stayed on as long as the care centre, or one that has received as many grants as ours."

Mr. Diamandides felt the day care centre was filling a real need in the community, drawing children to the centre on a consistent basis.

Though federal funds have run out, the YMCA has decided to operate independently for two weeks.

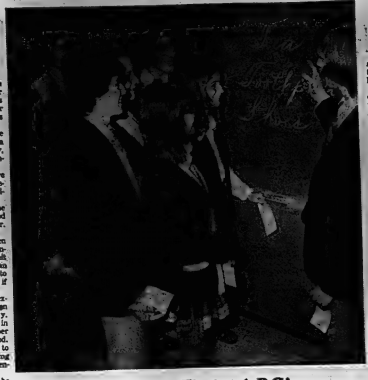
"We haven't heard if the money will come again and parents are worried," said Mr. Diamandides.

"By keeping the centre open with Y funds for an additional two weeks, we can wait for financial help and can give parents a chance to make other arrangements if necessary," he said.

To offset some of the expense, tuition fees have been raised from $3 to $4 a day. There will be $5 a day in wages for the four-member staff and $20 weekly for food.

Only four children came to the centre today, reflecting parental opinion that the centre was coming to a close.

Mr. Diamandides said he didn't blame them.



"We have proven the need for such a centre and hope that municipal support can be obtained."

Mall Expansion Planned

Quinte Mall will undergo substantial expansion within the next five years, if marketing studies prove the need, David King, vice - president of Cambridge Leaseholds Ltd. which owns the mall, said in a telephone interview today.

Expansion of the mall is not just a possibility, said Mr. King, "there will be expansion . . . it is just a matter of timing."

Cambridge Leaseholds has purchased a 40-58 acre land parcel immediately west of mall property and has submitted rough plans to Quinte Planning Board for a massive addition.

The Cambridge executive stated this was done to assist planners in preparation of the Belleville official plan. However, he said the plan does outline "the probable configuration" of the addition.

This addition sprawls more than 600 feet west from the present mall concourse that contains Cinema 1 and Cinema 2, giving Quinte Mall a T-shape.

Mr. King stated that his firm is "very happy with the performance" of Quinte Mall. He said its success is "far above the average" for similar operations.

2,000 Petition For Sand Rights

PICTON (Staff) — More than 2,000 people in Prince Edward county have signed a petition in support of continued quarrying of sand at the Sandbanks by Lake Ontario Cement Company Ltd.

The Prince Edward county Chamber of Commerce circulated the petition and sent it to Ontario Premier William Davis.

In reply, Premier Davis said he was confident a solution can be found that will safeguard the livelihood of LOCL employees.

Major fear of the chamber of commerce is loss of the cement company if it is not allowed to take sand from the Sandbanks.

The company has not removed sand from its leased site adjacent to the provincial park since September, when the Pits and Quarries Act went into force in Hallowell township.

The C of C petition urged the premier to institute action without delay, that will result in the company's being permitted to continue its operations at the Sandbanks.

The Ontario government has repeatedly assured the cement plant workers that their jobs would not be in danger because of the ban on quarrying. Plant officials have been silent throughout the controversy, but they gave employees a day off to protest at Queen's Park.

Glider Pilots Graduate

Although he was 1,200 miles away, Rod Wendy and Anglits Saturday night were focused directly on Belleville.

The Commanding Officer of CFB St. John's Nfld., was a proud parent as his 17 - year - old daughter, Wendy, received her glider's license at the Belleville Flying Club's annual Wings Parade.

Although he couldn't attend, Major Whelan wired his congratulations, commending the entire club for its "direction, leadership and spirit." His salutation, "happy thermals", brought fond memories of summer skies and lofting breezes to Wendy and 17 other graduating pilots.

Major Whelan wasn't the only absentee to send greetings. Don Stone, aviation inspector for the ministry of transport, also sent a telegram in which he termed the flying club facilities "one of our prize airports in Canada."

Six special awards were presented by flying instructors Jim Marker and Ron Mason after the banquet dinner at Sun Valley Motor Inn. Top prize was the George Hees Trophy, won earlier by Francis Lenk for his eight - hour, 15-minute solo glider flight last summer that earned a provincial record.

Other winners were Miss Whelan, The President's Trophy; Lucia and Charles Vanderwater, The Corby Distillery Trophy; Charles Vanderwater, Belleville Airport Trophy; Bob Holt, T b e Hees Scout Award; and Mr. Mason, The Doctor J. N. Hartt Award.

Graduates receiving solo licences were Paul Allore, Bill Bosick, David Bilko, Lucia Vanderwater, Peter Rissi, Dennis Raindahl, Glen LeCompte and Bob Wilson.

Two pilots, Charles Vanderwater and Bob Holt, won "C" awards for an hour's flying above 2,000 feet altitude. Frank Cole received his instructor's badge.

The presentations were followed by a "Fashion Flight" mini show featuring clothes from McIntosh Brothers. Guest speaker for the evening was Noel Stockton, public relations director at the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Master of ceremonies was Lee Jourard of CJBQ.

Cabinet Opportunities

There are more than a dozen ministers, some of them new, others switched from some of them new, others switched from other portfolios, who have been afforded the opportunity of making their mark in the new cabinet of Prime Minister Trudeau.

Among them, if we may be forgiven the play on words, is Marc Lalonde as Minister of Health.

Mr. Lalonde can find himself confronted with the realities of the health portfolio.

With the Le Dain Commission hearings and recommendations now in the past, Mr. Lalonde will be able to address himself to the general health of Canadians which by no means can be considered good. He is probably aware of the figures released in recent days indicating that, despite all warnings, cigaret smoking has increased sharply. If Ottawa is serious in its Bella-Bella-ville in this regard, simple observation will acquaint him with the fact of vastly increased usage among both pre-teen and teenage youngsters. He will have heard the warnings of doctors that in time this will result in respiratory problems and other serious health hazards associated with smoking.

Does Mr. Lalonde have any ideas on how to curb this trend? Would he consider a statement on the subject, with a view to encouraging young Canadians to have greater concern for their general health? Would he consider a letter to be distributed in schools throughout Canada? For it is quite obvious that present efforts in this regard are having little or no impact.

There are other ministers who have interesting opportunities for new and interesting opportunities for new and different approaches. Hugh Faulkner of Peterborough as secretary of state and Warren Allmand as solicitor-general. There are serious concern over the policies of their predecessors — Gerard Pelletier and Jean-Pierre Goyer respectively and we shall watch the performance of these "new boys" with interest.

More Initiatives

How many are aware that $7 per cent of the families in one province of Canada did not take vacations because they felt they could not afford to, and without realizing that low-cost accommodation was available.

This is one of the interesting items of information obtained from another look through Information Canada's attractive brochure describing some of the more effective of the local initiative programs undertaken in the last year or two.

The province concerned is not identified, but we are told that a group of its citizens set up an information service to tell people where to find inexpensive overnight lodgings for families. Supported by LIP, the project obtained the co-operation of public service and agencies and even private industry. A list was compiled of tourist homes, overnight cabins, camping areas and cottages that would rent bedrooms cheaply. Schools and farms agreed to make available. Hotels were convinced to lower their rates for travelling families. As a result more than 6,000 families in this one province have enjoyed a holiday trip they did not know they could afford.

Yet another project which we are sure many people will consider worthwhile is the attempt to record the legends of earlier times from senior citizens whose memories of pioneer achievements are still fresh.

Or as the brochure account puts it: "Recognizing that accounts of the everyday experiences of Canadian pioneers may perish with the men and women who lived them, a small west-coast church group used a LIP grant to record the recollections of old timers who knew what it was like to establish themselves in the wilderness."

In addition, the organization established a personal service to the elderly and the handicapped and helped break down the barriers that prevented effective communication between native peoples and others in the community.

Progress in these various directions moved the local newspaper to note, "We are on the way to becoming a total-caring community."

Of all the brainchilds of government, these must surely rank with the finest and most effective in terms of improving the quality of life which we hear so much about today.

Cinderella Role Casts Doubt Over Defence Policy

By JOHN D. HARRISON
Foreign Affairs Analyst,
Thomson News Service.

It's shameful for our armed forces that recent appointments of ministers of defence have received cinderella treatment from our prime ministers.

The newest and the fourth in just over two years, is James Richardson, the millionaire from Winnipeg who came in on the 1968 Trudeau sweep, somehow survived the Oct. 30 Liberal election debacle in the West, and had been the nice-guy minister of supply and services in the nearly-defeated previous Trudeau ministry.

Four unhappy defence ministers since the summer of 1970.

That's getting close to the even more dismal record of changing postmaster-general — eight, or

Martel Hits Government Extravagance

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

The latest: the apparent policy of the ministry to cut down on day nurseries and homes for the aged programs.

Elie Martel, NDP schoolteacher standard bearer from Sudbury East, has been one of the prime shot-smiths.

This it is to be expected. For Mr. Martel is a two-gun member — who sometimes hit the mark, but with all the practice he gets should probably score more than he does.

Martel's blast in summary was this:

"When the Tory government starts to cut back spending, who gets hit first? Not the ministry with their huge personal staffs, expensively furnished and carpeted offices and government airplanes! No, it's the old folks and the kids."

The spirit of Dickens will never die as long as politicians live.

So what is the story?

Apparently there has been a change of policy in the ministry. And one that on the surface, at least, appears to be good.

Essentially the change is that there is an attempt to cut down on putting up new buildings and the big spending they represent.

There seems to be no question that the government feels there is no longer any pressing need for more accommodation for the aged, and particularly for more day nurseries.

But with day nurseries it feels there are many existing buildings, schools, church halls etc. which could be used rather than setting up new structures.

And with the elderly, it says, the emphasis will be for them to live in their own quarters, with supplemental services such as meals on wheels being provided. This, it claims, is the wish of many of the elderly themselves.

And so funds for new buildings are being held down.

But minister Rene Brunelle says there will be no pinch-penny on operating costs. And he knows more facilities are needed. And as these are provided the government will support them.

To a layman, particularly one who feels the government has been loose with its largesse, this seems to make sense.

Mr. Martel, incidentally, managed to work in a reference to corporate "rip-offs" in his statement on the ministry.

Good lord. Good lord! Are we going to have to suffer that nonsense here.

Bank Governor's Difficult Task

Winnipeg Free Press

It may have been lost on many Canadians in the welter of press coverage of two elections, but an announcement that could be of major importance to the future of this country was made recently — the decision of Louis Rasminsky to resign as governor of the Bank of Canada on Feb. 1. Mr. Rasminsky, who succeeded to the governorship in 1961 when James Coyne fell afoul of the then prime minister John Diefenbaker, has held office during some of the most difficult years for both the bank and the country.

Central to the problems which he had to face were the twin evils of inflation and unemployment, the unprecedented experiences of a buoyant economy and a high percentage of people who could not find work. It was a situation to which neither he nor government found a satisfactory answer. His efforts to put a brake on inflation, only partially successful, served to increase the ranks of the unemployed; and the timidity of government on the issue of wage and price controls frustrated his best efforts to find an effective remedy to the problem.

It is difficult sometimes to be did all that a man in his position could do to guide both the government and the nation and despite his comparative lack of success in achieving his objectives, he has been, by general consent, a most competent governor.

Whether his successor will succeed where he failed only time will tell. The opinion has expressed in some quarters, including the Globe and Mail, that perhaps the time has come for a new approach to today's problems, and a governor with new insights. But this is begging the question. The only thing for certain to come out of Mr. Rasminsky's announced resignation is that the appointment of his successor will be of great importance to the future of the country.

Remaining Europeans Live In Fear in Uganda

President Amin tries to be reassuring but Canadian Press staff correspondent Kevin Doyle now speaks of evidence of economic chaos as he surveyed the results of Amin's expulsion of Asians. Here is Doyle's second and concluding report on his visit to Kampala during a tour of East Africa.

By KEVIN DOYLE

KAMPALA, Uganda (CP) — Simon Miongo, his wife and eight children sat in the cool shade of a half-finished construction project within a stone's throw of Uganda's unused parliament buildings.

Simon, a slightly-stooped skeleton of a man, mumbled in the same pathetic plea to everyone who walked by in the scorching tropical heat.

"I've no work, mister. We're hungry—my children hungry. But all the jobs have gone."

Simon is one of at least 80,000 Africans thrown out of work overnight by President Idi Amin's economic expulsion of about 40,000 non-citizen Asians. The great bulk of the unemployed are counted in the Kampala region.

But they represent only one aspect of the massive economic and social problem facing Amin who seized power in a military coup nearly two years ago, dissolved parliament for five years and assumed dictatorial control of Uganda.

At least 75 per cent of ordinary business activity has been taken from the Asians who ostensibly awaiting transfer to African hands.

In the past, these businesses contributed about 18 per cent of Uganda's $1,200 annual gross domestic product, furnished a substantial part of government revenues and employed the vast majority of Africans in industry.

In Kampala alone, about 500 shops, businesses and farms of Asians and valued at more than $35 million, have been advertised for sale by today's deadline. Another 1,000 businesses in 41 other centres, valued at $55 million, are also on offer.

Out of all these shops, only a handful have gone to African hands. The rest stand boiled and barred.

Western experts here say Amin pays very enough economics, most collected from the Asians before they left, to sustain the country for a year—high, if declining rate for about six months. It's impossible to know what will happen then.

Some Western analysts express the view that Amin might actually prefer to see the economy reduced to a much slower growth rate.

They argue that he has no knowledge of economic problems and solutions and for this reason alone he would be more comfortable at the helm of a more primitive society.

These observers add that Amin is also personally responsible for the fact that if will take many years before African businessmen have the necessary to manage their own economy.

Consequently, they believe he is prepared to sacrifice a rapid rate of growth in order to keep economic control squarely in African hands.

It is virtually impossible for an outsider to discover the real intentions of the government. Attempts to search beyond pronouncements frequently suffered by officials is taken as a lack of faith in the government.

But there are indirect but strategy Amin is likely to follow are beginning to emerge.

Earlier this week the flamboyant general announced that the government would take over and administer the Madhvani and Mehta industrial groups formerly owned by Asians.

The groups, valued at about $70 million, were the largest industrial concern in the country, employing nearly 20,000 Africans. Employment and the companies' scope of activity, however, will likely be greatly reduced under the new administration.

Several factories and garages have already been taken over to be run by state-owned companies. A state-owned Ugandan development and state trading organization. This trend is expected to continue in the months ahead. The government has announced that it can seize control without compensation any business it chooses.

If the rest of the economic sector is to survive, even in a reduced form, Amin's ghosts $75 million in $125 million will have to be found from Africa.

Some of it may come from external aid loans. Saudi Arabia has already offered it $25 million and Libya has agreed to open a bank in Uganda.

The government itself has set up a central fund of about $20 million. Some further borrowing may be necessary, but the economy is basically sound.

But the greater part of the needed $75 million will probably come from an increase in the money supply engineered by the country's central bank.

More inflation is likely if the government tries to finance the new country of business which have been at a virtual standstill since the Asians were expelled. Amin has already established Adonga shopkeeper.

Meanwhile, the government is getting less revenue from direct and indirect taxation and customs.

It will only be when inflation begins to hit the ordinary man in the street that the effects of the low-paid city will make itself felt.

When this is added to the foreseen loss of skilled manpower Asians may have the greatest test of his leadership so far. At present, he has the support and massive popular support and massive popular support.

Meanwhile, he appears to be quickly dressing away from the Asians. Ugandanization of commerce and industry is the first section and meeting has since been announced in the Arab world where he believes the shipment of financial aid to his government is imminent.

Western experts here say Amin will have to be very lucky to avoid failure.

He may still come up with an economic solution acceptable to his government, the army and the African people. They say, although there are those interested this week of the departure of the economic interests.

The U.S. Peace Corps pro- gram in Uganda was suspended and more than 100 volunteers have been withdrawn. The death of one young worker after he was shot by Ugandan troops. The British Voluntary Service Overseas has drastically curtailed its program.

All of 36 volunteers with the Canadian University Service Overseas, said they remain.

Seventy-two white members of the 500-man engineering staff of the Uganda Railways Board have resigned and another 30 plan to leave at Christmas. Also, 70 of the 700 British teachers are expected to quit their jobs over the next year.

They list fear, suspicion, uncertainty and disquiet with government policies as reasons for their decision. Adding to this is the frequent, and mysterious disappearance of fellow teachers, many of whom are believed to have been shot.

Among Europeans, there is a curious combination of sympathy made up of a distaste for the methods used by Amin in expelling the Asians—about 6,000 of whom went to Canada—and a feeling that he has his efforts to "Africanize" the Ugandan economy.

Using conventional terms, Uganda's future is bleak. At least 75 per cent of the commercial sector is immobilized, awaiting transfer to Uganda Africans.

A random walk through the shops for essentials reveals that out of a score of drug stores, only two remained open and a number of these had inadequate tablets. Nearly all shops were nearly bare of soap, salt, sugar, kerosene and cooking fuel.

If all finished construction projects stand idle waiting for products and other skilled labor to come to fill jobs, vacated by the Asians.

Macdonald Prefers LIP to Pogey

TORONTO (CP) — Energy Minister Donald Macdonald said Sunday night his personal preference would be to put federal money into programs such as the Local Initiatives Program (LIP) rather than the unemployment insurance fund.

But he said the government is obligated by statute to the unemployment insurance fund, although it is hoped some change may be made in that obligation.

Mr. Macdonald was a member of a panel discussion on CTV. on Toronto cable television station CITY. Members of the participating audience included representatives of 250 L.I.P. projects in the Metropolitan Toronto area.

Biggest complaint of the L.I.P. spokesmen was that they still did not know whether their grants would be renewed.

One audience member said "about 80 per cent of us here don't know if we will be paid after Monday morning."

He said the groups had been promised by government officials that they would be notified by Nov. 30 whether their grants would be continued to May 31, but that they still had no word.

Mr. Macdonald said he could make no commitment on when the groups would receive word.

The energy minister did say, however, that Finance Minister John Turner would make an announcement this week on the funds to be made available to continue L.I.P.

Market Entry Could Reduce U.S. Ties

TORONTO (CP) — Britain's entry into the European Common Market (ECM) may help Canada expand its trade in Europe, Prime Minister Trudeau said Sunday night in a taped television interview.

He said his current visit with Prime Minister Edward Heath in London is to get assurances that Britain does not look on the common market as a protectionist economic unit.

"We are trying to do all we can to make sure we are not forced to be in a direct link with the United States, but that we have influence in the common market," he said.

Expanded trade with other common market countries would lessen United States influence on Canada, Mr. Trudeau said.

Canada Goes Unarmed

Acid Evicts 10 Families

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — Ten rural families, evacuated Friday night after a train derailment spilled up to 1,000 tons of dangerous sulphuric acid, were advised Sunday that it was safe to return to their homes.

A spokesman for the Ontario ministry of the environment, coordinating efforts of a 50-man cleanup crew, said all the acid flowing from the 25 derailed cars had been contained.

Twenty-five cars of the 55-car Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway train left the track Friday. The cause is not known.

The toppled cars were not to be removed until the acid remaining in them could be pumped out.

Mayor Harold Black of Pelham, near the accident site, assured residents in a radio broadcast Sunday well water outside the immediate crash area would not be affected by the acid.

Cleanup crews created a series of neutralizing lagoons in a farm field about a mile from the derailment. Immediately downstream from the crash, soda ash and neutralizing caustic soda were dumped into ditches and runoff drains to prevent acid seeping into the nearby Welland River.

Wells used for drinking water in the area were to receive continuing monitoring to assure their safety, the environment ministry spokesman said.

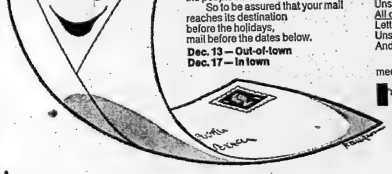
Blood Shed In Uganda?

LONDON (Reuter) — The Sunday Observer says reports from Uganda indicate four former Ugandan cabinet ministers are believed to have been murdered in the last two weeks.

Missed the Boat

VICTORIA (CP) — Vasily Nikolaievich Parashchenko, a six-year-old child aboard the Soviet-flag factory ship Tekhnolog, went to visit a Russian-speaking resident while his ship was in harbor, undergoing repairs. When he was returning to the ship, the car he was being driven in broke down and he missed the boat. After consulting officials, he was put aboard another Soviet vessel in Vancouver.

Arabs Get Compensation



JERUSALEM (AP) — A $100-million plan to compensate some of the Arabs who lost property in 1948 with the establishment of Israel was approved Sunday by the Israeli government.

The plan is intended to counter Arab claims that Arabs in Palestine were dispossessed.

British Paper Rebuked For Drawings in Nude

LONDON (Reuter) — A popular British newspaper was professionally admonished today for publishing drawings purporting to show Australian tennis star Evonne Goolagong in the nude.

The Press Council, Britain's journalistic watchdog body, ruled that publication of the drawings by The Sun were an infringement of Miss Goolagong's privacy.

The drawings were published in June this year on the first day of the Wimbledon tennis tournament. The competition organizers complained to the Press Council that the illustrations had caused Miss Goolagong great distress.

She had at first refused to go on to the tennis court. When she did, her play was seriously affected. She felt all eyes were turned on her and that she was being publicly undressed.

Sun editor Larry Lamb said the drawings were in no way offensive. His information was that Miss Goolagong was distressed not so much by the drawings as the behavior of a fellow competitor, who publicly accused her of having posed for them.

Press vs. Government Battle Is Shaping Up in U.S. Courts

NEW YORK (AP) — Not since the earliest days of the United States has there been a confrontation between the press and government such as the one now shaping up across the country.

Fuelled by two recent Supreme Court actions, prosecutors and legislative bodies are chipping away at the First Amendment to the U.S. constitution, which says Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of the press.

One reporter already has spent 20 days in jail and another went behind bars briefly last week, both for refusing to reveal confidential news sources. Several others may soon follow.

Many observers trace the current crisis to the 1970 attack on the news media by Vice-President Spiro Agnew—his famous "effete snobs" speech. They contend he was expressing the White House view and note that, in the key 5-to-4 Supreme Court vote, all four of the justices appointed by President Nixon voted against the press.

That decision came last June 29 and involved three separate cases in which journalists had refused to answer questions before grand juries. All had argued, in effect, that the public would be the loser in the long run if they were forced to identify news sources and divulge matters received in confidence.

But the court decided that the First Amendment provided no special immunity to the press in this area. The majority opinion, while conceding that it was "not irrational" to suggest that the ruling would lead to some diminishing in the flow of news, said estimates of this effect "are widely divergent and to a great extent speculative."

The second newspaper man sent to jail was William T. Farr, now a reporter for the Los Angeles Times, who covered the Charles Manson murder trial for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

During the course of the trial, Farr obtained a copy of a statement from one of the prosecution witnesses which said the group had also planned to kill a number of famous people. The story was widely publicized, although much of the statement was not admitted in evidence.

Seven months after the trial Farr was called before the grand jury and ordered to tell where he had obtained the statement. Farr narrowed it down to three lawyers each for the defence and prosecution, but refused a single out one person. All six lawyers denied under oath having given him the statement.

Farr was ordered to jail until he answered the judge's questions, but then allowed to remain free as he appealed the ruling. The Surepeme Court refused Nov. 28 to hear the Farr case and two days later he was behind bars.

Four hours later, Farr was released by a California appeals court.

Legal scholars said the Farr case seemed to place more severe limitations on the activities of newspaper men than the first Supreme Court ruling. For the first time, it brought the press under the influence of a 1908 code of ethics drawn up by the American Bar Association—the so-called "gag rule"—under which judges can order lawyers and other court officials not to make statements to the press.

Strike Threat Off

Apollo Systems All Go

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Free of a strike threat, preparations for the last Apollo flight to the moon went on schedule today for launching Wednesday night.

"I'm very happy to report that there will be no strike," said Bernard Mamet, lawyer for 60 aerospace workers whose proposed walkout in the final days threatened to wash out the liftoff.

Astronauts Eugene Cernan, Ronald Evans and Harrison Schmitt, sleeping later each day to adjust for an afternoon wakeup for the 9:53 p.m. EST launch, were to run through procedures for an emergency abort on the launch pad today.

Cernan and Schmitt will land the craft named Challenger on the moon next Monday. Evans will remain aboard the command craft, America, conducting experiments from 60 miles overhead during the three days his comrades are on the moon.

"Boeing apparently opted out that discretion was the better part of valor, and they took our final proposal," said Mamet, counsel for the International Alliance of Theatrical and State Employees (IATSE), which represented the 60 non-union workers.

The strike threat came from documentation workers who do such tasks as illustration, photography and technical writing under a Boeing Co. contract. Their work is not essential to launch activities, but there was the danger of more critical personnel refusing to cross their picket lines.

At midnight, as the count resumed, crews began loading super-cold fuels into the service module of the command ship.

The night launching is the first for any United States manned flight; and indications are that, if skies are clear, the rocket's fiery trail will be seen from Charlotte, N.C., to Havana.

The extended weather forecast called for partly cloudy skies at the launch site, winds of 10 to 15 miles an hour and temperatures in the mid-60s.

Nader's Raiders Turn Attention to Cans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader group accused aerosol can-makers Saturday of sowing American homes with explosives and urged that federal law provide triple damages for victims of the bursting containers.

The report from Nader's Centre for Concerned Engineering said the industry has spent 20 years suppressing inventions to defuse aerosols, while they have burned, scarred and killed.

The report said the federal government's injury - surveillance system, which gets reports from a handful of hospitals scattered across the United States, has logged 180 injuries associated with aerosol cans since May, 1971.

The reports included nine deaths and six cases of partial or total blindness, the centre said.

An industry group, the Aerosol Education Bureau, called the Nader report alarmist and repeated the caution used by the government injury surveillance officials in reporting injuries figures.

Nip Hijacks In Bud

HOUSTON (AP) — In the last 17 months, security officers at Houston Intercontinental Airport using a "hijacker profile" have arrested 120 persons and seized scores of guns and other prohibited weapons.

One man who seemed to fit the air-pirate profile, a set of psychiatrist-devised symptoms intended to help airport officials spot potential hijackers, turned out to be a United States senator.

Christmas Dieters Advised

The holiday season is no time to forget your diet and make the customary resolutions to start losing pounds in the New Year, according to the one who lost his "pot" Franco Palumbo.

Mr. Palumbo is the executive chef of Weight Watchers International Inc. When he says the time to diet is now he speaks from experience. At one time Mr. Palumbo weighed in at 265 pounds, and decided it was a depressing" situation. Now, he's down to 160 pounds and the creator of 1,000 recipes he's developed for Weight Watchers International.

He refers to two classes of food: diet food and people food. Mr. Palumbo explains that diet food is boring, and when a dieter becomes dissatisfied he will naturally reach for the sweets and other delectables to relieve his boredom. On the other hand, people food is food that "is interesting, exciting and nutritious food eaten in moderation". He cites such foods as spaghetti and noodles as foods with good nutritional value, but which are considered as "treats" to dieters.

What does Mr. Palumbo recommend for the palates of dieters? Actually, it's not as difficult or exotic as many people think diets have to be. The dieter, he says, need only use good wholesome foods found at home. This includes the regular use of fresh fruits and vegetables, red meat three times a week, fish and seafood weekly and plenty of dairy products.

Mr. Palumbo thinks that Weight Watchers International is helpful to a dieter because it offers people a program rather than a strict diet and even more important it re-educates them to proper eating habits.

Having studied at the Culinary Institute of America in New Haven, Conn. and later earning an associate degree in hotel and restaurant management from the University of Massachusetts, he now spends his time helping other "fatties" gain more confidence and stop thinking like fat people. This includes the making up of a special holiday menu for that time of year when there are hundreds of delicious threats to the dieter. Mr. Palumbo's set of recipes begins with appetizers right through to the final dessert. They are available to readers by calling a toll free number 1-800-267-8244.

Ann Landers

Bible's View Expanded On Heterosexual Behavior

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have the courage to print a letter in your column that will be misread in the National Catholic Register? It is a statement of heterosexual principles as viewed from a moralistic point of view. Here it is:

Dear Fellow: If I cannot condone your life style, there can be no doubt in your mind that I love you.

The Church is ready to welcome Catholic divorcees to the Lord's table. Why not welcome Catholic homosexuals? Is not the Church the spirit, but not to the flesh people?

I am one of the thousands who read your column daily. I've been in the psychiatric clinics, counseling centers, mental hospitals and still I am unable to either.

I admire Catholic faith in humanity as it was manifested in so many homosexuals reject the Church and its creeds because they couldn't find it in their strength to live with it. I am not homosexual, but there are times when the urge is strong. Perhaps this is why I have so much to say to broad homosexuals on the basis of love. Love is the answer. Do not stop the letter for obvious reasons. We, I feel, are brave men. The Lord will bless us.

Father Bernard: It received no particular courage to print your letter. The space has, for many years, reflected many points of view. Please read on!:

Dear Ann Landers: In your answer to Gay Mom you said, and I quote: "People are becoming more understanding of homosexuality." I say it's about time society stopped viewing homosexuals as loathsome freaks."

Are people becoming more understanding, or has society been brainwashed by a flood of articles and TV discussions about homosexuality? Homosexuals are not loathsome freaks. In the Old Testament, I, 10, Isaiah says: "Hear the word of the Lord, ye rulers of Sodom; hearken unto the law of our God, ye people of Gomorrah." Why Sodom and Gomorrah? Because the men of those cities were homosexuals and weren't ashamed of it. In those days homosexuality was a religious practice and claims he's troubled them and the spirit, but not to the flesh people.

Dear A.J: The appropriate person to respond to your letter is a theologian. I suggest you write to Father Bernard Haring, a priest of deep and faithful heterosexual relationship, in God's will for human fulfillment. Father Haring has written less than this in long-hand.

Religious texts are always written out of a particular perspective. Leviticus is part of a Law Code. It is most unwise to use the Bible as a weapon against the faith of others. Read the Sermon on the Mount. Read the Gospel of St. John. You cannot find the Christ precisely for an age of enlightenment in such texts. It is a sign of religious maturity to wipe out the pagan practice of male and female prostitution that periodically threatened to invade Judah's own world.

I hope you were touched by this letter from the 20-year-old girl who is waiting for your verdict. Ann. I still have the privilege to repay the debt I owe other persons who gave me their support and encouragement. — J.M.

Dear Ann Landers: Your explanation needs no "translation." It is abundantly clear and I thank you. — Ed.

Fashion Hits the Slope

TORONTO (CP) — Skiing trend to be a serious business where you had to be practical and handle up for the colors.

Now ski wear is big business. Last year Canadians spent $80-million on ski clothing, according to P. S. Ross and Partners, a management consultant firm in Toronto.

Ski Wear is now picking up the latest fashion trends. On the slopes this winter you will be seeing the short cropped jacket and the blouson that has caught on in Paris and New York. You will see lining in quilted, fluffy pile and even real fur.

Checks are hot fashion. Watch for them in multi-colored sweaters in suits, pants, overalls, and jackets.

Miserst of Your Mind

by JOHN CROSBIE

Does marriage cure the blues?

THERE'S nonsense about married misery to shake a chronic case of the blues. But when a husband or a wife does get down in the dumps, there is nothing like being married to uplift the spirits. A married (or betrothed) who feels down and depressed can switch from gloom to buoyant, real wonder what he could do to please his partner. Those who thought enough of him to share his life with him. Enough to share his blues.

Must a father be a hero to his kids?

With although Pop doesn't have to bring home a chestful of warbonds like Sgt. York, or own he a Joe Namath in the Super Bowl. What children want most of their dad is that he be with them as much as he can. They want his help, and they want to love and respect him. He must want to be seen like him, and his daughters want to grow up secure and confident that they are responsive human beings who happen to be women.

Is a tough boss a 'softie' at heart?

Most or a rule: not if he rules high with fellow executives and with those his most responsible. Then he is a no-nonsense boss who is not hiding a soft-hearted nature under a veneer of toughness. This doesn't mean that all good bosses are tough (some are even not). Actually, a broad base is a typical executive whose nature, attitude and ability have labeled him as a man who has shown he can do the job he was hired to do.

Successful Living

Child Abuse Prevented

By DORIS CLARK

Battered children — what a horrible thought! And yet social workers are coming up against case after case in which a child is receiving physical punishment in no way justified. The sort of punishment which may leave him scarred, either physically or mentally, for life.

Usually it is being done by a parent. He — or she — is taking out on his own flesh and blood the bitter frustrations of his own attempts to cope. With the boss. With his wife. Or with behavior of his child he is not able to handle any other way.

So now we have the beginnings of a Parents Anonymous, in a number of cities. These are mothers or fathers who have discovered that they take it out on their kids — whatever it is — when they shouldn't.

Now they can call up a fellow-sufferer, blow off steam, and get encouragement to do the positive thing.

From Parents Anonymous, Burlington, Ontario (which gets guidance from child care workers), we read:

"Many of the callers are normal everyday mothers and fathers who get terribly angry at their children. They need help in calming down and finding better ways to cope than raising one's hand or one's voice to a frightened child."

More about this later.

Dear Doris: What am I to do? My husband's family live far from here, some west, some east, so when they pay a visit they stay at least overnight. That's when my whole household suffers.

It is hard enough laying in the food and keeping meals going, and still looking after my young ones, including a two-month-old baby boy. It is the nights that are bad.

The sex, sometimes family, or from east and west coast here. They stay up talking until two a.m. Then sleep in until noon. I have to be up for them, then up early in the morning for everybody that is around.

They drop their candy wrappers on my floor, their beer bottles anywhere; they bathe me when I refuse my boys a snack or candy but I always clean. Our own routines are upset for a week — and this is happening far too often. — Just A Wreck.

Dear Wreck: A nursing mother needs help, rest. Overtiring children need their routines and controls. Houses need organization. It necessary, get your doctor to talk to your husband — who can then enlist his family's consideration.

While they stay, switch your sleeping arrangements to give you and the baby the room farthest from the din and simply walk out of the noise and to bed. Explain that you are a nursing mother under orders to get your rest. Tell them to have a good time.

And to hang with any criticism of your discipline or the way you manage your home while they stay? Relax — and accept any help they may offer.

• • •

Dear Doris: You helped me with a problem once before and I am grateful. I know you would like to know something else if you can tell me. I went into court in May for my divorce and since then I haven't heard another thing. The divorce was all settled and granted but I thought I would receive some kind of paper.

I want to get married again but don't I need proof that I am divorced when we apply for a marriage license?

I didn't have a lawyer as I thought of asking you. You give good advice, and you give it kindly instead of a flip kind of answer.—Counting On You.

Dear Counting: You do indeed need proof; should have asked the registrar who took your petition for it. Go to him now and ask him to help you with your decree nisi and the affidavit in which you must swear that there is no appeal by your co-habitant. Give him a self-addressed envelope and he will send you your final decree by return. The decree nisi is final in three months' time.

(Doris cannot begin to answer all your questions in the column. To make sure of your reply, remember to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, sending your letter in care of this newspaper.)

155 Tourists Die In Canary Crash

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE (AP) — A holiday for European tourists ended in disaster Sunday when their homeward-bound jetliner crashed moments after takeoff from the Canary Islands, killing all 155 persons aboard. Most of the dead were Germans.

Witnesses said the Convair 990A, owned by the Spanish charter airline Spantax, got only 300 feet off the runway before one of its four engines burst into flames and the plane crashed. The crash was in the Atlantic off North Africa.

Spantax officials said there was no reason to suspect sabotage, but the airline said it was investigating the possibility.

The dead included 143 West Germans on a trip organized by a bus owners' association in Bavaria, three Austrians, two Italians and seven Spanish crew members.

It was Spain's aviation's worst disaster, the fourth worst crash in aviation history and the seventh this year in which more than 100 persons died. The worst crash in aviation history occurred in October outside Moscow when 176 persons were killed in the crash of a Soviet jetliner.

The Germans had arrived at Santa Cruz Saturday on a Greek cruise ship after a South Atlantic Cruise.

The only victim of the crash found alive was a young woman who kept repeating: "Save me! Save me!" Police said she died within minutes of reaching a hospital.

Five Children Perish While Mother in Jail

JASPER, Ala. (AP) — Five children in the care of an older sister died in a two-story apartment fire early Saturday while their mother was in jail, officials said Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Trotter said the children's mother, Sally Duncan, was being held on forgery charges at the time of the fire.

Trotter said he did not know how long she had been confined, but she was released after the downstairs when the fire. "We made arrangements with the judge and let her sign her own bond," Trotter said. brother, Lee said. She was unable to reach the trapped children one level above.

identified as Dewayne Hall, 1; Laverne Hall, 6; Darlene Hall 15; Elizabeth Duncan, 13, and Melissa Duncan, 16.

Fire Marshall Otis Lee said the fire started on the ground floor and swept up the stairway, trapping the children in two upstairs bedrooms.

Joyce Ann Duncan, 20, eldest of the woman's 8 children, was started and was able to escape the flames with a one-year-old stepsister, Tonia.

Britain Repairing Arab Relations

LONDON (AP) — Britain is patiently mending diplomatic fences with key Arab countries using trade, arms and political promises as its coin.

Government authorities report talks with Libya, Egypt and Saudi Arabia are improving steadily, despite some deep differences over past and present policies.

Without fuss or fanfare talks have been started with the left-wing government of Syria for a restoration of ties broken five years ago when Britain was accused of helping Israel win the six-day war.

The broad picture emerging shows British approval for scores of millions of arms sales to Egypt, and British backing for a huge military buildup in Saudi Arabia.

In addition Britain is helping the fledgling states of Kuwait, Bahrein and the Union of Arab Emirates to stand on their own feet in a perilous region which the Russians have been eyeing for its oil resources.

There seems to be plenty of paradoxes in Britain's gestures to the Arab world.

In the case of Libya, President Muammar Kadafi's regime has taken over Britain's prized oil investments. It has sheltered fugitive hijackers. It has helped finance the Ugandan government of President Idi Amin even as he was embarrassing Britain by expelling tens of thousands of Asians.

Yet British - Libyan business has rarely been better. In the first 10 months of 1972 more than $90 million worth of British machinery, capital goods, small arms and other exports went there, exceeding the 1971 peak. Affluent Libya has become Britain's best customer in the Arab world.

In the case of Egypt, President Anwar Sadat's government has won Britain's authority to buy unsticloced quantities of sarcasm, tanks, Scorpion light tanks, Rapier anti-aircraft missiles, Swingfire anti-tank rockets, helicopters, lightning interceptor fighters, anti-submarine weapons and Vosper-Thornycroft patrol boats. All these are classified as defensive weapons.

Egypt's interest in the British-French Jaguar strike plane, certain long-range missiles and big tanks has been discouraged.

Britain is well aware Sadat has not yet abandoned his policy of military co-operation with Russia. Israeli complaints about the deal have been brushed aside.

In the case of Saudi Arabia, the British still are engaged in delivering elements of a complete air-defence system including aircraft and tanks. Yet they have made no attempt to influence the Saudi Arabians against befriending and supporting Amin's Ugandan regime.

Indian People Oppose Anthropologists' Visits

TORONTO (CP) — Anthropologists may be doing a disservice to the Indian community in North America by their continual research on reserves, a panel of Indian people agreed Saturday.

Edmund Metatawabin, a 24-year-old James Bay Cree, said Indians have been the favorite objects of research because it helps white anthropologists "reinforce their beliefs that white society is superior."

The panel discussion took place at the annual conference of the American Anthropological Association.

Marie McGregor, 20, an Ojibway from Manitoulin Island, told the anthropologists there is no place for squads of professionals and others running around studying people on reserves.

"It has come to the point where people can no longer allow research anymore on the reserves and I think researchers themselves must reassess their reasons," she said.

Harvey McCue, an Ojibway from the Georgian Bay reserve and a professor of native studies at Trent University in Peterborough, Ontario, said the is ample material available to anthropological studies and the continual digging up of new sites should be stopped.

George Miller, a native of the Six Nations reserve near Brantford, Ont., and student of anthropology, said the real evils for Indians were the Indian Act, the Christian churches and the education system.

"Don't make a scapegoat out of anthropology," he said.

No Thought of Dying So His Gifts Untaxed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 30-year-old girl-friend of an aging millionaire will not have to pay an inheritance tax on lavish tokens of his affection because, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has ruled, his thoughts were far from death at the time.

"Despite the medical futility of Mr. Fawcett's request, his desire to regain his sexual powers, when coupled with repeated proposals of marriage . . . is strong evidence that the substantial gifts made to her in the same period were not made in contemplation of death," said Justice Benjamin R. Jones in his majority opinion.

The judge was referring to F. K. Fawcett, a millionaire Washington Pa., industrialist, who was murdered in 1959 at the age of 67.

The court's ruling, announced on the weekend, means that Ann Shuman will not have to pay 15-per-cent, or $25,000, inheritance taxes on nearly $177,000 in gifts she received from Fawcett in the two years prior to his death.

The court said Fawcett had no intention of dying. He had proposed marriage to Mrs. Shuman, a widow, numerous times; he had continued to take part in business and civic affairs and he had asked his doctor to prescribe something that would stimulate his sexual activity.

The ruling came after a Washington County court upheld the state's contention that Fawcett was anticipating death and gave Mrs. Shuman the money which, according to state law, put the gifts into the same tax category as the same ax category as gifts left in a will. The statute seeks to prevent pre-death gifts made for the sole purpose of giving the recipient a tax break.

Fawcett was found bound, gagged and beaten to death in his East Washington borough home July 26, 1960.

Four men were tried and convicted on robbery and murder charges in connection

TV Will Show Crash Of Module on Moon

The bad news: There will be no television pictures of the Apollo 17 astronauts stepping on to the moon. The camera that sent pictures back from the side of the lunar module as the crew descended the ladder has been left off this time.

There was little scientific value to be gained from watching the astronauts perform their now-routine preliminary chores. Eliminating the camera made room for another experiment.

Viewers on earth will not see astronauts Eugene Cernan and Jack Schmitt until they have been on the lunar surface for more than an hour. That's when they will switch on the color TV camera aboard their unstowed lunar rover vehicle.

The good news: Television viewers should be able to see spectacular and unprecedented shots of the discarded upper section of the lunar module smashing into the moon after Cernan and Schmitt rejoin astronaut Ronald Evans in orbit.

The crash is due to be televised live from the lunar surface at about 1:35 a.m. EST Friday, Dec. 15, some eight hours after the lunar explorers have lifted off. It will be the first time man has witnessed a major impact on another celestial body.

The spent ascent stage, under radio command from Houston, will be aimed at a mountainside about 3½ miles from the color TV camera, which will be left mounted on the lunar rover near the Apollo 17 landing site at Taurus-Littrow.

The 4,850-pound spacecraft section will hit with a force equal to 1,600 pounds of TNT, hurling rocks high and wide.

Scientists say the blast should not damage the camera and experiments left by the astronauts, but should be close enough for them to analyse the effects of the impact.

CUSO Suggests Skilled Come Here to Help Us

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposal to bring skilled persons from developing countries to Canada to promote social, economic and technical development here was endorsed by delegates during the weekend at the 11th annual meeting of CUSO, the Canadian University Service Overseas.

The motion—"that CUSO accept a small number of foreign volunteers in Canada, under similar terms and conditions as Canadian volunteers overseas"—was the idea of Nick Netchum, a former CUSO volunteer in Thailand.

He described it as an attempt to dispel the "myth" that Canada is a developed country.

"By this proposal, we want to make Canadians aware that people from so-called underdeveloped countries have skills that can be directly applied to our situation at home," Mr. Ketchum said in an interview.

"The whole development bandwagon has been very unequal. It's been based on the idea that we're rich and powerful and we can help . . . that inevitably encourages a paternalistic attitude . . . and this proposal is one way of getting away from it."

Some delegates opposed the proposal, citing Canada's high unemployment rate and the fear of causing a "brain drain" in developing countries where skilled people are at a premium.

Drinking and Smoking Blamed for Baldness

NEW YORK (Reuter) — To avoid baldness, avoid daily drinking, smoking excessively and emotional upheaval, says a book published Sunday.

Excessive intake of coffee and salt can also encourage baldness, syndicated columnist Marylou McKenna writes in "Daily drinking will interfere with the normal hair replacement pattern," she warns.

"The mature male who consumes at least a total of two drinks daily on a regular basis is corroding his chances of maintaining his youthful appearance and sharp thinking abilities for extra years during the middle decades," she says.

Machinist Convicted As Hijacker's Aide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lubomir Pelchev, a Bulgarian-born machinist, was convicted Saturday of charges arising from the July 5 hijacking of a Pacific Southwest Airlines jet in which a Canadian passenger and two hijackers were killed.

He faces a 25-year to life sentence.

Pelchev, who walked at an abandoned airport 400 miles north of Vancouver with a small rented plane to be used in escaping with an $800,000 ransom, testified he acted under threats against his life by hijackers Dimitr Alexiev and Michael Armanoff, both 28 and Bulgarian natives living in Oakland.

Armanoff and Alexiev were killed in a gun battle after FBI agents boarded the plane

Jungle Mouth Is Clean

CHICAGO (AP) — Chimpanzees have a sense of social grooming which is responsible for their own unique kind of dental hygiene, says a Scottish psychologist.

Dr. W. C. McGrew of the University of Edinburgh and Stanford University in California reports on the dental habits of chimps in the Journal of the American Dental Association.

Chimpanzees are unique among animals to use tools repeatedly in social grooming, he said.

Firemen Need Help

Santa's workshop, Belleville division, is sadly short of toys.

That's the word from Ralph Boomhower, Belleville firefighter acting as St. Nick's deputy this year.

The firefighters annual program of providing toys for needy children has failed to gain the necessary response this year.

"We badly need good used toys, new toys and financial assistance," said Mr. Boomhower. "One reason we need money is the number of older children on our list — we have to buy most items for teenagers."

The increased number of children needing assistance this year — expected to climb to more than 1,200 — is another reason the firemen find their coffers empty.

The firemen must provide toys for youngsters from infancy to 16 who would otherwise miss the joys of Christmas.

Saturday afternoon the toy project got a boost from Quinte Secondary School students who donated their time to help Mr. and Mrs. Boomhower sort, wash, repair and paint donated toys.

Anyone with new or used toys or money to donate may do so by telephoning the Belleville Fire Department or by dropping the items off at the fire stations.

Bath Time

Kathy Gray and Jane Coody from Quinte Secondary scrubbed toys and dolls Saturday — some of the items donated to the Belleville Firefighters for their toy project. More are urgently needed if every child in town is to celebrate Christmas this year.

Countdown to Council Tonight

And in Belleville, early indications favor predictions the first trickle of early-day votes would rise to record volume before the polls close at 8 p.m.

Signals indicating a big turnout was headed for city voting stations included:

— A heavy advance poll, in keeping with lowered voting age and population growth which has swelled the number of Bellevillians eligible to ballot.

— An all - out drive by both adversaries in the mayoralty campaign to get supporters to the polls.

— Fairly favorable predictions on the weather, always a big, if imponderable factor on any election day.

— City clerk Adam Stalker, city election returning officer, today reported 291 votes in advance polls, which closed Saturday night — probably "about the heaviest ever" in a city election, he says.

In 1969, last civic election year, a total 238 advance votes were cast for mayoralty candidates. This election the number of eligible voters is up almost 50 per cent — 27,500 compared to around 19,000 in 1969.

Feeding toward one of the most keenly awaited mayoralty results in many a civic campaign, organization stamps of both Mayor Russell Scott and his challenger, Alderman Robin Jeffrey, were engaged in the final push on the polls.

Ald. Jeffrey claimed her task force had mustered about 700 volunteers, as scrutineers, committee-room workers and about 120 car drivers.

Meantime, the duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base Trenton predicted voting-day weather would be mainly cloudy, with some snow flurries later, and temperatures rising to a high of 22 degrees.

And close on the heels of the mayoralty contestants comes the largest field of aldermanic candidates in years — 18 bidding for 10 city council seats.

Voters may have to wait longer than usual for the shape of victory to be defined tonight.

Aside from the vastly-increased volume of voters and the likelihood of a heavy turnout, polling this election has been moved back an hour — from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Wrecked Tug Blocks Spillway

The small all steel tub employed in the installation of a gas pipeline crossing the Trent River north of Trenton met with misfortune one too many times. Recovered from the brink of disaster earlier, the work boat broke loose from its moorings on the weekend drifting into dangerous fast moving water above No. 3 dam. Caught in the swift current in a spillway near the east bank, the top of the dam caught the tug's hull and wheelhouse and saved it from dropping over. A large crane has been moved to the scene for an attempt to dislodge the wreckage from the spillway this week. Eric Fisher, 30, of 72 Armour Road, Peterborough, aboard the craft when it slammed into the dam, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and is recuperating in the Kingston General Hospital.

Colorado Film Topic

Rio Colorado is the subject of Thursday's film in the Kiwanis Club's Travel and Adventure Series.

The mighty western river is explored from north to south by the camera of Robert Brouwer, a name not unknown to Belleville travel fans. Mr. Brouwer's films have been shown in the past here with the photographer on hand to describe the action.

The former electrical contractor uses his experience to produce an unusual and unique show. He employs four projectors and three screens, enhancing the scenic excitement with stereophonic music and on-the-spot recordings.

The film will be shown at 8:15 p.m. in Centennial Secondary School auditorium.

Youths Charged

BRIGHTON (Staff) — The Ontario Provincial Police have charged two youths in connection with the assault of a BP service centre garage attendant early Sunday.

Police reported that attendant Robert Hood was set upon by a gang of six youths when he protested against use of them bending the radio aerial on a car on the premises.

Called to investigate the incident were OPP constables W. C. Rands and B. J. McArthur of the Brighton detachment.

Picking Up the Pieces

Quinte Secondary School students volunteered their services Saturday to assist firemen with checking and repairing toys to be distributed to needy children at Christmas. Counting the pieces in game sets are Christmas Counting the Kreitzer, Debbie Hamilton and Cindy Ross.

Maureen Has Private Parade

Thousands lined Front Street despite chilly temperatures and early morning snow flurries to cheer on a Santa Claus Parade that meant many things to many people.

To organizers it meant a "great success," to merchants and warm hearts to the crowds that lined the two - mile route and to one little girl in Belleville General Hospital, her own personal parade.

While the Christmas collage of color and sound heralded Santa Claus, video tape machines whirred, gobbling hundreds of feet of tape to be replayed at the hospital.

The parade, "one of the best" turned out to be the preliminary round for Santa who was whisked away to BGH immediately to deliver gifts and "a very special hug."

Hospital halls filled with children's voices shrieking Christmas carols and cries of glee as Santa and company made their entrance.

Once Santa had finished his duties with the children, he blustered out into the hall, and into Maureen's room where he was met with shyness which quickly turned to an embrace.

"Now that's what Santa Claus Parades are all about," said John Lewers, chairman of the parade committee.

Maureen couldn't join the other children to watch the television presentation of the parade, so when technicians finished the first performance the entire electrical show was taken to her room for a "command airing."

With Santa beside her, she watched as the parade flashed across the screen all the parade's floats and all the parade's men. "a great homecoming crowd," said Mr. Lewers.

"Local enjoyment - through local participation was the intent," said Mr. Lewers after seeing the parade that embodied more school participation than in any other year.

More than a dozen of the 45 floats were created by Belleville students of all ages, with many others built by service groups.

Bands reflected the enthusiasm of the parade this year as their music seldom stopped from start to finish of the one-hour march.

"New groups with new ideas will retain the success of the parade," said Mr. Lewers. "There is no reason why Belleville cannot continue to have great parades."

No injuries or cold victims were reported from the event which finished one full hour ahead of a similar sized parade last year.

"We kept the line tighter, making a more compact show for the audience," said the spokesman.

Parade Trophy Winners Named

Eight judges formed the panel Saturday to select a coach who would carry away the 13 trophies for floats and participants in the Santa Claus Parade.

Trenton Public Works topped the list, taking both prizes for best public service float and most spectacular entry, with their creation of Moby Dick and rowboat. The float was a top prize winner in the recent Trenton Christmas spectacle.

Stirling High Steppers won the most-favorite category with the industrial prize going to Foley Supply and Machine with the Red Baron. The Bank of Montreal's Candyman float won the commercial division.

The horse trophy was awarded to the Highlands of Hastings Equestrian Club.

Queen Alexandra won the public school division and Canadian Flight Equipment won the out - of - town award with their presentation of "Christmas on the Prairies."

The Belleville Kennel Club trophy went to the Kinsmen for their submission of Sleeping Beauty and a coalition of senior and junior girls' hockey took the "young people's award."

The Belleville Kennel Club was chosen for the Parade Marshall's Trophy.

Curator Building Animal Sanctuary

AMELIASBURGH (Staff) — Since 1968, when the township's historical museum was officially opened here, the village has come a long way in the summer tourist business.

And by next summer a second showplace will be available to an expected increase in the number of visitors looking for a change from everyday interests.

By July 1973 township building inspector and museum curator Harry Bisdee plans to establish a sanctuary for fowl and small animals in his backyard. His home is situated on three acres of land in the middle of the village directly across from the museum.

By the weekend before the snowfall Mr. Bisdee had made progress with the development of a miniature lake with a small island in the middle of it. He proposes to make the island the focal point of his attraction.

His source of fresh water feeds into the main stream that once provided the power for the former Rathbun grist mill, later dismantled and moved to Black Creek near Toronto as a tourist attraction for the province.

A carpenter by trade, Mr. Bisdee will be busy this winter cutting out the materials for the pagoda-styled building he'll erect on the island in the spring. Already he's designed a bridge 16 feet long and 3½ feet wide to get to the island.

Mr. Bisdee intends to stock the lake with goldfish and other marine varities that are compatible. He's wintering the nucleous of a collection of both wild and domestic birds and small animals so they'll be ready to pat on display.

The environment being provided by Mr. Bisdee will resemble the birds' and animals' natural habitat. "I'll allow me to utilize all my experience in landscaping and gardening," he said.

He intends to welcome the public without charge as long as none of the fixtures and inhabitants are molested.

Sanctuary Builder

$1,900 Damage In Collision

Three city residents were taken to Belleville General Hospital with cuts and bruises after a near head-on collision on Dundas St. West. All were treated and released.

The accident occurred when Gerald Lorne Garrison, 164 Burnham St., who was alone in his car, lost control on the slippery pavement and at 11:4 sideways across the road in front of the Ontario School for the Deaf. An eastbound vehicle driven by Harry C. Overend of 289 William St. was unable to avoid Garrison's car, striking it on the right side.

With Mr. Overend was his wife, Isobel.

His car suffered $1,200 damage in the mishap while the Garrison vehicle suffered $700 damage. The accident occurred at 6 p.m.

Linda's Problem Not Too Serious

The Ontario Business College graduate scored 79 per cent in penmanship during her 12-month executive secretary course at the school. Yet despite the "low" mark, her average for 17 subjects was a respectable 85.76.

Linda was one of four girls to achieve better than 80 per cent during the past year. The others were Brenda Lane, Shirley Lindsey and Constance Ticehurst.

Linda's only 100 came in Mathematics, but she scored high 90s on most other subjects including commercial law, shorthand and office procedures. She now works in Malton where she's aspiring to become manager of a Cashway Lumber Yard.

Family Homeless For Second Time

TWEED (Special) — For the second time in five years, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brushey of Flinton have lost their home and all household possessions by fire.

Sunday morning, while the father was away cutting Christmas trees, the two-storey stuccoed frame house caught fire and was completely destroyed with all contents.

Mrs. Brushey and three children, Colleen, 9, Steven, 8, and Charlene, 3, escaped safely.

Northbrook volunteer firemen were called but were unable to save the structure.

Five years ago the Brushey home burned, and a new dwelling was erected on the same foundation.

Mr. and Mrs. Brushey are staying temporarily with a married daughter, Mrs. Ernest Andrew who lives about one-half-mile away.

Let Me See!

Parades aren't just for little children as far as Lance is concerned. Taking his position amidst the crowd, Lance was content to lean on obliging youngsters as Belleville's Santa Claus Parade wound through the city's downtown section Saturday morning.

CINCH FOR MVP

OTTAWA (CP) — When most valuable awards are handed out Nepean High School will have Hobin. In the city junior girls basketball final, which Nepean won 18-17 Saturday over Lasalle rendian, Donna scored all 18 points for the winners.

COLD DUCK? It this a name for a good Canadian wine? It is. It's a name for a crazy blend of red and white sparkling wines. It's very, very pink. Very, very sparkling. It comes in a very champagne bottle. Chilled then opened, it won't stay long in the bottle. — Brights Wines

Redskins Reach Goal

By TH ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We've fulfilled our immediate goal . . . but now we've got to go on from there," Washington coach George Allen said.

The immediate goal was a championship, something the Redskins hadn't achieved in 27 years. They achieved it Sunday, locking up the East Division crown of the National Football Conference by beating Philadelphia again 23-7.

Pittsburgh Steelers, who have never won a title of any kind in their 40 years in the National Football League, took a giant step toward the American Conference's Central Division title by thrashing Cleveland 30-0 to take a one-game lead over the Browns with two to go.

Green Bay Packers, expected by most pre-season observers to be mere bystanders in a National Conference Central struggle between Detroit Lions and Minnesota Vikings, regained a one-game lead in the division by clubbing the Lions 33-7, dumping them back into a second-place tie with the Vikings.

Oakland Raiders also clinched a division title, their fifth in six seasons, edging San Diego Chargers 19-17 to take a 2½ game lead in the American Conference West with two games remaining.

In Sunday's other NFL games, unbeaten Miami Dolphins made it 12 in a row by defeating New England Patriots 37-21, Minnesota beat Chicago Bears 23-10, Cincinnati Bengals nipped New York Giants 13-10, Atlanta Falcons trimmed Houston Oilers 20-10, Dallas Cowboys beat St. Louis Cardinals 27-6, Kansas City Chiefs nosed out Denver Broncos 24-21, Baltimore Colts defeated Buffalo Bills 35-7 and New York Jets squeezed past New Orleans Saints 16-17.

San Francisco 49ers play host to Los Angeles Rams in tonight's action.

"After the first half I had my doubts about winning," Allen said after his Redskins took a slim 10-7 intermission lead.

"We were on the ropes but we turned things around in the second half because the defense controlled the ball 75 per cent of the time."

The Eagles held the NFL's rushing leaders to 70 yards, forcing quarterback Billy Kilmer to rely on Charley Harraway for the key ground gains.

Harraway finished with 112 yards, one of them on Washington's first-half touchdown. But the Skins locked it up in the second half as Curt Knight, who had a first-half field goal, booted two more and Kilmer tossed two yards to Charley Taylor.

The Steelers' star once again was rookie Franco Harris, who rushed for 102 yards and a pair of touchdowns. It tied Jim Brown's record of six straight 100-yard-plus games and put him within 40 yards of breaking the fifth pro rookie to reach 1,000.

Roy Gerela added three field goals for Pittsburgh, which smothered Cleveland's offense, yielding a meagre 128 total yards by the Browns.

More Canadians In CFL?

HAMILTON (CP) — An increase in team rosters is a primary objective of the Canadian Football League players' association.

George Reed, incoming association president, told a news conference Saturday that the association has not decided how many players should be on the roster, but 4 starting points would be one additional Canadian player on each team—"regain the jobs lost this year."

This season, the Canadian strength per team was cut to 17 from 18 while the import quota was increased to 15 from 14.

Reed also said the association is against expansion of the CFL to the United States and expansion of the National Football League into Canada.

This stance would be conveyed to the league and a meeting would be sought with federal Health Minister Marc Lalonde to obtain "a clear and direct interpretation of the government's position."

The expansion would lead to the loss of Canadian identity and players, Reed said. Reed, of Saskatchewan Roughriders, who succeeds Grey Findlay of Brilliam Columbia Lions as president.

He said that if the CFL expanded into the United States, the U.S. government would not allow the roster restrictions imposed in Canada to stand in the U.S.

"Hockey has lost its identity to the United States and we don't want that to happen to football; it's all we have left.

"If we're going 45 expand there's room to do it in Canada."

Other new officers elected included: Western Vice-president Ed Molstad—of Edmonton Eskimos, Eastern vice-president Bill Danychuk of Hamilton Tiger-Cats and treasurer Oscar Kruger of Edmonton.

Downtowners Down Belleville 7-2

By AL ZABAS
Staff Sportswriter

The Owen Sound Downtowners handily defeated the Belleville Quintes 7 - 2 in OHA senior "A" hockey action Sunday.

Though the Downtowners defeated the Quintes 7 - 4 in Friday's contest at Owen Sound, head coach Harry Kazarian felt satisfied as he said, "I guess tonight's win makes up for the 13-3 loss we took in October."

Despite outshooting the Downtowners 28-26 in the short two hour game, the Quintes only goals both came from right winger Wayne McConnell on assists from pivot Mc Connell's first tally bounced off goalie Ron Patterson's pad and into the corner of the net, while his second beat the Owen Sound netminder on a screened shot.

The game was there for the winning at the beginning of the second period, as the first ended in a Downtowner 1-0 lead on centre Mayo Paquette's goal.

"We had the first break," said coach Kazarian. "that did it for us. It could have gone either way; both teams weren't playing good hockey."

Third period goals for the Owen Sound team came from Al Blair in an unassisted effort at 6:42, Rod Bloomfield, and Terry Keeling.

Accounting for the Downtowners victory, coach Kazarian said after the game, "we had better goal keeping than the Quintes. Also they don't have any head hunters on the team that my team have to watch out for."

"We're looking around for one more player to round things off for us," said the coach. Kazarian jokingly mentioned that he would like someone like Bloomfield who scored a hat trick in Friday's contest against the Quinte's.

Despite the victory, Kazarian was disappointed in the contest. "there were only three good body checks in the whole game," said the Downtowners coach. "The Quintes played a better game in Owen Sound than they did here."

Wayne Brown, coach of the vanquished Quintes, said of the game, "we'll miss one and they'd come back and score a goal. We're in a slump and can't seem to get out of it. We've been losing for just over a month now."

The single exception to Brown's statement, as the coach mentioned, was the troubles said the coach, "is to practice more often. We've only been practicing once a week."

The solution to the Quintes' Quintes' 6 - 5 overtime victory against the Kingston Aces November 26th.

BCI's Barb Graham (12) and Fran White (12) the top scorers in BCI's 65-37 victory over Courtice in the girls' COSSA championship put the stop on Courtice's top scorer June Timmers. The BCI girls basketball team came to the finals with a season record of 10-1. They defeated Thomas A. Stewart in semi - final play while Courtice edged the Picton Juniors 45-40.

Collegion Girls Win Both COSSA Crowns

By AL ZABAS
Staff Sportswriter

Nothing beats one championship, unless of course it's two championships, as BCI learned Saturday.

Both the junior and senior girls' basketball teams came out of the COSSA finals with victories. The Juniors, coached by Carol Fisher, easily womanhandled Courtice Secondary 65 - 37 in what was the widest point margin of the competition.

The young ladies of the senior team trounced Picton's white and maroon clad team 35-30 to earn their second COSSA championship.

The endurance the junior team built up over a month and a half of running, was part of coach Fisher's battle plan for the COSSA championship. It paid off in the final as the BCI girls did not seem to tire as quickly as Courtice.

The BCI juniors did everything else right also. They worked the Courtice boarsd to their advantage, shot from the field well, and dropped their free throws with relish.

Fran White did two things right. Not only was she the top scorer with her 23 points in BCI's final contest, but she dropped 21 points in the semi-final match with Thomas A. Stewart Secondary. Both point totals were the highest of the COSSA meet.

Courtice's June Timmers saw the ball go through the bucket for 14 points while BCI's Mary Michenko who consistently dropped the ball from the side of the key, earned 12 points for the Collegians.

The Picton girls were not as generous to the BCI senior as the first quarter end ed in only a 9 - 7 lead for the Belleville team.

The BCI girls were forced to shoot from the corners and outside the key, as the Picton defense failed to yield to the probing of the BCI team. Cathy Donly hooped the ball for 12 points to match up with Picton's high scorer Janet Keough while Diane Kerr put the ball in the bucket for 10 points.

Bobcats Tie Wexford

Despite Belleville Bobcats' Rick Meagher's hat trick scoreboard markup in Sunday's 7-7 tie up, he was outplayed in Metro Junior "B" action by Toronto Wexford's centre Wayne Ormson. Ormson pumped four goals oast John Burnside and assisted on two other tallies.

"John makes some big saves for us," said coach Moe Hunter of the goalie's second start in regular season play.

The Super Majors — Ormson — Bob France played a strong game as they scored all Wexfords goals except a single tally from defenseman Bruce Carrigan.

Wayne McGeachy, who played defense for the Bobcats in Friday's 4-3 loss to the Wexfords, was not in the lineup for Belleville. Kevin Joudrey, called up from Western Tire Juveniles for the second-time this season, played in the defensive slot vacated by Darryl Cole and McGeachy in his turn.

Mark Coates and Jim Richardson were also called up from the Juveniles by the coaching staff. Belleville's other goal scorers were Mike Watt, Coates, centre Robbie Foster, and defenseman Tim Yohn.

Kinsmen Bantams Bounce Picton

Belleville's Kinsmen Club bantam majors walloped Picton in OMHA hockey action Sunday 13 - 1 to balance their 6-1 defeat at the hands of Kingston Rotary Kiwanis Saturday.

Kelvin Pope and Tony Meagher both earned hat tricks in Sunday's effort while Paul Hayman and Andy Lupenette tallied two apiece.

Bobby Crawford, R. A. McBrien, and Sandy Waterson scored singles for the Kinsmen while Reid tallied one goal for Picton.

Crawford netted Belleville's only goal Saturday while Torrance tallied two for the Kingston Rotary - Kiwanis. MacGregor, Moses, Simurda and Linsman beat Belleville goalie Ier single tallies.

Dixie Lee Fried Chicken peewee minors also took on Picton over the weekend with a 6-1 victory the result. Belleville's tallies came from Mark Crawford with a hat trick, Greg Sproul, Brad Miller and Darrell Coltman with single goals, Belleville outshot Picton 25-17.

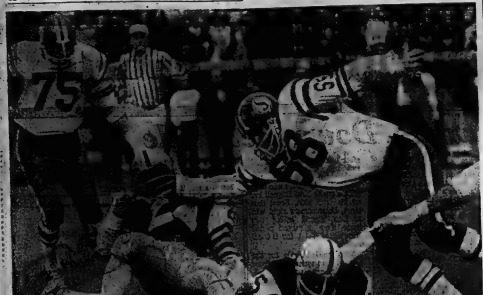
Kingston scorers were Mitchell Green and Barry Sullivan.

Four proved to be Belleville Towers Food City novice major's lucky number as they defeated Kingston Centre 70's 4-2 Saturday and shutout Gananoque 4-0.

Goal getters for Belleville against Kingston were Dave Gilby, Stu Emerson, and Steve Taylor with two. Kim McKenny tallied two for Centre 70's. McKenny's first goal came on a penalty shot.



Towers Food City goalie Hugh Northey shutout Gananoque attackers while Bobby Wolfe netted two, and Tony Parks and Dennis Holloway followed his goals with one apiece.

Ain't That A Slap in the Head?

Lewis Porter of Hamilton Tiger-Cats is hit in the side of the head by Saskatoon Roughriders' Jerry Williams, even more important than the addition of Chuck Exley, "He (Williams) has brought discipline to this team, something we didn't have last year. You can see it on the field, in the pass patterns; they're sharp, disciplined."

Roth (66) during the first half of the 1972 Grey Cup game in Hamilton Sunday.

Porter was hit as he tripped over his own blocker, George Wells (54), and was slightly injured on the play. (CP Wirephoto)

Mosca Exits --A Winner

HAMILTON — The man was dancing across Ivor Wynne's all-weather turf. He was one of many people dancing in the Steel City this weekend — in the pubs on King and Main square at two in the morning; within the rocking walls of Tent City — people danced and cheered for the Tiger-Cats. Or danced and cheered against.

* * *

What made this man stand out was his six-foot, three-inch height; the top heavy 275-pound frame that bends his legs; and a silver cup hoisted in one huge hand.

Angelo Mosca had played his final game as a Hamilton Tiger-Cat. He wasn't great. He wasn't the key. He was, well, Angelo Mosca.

The man's presence, like George Reed. You follow his walks on and off the field. Fans were watching his huge bulk more than any other linesman.

"He ain't made a tackle in the whole first quarter."

"They're double teaming him."

"They're not double teaming him."

"He stopped Reed in the first."

For most of the game he didn't get to the quarterback and he didn't make many tackles, but he was indeed shoehorned. Going into the contest Angie wasn't even sure of his key opponent's name (right guard Garry Brandt).

"It's Brandt, or something like that. I don't know his first name," rumbled Mosca in the Friday afternoon quiet of his new "End Zone" bar in Burlington.

* * *

In Sunday's contest, he reached intimate football terms with the Zelky guard, shoehorned. Going into the contest Angie wasn't even sure of his key opponent's name (right guard Garry Brandt).

"It's Brandt, or something like that. I don't know his first name," rumbled Mosca in the Friday afternoon quiet of his new "End Zone" bar in Burlington.

* * *

In Sunday's contest, he reached intimate football terms with the Zelky guard, driving into him with the forward power that has been hal trademarks; started his thrust into the opposing backfield before centre Brent Bird would slip across to help Brandt. Number 68 wasn't making many friends as he creating openings for smaller, quicker defensive mates like Mark Kosmos and Bob Krause, by tying up two blockers.

His ambition going into the game had been to go out a winner. It came in a loser (against Winnipeg in 1958) . . . I'm gonna go out a winner this year. It's definitely my final game."

He felt that the key change in Hamilton's team this season was coach Jerry Williams,

ANGELO MOSCA

* * *

He did however, point out Exley's value to the team. "He's a designed scrambler. He keeps the pressure to the outside with his speed. I proved to be an accurate capsule comment on the rookie quarterback's Grey Cup performance as Exley upset the Roughriders' rush by scrambling for key yardage.

Mosca gave one more pertinent comment before leaving for the Cats' motel. "where they're locking us up at six". "... It could be the same kind of game as against Ottawa."

There were indeed many similarities with their comeback win over the "Other" Rough Riders a week before with Ian Sunter's kicking and team defence providing the Hamilton keys in both contests.

* * *

When Sunday's game finished he wasn't explaining or growling or swinging his jolly fingers. He was dancing . . . a huge man hoisting a huge silver trophy; a man who wasn't the best but was noticed most; a man heading towards fulltime employment as a professional wrestler who can regard that sport with humored irony; a man who has been pictured as a sadist and brute and who seems to be a pretty decent human being. A big man.

The sign in Ivor Wynne Stadium summed it up best. It read. "Good-bye Angelo and Thank You."

PLAYER WINS DUNLOP

JOHANNESBURG (CP Reuter) — Gary Player of South Africa won the Dunlop Masters golf tournament Sunday with a 288 total, and wrote letter to Harold Henning, a fellow-countryman. Bill Tape of Kitchener, Ont., and Peter Oosterhuis of Britain finished in a tie at 279.

Tiger-Cats Eat 'Em Raw

HAMILTON (CP) — The kid who got their there won it for them.

Ian Sunter, 19-year-old placekicker from Dundee, Scotland, kicked a last-play, 34-yard field goal Sunday to give Hamilton Tiger-Cats a 13-10 victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders and a record 11th Grey Cup triumph.

He accounted for seven of Hamilton's 13 points—the other six came on a disputed touchdown by Dave Fleming. The climactic kick came with three minutes in the game and broke a 10-10 tie.

It was the 60th Grey Cup game since Earl Grey put up the Cup for competition back in 1909; the 45th since the spectacle became a national, Eastwide affair back in 1921. The East leads 31-14 in games.

The victory was Hamilton's 11th—giving them one more than the previous co-champions Toronto Argonauts.

Hamilton coach Jerry Williams admitted Sunter was his ace in the hole after he considered sending in punter Bill Van Burkleo.

"I asked Bill if he thought he could put it through the end zone for a single," Williams said. "Bill said he thought he would be close, so there was really no question but that the kid was my ace."

Sunter was warming himself at the dugout heater as temperature outside was in the mid-30s at the time—when he got the nod from the coach.

"I got the impression it would come down to me," Sunter said. "I was confident. I knew I was gonna make it."

Sunter's game finished him with explaining or growling or swinging his jolly fingers. He was dancing . . . a huge man hoisting a huge silver trophy; a man who wasn't the best but was noticed most; a man heading towards fulltime employment as a professional wrestler who can regard that sport with humored irony; a man who has been pictured as a sadist and brute and who seems to be a pretty decent human being. PLAYER WINS DUNLOP

JOHANNESBURG (CP Reuter) — Gary Player of South Africa won the Dunlop Masters golf tournament Sunday with a 288 total, and wrote letter to Harold Henning, a fellow-countryman. Bill Tape of Kitchener, Ont., and Peter Oosterhuis of Britain finished in a tie at 279.

Exley, had gone the entire game without throwing to big, slight end Tony Gabriel.

Then, with less than two minutes left in the game and the Cats on their own 13, the former University of Toledo star hit Gabriel with a 28-yard pass. His came right back to Gabriel with an 11-yarder and suddenly on the clock.

Hamilton was at mid-field.

Exley tried a pass to Dave Buchanan but it was low and incomplete. Ticats were second down, 10 yards to go, on their own 54. There were 0 seconds on the clock.

Exley went back to Gabriel and hit him over the middle for 15 yards. Halfback Lewis Cook of the Riders was hurt and the crowd was quiet as field attendants worked on his left leg.

Exley kept up the middle for two yards and there were only 36 seconds left. Exley passed to Brown—Canada's most valuable player in voting earlier in the week—and Hamilton was at the 26, with 27 seconds on the clock.

Buchanan took a handoff and lost a yard, but kept the ball in the middle of the field.

The Ticats broke their huddle they were second and 11 and when Sunter's right foot sweep soccer-style through the ball from the 36-yard line, the clock had run out.

"I didn't give Exley instructions to go to Gabriel," the coach said after the game.

"Gabriel had instructions to go to that particular pattern which we were using in the game for the first time. Exley read it well. Gabriel was just one of six receivers."

The most controversial play of the game was the Fleming touchdown and it was set up by the first of two Al Bronner interceptions. Bronner set a season record with 15 thefts this year.

After gaining possession on the Saskatchewan 53, the Ticats worked the ball to the 18 and Fleming is flying in the end zone.

Exley bowled that Fleming came down out of bounds, but the official on the spot ruled it a touchdown. Sunter converted.

Later in the quarter, linebacker Bob Krause and defensive back John Williams combined to set up Sunter's first field goal.

They did it by blocking a Bob Swift punt on the first. At three such plays in which they were involved. This time, it was Krause who knocked it and Williams who recovered. The next time they did it, it was Williams who blocked the punt and Krause recovered. And Krause did it yet a third Pearce punt late in the game.

Sunter Kicks Cup Winner

HAMILTON (CP) — "Things happened so quick in those last three minutes I didn't really have time to think," admitted teen-ager Ian Sunter after his last-second field goal Sunday lifted Hamilton Tiger-Cats to their record 11th Grey Cup victory.

The 19-year-old kicking sensation from nearby Burlington who made seven of his last eight field goal attempts to lift the Ticats to the Canadian Football League championship, split the uprights in the east end of Ivor Wynne Stadium with time running out to defeat Saskatchewan Roughriders 15-10.

It brought to a climatic finish a rugged contest in which the Riders seemed almost sure to at least send the game into overtime for the second time in Grey Cup history when the Cats' offence, that sputtered most of the game, came alive in the final 1½ minutes.

As the Hamilton offence, motivated by Chuck Exley-to-Tony Gabriel passes, moved the eastern club into scoring position Sunter calmly walked behind the team dugout, warming himself beside the heating blower.

"I got the impression it would come down to me," said the Scottish-born Sunter, who also kicked a first-quarter field goal that gave Tiger-Cats a 10-0 lead.

"I just told him to go out and kick it," said coach Jerry Williams. "After all, he is our field goal kicker.

"I had every confidence he could do it. I told him if he didn't make it, we had another 10 minutes to win it."

The decision to send in Sunter was made only after talking it over with punter Bill Van Burkleo.

"I asked Bill if he thought he could put it through the end zone," said Williams. "Bill said he thought it would be pretty close, so there was really no question but that the kid was my ace."

Sunter said the only instruction he got on the field was from holder Garney Henley as the two lined up the kick for Sunter's soccer-style boot from the Saskatchewan 34-yard line.

"Garney just said 'keep your head down,'" said Sunter.

Williams Saw Flaw

HAMILTON (CP) — Coach Jerry Williams of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, relaxing after his team's 13-10 Grey Cup victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders Sunday, said he spotted something useful in recent films of the Western Football Conference and defensive action.

Some of their third-down snaps were low," he said. "I thought their punts might be slow and that we might be able to block a few."

The prediction came true late in the first quarter when Hamilton linebacker Bob Krause burst through on punter Bob Pearce and defensive back John Williams scooped up the loose ball. The play began on the Riders' 49-yard line and ended on their 15.

Four plays later, Ian Sunter kicked a 37-yard field goal and the Ticats had a 10-0 lead.

Late in the third-quarter, with Saskatchewan in Hamilton territory, Williams deflected another Pearce kick. The ball travelled four yards before Krause picked it up and a no-yards penalty brought play to the Riders' 49. Pearce got the ball back, it was deep in their own end.

Krause made contact with a quarter but the Riders got the ball back with an interception on the next play.

Ealey Made Difference

HAMILTON (CP) — The scrambling ability of Chuck Ealey was a big factor in Saskatchewan Roughriders loss to Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Hamilton Grey Cup game Sunday, says Rider coach Dave Skrien.

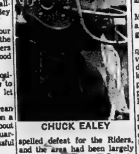
"It's hard to say whether we played poorly inside or they played well . . . but we couldn't contain Ealey," he said.

"The game was just like I figured it would be before it started. They played an all-round good game and Ealey came up with the big plays."

Skrien said 10-mile - an - hour wind wasn't a real factor in the game but the fact the Riders failed to get or maintain good field position did.

"We suffered from field position. When we had a chance to get good field position, we let them out a few times."

Asked why Saskatchewan didn't try for a first down on a third and one situation almost midway through the final quarter after an earlier successful gamble, Skrien said:



"They (Hamilton) weren't giving us a yard on defence. If the officials can't see that there's nothing I can do about it."

The Rider dressing room was closed to the press apparently by request of the players but Skrien talked with reporters in an adjacent room.

Premier Allan Blakeney of Saskatchewan and Youth Minister Ed Tchorzewski visited the Riders' dressing room after the game but they only stayed a moment.

"They were a pretty disappointed lot," the premier said. "It was a tough one to lose."

Essentially it was a series of passes up the middle on the last Hamilton scoring drive that spelled defeat for the Riders and the area had been largely unexploited by the Ti-Cats to that point.

Skrien didn't blame anyone for Hamilton's success with the passes to tight end Tony Gabriel and flanker Garney Henley.

"We had people close to the ball on each one of the passes." He said probably one of the biggest plays of the game was in the second quarter when halfback Bobby Thompson was open and dropped a second-down pass near mid-field.

"That one would have given us a long first down and good field position.

It was Skrien's third Grey Cup appearance as a coach—he was in one as a player as a lineman with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1953.

He led British Columbia Lions to victory over Hamilton in 1964, after losing to the Tiger-Cats in 1963.

Asked if he expects to lose a number of his veteran players this year, Skrien said there will be no mass exodus "that he has any knowledge of."

The Riders leave for home Monday at 11:30 a.m. EST and are scheduled to arrive in Regina at 1:30 p.m. Regina time.

Back at the Riders' motel, quarterback Ron Lancaster, a veteran of 12 years in the Canadian Football League with Saskatchewan and Ottawa, expressed admiration for Ealey's performance and said he has "a lot of football ahead of him."

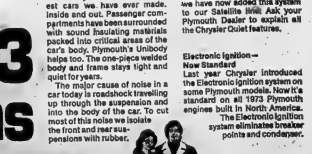
"He's a good quarterback. He'll stop h's scrambling and running when he gets experience and can read defences better."

He said the last series of plays, in which Ealey moved Hamilton from its own 15-yard line to field-goal range with passes up the middle, was not the fault of anyone.

"It's just that we were in zone defence and that sort of play can work.

"We had hoped to run the ball quite a bit, but they set us down. We were just never able to get anything sustained along the ground."

Lancaster also said the Riders had nothing to be ashamed of.



"We just weren't able to put enough points on the board."

More than thirty new.

This year, the '73 Plymouths are more beautiful than ever. But many of our important engineering improvements don't even show. And we count them as most important. They make the '73 Plymouths safer, quieter, smoother-riding and longer lasting than ever before. Extra care in engineering...it makes the difference.

The '73 Plymouths

NEW Quieter Cars for 1973 - The '73 Plymouths are the quietest cars we have ever made. Inside and out. Passenger compartments have been soundproofed with sound insulating materials packed into critical areas of the car's body. Plymouth's Unibody helps too. The one-piece welded body and frame stays tight and quiet for years.

The major cause of noise in a car today is roadshock travelling up through the suspension and into the body of the car. To cut most of this noise we isolate the front and rear suspensions with rubber.

Plymouth Satellite

Chrysler and Fury have had this quiet feature for some time. And we have now added this system to our Satellite Sebring. Ask your Plymouth Dealer to explain all the Chrysler Quiet features.

Electronic Ignition — Now Standard

Last year Chrysler introduced the first electronic ignition system on some Plymouth models. Now it's standard on all 1973 Plymouth engines built in North America.

The Electronic Ignition system eliminates breaker points and condenser.

Habs Feel Heat From Rangers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens, who have held the National Hockey League East Division lead almost by default in recent weeks, suddenly found someone breathing down their necks after dropping their guard in two weekend games.

The Canadiens went into the weekend with a four-point lead over New York Rangers but the lead was halved when Montreal managed only a tie, 4-4 with Atlanta Flames Saturday, and lost 3-2 to Philadelphia Flyers Sunday.

The Rangers closed the gap with a 3-2 win over Atlanta Sunday and Boston Bruins, just two points behind the Rangers, extended their current undefeated streak to nine games with a 5-1 decision over New York Islanders.

In other Sunday games, Chicago Black Hawks beat Pittsburgh Penguins 4-2, Buffalo Sabres downed Minnesota North Stars 7-4, and Toronto Maple Leafs blanked Detroit Red Wings 3-0.

In other Saturday action, Detroit defeated the Islanders 4-1, Minnesota whipped Buffalo 9-6, Pittsburgh beat Chicago 3-1, Los Angeles Kings edged St. Louis Blues 3-2 and Toronto tied Philadelphia 3-3.

The Canadiens succumbed to a tight-checking Flyers club at Philadelphia and were down 3-1 at the end of the second period before starting back with Marc Tardif's second goal of the game late in the third period.

But then, centre Bobby Clarke broke through for two goals in the last two minutes of play to clinch the Philadelphia win.

At New York, Red Gilbert's 48th goal of the season provided the Rangers' winning margin with less than three minutes left in the game.

Defenceman Ron Harris, acquired by Rangers less than a week ago from Atlanta in a trade for Curt Bennett, set up Gilbert's goal with a pass from the blue line after Bennett had scored to give Atlanta a 1-0 lead in the first period.

The Rangers went ahead 2-1 on second-period goals by Vic Hadfield and Tim Ecclse and Billy MacMillan tied the score for the Flames early in the third.

Orr's assists came on goals by Bobby Orr continued his comeback from mid-summer knee surgery by assisting on two Boston goals Sunday against the Islanders.

It was against the Islanders that Orr returned to regular duty in a Nov. 18 game, which was the second victory in Boston's current unbeaten streak of eight wins and a tie.

Canadians Capture Cross Country Titles

VICTORIA (CP) — Canadian men's and women's teams raced away with both titles at the Pan American Cup cross-country championships Saturday.

Grant McLaren, 24, of Guelph, Ont., led from the start to win the 12.5 kilometre (7.7 miles) men's race.

Jim Johnson of Stittle was second, almost 200 metres behind McLaren.

The Canadian A team won the cup with 13 points. The United States A team was second with 29 points, the U.S. B team third with 51 and Canada B team fourth with 65.

Teams comprised of six runners each with only the first four home counting for points.

Doris Brown of Salina, a five-time world cross-country champion, won the 3.4 kilometre (2.2 miles) women's race.

Glenda Reiser, 17, of Ottawa was third, Claire Morgan of Surrey, B.C. fifth and Abby Hoffman of Toronto sixth to give Canada the women's team title with 14 points.

The Canada women's B team finished third with 22 points and the U.S. teams were second and fourth. Teams had five runners but only the first three scored.

Ottawa Fans Fewer Than Goals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ottawa Nationals keep winning but who cares?

That seems to be the attitude of Ottawa hockey fans who have only 1,231 tickets for Sunday's World Hockey Association match in which the Nats took their fifth straight victory with a 5-4 decision over Houston Aeros.

The attendance figures for the 10,350-seat Ottawa Civic Centre have been much the same for all the Nats' recent home appearances, the latest winning streak.

In other WHA action Sunday, Quebec Nordiques defeated Alberta Oilers 6-2, New York Raiders upset Cleveland Crusaders 5-3 and Winnipeg Jets beat Minnesota Fighting Saints 5-1.

Saturday, Los Angeles Sharks defeated Chicago Cougars 4-3, Houston defeated New York 7-2, New England beat Quebec 7-2 and Cleveland whipped Philadelphia Blazers 8-2.

In tonight's only game, Ottawa visits New England.

Ottawa's victory Sunday, the 11th in 23 games, came on a goal by Bob Charlebois at 4:32 of overtime. It was the Nats' third overtime game of the season.

Wayne Carleton's third goal of the game late in the third period tied the score to force the overtime. Guy Trottier got the other Ottawa goal while Paul Popiel, Gerry Stanfield, Murray Hall and Don Grierson scored for Houston.

Plymouth Duster

This means your engine will stay in tune longer and go further between tune-ups. And it also means that your exhaust emissions will stay cleaner too.

That's why we've added full length reinforcement members front and rear. And strengthened the existing front members. For even more protection, we've added rubber guards front and rear. They'll take a point, without anything getting hurt.

NEW Emission Cont. ol Features

We're all working toward cleaner air. That's why all '73 Plymouth engines are equipped with an exhaust gas recirculation system and automatic vacuum spark advance control system, for controlling oxides of nitrogen. Also, we've added an electric assist choke to help reduce emissions during starting and warm-up.

Disc Brakes Standard on Most Cars

Disc brakes have greater fade resistance than conventional brakes. They perform more smoothly, stop your car in a straighter line, and are more effective at fast freeway speeds. Front disc brakes are now standard equipment on all Plymouth cars (except six-cylinder Valiants).

NEW Mechanical Plating Process

To help the exposed, critical safety parts on your new Plymouth stand up to the ruining effects of rust and corrosion, we've devised a new plating process that applies powdered particles of cadmium, tin or zinc to protect them. On the 1973 Plymouth has it.

Here are just a few of the many engineering improvements made to the 1973 Plymouth models. Your Plymouth dealer will be happy to explain them all.

Luxury Suite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Holiday Inn, with rooms for the masses, offers something a little different for travelers near here — a $1,400-a-night suite with everything from Jacuzzi quarters to scotch and Canadiens on ice.

The three-bedroom, four-bath suite has everything, in fact, but paying guests.

The operators of the inn in suburban Gaithersburg, Md., aren't unduly distressed that the oil sheik has yet tried the $3,700 oriental rug, or that no international financier has ever propped his impeccably shod feet on the $5,300 desk.

The sweetest of suites has been a publicity gold mine from its circular bed to its olympic-sized Roman bath.

"It's definitely helped out business," says Innkeeper William Dameron, noting particularly the luncheon trade. Sightseers sometimes number 40 a day.

They are told that limousine and 24-hour maid service are included in the price, and all food and drink, of course.

UN Tries To Foresee Future

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A UN think tank is employing some of the world's better minds on an age-old assignment —to peer into the future.

The Greeks and Romans consulted oracles. Modern futurologists program computers. The goal is usually the same—to ward off evil.

"We're in trouble if we do not act quickly," said Davidson Nicol, gazing at New York's murky East River from the window of his UN office. "Fishes are dead. You get few stretches of river water which are safe.

"This could have been halted 20 years ago if one had thought about it. But we just live from day to day, from year to year."

Nicol, 48, scientist-educationist-diplomat from Sierra Leone, is the new chief of the UN Institute for Training and Research —UNITAR. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim named him to the post in July.

Nicol has given high priority to the study of the future. The aim is to save mankind from catastrophies possibly only decades away.

Under UNITAR aegis, scientists, economists and lawyers are making four preparatory studies for presentation to an international gathering in London in December that will map future strategy.

The four areas under consideration are:

—Problems of growth and its limitation.

—The impact of new communications and information technology.

—The problem of alienation, or identity crisis.

—The implication of biomedical advances.

"We are preparing background papers on these problems as they exist now and as they will develop in the future," Nicol told an interviewer. "If they are going to develop in a negative direction which will destroy us, then we should give warning to the politicians and statesmen of the world."

Taking up the problem of growth, for example, Nicol said, "We have to match the food requirements of the world with its population."

"We have to watch also the mineral resources because we depend so much on minerals. Some of these things are running out."

Nicol envisages a commission on the future, consisting of 36 members, that will serve as a lookout tower to give "early warning of developments that are only barely perceptible but that may lead to crisis."

A former permanent representative of Sierra Leone to the United Nations, Nicol is a bit of a futurologist himself on the destiny of the world organization.

"I think we'll have to face the problem of the ministates," he said. "You can't have states of 70,000 or 100,000 people arguing or debating with countries of 100 million people or over. It's unrealistic.

"People from ministates should be encouraged to come into larger groups, more effective groups."

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

TUES. DEC. 5

Aries (March 21-May 20): Once you get a deal past the stubborn beginning moment, it goes so quickly that you must watch details sharply.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Everybody is willing to talk, few any are free to give or lend. Rely mainly on what you have achieved already without their help.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Select the few from the crowd that are in sympathy with what you are doing. Explore to see just how much you can expect of them.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Serious thought and quiet action succeed in closing out a chronic annoyance. It is an excellent time for medical advice.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Anything you do now will draw attention, with a better chance that it is favorable than otherwise. So get busy!

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Somehow you spend an excessive amount of time with other people, doing things you are not very fond of doing.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Expecting very little immediate response, you have a good opening for re-educating the people you deal with most often.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Diligence yields preference, advantages are visible to others. Decision on money are crucial—it's a good day to make them.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): All things being normal, you should have a mixed experience of personal success, productivity.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Temptation to get into some additional venture is likely. Allow yourself a little more time in order to acquire better information.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Everybody seems to need your help. Select those who put in definite requests, let those wait who do not ask.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): A surge of energy carries you well through a day of dealing with the world, but plan for a lowkey evening with not much going on.

To Your Good Health

Calcium Supplied By Various Foods

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband's intestinal difficulty was diagnosed as an inability to tolerate milk or milk products. It was explained that he had lost the ability to make lactose from the lactic acid in milk products.

As a home economics graduate, I am greatly concerned over his lack of calcium. My husband is 45, and in good health, but all my training has indicated a need for calcium at your life, and that milk and other milk products are the greatest source.

We talked to the doctor about supplementary calcium pills but he said he didn't need them.

You are quite right that we need calcium all our lives, and milk is the best source of assimilable calcium.

But here's a point you may be missing: The need for calcium is not as great as one gets older. Since it is the prime constituent of bones and teeth, need for it is obvious in young people and in pregnant and nursing mothers.

Later in life, calcium is needed because the bones are continually discarding calcium and replacing it with new calcium, but that is not as great a demand as when the bones are growing. (There are other bodily uses of calcium, too, of course. For one, it is a necessity in healing wounds).

Anyway, calcium is present to some degree in most food items: cereals, fruits, vegetables, seafoods. Egg yolk is high in calcium.

As with many other nutrients, the body automatically tends to conserve the supply of anything that may be scarce, and is more profligate if the amount of intake is plentiful.

I would take it for granted your physician could detect any deficiency of calcium in your husband, hence saw no purpose in adding more to his diet (milk is soy bean milk, or powdered milk) and supplements containing calcium).

It is true that quite a few older folks do show a calcium deficiency, and for those who can tolerate milk, a glass a day is good precaution, lifelong. But the elderly with calcium deficiency very often are on diets that are deficient in general.

One other point. This inability to convert milk into lactose (milk sugar) stems from lack of the enzyme lactase. Some patients with this trouble can tolerate limited quantities of milk, when the liquid or in cooked or baked goods.

Another form of intolerance to milk is from a totally different cause—the patient is allergic to milk protein. The results are much the same, though. The patient has to avoid milk.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a thyroid gland test be made in my doctor's office? What does the test consist of? How is it done?

Yes, it's an office test. It used to be BMR, or basal metabolism test, made by having you breathe oxygen through a tube. The amount used gave a pretty good idea of how efficiently you were burning up your energy.

More recently the PBI and other similar blood tests, these used. The PBI, or protein-bound iodine test, requires only a small blood sample for laboratory tests. Results are much more specific, and less fussy and tiring for the patient than the older BMR.

Opening lead — ten of hearts.

It is sometimes possible to lead declarer astray by persuading him that a condition exists which, in fact, does not exist.

Here is an example where Ira Rubin of Paramus, N.J., succeeded in stopping a game by this method. The hand occurred in a play-off match to determine the team that would represent the United States in the 1971 world championship.

Rubin was West and chose the ten of hearts as his opening shot. Declarer ducked, losing to the queen, and East returned the four of hearts.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace, returned a club to the queen, and it was on this trick that Rubin made the excellent play — the ten!

It is hard to blame South for concluding that Rubin did not have the king and that a later club lead from dummy would produce five club tricks. So, in line with this, declarer canashed the ace of spades before leading a diamond to dummy's queen.

After cashing the king of spades and discarding a diamond, South played another club from dummy, confidently expecting to make at least three notrump. But East showed out on the club and declarer was now in deep trouble. He won the ace and returned a club, but finished down three.

Had Rubin taken the queen of clubs with the king, it is extremely probable that declarer would have made the contract. He would have been virtually forced into taking advantage of the favorable diamond situation, thus making two diamond tricks.

But with Rubin ducking the queen of clubs, and falsecarding with the ten for good measure, it was mighty difficult for declarer to read the actual situation. He simply had to swallow the bait.

Tomorrow: Looking ahead.

Liverpool Stretches Lead

LONDON (CP) — Liverpool, favorited for the English League soccer title, won 4-3 over Birmingham City Saturday after trailing 3-1 at one stage.

A brilliant second-half assault stretched Liverpool's lead at the top of the First Division to three points.

Arsenal's 2-1 triumph at home, over Leeds United lifted it to second from third place in the table, ahead of Everton.

At the end of the day, Liverpool held top spot with 30 points from 20 matches. Arsenal had 27 points from 21 games. Leeds remained at 26 points.

Goals by Gordon Taylor, Bobby Hope and Bob Latchford gave Birmingham a 3-3 halfway lead after Lindsay and Peter Cormack scored the first-half goals for Liverpool.

Leeds led 1-0 at half time through Peter Lorimer's 19th-minute penalty shot.

In the Second Division, Burnley also stretched its lead t three points when a 72nd-minute goal by Paul Fletcher gave it a 1-0 win away to Sunderland.

Bolton Wanderers still led on goal average at the top of Division Three despite going down 2-1 away to Watford. Second-place Bournemouth could manage only a 1-1 draw away to Oldham but the point was good enough to put it level with Bolton at 27.

Fourth-division-leading Mansfield took a one-point advantage over second-place Southport when it drew with Reading.

Glasgow Celtic and Hibernian, who clash next Saturday in the Scottish League Cup final, were the centre of attention in the Scottish Division pro gram.

Three goals by Pat McCluskey helped Celtic swamp Dumbarton 6-1 while Hibernian crushed Falkirk 3-0.

HAMILTON (CP) — Barry Fry of Winnipeg skipped his rink to a 5-3 victory in the top-rated first event in the Grey Cup bonspiel which concluded Saturday night.

Fry of the Maple Leaf curling club downed Terry Braunstein of Winnipeg Granite Club. The two Winnipeg rinks met after six victories apiece in the bonspiel which began Monday with 128 competing teams.

Bill House of Toronto Glendale won the seniors; Tip Logan, also of Glendale, won the oldtimers football section.

In other play Saturday, Doug Palmer of Welland beat over Greg Dinney, Victoria, 7-5 to place fifth.

"I guess Barry must have our number. This is the fourth time we've played each other this year and he has won them all."

Marlies Bag Two Junior 'A' Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros went on a hunting trip to Northern Ontario on the weekend and bagged two big wins.

The Marlboros downed Sudbury Wolves 7-1 Saturday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game and then moved on to Sault Ste. Marie Sunday and came away with a 7-3 victory over the Greyhounds.

In other weekend action, Oshawa Generals snapped a three-game winless streak Saturday with a 4-2 win over Hamilton Red Wings but then lost 5-4 to St. Catharines Black Hawks Sunday night.

The double victory by Toronto moved the Marlboros seven points ahead of Peterborough at the top of the league standings. Toronto also has a game in hand.

Peter Marrin and Brad Winton, with two goals each, sparked the Toronto win over the Greyhounds. Paulin Bordeleau, Bruce Boudreau and Geoff Green scored the other goals.

Marksmen for the Greyhounds were Bill Reed, Bert Fournier and Bruce O'Grady.

Marrin also scored two goals Saturday against Sudbury. The other Marlboro goals were by Gerry Devlin, John Schar, Wayne Dillon, Bordeleau and Winton. Wayne Cryder scored for Sudbury.

Wilf Paiement scored two goals for St. Catharines, which led 5-2 after two periods. Dennis Owchar, Rick Adduono and Terry Casey added one each.

Davis Buries Fighting Irish

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Notre Dame had more offensive plays, more rushings and passing yardage and more first downs, but unbeaten Southern California had Anthony Davis.

With Davis scoring six of his team's seven touchdowns, the Trojans of USC trounced Notre Dame 45-23 Saturday to cap an 11-0 U.S. college football season. USC was the only major university to go through its schedule unbeaten.

Meanwhile Auburn's ninth-ranked Tigers were spoiling second-ranked Alabama's bid for a perfect record, edging the Alabama 17-16. Auburn scored all its points in the final period, helped by two touchdowns on blocked punts.

Oklahoma Sooners, ranked third, whipped No. 20 Oklahoma State 38-15 and won Big Eight championship.

Most of the glory on the final weekend of the college football campaign belonged to Southern Cal, just as it has ever since the Trojans replaced two-time national champion Nebraska at the top of the rankings in the first regular-season Associated Press poll.

The six touchdowns by Davis included a 97-yard return of the opening kickoff and a 96-yard duplicate after 10th-ranked Notre Dame pulled within 35-23 late in the third period. Davis also had scoring runs of one, five, four and eight yards.

"This is the best team I've had since I've been at USC," said coach John McKay, McKay is in his 11th season and has only to best Ohio State in the Rose Bowl to clinch his third national title.

Elsewhere, 11th-ranked Louisiana State struggled past Tulane 9-3 on fourth-period field goals by Juan Roca and Rusty Jackson.

No. 12 Tennessee downed Vanderbilt 30-10 behind the record-breaking running of Hackel Stanback.

Liberty Bowl-bound Georgia Tech played without quarterback Eddie McAshan, suspended for missing practice, and bowed to Georgia 27-7; Southern Methodist, behind inspired quarterback Keith Bobo, roared to a 35-22 triumph over Texas Christian, and Army rallied from a 12-point first-half deficit to beat Navy 23-15. Tim Pfister blocked a Navy field goal attempt and Scott Beaty lugged it 84 yards for one of two third-period touchdowns.

Nicklaus Closes With Tourney Win

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla., put him among the leaders at (AP) — Jack Nicklaus had just 278, a distant 11 strokes back of closed the most spectacular Nicklaus' 21-under-par total. year of his career with a victory in the Walt Disney World open golf tournament and was considering his goals for 1973.

"The first goal," he said, "well, that'd be No. 14 at Augusta, in the Masters."

He referred to his collection of 13 major championships, a record he shares with the late Bobby Jones. A victory at Augusta, Ga., in the spring would be the 14th, putting him on a plateau alone above all the other men who have played this game.

Nicklaus is the winner of the U.S. Open, the Masters, five other titles and a whopping record of $300,562 this season.

The seventh title and $30,000 game Sunday when he forged a front-running eight-under-par 64 for a 207 total and a nine-stroke victory. The 72-hole total and the victory margin both were four records for the season.

"The year was better than a last year," he said.

"But I'd certainly hope next year is better.

"I still consider myself a young man," the 33-year-old Nicklaus said.

"I still have a young man's desire to improve. For example, I'm driving better every year.

"I'd like to think I'm a little better each year than I was the year before. I'd certainly hope that I can continue to improve next year."

Nicklaus' season was one of the finest the game has seen. He won seven of his 20 starts and was second in four others.

Sam Snead provided what little excitement there was on the final round Sunday as Nicklaus made a mess of it. Snead ambled over the 7,223-yard Magnolia course with a 65 that

Hockey Lancers Win Fifth

The Loyalist hockey Lancers increased their number of wins to five Saturday with a 4-3 victory over Sir Sandford Fleming College.

Despite Peterborough outshooting the Lancers 50-36, goalie Mike Caine kept the Sir Sandford attackers down to three goals while Reid Mallory, Dave Wright, Barry Roanbree and Barry Remington tallied for Loyalist.

Cain did not fair as well with injuries over the weekend as a puck hit him in the mask which opened up a wound above his eye. He also suffered a torn cartilage in his leg. The Lancers will go with Brian Helmer till Cain's wounds heal.

Though the game was not a rough one, scing only five penalties throughout, defenseman Ross Howe suffered a broken nose. Accordingt to coach Bruce Cameron, Howe said he will be playing next game.

In basketball action the Sir Sanford Fleming defeated the Lancers 82-76 in a match that saw the score see - saw between the two teams in the second half.

Belleville Vote Heavy

Mayor's Chair Won By Robin Jeffrey

By HARRY MULHALL, Staff Reporter

In a strong response to a keenly-contested civic election, Bellevillians have shaped their city's political government for the next two years.

Key personality in the new administration: Robin Jeffrey.

The woman city councillor turned aside Mayor Russell Scott's bid for a third-term, to become one of the few women mayors of a Canadian city.

Over half the city's eligible voters turned out — 52.8 per cent — heavier than recent city elections. The vigorous contest between mayoralty rivals had primed forecasts of a unprecedented response at the polls. The previous record, in 1969, was 50 per cent.

Final result which saw Alderman Jeffrey defeat Mayor Scott in most of the city's regular 81 polls :

Jeffrey 6867.

Tabulations, completed today, gave the woman councillor about a five per cent plurality over Mayor Scott.

Mayor - elect Jeffrey — the second woman to hold the city's top post in 16 years — now will head a civic government that counts a majority of six yet-to-be-seen councillors fused to a quartet of newcomers.

Topping the polls was Stu Meeks, city ambulance company operator whose first-time bid for election brought a whopping 7,928 votes.

Other newcomers are Dr. John Stock, Joseph Cox and Roger Porter.

Councillors re-elected, were Jack Ireland, Ian Corke, Jean Smith, Arthur Keegan, Paul Russell and Arnold Orr.

They will be the team on which the new mayor must rely to help her fulfil the pledge made to jubilant supporters jamming city hall last night to "make Belleville a better place in which to live."

And, in the crowd, which he joined to publicly admit defeat in the narrow run polling result, Mayor Scott marked the end of five years as civic leader by promising to help heal any community rifts caused by the intense electioneering that ousted him from office.

But in victory and defeat both antagonists shared a common reaction: Surprise at what they saw as an unexpectedly subdued voters' response.

For them 'it blunted the end of a keen campaign which both contestants had confidently predicted would prompt one of the heaviest electoral turnouts in years.

The total mayoralty ballot was little better than 40 per cent of the eligible vote, city hall election officials calculated later.

Revised figures last night estimated 25,620 eligible city voters — their numbers boosted by extension of the franchise down to 18 years.

Nonetheless, the percentage of votes cast about equalled the 1969 city election, which was bereft of issues.

In an interview, Dr. Scott, a man who has for years been involved in community affairs, who entered city hall as a councillor in 1955, frankly gave an outline of what he saw as reasons for his defeat.

They included a "six-month media blackout" in the city's press, lack of office which left him little time for campaigning, disenchantment caused by the "older part" of the community to progress.

"Progress," he said as his sudden exit from the civic scene loomed only weeks away, "is difficult, it's unsettling.

"But we're stuck with progress whether they like it or not. If we're not geared for it then it's that much more difficult. There is no such thing as spontaneous delivery of progress. . . ."

His defeat? "I don't even think about it," he said moving toward the door, as the crowd emptied the chamber to head for a Jeffrey victory party.

"I've given my time of service to the community. I'm going to get a good night's sleep."

Ian Robertson

A Winner

Wreathed in smiles as he lights stogie, incument Trenton mayor welcomes victory over challenger Reg Martin, votes last night.

Sixth man on the new council is Peter DeGroot, a 48-year-old native of Holland and former town treasurer. He polled third.

And with the excitement of an almost complete change on the council scene, the three-way race for Trenton Public Utilities Commission went almost unnoticed. Present chairman Charles Hilton and former mayor, commissioner D. James MacDonald, were returned to office, with challenger Robert Carleton the loser.

Ken Smith

Watching Good News Come In

While a trend toward a Jeffrey victory developed early in last night's returns, the margin of Robin Jeffrey's lead was often small. Waiting for the returns was trying for the mayor-elect and her campaign manager husband as they watched the changing board in the Front Street committee rooms.

Mayor and Geo. Greer Survive Trenton Upsets

BRIAN ROBERTSON
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Voters here last night played a game of sweep the deck as far as council was concerned, electing five new councillors to join one incumbent and Mayor Duncan McDonald, who led the polls from the first return.

At the outset, Mayor McDonald was the obvious leader at the polls, capturing all but four of the 27 regular, two advance and two special polls challenged by newcomer, Reginald Martin.

But as far as his fellow councillors are concerned, the mayor said he was not surprised at such a sweeping defeat of the incumbents. "I think at this time there are a lot of dissatisfied people. I've known for a year people were dissatisfied with council," he said.

Both re-elected Councillor George Greer and defeated Councillor Paul Tripp, who came 11th of 15 challengers, put the upset at the door of three recent major issues.

Said Greer: "What fixed us was the pool office, the crossing guards and the fire department." Mr. Tripp agreed. So did retiring Councillor Ted Parker.

The pool office was bought by the town and demolished. Council has favored its replacement with a municipal office and parking garage, but many, including several newly elected councillors favor selling the lot.

The town fire chief asked for a replacement for a retired fireman, but council voted against this.

Proposed replacement of the six school crossing guards with a youth patrol has led to contations between parents, officials and councillors.

Of the five new councillors, two have served on former councils.

Edward Todd, 53 - year - old CP rail carman, was a councillor for seven years. Trenton dentist Dr. Robert Patrick would have run in the 1970 campaign had it not been for an oversight. Failure to pay his business taxes for the year disqualified him when the time came for election qualification.

The two candidates who topped the polls were 28-year-old newcomers. Dr. John Bown, a physician, having 2,000 votes and Ronald Price, owner of Price's Variety Store, getting 1,604 votes.

November's Unemployed A Decade Record

OTTAWA (CP) — An estimated 524,000 people were unemployed in November, the highest proportion of the labor force for that month in a decade, Statistics Canada reported today.

The figure was up from 483,000 in October and compared with 503,000 unemployed in November last year.

Henderson Says Audit Impeded

CALGARY (CP) — Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson said Monday the Trudeau Liberal government is continuing its direct efforts to hamper his ability to function properly as public watchdog over federal spending.

His latest attempts to redress the situation were turned down as recently as two weeks ago, he said.

His speech, to the Calgary chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors, included a strong charge that the Trudeau Liberals have made "a direct attempt to impair" the functions of his office, a stout defence of the office and a plea that be be given the proper tools to do his job.

Urges Price Review

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie has urged General Motors of Canada Ltd. to reconsider a price increase announced Friday on 1973 cars and trucks. McFarland Returns To Helm

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Harvey J. McFarland, the 65-year-old construction magnate who headed Picton's administration for 20 years, was returned to office last night, defeating incumbent mayor Margaret Ackerman by an almost two to one majority.

Mr. McFarland polled a total of 1,156 votes while Mayor Ackerman trailed him with 672 ballots. The winning trend was established for the former mayor early in the evening and reached its peak when he captured Mayor Ackerman's home poll.

Mr. McFarland conducted a low key campaign which emphasized his contributions to local industrial growth but did not touch on the present administration. He sought re-election after a two-year absence from municipal politics.

Councillor Ross Cronkwright, running for deputy - reeve, defeated his opponent, Donald King, an insurance agents and former councillor, 1087 to 672.

A newcomer to town council, Russell Alexander, a retired service station owner, led the polls with 1,178 votes. It was the first time he had sought public office.

Town council's only veteran campaigner, Bessie Ward, was returned to office with 1,074 votes. Council seats also were captured by Jack Evans, local news editor; John Kinney, a clerk; Norman March, owner of Rickarton Castle Hotel and Larry Richardson, a guidance counsellor at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute. Defeated were Robert Ingarfield, proprietor of Inn on the Bay, and Larry Baker, a service station attendant.

Gordon Nourse, long - time chairman of the public utilities commission, was defeated last night by 34 votes by incumbent David Hickman. Picton florist Christopher Locker, led the polls for the PUC, followed by Mr. Hickman. Vernon Porter, a former councillor, also bid for election.

Picton representative to the Prince Edward County board of education, Ruth Hart, was returned to office but Lloyd Seely, a fellow trustee, was defeated by Picton councillor William Lane. Mr. Lane dropped from the council race this year to contest a seat on the school board.

Trains Answer To City Traffic

Passenger trains will provide the solution to urban transportation problems, says a top Canadian National executive.

Senior vice-president Maurice Archer warns, however, that passengers will have to foot the bill, not the government.

Speaking to the Canadian Institute of Management at the Quinte Hotel Monday, Mr. Archer said railway passenger service is a losing proposition financially.

"The railways, obliged by the National Transportation Act to operate according to the discipline of the balance sheet, cannot be expected to operate the service by form of subsidy," he said. "Clearly, society is going to have to pay for them, and society in a few years will probably be quite happy too."

He said the same principle should apply to non-commuter service although only to routes judged to be necessary in the public interest."

Mr. Archer praised railroads for their cleanliness and quietness. He cited a recent study that showed a train carrying 700 passengers and travelling between 70 and 80 miles an hour creates comparable or less noise than a bus with only 50 passengers travelling on a freeway.

"A single-track rail line can move as many people as ten automobiles on 10 to 20 lanes of expressway," he commented.

Concerned primarily with research and development, Mr. Archer said CN would be becoming a transportation company rather than merely a railroad.

"That is why we are developing or expanding our capacity in the field of solid pipelines, natural gas pipelines, containers, trucks, air express and so on."

Analysts have predicted that by 1980, highway traffic will be two and a half times greater than at present. Much will be handled by a combination of two or more modes, a prospect that has fostered CN's plans for an integrated transportation system.

Part of the address was devoted to management and its responsibility in a changing work environment. Discussing the work ethic, Mr. Archer said the fundamental principle that work is good in itself no longer holds true.

"For example," he observed, "a group of assembly line workers with the most modern working conditions, finest machines, very attractive wage and fringe benefits, gradually reaches a new low in production and stays there. Many jobs are not interesting enough for challenging enough for the people we hire to fill them."

Management's job, he said, is clear: "Treat the employee as an intelligent individual who wants to work if given the chance."

Monday Vote Set City Record

Belleville voters turned out in record numbers yesterday to determine the city's future.

More than 13,000 ballots — 52.8 per cent of those eligible — were cast in the mayoralty race, general indicator of voter turnout.

In Trenton, interest approached the all-time high as 41 per cent of voters exercised their franchise. The story was somewhat different in Picton where a 54 per cent vote was recorded, down from 66 per cent in 1970.

Despite legislation that extended the municipal franchise to 18-year-olds for the first time, and swelled Belleville's list of eligible voters from 20,098 to 24,800 and Trenton's from 7,202 to 8,362, increases of percentages turnouts were not as great as many observers had predicted.

Previous high for a Belleville municipal election occurred in 1959. That year, 50 per cent of voters went to the polls to elect a new council following the Belleville Intelligencer strike.

Three years ago, the tally was somewhat different when Mayor J. Russell Scott trounced Richard Ellis. That election was bereft of issues compared to this year's campaign and adverse weather was also responsible for the low turnout.

The mayor, who won by 3,908 votes last time, nearly equalled his total yesterday in closing. In 1969, he collected 6,416 votes compared to 6,222 this time.

Trenton's record turnout is 43 per cent, recorded on two occasions in the mid '50s. When Duncan McDonald stepped into the-mayor's office in 1969, 40.8 per cent of voters cast ballots.

Mr. McDonald upped his personal tally considerably this time, recording 2,379 votes against 1,720 in 1969. His margin of victory also increased, by 320 votes compared to 449 last time.

O. W. Larry, Trenton clerk and returning officer for 20 years, said general apathy and slippery roads prevented a record turnout yesterday.

"I've only seen one man elected who was not previously by on council," he said.

He was referring to Rollie Whitley, chairman of the Trenton Board of Education before becoming mayor in 1953. McDonald's opponent, Reg Martin, had no prior public experience.

The decline in Picton came as a surprise to returning officer Andrew Jarvis. He said the fact that the town had a liquor plebiscite in 1970 may have been a contributing factor.

The 54 per cent figure is still higher than the norm for most. Harvey J. McFarland victory parades. While he was gaining office by acclamation during most of the 1950s and '60s, between 40 and 50 per cent of the voters went to the polls to select members for council, the utilities commission and the board of education.

Meeks, Orr Top Poll

Belleville's new city council was led at the polls yesterday by a newcomer and a city hall veteran.

Topping the polls was Stu Meeks, city ambulance company operator whose first-time bid for election realized an impressive 7,928 — more than either mayoralty candidate.

Mr. Meeks will join a council that will include all six incumbent aldermen that sought re-election.

Second in the council contest — and leading the field of sitting councillors re-elected was Alderman Arnold Orr, with 6,878 votes.

Others elected to the new council are:

Ald. Jean Smith (6,536); Ald. Bev Corke (6,481); Ald. Paul Russell (6,281); Ald. Jack Ireland (6,213); Dr. John Slack (5,865); Ald. Ken Reid (5,849); Ald. Arthur Keegan (5,509); Roger Porter (5,438).

Mr. Meeks saw his triumph as vindication of a main campaign policy — to clean up the city's land and waterfront area.

The results also saw a sharp drop in voting for Ald. Keegan who headed the polls in the 1969 election.

Among the newcomers:

Ald. Jack Ireland, former councillor who served in 1956-57.

Mr. Porter, a city stockbroker, is the grandson of his family to enter city politics. His great-grandfather was a councillor in 1887-90 and mayor in 1891, before entering senior government positions. His father-in-law is E. Guss Porter was councillor in 1951-52 and was former city solicitor.

Other results in the aldermanic race: George Zegouras (5,288); Ted Kelly (4,367); Albert Leslie (4,204); Richard Williams (3,889); George Murray (3,888); Joe Raycroft (3,229); Vern Heimbuch (2,631); Alex Manjuris (1,809).

Early Bird Bumped Off

Confidence in school board administration was expressed by Belleville ratepayers Monday as they returned four of five incumbent trustees to the Hastings county Board of Education.

One of the five trustees for the city, Nelson McKibbon, retired and newcomer Michael Roberts, an OSD teacher, was elected to replace him.

Mr. Roberts is the first person actively engaged in teaching to be elected to the county board. He fought for five years in Ottawa public schools before coming to OSD eight years ago.

Re-elected to their third term with the county board were James Clarke, founding chairman of the board, Evelyn Fairman, Miriam Graham, and Mac Smith.

Dan Thrush, a newcomer who mounted an intensive campaign for election to the county board finished last. An accountant with the retail sales tax office here, he was the first to announce his candidacy for trustee.

Bypass Defeated

In a referendum held in connection with Monday's municipal vote, villagers voted 320 to 96 against the highway being bypassed around the village.

Electors turned down the bypass idea in all of the village polls as well as at the advance poll.

The Tweed Chamber of Commerce headed the campaign in opposition to the village being bypassed, claiming that it would have a bad effect on business.

Utilities Officers All Back

TRENTON (Staff) — Election for the Trenton Public Utilities Commission marked little public interest and no feelings of loss for the one man who contended and lost out in a bid for a seat on the commission.

Robert Carleton, 48-year-old manager of the Trenton and area Bell Canada office, and past president of the Chamber of Commerce, has no regrets at his defeat by more than 600 votes.

"The people have indicated they are satisfied with the incumbents of the PUC and as I have stated before, there was no real problem, other than no man should be acclaimed to this responsible position," he said.

Returned commissioner Mac Donald, Trenton mayor for 10 years, was "very pleased" at leading the PUC polls. "This is the first time two ran together," he said, explaining in previous years a new commissioner was'allotately elected each year.

Commission chairman Charles Hilton, a 62-year-old retired heating contractor, did not put in an appearance at the Trenton Community Gardens and was unavailable for comment.

However, in an interview last week, he indicated disappointment at the lack of interest in the PUC. "The people don't realize the millions of dollars spent on the PUC," he said. "Our monthly bills for water and light run between $100,000 and a quarter of a million dollars. That's well over the million dollar mark each year.

Mr. Hilton served on council between 1956 and 1957.

Jubilant Jeffreys

An elated Robin Jeffrey, accompanied by her husband and daughter Alison entered City Hall late last night to accept the plaudits of her supporters after her successful bid for Belleville's mayoralty.

Loyalist Tape Feeds National TV Network

By JOANNE MACKENZIE
Staff Reporter

"Get your tape and go like hell for Kingston."

Loyalist College students Jerry Bresso, Brian Dobbin and Garry Wood ended up doing exactly that, when due to weather conditions, plans to videotape Belleville election returns for CJOH-TV in Ottawa were cancelled.

Originally, the videotape of election results and interviews with mayoralty candidates in Belleville and Trenton, was to be flown by special plane to CJOH, an affiliate of CTV, Monday night for airing.

It was a first for Loyalist in that college facilities and talent were to be used and according to Barry Howard, television instructor at Loyalist, "Loyalist will be joining the third largest network in the country for this election. For the first time the students involved become professionals, employed officially by CJOH TV. This may open up other opportunities for future use of Loyalist's programming facilities and materials. All you need is one break."

As luck would have it, foul weather interfered and plans had to be changed. There was a chance that the operation would be cancelled. But where there's an opportunity and enthusiasm, there's also a way.

Three Loyalist students ended up by interviewing mayoralty candidate, Robin Jeffrey and rushing the tape to CJOH facilities in Kingston for an 8 p.m. deadline. They, then returned to Belleville City Hall to phone in election results to Ottawa at the request of CJOH.

In spite of disappointment, there remained the satisfaction of having participated with a major network on the election returns, along with the knowledge that there could now be more future opportunities for Loyalist College in this area. It was, as Mr. Howard said, "the real thing" in every sense of the word.

Brighton Goes Wet

BRIGHTON (Staff)—There was rejoicing in the bars and taverns of Brighton last night, as the result of a successful liquor plebiscite became known.

More than three - quarters of the voters Monday indicated they were in favor of allowing liquor to be served in local restaurants.

Talking Things Over

Roy and Robin Jeffrey discuss election returns last night with Jeffrey committee room visitors Hastings MP Jack Ellis and Mrs. A. W. Hunter. For the Jeffreys the evening was one of patient smiling with a packed hall of onlookers that eventually brought victory.

Volunteers Said Victory Key

By KENNETH SMITH
Staff Reporter

Mayor - elect Robin Jeffrey invited a jubilant crowd at city hall last night to drop in to the mayor's office for a cup of tea when she takes over Jan. 1.

The invitation symbolized the Jeffrey approach of "opening the door of the mayor's office as wide as possible".

Earlier at her Front St. committee rooms and again at city hall, Mrs. Jeffrey solicited the help and advice of the citizenry that she maintains is the key to sound administration.

As far as the key to last night's victory is concerned, Roy Jeffrey, the new mayor's husband and campaign manager, maintains that people did the job.

"The people were involved this time as never before," he says, "we had a tremendous number of volunteers."

He also gives substantial credit to the fact the Jeffrey campaign began early and maintained substantial momentum. However, he says the election efforts of Mayor Dr. J. R. Scott picked up discernible strength in the last week.

Mr. Jeffrey contends that the race would have been even closer if municipal election had been a week ago.

First priority for Mayor-elect Jeffrey will be to "pull the council together into a team". She indicates road rebuilding programs will be stressed.

On the conflict of interest question, Mrs. Jeffrey says that is up to council to pursue if it wishes. However, she says "it is not my intention" to take action on the matter.

For the Jeffrey family, election day had been a long one, with visits by Robin and Roy Jeffrey to 90 of the city's 81 polls.

The early evening was spent at home with a houseful of relatives. It was an evening that began with disappointment at first reports that indicated Mayor Scott had a 100-vote lead on the first two polls counted.

Even when the tables began to turn toward a Jeffrey victory, Roy commented to the family "we are in for a real fight".

There was real suspense for the family as there was for everyone else.

Robin's mother, Mrs. J. R. Futcher of St. Thomas said as the night wore on "this waiting is the hardest part. . . all the work is done, we just have to wait."

Mrs. Futcher indicated the Jeffrey campaign has attracted considerable interest in St. Thomas, the new mayor's home town, a city where Robin's grandfather had served as mayor.

About 9:30 p.m. the wait for the Jeffreys moved from their Dufferin Ave. home to the packed committee rooms where the new mayor chatted informally with supporters and onlookers that included former mayor Mrs. Jane Forestor and Hastings MP Jack Ellis.

After the trip to city hall for a formal statement and the acceptance of good wishes from Mayor Scott, it was back to the committee rooms for a party that featured a five-piece band.

"There are no words to express the way I feel," the new mayor concluded as she shared the thrill of victory with her workers.

Fairman Flat For Election

The retired elementary school principal was admitted to Belleville General Hospital Thursday with shingles. His condition is improving, but no date has been set for his discharge.

Mr. Fairman was elected for his third term on the county board last night. He has been a trustee since the board's inception in 1969 and has served for the last four years as chairman of its advisory vocational committee.

Mr. Fairman topped the school board polls with 6,778 votes. Second was Mac Smith with 6,177, followed by Miss Graham with 5,102 and newcomer Michael Roberts with 5,078. Don Thrush, with 4,294 votes was defeated.

A Good, Clean Fight!

Defeated Mayor J. Russel Scott had a handshake for his victorious opponent, Robin Jeffrey as he arrived at City Hall Council Chambers last night to concede the election to her. Well wishers followed the two candidates into the chamber the first crowd of the evening at city hall.

Summons Delivered To Barber

By opening, the shop broke a city closing bylaw that stipulates barber shops must be closed Sundays and Mondays.

Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said his men made observations and investigations following "several complaints from various people." He said the summons would likely be delivered to a shop manager Bill Kuipers.

The Quinte barber shop, along with three others, recently broke away from the Belleville Barber's Association in a dispute over the closing by-law. The remainder want to remain open six days a week, as well as evenings Thursday and Friday, while the other shops want to open until 6 p.m. from Tuesday to Saturday only.

Mrs. Jeffrey's Victory

Alderman Robin Jeffrey is Belleville's new mayor. With a lead that she established early and never lost, Mrs. Jeffrey defeated incumbent Dr. A. Russell Scott to become the second woman mayor (Mrs. Jane Forrester was the first) in the city's history.

Mrs. Jeffrey's victory resulted from only a 50 per cent turnout of voters — a disappointing response by any standards, even allowing for the inclement weather. After so much effort and enthusiasm by the candidates in this important election and the urging of this newspaper, such a display of apathy can be regarded only with misgiving.

This observation aside, we see in the result of the balloting the electorate's desire for a change of leadership.

We have no desire to dwell unduly on the alleged conflict of interest charge that was levelled at Dr. Scott and which he denied, but there can be no argument that it — and his strangely tardy response — emplanted a disturbing element of doubt in the public mind that was never erased.

The vote, in part at least, reflected that doubt. Having said that, no one questions Dr. Scott's sincerity as a man or his ability as an administrator. He has served the city well and he has been gracious in defeat, pledging his support to Ald. Jeffrey to heal what he described as "rifts" in the community fabric.

We do agree that any rifts should be healed forthwith and urge that under Mrs. Jeffrey and a Council that contains many experienced members of the old administration, the city looks only to the future, remembering always the need for orderly growth and showing sensitivity to the stated desires of individuals and groups.

In Mrs. Jeffrey Belleville has a firm and efficient hand on the helm. We can expect that the growth of recent years and manifested in recent days by word of new industries on the way, will be maintained but not at the expense of inadequate roads and other services, or neglect of the downtown heart, or the traditional character of the city as seen in its architectural heritage, or neglect of older parts of the city in need of modernization. There are many other areas of need too: the waterfront and extension of harbor facilities for example, not to mention park development, traffic, and an ever ready eye to such natural assets as the Moira River and its banks.

We are encouraged by the blend of experience and new blood on Council. This will ensure continuity as well as the stimulation of ideas. We believe that voters, relatively few in number as they were, have chosen well.

Mrs. Jeffrey, incidentally, is the second woman to be elected chief magistrate in recent years. The new city of Cambridge (created from Galt, Preston, Hespeler and North Dumfries) is headed by Mayor Claudette Millar. Before her election she was Mayor of Preston.

In The News

Australia is in the news these days in oddly dissimilar ways.

A general election there has just brought back the Labor Party to power, following a trend set by neighboring New Zealand.

But when we think of Australia it is not so much in connection with politics, or with Perth — the "city of lights" to the orbiting astronauts — or legendary places like Alice Springs, or the great deserts of the interior or the Sydney harbor bridge and famous Opera House.

Right now Australia boasts title holders of two major international beauty contests. Last week Belinda Roma Green, '20, was crowned Miss World in London. And only a few months ago, in Puerto Rico, another Aussie was crowned Miss Universe.

It is quite an achievement, because even though the country is known for its attractive women, the population is only about 13 million.

Next month two Australian teenagers from Bundaberg, Queensland — Rotary exchange students Deborah Charters and Rosemary Downs — will arrive in Belleville for a year at school here.

They come here as citizens of both the Commonwealth and their own great island continent, a land of nearly 3,000,000 square miles.

Lalonde Gets Health Post

Cabinet Changes Aimed at Better Communication

By HENRY HEALD
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — "We agreed to form a cabinet where the best man could be in the best place at this time. And that meant a lot of changes. I wouldn't care to say that anyone moved up or down or sideways."

That was Prime Minister Trudeau's description of his new efforts at cabinet making. Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said the cabinet did not scare him. Then he observed that at least it would be prettier with the addition of Mrs. Jeanne Sauve. NDP Whip Stanley Knowles, who has seen a lot of cabinets come and go, said he was not impressed.

The fact is that Mr. Trudeau did move people up, down and sideways. What could be more up than giving Marc Lalonde — elected to the Commons for the first time Oct. 30 — the prestigious health and welfare portfolio. It is the biggest money-spender in the government, administers such vital aspects as the food and drug directorate and the fitness and health program, and most important, is the focus of most of the federal - provincial jurisdictional problems.

And what could be more down than moving Jean-Pierre Goyer from the solicitor-general's job where he had responsibility for the whole touchy question of penal reform and capital punishment, to supply and services where his most touchy job will be to okay the monthly list of contracts awarded.

Robert Stanbury goes from communications to national revenue which is certainly a sideways move. Neither department has much prestige.

Mr. Trudeau clearly does not like shuffling cabinets. Between the time he took office in 1968 and the first major cabinet shuffle last January, the only changes were to add a few new ministries and to replace ministers who resigned. Even then the changes were just to plug a few holes. He had to get Bryce MacKasey out of labor because of the opposition to the labor code amendments and he had to get Benson out of finance to try and regain the confidence of the business community. And the solution to the competition policy made it wise to put Consumer Affairs Minister Ron Basford in the new post.

Even in the face of the passing handed him by the voters Oct. 30, the changes were far more minimum. Nobody was fired. There were eight vacancies and he brought in eight new ministers. Ten of the cabinet — 13 if you count Mr. Trudeau himself and Senate government leader Paul Martin — stay right where they were and a few junior ministers were promoted. Such shuffling as was done was in only the obvious necessary to placate public opinion — or as Mr. Trudeau would put it, to learn the lessons of Oct. 30.

Mr. MacKasey had resigned so he did not have to remove him from manpower and immigration. Robert Andras who takes over has a good reputation for handling hot issues, but the fire had already been taken out of the immigration problem and Mr. Trudeau says changes in the manpower and insurance program are in the works.

Gerard Pelletier was moved because he was tied too closely with language matters and Mr. Trudeau had to do something to implement his promise to look at the administration of the Official Languages Act. Hugh Faulkner now has the job of preserving the concept of two languages but changing the administration to save further anti-French backlash. In the meantime, Mr. Pelletier takes over communications where he can concern himself with the technology of uniting Canada.

Jean Marchand was sad to leave regional economic expansion. He felt he has put a lot into the department and even suggested obliquely that he hoped Don Jamieson would go ahead with some of the new programs he had planned.

Dismissing the cabinet changes, Mr. Trudeau spoke of the need for communication and missionary work. He said Mr. Jamieson was needed in regional expansion because the public did not understand the situation and Jamieson, a former broadcaster, was the best communicator he had.

Mr. Trudeau still believes the election loss on Oct. 30 was merely a failure in communication. He seems to think that everything is rosy in Liberal - land if only he could get that message across to the voters.

Is that right? Or is the problem deeper? Mr. Trudeau did not get the message the voters were trying to get across to him? It will probably take another election to decide that one.

"Do you have anything for someone who's sick of all those Christmas commercials already?"

Council Deputation and Zoning Issue

The Intelligencer.

On Monday of last week there was a delegation to Council, opposing the passing of a bylaw to rezone an area east of Elizabeth Crescent. I was chosen spokesman for one of the citizens' committee of the area, and Mr. W. Hockey was delegated to speak also.

Some members of council accused us, and through us the group we represented of making false and misleading statements in order to gain certainde of our own. Mr. Maurice Rolling stated that we had not seen all of his plans, and that we had not responded to his offer of a meeting to clarify the situation.

Council moved to table the motion until the Planning Board could arrange a meeting to give us the facts, as they felt we had at best been in receipt of false information from some unknown source.

We had expected some response from the media questioning the peculiarities of this situation, but there was no such response.

There was no intension on our part to make this an election issue. We did not have the choice of when this matter would come before council. We will be only too happy to have the whole matter clarified, and have been asking for this all along.

However, it has come to our attention that the names of certain people who are in no way involved in this, are being accused of having such involvement, and sharing in the "crimes". We feel it necessary therefore, in the interest of fairness to all, to make an effort to clarify at least some of the statements made last Monday.

To begin with, we did see the site plan of the area at the Planning Board meeting Oct. 4, 1972. We saw the elevation drawings and the artist's drawing showing the exterior appearance of the townhouses, on Nov. 15, the same date on which we received Mr. Rollin's offer of a meeting. Mr. Rollins was unable to attend our meeting on that date, but accepted his offer at any date which suited his convenience. Mr. E. Burnham, chairman of the Task Force "D", contacted Mr. Rollins about this but nothing further was heard regarding another meeting.

Secondly, Mr. Stokmans stated that he had no knowledge of what development was planned for the area immediately east of the proposed rezoning. At the Planning Board meeting Oct. 4, a map was posted showing that area east to Haig Road, north to Bridge St. and south to Dundas in total development of townhouses and apartments. Mr. Stokmans explained in all present that this was the plan for the area. There were many people present, it is easy to verify this.

Thirdly, the question of school building was raised by Alderman Orr. He stated that the Planning Board has a letter from the Board of Education saying they are prepared to build an elementary school in the area. On Nov. 23 there was a candidates' night for school board trustees at Harry J. Clarke School. Mr. Lee Jourard chaired the meeting. During the course of the evening, Mrs. Pat Hasselfelt asked the trustees if the Board had any plan to build an elementary school at the Victoria — Haig site. Mr. Jourard asked Mr. Smith to respond to the question on behalf of the trustees. Mr. Smith said that the Board had no plan to build a school on the site in the foreseeable future. I questioned Mr. Smith about this later, and he verified his statement. Alderman Orr was present at this meeting, so he knew where we obtained our information. He did not use this knowledge to enlighten council.

I will not burden you with further details. These are enough facts, all easily verified, to make any one realize that there is more here than meets the eye.

We truly hope that at, the coming meeting of all those concerned, there will be a better atmosphere and a more straightforward, less defensive, exchange of information, and that we will be able to settle these and other questions. "The truth will out." The sooner the better.

Peron's Bid Politics Latin American-Style

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

March, 1973, is electior time in both Chile and Argentina. South America's two most southerly countries. The Chilean congressional election and the Argentine presidential contest have more than passing interest in world affairs.

In Chile, Marxist-sergeant Dr. Salvador Allende is elected by a free vote in September, 1970, will try and win the Chilean congress presently controlled by his non-Marxist opponents. Chile has a multi-party American system, has a president from one party and a congress dominated by another, the Christian Democrats.

In Argentina, the arrival of former president and dictator Juan D. Peron on the scene raises the speculation he will run again for presidency in the elections of next March.

So far, Argentina a ruling military government has forbidden his name on the ballot for presidency. The reason they give is that Peron delayed too long in exile after the Aug. 25 deadline for declaration of presidential candidates.

But in the increasingly exotic atmosphere of Argentine politics, 'made more so by Peron's physical presence in the country, anything can happen. Pressure from his followers and Peronistas who number in the millions in Argentina, could change events substantially, as could Peron's personal decision to stay or return to Spain.

And then unlike the second elections in this country, the U.S., West Germany and Japan, the March, 1973, elections in either Chile or Argentina might never take place. At this early point in time, cancellation is a clear possibility.

The major issue in these two critical elections is not the personalities of Allende

Little Joy at Scott Headquarters

Early Lead Evaporates for Scott

By ROY PEACOCK

Five years as the chief magistrate for the city of Belleville were ended on Monday for Mayor J. Russell Scott, who went down to defeat at the polls at the hands of Alderman Robin Jeffrey.

Although Mayor Scott took an early lead as voting results commenced to trickle in, by the time the 16th poll had reported he was trailing by more than 100 votes and never did regain his lead.

"I have no regrets in having the weight of responsibility removed from my shoulders," Mayor Scott said as he conceded defeat at his committee rooms, shortly before 11:30 p.m.

"I sincerely congratulate Mayor-Elect Jeffrey for her hard work and her success.

"There is a big rift in our community and I will assist Mrs. Jeffrey in any way possible to mend that rift and bring Belleville back to be the same friendly community it has been in the past five years."

He suggested, however, that there would be trying times ahead and warned that the campaign, "especially my office of mayor in this urban centre of Eastern Ontario was "no tea party".

"I look forward to be able to go fishing again after four years without a line in the water."

In conceding defeat, Mayor Scott expressed his appreciation "to all the fine people who worked so hard" in the wife and daughter, Jane."

Mayor Scott expressed surprise at the unexpected low vote but blamed it on the weather rather than on lack of interest.

Opposition to apartments and multiple family housing construction in various parts of the city was suggested as being one reason for his loss of votes at the polls.

"Wherever there was construction — housing or roadwork — the vote went against me," he said.

Although Mayor Scott took the defeat in good grace, saying that the citizens of Belleville "had decided what they wanted in a democratic fashion," many of his campaign workers did not see it in the same light.

With the defeat of Mayor Scott and without his drive for industry and housing, many of the campaign workers could see a decline in the number of jobs available.

"There'll be fewer jobs now," was an often - heard comment.

Later, at city hall Mayor Scott personally congratulated Mayor-Elect Jeffrey, again offering every co-operation.

He noted his defeat would mean he would have to step down as president of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario, a post to which he was elected last summer.

"I will resign from the office on Dec. 31 and Belleville will not be represented on the association," he said.

Asked if he felt conflict of interest charges brought against him in city council last spring had gone against him at the polls, Mayor Scott was non-committal.

He said, however, that since the conflict of interest charge he had suffered a six- or seven-month news blank.

"I was starting to come back, but it was not enough."

Dr. Scott said with the end of his term at city hall he would now return full-time to his doctor's practice and also get in a bit of fishing.

Mayor Scott was elected as chief magistrate five years ago, defeating then incumbent Jack Ellis who a month ago won election as federal member for Hastings riding.

He was first elected to city hall as alderman seven years ago, and prior to going to city hall had served for a number of years on the Belleville Public School Board.

During the election campaign Mayor Scott had pointed to the city's growth rate during the past five years, claiming that 4,000 jobs had been created in the period. He said that Belleville now had the lowest unemployment rate of any city in Canada.

New roads and bridges had been constructed and the city had enjoyed a balanced budget throughout his tenure of office.

Warden Beaten In Board Bid

Three races in rural areas for trustees' posts on Hastings County Board of Education saw one incumbent returned, one newcomer elected and one seat still in doubt.

Biggest upset was the defeat of county Warden Carman Gibson who contended for the Tweed, Hungerford, Huntingdon, Tyendinaga and Desoronto seat against Kenneth Little of Tweed. Incumbent Laurison Gunning resigned this year.

Mr. Little, owner of the Tweedsmuir Hotel in Tweed polled 1,478 votes against Mr. Gibson's 967, to win by a majority of 491.

Mr. Gibson, retiring this year from municipal politics, took the lead in his native Tyendinaga township and in Huntingdon. But Mr. Little came out ahead in the other municipalities to win the election. Returning officer James Kinlain said voting was heavy.

In Thurlow, incumbent trustee Milford Waller won a slim lead over newcomer James Hurd. Mr. Waller's total was 838 votes to Mr. Hurd's 824, a difference of 14 votes.

In Ward 1 at the far north of the county, Emerson Robinson of Maynooth was returned for his third term on the board, with 868 votes. He was opposed in this election by Douglas Olmstead of Maple Leaf, who polled 621 votes.

In Thurlow, where only 14 votes separate the two candidates, a recount may depend on the municipal council. Both council and candidates can call a recount of the vote for school trustee and defeated candidate James Hurd has not yet made up his mind whether or not to ask of the recount himself.

"It depends on whether or not I can find someone to put up $100," he said this morning.

The candidate asking for a recount must pay $100 for the privilege, and Mr. Hurd says it's too close to Christmas for him to spare the money.

Reluctant Candidate Loses Lone School Seat

A newcomer to Tweed and to school board elections, Hugh McNulty took the one seat up for grabs on the separate school board in Monday's municipal election.

Mr. McNulty defeated Simon Meraw, a reluctant candidate for the Tweed-Hungerford area seat on the board.

Mr. McNulty polled 379 votes against 202 for Mr. Meraw.

"I'm not too badly disappointed," admitted Mr. Merraw.

He denied that he had actively campaigned for Mr. McNulty, but said he had thrown his hat in the ring only when it appeared no one would come forward to take the seat.

"I felt in my conscience I should represent the area if no one else did," said Mr. Merraw. "I'm glad Mr. McNulty volunteered to go. I feel the job belongs to younger people with children in school. I don't know if I could stand all the late hours.

Mr. Merraw served 30 years on Tweed area separate school boards before the formation school board in 1969.

The 14-member separate school board will have five new faces around the table in the coming two years.

Elected by acclamation were newcomers Michael Collins in Belleville, Angus Yorke from the Read area, Bert Garrett and Frank Hylaad from Trenton.

Nine of the incumbent trustees nominated were returned by acclamation. Two new seats were created this year, one each from Trenton and Belleville. Two incumbents, one from Trenton and one from Read, resigned.

Joe Celebrates — Regardless

Not that Mr. Raycroft — a former alderman bidding to return to city politics — expressed any disappointment.

As results trickled in from voting stations, it became clear he wouldn't make it.

But the returns cast no pall on his party, said Mr. Raycroft.

Neither was he personally disturbed. In fact, he said, the results meant he could get back to running his insurance business.

A cause of his defeat, he indicated, was campaign proposals to temporarily brake parks and recreation spending.

"It appears to me as though the citizens of Belleville are more interested in parks and recreation than new industry," he said.

Checking The Count

Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott and election workers Robert Marcotte and Frank Seemungall show little elation as they check Monday's election results which saw Alderman Robin Jeffrey win the chief magistrate's position by a 645 vote margin. Mayor Scott took an early lead but saw his edge disappear with later returns.

Third Woman Joins Council

Hastings county council will have its third woman member in 1973 as a result of Monday's municipal election.

The third member of the fair sex to sit on the county body will be Mrs. Muriel Rabel, who was elected deputy reeve of Frankford. Mrs. Rabel is a member of this year's village council and is the wife of former Frankford Reeve Frank Rabel.

The two other women county council members are Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen, who has represented that municipality for many years, and Mrs. Audrey Donnelly, deputy reeve of Bancroft, also a county council member for several years' duration.

Acclamations Order of Hastings Day

There were stiff fights in a few of the rural municipalities in yesterday's municipal elections, but acclamations generally were the order of the day in Hastings County this year.

No less than 17 of the 26 municipalities sending reeves to county council returned unopposed heads by acclamation while 12 of the 21 deputy reeves in the county body were also returned without a struggle.

As a result there were contests for only nine reeveships with an equal number of deputy reeve posts being up for grabs.

But the big feature in county rural elections this year were the contests for the post of deputy reeve.

This was the result of changes in the municipal election act giving the franchise to 18-year-olds and also to absentee property owners, the voters which in 13 municipalities boosted the electors' list over the 1,000 mark, giving these municipalities the right to a deputy reeve.

Because of this membership on county council next year will be boosted to 47 reeves and deputy reeves from the former count of 34 members.

The biggest fights in the South Hastings rural district were in Thurlow and Huntingdon townships where there were contests all the way around — for reeve, deputy reeve and for council.

Reeve Casey, a veteran of 13 years on council has been reeve for the past 4½-years.

Councillors elected were George Beer, 1,026, Don McKeown, 984, and J. Walter Hamilton, Defeated were Grenny Masterson, 871 and Ernst Kneisel, 573.

Over in Sidney township, councillor Glenn Meyers was the winner as deputy reeve over Arthur Carleton polling 790 votes to 587.

Elected to council were incumbents Reg McCurdy, 818, and Hadley Richardson, 768, along with former councillor Ernest Kells who won a comeback with 811.

Defeated in bids for council were Paul Axtz, 389, Thomas Nobles, 293, Michael Bathurst, 153, and Graham Grenby, 143.

In Huntingdon township this year's deputy reeve George Wood won out in a squeaker over incumbent Russell Sills in a race for the reeveship. Mr. Wood won by only five votes and a recount is possible.

In Hungerford township there was an election only for council as both the reeve and deputy reeve positions were filled by acclamation. New council members are incumbent Ray Phillips and newcomers David Masterson and John Genore.

Defeated candidates were Marcellus LeBerge, Don Martin, Vincent Lynch and Fred Preston.

Further north in Wollaston township, incumbent Albert Vader went down to defeat in a three-way fight. The new reeve is Frank Graham, who defeated Reeve Vader and Ivan Gunter.

Buddy French is the deputy reeve, defeating Howard Gunter.

In Monteagle township Reeve S. J. Carr also won re-election, defeating Elvin McCormack. Councillors elected were Kenneth Hurst, Ian Davidson, Harold Douglas and Mrs. Marie Mandow.

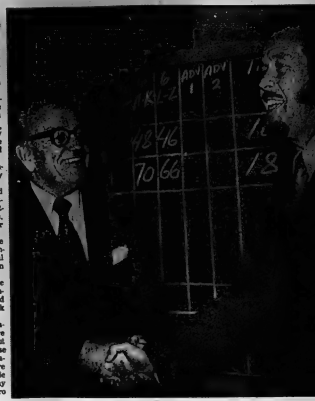
And in Mayo township, former councillor Arthur McNiven, husband of the municipal clrk, wo out over incumbent Reeve Ray Hamm in a close 113 to 106 vote.

Councillors are Harold Mansfield, Roy White, Mrs. Marie Peacock and Mrs. "Rhonda Trolley.

Back in McClure, Wicklow Bangor, Felix Browne is the new reeve, defeating Floyd Brenhour.

Elgin Dram, a former township reeve, won the deputy reeveship by acclamation.

Council members elected were John Hicks, Dean Foster and Tom Buckley. Defeated were Donald Dubbelstein, Mrs. Margaret Linkle, Walter Watson and David Auld.



Down in Deseronto there was an election only for council, with Alfred Percival Brooks receiving acclamation as deputy reeve.

Councillors elected were Terry Whalen, Peter Dickenson and John Neal. Defeated were Kevin Sexsmith, Frank Topping and Fletcher Vick.

Councillor Mrs. Muriel Rabel was elected deputy reeve at Frankford, winning out over Harry Wickson in a close vote. Carl Smith, Mervin Dafoe and Carman Miller are the new councillors, while George Montgomery and Ray Moran were elected as hydro commissioners.

In Elzevir and Grimsthorpe incumbents Ed Alexander, Joseph Keil, Kenneth Cassidy and newcomer Jack Robinson were elected to council. Carl Gordon and Wes Mundle were defeated.

All Over Now

It was a time for disappointment for Trenton mayoralty challenger Reg Marlin, who took approximately one-third of the votes cast last night, but there was no bitterness. Here, offering congratulations to re-elected Mayor Duncan McDonald, both agreed it was a good, clean fight.

Utility Commissioners Face Major Problems

What becomes of Belleville's Public Utilities Commission is now in the hands of incumbents Gerry O'Connor and Lyle Langabeer. In their term of office, these two will have to negotiate the "life or death of the commission."

Both men were returned to office in a landslide victory over their opponent, Roger Gibson.

Mr. Langabeer, a veteran of the PUC, polled 8,801 votes in Monday night's election, giving him the strongest numerical support in the city.

Mr. O'Connor received 7,561 second on the support list. Both men received more votes than the mayor-elect.

After topping the polls, Mr. Langabeer said Monday night in council chambers, "you work like hell. If you do a good job they'll support you."

He has been a member of the PUC for 11 years.

A master mechanic with Canadian National Railways, he claimed, "I got damn good support from the railroad and from the young people who knew me from my board of education days."

Mr. Langabeer sees two major issues that will have to be dealt with soon if Belleville is to get a "fair shake."

"If we are to service Thurlow, we will have to place a pipeline beneath Highway 401 but we had better not get stuck with the bill," he said.

"The second issue is regionalization of utilities commissions and the loss of local autonomy in the choice of commissioners.

Mr. O'Connor said earlier in the day, "the election was as dead as hell with few issues."

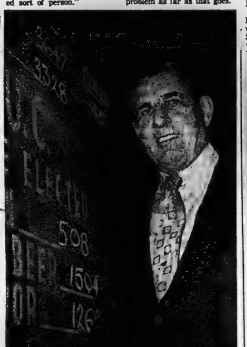
"The major area of concern will be negotiations between local PUC officials and Ontario Hydro to define future responsibilities.

When Ontario Hydro was taken over by the provincial government, Task Force Hydro was formed to investigate what changes should be made to the system. Utilities commissions received "harsh treatment" with suggestions that commissioners no longer be elected but appointed.

"We have to resolve this situation, it means the life and death of the commission," warned Mr. O'Connor.

Mr. Langabeer spent his evening touring the polling stations while Mr. O'Connor remained at home to chart election returns by radio.

Mr. Gibson accepted defeat grudgingly Monday night saying he would be back. "I have something to offer."



Mr. Gibson wanred Belleville is being pulled into a tri-cot situation.

"We are going to get drastic increases in our services...s because of our gift of services to the townships who can't afford them."

"I find myself in excellent company with those who were not elected," he said.

Both incumbents were apprehensive about the loss of Mayor J. Russell Scott from the commission, who they thought was "a cracker jack of a man, capable and diligent."

The mayor - elect, Mrs. Robin Jeffrey will be the likely choice to represent city

Poll Topper

Lyle Langabeer retained his Public Utilities Commission seat in Monday night's election gathering 8,801 votes, more than any other candidate. He is shown here beside election return board in city hall. He has served 11 years on the PUC.

McDonald Easy Trenton Winner

TRENTON (Staff) — Half an hour after polls closed in Trenton, Mayor Duncan McDonald was still maintaining low-key composure, willing to admit he was "very pleased" at his lead, but not ready to announce his victory.

Mayor McDonald's whole campaign against challenger Reg Martin was low-keyed. From the outset, he made very few election stands, let alone promises, basing his entire future on past accomplishments.

When it became known that three of four incumbent councillors had been defeated at the polls, the mayor admitted he had known the town was dissatisfied with council.

He said he "hoped I've been right . . . I guess the board (poll result tally board) indicates so."

The voters agreed. Of a total of 3,838, Mayor McDonald took 2,279 and all but four of combined 21 polls, as against Mr. Martin's 1,49 stand.

From the first, the results were obvious. However, for a while the margin was 2-1, creeping up to a closer margin only during final returns.

There were few people at the Trenton Community Gardens to witness postal results as tabulated by town clerk O. W. Larry, and other municipal employees. In fact, few showed up at the polls, as compared to predictions of a 45 per cent turnout of the 9,000 eligible voters. Approximately one third of the total braved five-degree temperatures, drifting snow and icy winds.

Shortly before 9 p.m., Reg Martin entered the hall. He made several minutes glancing over results and then straightened his suit jacket.

"I guess it's time to cede," he told reporters. From his pocket, he drew out several folded slips of paper. Half he put away, selecting his 'prewritten concession speech.

Shaking hands with Duncan McDonald, Mr. Martin read: "The people of Trenton have spoken. They have indicated at the polls their satisfaction. Mayor McDonald has had his mandate reaffirmed the democratic way. It was a hard-fought, clean race and there were never any feelings of personal animosity."

Later the man who surprised voters at the last minute by qualifying with three minutes to spare, "because I don't believe in acclamations," said the people haven't heard the last of Reg Martin.

"I like to think of myself sometimes as council's conscience. I still have an unofficial chair in the spectator's section of the council chambers and I would urge that more citizens of Trenton join me in observing all public meetings of council."

For the past six or seven years, the retired member of the Canadian Armed Forces and skipper of an Environment Canada survey vessel based in Burlington during the summer months, has attended almost every session of council.

He welcomed the opportunity to run, suggesting he is there more voters turned out because someone was contesting the mayoralty seat.

To Duncan McDonald his al most non campaign for mayor this term was based almost entirely on past performance. "Most of the real issues have been dealt with by council in the past," he said early in the campaign.

And the CP Rail sales representative stuck to these guns. "I haven't got the time or the money for a real allout campaign," he said.

After it was all over, he splurged on another of his familiar cigars. "I'll continue to serve the people in the way I think best. I didn't get any hot-shot campaign going. It was a lot of people helping."

Trenton Council Has A New Look

TRENTON (Staff) — The biggest surprise to many as far as the 1972-74 Trenton election was concerned, lay in the results of a 15-way battle for six council seats.

Three incumbents, some with up to eight years' service, went down to defeat that one councillor looking stunned, a second close to tears and a third absent from polling headquarters.

The emphasis was on youth. Of the six members of council, the two who led the polls were newcomers. Both will be celebrating their 29th birthdays within the next few weeks.

Dr. John Bonn, a Trenton physician, and Ronald Price, Mayor of Prince's Variety, captured 2,000 and 1,604 votes respectively.

"It feels great. I'd be a liar if I didn't say so," Dr. Bonn said. From the outset, he led the polls. Mr. Price also maintained his position from 11 a.m. first.

"I guess there's not much to say. The people wanted a change and some new, young-er thinking replaced," the variety store owner said some time before final tabulations were in.

Dr. Bonn doesn't anticipate a hard job in learning the new council. "We'll have to learn a lot from the people with experience," he admitted. "But I know we can work well together."

"No new councillor can make changes. We have to work with the system and feel his way. He can have ideas, though and that's the whole idea behind a new approach."

Third man at the polls was Peter DeGroot, 46-year-old accountant and former town treasurer for seven years. He made no bones about his surprise at capturing 1,561 votes.

"I hoped to sneak in by the back door," he said.

"This will require a complete realignment of council. We'll have to put out feelers, but I think we really do have an independent - thinking council coming," he said in an interview.

Both Dr. Robert Patrick, a Trenton dental and Edward Todd, a CP Rail carman, will be adding council experience to the new municipal body.

Both have served on previous councils. Both have retained various positions in the community.

Dr. Patrick for the past two years has been Trenton's elected representative of the Quinte Regional Board. Mr. Todd served on Trenton's Court of Revision.

Dr. Patrick said he was "disappointed at the turnout" of voters — approximately one third of the eligible 9,400. But he is "glad" in mind, he anticipates smooth sailing for the newly elected council.

Only George Greer remains of the incumbent councillors. Municipal clerk explains his second term of office with a feeling of relief.

At one point, with 19 of 31 combined polls in, he trailed challenger Robert Wannamaker by 27 votes. He was amazed at the defeat of his fellow councillors.

"I didn't expect the shift," he said, interpreting the results of dissatisfaction with council's stand on postal office, school guard and fire department matters.

Following is a list of challengers and incumbents, who were defeated, in descending order of poll standings: Robert Wannamaker, Dent tar Packaging accountant; Councillor F. J. 'Pete' Asin; Councillor Stan Ketcheson, LCBO clerk; Jack Robertson, ex-Air Force Major; Councillor Paul Tripp, wholesaler; Sam Foltz, insurance agency owner; Frank Meyers, building contractor; Sam Clements, Dom tar Packaging control superintendent; and Leo McAuley, retired real estate asset.

Office Building Said Needed

The real estate company may even survey potential leaseholders to determine the market here.

Gordon Gray, in Belleville Monday to open LePage's new office on Front St., was reflecting after a morning bus tour of the city. With him were other executives from the company's head office in Toronto.

Mr. Gray said a 30,000 to 50,000 square-foot building would probably suffice to house lawyers, finance operators and other businessmen seeking new office space. He said such a building would be five to seven storeys high.

"I'm convinced there's a need for a commercial building here," said Mr. Gray. "There are none now."

Preliminary studies could be conducted by the commercial and industrial department now being established in LePage's Belleville office. Salesmen Charles Cocke and Tom Thompson have been transferred from commercial properties to expand the company's interests in the non-housing aspect of real estate.

"If there's a need, we would line up an investor and coordinate development," said Mr. Gray.

He admitted he had noticed the vacant lot at Front St. and Victoria Ave.

"It's an interesting location but there wouldn't really be enough room for parking and an office and it is too far from the city centre for businessmen to walk," he observed.

Canada's largest realty firm LePage is particularly enthusiastic about prospects in this area. The Belleville office is the only one of 40 located outside a major metropolitan area. Others are in Montreal, Ottawa, Vancouver and the Hamilton to Oshawa belt.

Belleville is a pilot project for us," said Mr. Grey.

He mentioned the city's stable growth rate, cross section of industries and central location as good reasons for the optimistic outlook. Another is the Belleville office's woman manager.

"We're here because Mrs. Marg Cooke is here," he said.

"We have a great deal of confidence in her."

Since joining LePage's four years ago, Mrs. Cooke has sold more than 1,000 houses in the area. Wife of Charles Cooke, she is also a vice-president in the company, only woman to hold office.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids . . . and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It soothes itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief soon occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this lasting relief was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing ointment (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money back.

THEY'RE NOT MAKING FAMILIES LIKE THEY USED TO.

A hundred years ago it wasn't uncommon for a family of six or eight children to be wiped out within a week by typhoid or diphtheria.

And it wasn't uncommon for the parents to start all over again on a family of six or eight or ten children. A woman was old at 40.

Life today is more humane. Modern medicine has controlled terrible childhood diseases. It has also provided effective means of contraception. The pill is only one of them.

If you'd like to know all there is to know about the pill and the 7 other major methods of contraception consult your doctor or local health unit or contact the organization below. We'll keep your call confidential.

Ann Landers
'Pep' Pills Helped Job But Not His Health

Dear Ann Landers: I have a serious problem and don't know who to turn to. Please help. I am 28, male, with a fine wife and two small children. About four months ago I started to work a second job to make more money. I began to take "pep pills" when some of the guys at the second job told me that's how he got the energy to carry him through a second shift. Now I am hooked.

I realize I'm addicted to oral Speed and it is killing me. I feel like a revved up motor with no brakes. Twice I tried to quit but I couldn't keep my eyes open. I can't tell my wife I'm hooked on cross-tops. It would kill her if she knew. She pays every bill making a paranoid nut out of me. Do you know of an anti-amphetamine I could switch to that would give me the energy I need and get me out of that junkie routine? I'm desperate.—Troubles

Dear T.: You can be helped by a doctor if you follow his instructions. I implore you not to try to treat yourself. You did that once and you see where it landed you!

Dear Ann Landers: Two and a half months ago my mother-in-law left her husband. Every weekend since the—separation she has been at our house. She is a very nice person, but I think she is mixed up.

The reasons for the split is that my father-in-law has a bad temper and has beaten her on several times. She says she hates the sight of him and there is no chance that they will ever get together again. Yet every weekend she telephones him and he comes over and they go out together until all hours of the night.

The next day she says she had a rotten time and she wishes he would leave her alone. She must not remember that we know she called him. She tells everyone a different story.

My husband and I have been married only a year and his mother keeps our home in constant turmoil. We have no free times together since we both work and the weekends are taken over by his mother. He says he can't abandon her in her hour of trouble. Any suggestions?—Fight Right Fight

Dear Fight: You need an impartial person, a doctor or a clergyman for example, to make it clear to your husband that his major concern should be his own marriage because his mother's is already a mess and there is nothing he can do about it.

Dear Ann Landers: People gripe through your column a lot, so please give me my turn.

To Whom It May Concern—namely, all you empty-headed idiots who keep asking me if I'm going to be a doctor just because my dad is one:

The answer is no. The reason I am working as a janitor in a doctor's office is because I am under legal age to get a job. I hate it when someone says: "Oh, so you're going to be a doctor, too!" Or when I put a landing on a kid in the neighborhood who has a scratch, they say: "Practising medicine, just like your dad!"

I wish people would quit saying it. It gets on my nerves. I'll bet this goes for lots of doctors' sons. How about you smart ones over for these books?—I Want To Be An Architect

Dear Arch: You don't need a smart answer—try a calm and reasonable one. There is no law that says a son must follow his father's occupation. On the other hand, why are you so hostile to your dad? Think about that for a while, son.

Ms., Mrs. or Miss?
Alberta Recognizes Ms.

By BERNIE GOEDHART

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government has taken its first steps towards official recognition of the prefix Ms. — but the steps weren't exactly in a straight line and haven't yet reached their destination.

Roy Wilson, Social Credit MLA for Calgary Bow, suggests in fact the issue was "artfully sidetracked" in the legislature recently.

Mr. Wilson presented a bill to revise the election act requirement that a woman's name be given for the prefix Mrs. or Miss in the list of electors. The bill, which was read during the fall sitting of the legislature, called for the option to use Ms., a label whose use has been advocated by the women's liberation movement.

The bill was endorsed by the two women in the 75-seat provincial legislature—both members of the government—and by several male MLAs before it was referred to the legislative committee studying the election act.

That committee "is not due to report until the next session," said Mr. Wilson.

The opposition member said he was disappointed at the delay and suggested perhaps the government "doesn't like to buy ideas from the opposition."

He said his presentation of the bill developed from an incident where Premier Peter Lougheed had written a letter addressed Ms. rather than Miss or Mrs.

Mr. Wilson said he asked the premier if this meant the government was now using the prefix or if it was merely a typographical error.

"He didn't know anything about it. His secretary must have done it."

The Social Credit MLA said he then began thinking about the principle behind use of the Ms. prefix, and decided to introduce the amending bill.

"I purposely picked the election act because it is innocuous," Mr. Wilson said. "Debate had to centre about the principle.

"Women should be able to be identified as individuals, not as some man's property or some man's wife."

Asked if his wife uses Ms. before her name, Mr. Wilson replied: "No. She uses Mrs.

"But that's the beauty of the bill. It doesn't say anyone can't use Miss or Mrs."

It just offers the option to use Ms., he said.

This option appears to exist in many agencies and firms.

Stuart Carson, Canada Manpower supervisor of service to employers, said Canada Manpower has no official policy on the use of Ms.

"We have had no provision in the forms that we know of. But if anyone wants to use it, we have no objection at all."

Isabel Munroe, dean of women at the University of Alberta, said she feels Ms. is "gaining acceptance merely because it is convenient."

The convenience of using Ms. was also mentioned by J. C. Cels, director of departmental services for the Alberta government.

He said to his knowledge there is no provision for Ms. on governmental employment application forms as yet. "But no forms are set, so Miss and Ms. is one of the factors being considered.

"Ms. is used in correspondence from our offices where there's no indication if a person is Miss or Mrs."

Dolores Russell, 26, who started Edmonton's women's-lib-inclined newspaper On Our Way, said use of Ms., which she prefers, "takes the stigma off being either married or unmarried.

She also suggested that "in the long-range at will lessen the stigma of (having) illegitimate children" in that a woman won't have to indicate her marital status.

Ms. Russell is married but uses her maiden name. As such, she finds the Ms. prefix useful.

Miller of Your Mind
by JOHN CONWELL

Should a grouch stay single?

YES—if the dour man or woman doesn't encounter love. If love is found, then marriage will probably follow (and never mind about the grouch really having something to be grouchy about!). It is apt to be a happy marriage, too. A grouchy man, say, will in all likelihood, find marriage satisfying because he doesn't have to pretend to be somebody he is not, trying valiantly to live up to promises he can't possibly keep.

Is necessity the mother of invention?

SOMETIMES it seems so; but here again, it is the necessity brought on by necessity that "mothers" invention. A person has a neurotic need, which he may deny exists at all. Rather than admit it, the neurotic individual will contrive all sorts of defenses and ploys which will allow him to fulfill that need, while at the same time he will be able to convince himself that he had steadfastly refused to give in to his compelling, neurotic need.

Why does a kid's question bug you?

IF you knew the answer to that question, you could answer all of your child's questions with an equanimity that would not only surprise you, but might stop your child from asking so many questions that really don't call for a straight answer. A child who is asking questions is reaching information, but that is not the information he wants may not be in the context of the words of your answer. He might just be testing your relationship to him.

Indian Pride Encouraged

RIDGETOWN, Ont. (CP) — Brenda Huff has been teaching Indians and non-Indians about Indian culture and history to encourage Indian school children to take pride in themselves and in their heritage.

Mrs. Huff is the first Indian education worker in the first cross-cultural education program organized by an integrated school by the federal government.

She says she is encouraged and enthusiastic about the future after her four years at the Howard-Harwich-Morravian public school. There are 65 Delaware Indians among its 510 students.

Mrs. Huff is a Delaware Indian, from the Moravianown reserve, 11 miles north of rural Ridgetown. She acts as continuity officer between reserve and school and promotes understanding of Indian life among staff, non-Indians and their families.

She also assists teachers. Indian history and culture are included in classes on government, social studies and arts and crafts.

The program was developed as the result of a study on the high drop out rate among Indian students. The study showed a lack of pride and satisfying self-image contributed to the problem. Both study and program were developed by the department of Indian and northern affairs.

Four integrated public schools in Sarnia and two in Forest intend to adopt the program next year. It is basic within the guidelines of the Ontario department of education.

Mrs. Huff said: "My first real challenge was getting the Indian community's approval of integrated schooling. Indian students from Grade 1 to 8 were represented at the school, but many children still attended the reserve school. It was a gradual, grade-by-grade process before the majority of children came over with the approval of their parents and teachers."

Mrs. Huff tells Grade 1 children stories of Indian legend and lore. She teaches beading in crafts classes. She has set up library exhibits of arrowheads and leathercraft. She invites parents and classes to information on Delaware and other Indians. She helps arrange visits from Indian band officials to government and social studies classes.

Mrs. Huff keeps Indian parents informed about their youngsters' grades, progress and attitudes. She arranges rides home for children who stay for extra-curricular activities. She said she is proud of the Indian girl who is cheerleader this year.

She is pleased that schoolsponsored trips to the reserve are a common activity now. The first time she tried to plan one she was frustrated by non-Indian parents who did not want their children to go.

James O'Connor, the school's principal, said all the staff have worked hard to make the program successful.

"The Indian children see Mrs. Huff working as an equal with the other teachers and this also makes them feel good about themselves and her."

Mr. O'Connor said there "Petty things, like nametalling, that are usually generated by ignorance, are also disappearing.

"Barriers are coming down. Awareness of both cultures is growing, and with it, mutual respect."

Research Results From Teapot Design

LONDON (CP) — Whether it has been the blitz or a beach picnic "a good cup of tea" or a "cuppa" has been part of the British way of life for generations.

Now Britain's Tea Council has given due recognition to the teapot itself and has awarded to Anthony Plant, a student at North Staffordshire Polytechnic, a prize for the design of the perfect British teapot.

The award has started some research into the making of tea.

The average Englishman and the expert have agreed on one thing: that one of the cheapest teapots of all is the one that makes the best pot of tea. This is the type called the Brown Betty, made of red clay with a brown glaze.

Why do these pots make such good tea? It is thought to be largely due to the shape of the pot—rounded, with a spout comparatively high up. This means that when the boiling leaves they swirl gently round —and this infuses the tea thoroughly. The handle is firm, the spout gently curved, and the lid set in a depression so that pouring is easy.

But even with the perfect pot there still is a right—and a wrong—way to brew it.

Warming the teapot with boiling water and letting it stand for two or three minutes to become thoroughly hot is the first important step. After pouring away this lot of water put in the tea—one old rule of one teaspoon per person and one for the pot is still the best.

Then pour on boiling water—one it on while it is actually boiling for the best results: unless the water is boiling the leaves won't open and the tuff flavor won't be extracted from them. Then let the pot stand for the tea to draw for five to 10 minutes. If there are a lot of people the smaller pots make better tea than one large one.

Most people divide the tea itself simply into Indian or China but there are dozens of different varieties of tea under both these headings. Often these teas are known by the name of the place they come from, such as Darjeeling, Assam, or some of the Ceylon teas such as Uva or Dimbula.

Teas from different places have different flavors, whereas the names that refer to the size of the leaf itself—such as orange pekoe, broken pekoe souchong—don't necessarily have anything to do with flavor or quality.

Then there are the standard

National Foods Carefully Studied

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Venetians eat more pasta than anyone but Italians.

Canadians are resisting food-on-the-run franchises and are taking to dishes from many lands.

These are some of the findings of Judi Halbleib, manager of consumer services for Pillsbury International. Part of her job has been to live for several months in countries other than her native United States to find out what people really eat.

What she finds out goes in to helping her firm develop new products or use old ones to appeal to its various markets.

She said people in South American countries approach pasta dishes differently from Italians or North Americans. They use different sauces, different seasonings. They cook casseroles on top of the stove.

"They make a soup with very thin angel hair pasta broken into pieces and fried, then put into beef or chicken stock. In one country it's fried in lard, in another pork fat, or butter.

"I spent weeks in England finding out about hops, a kind of a-."

She said there are a thousand small differences between cooking in Canada and in the United States.

"That's a fact often frustratingly hard to point out to the head office in the United States.

"The most obvious is the ethnic patterns followed here, and the availabilities of products used to make those recipes. There is much more evidence in daily eating patterns of people's European backgrounds.

"There is the obvious difference in French and English cooking. As a whole, French-Canadians are more creative. They seem to spend more time in their kitchens and understand what they're doing better.

"The Canadian homemaker seems to know a good deal about herbs and spices.

"There is not the emphasis on fast foods here that there is in the United States. The fast food franchises are not as successful here, on a population basis."

Miss Halbleib said when she goes into a new country she begins by reading cook books and shopping in food stores.

"You spend days and days going through cook books. If you don't know the language, you have to learn it well enough to read a recipe.

"If you're lucky, 40 to 50 per cent of what you read in a cook book will be applicable. That's all perfection, and that's not the way people cook.

"I spend a lot of time in grocery stores and bake shops looking at things.

"I try to go out and eat among the natives. This isn't always easy to do because of class distinctions and things that are done or not done locally.

"I try to find out where foods and recipes fit, to say here's something of which the country eats a lot. How can we make something that will fit?"

In addition to national patterns, Miss Halbleib said the product possibilities must also be taken into account, and availability of ingredients.

"There is little you can do that's new, a different combination of ingredients, or a different technique. We substitute convenience ingredients.

"Most I do are family-oriented, rarely will we try to make a recipe to be used once a year."

In any country, she said, convenience products are designed to suit "average" taste. She said a cook may alter them to suit her family's taste.

"People are afraid to take a product and try to do something different with it.

"You can take herbs and spices you like and add them to a prepared product. If you've used a mix and there isn't rich enough, add a little fat or butter. Add a can of fruit to a cake mix.

"Most things will turn out all right, maybe not quite the way you hoped, but they'll turn out.

"Most food companies make recipes available to people who call or write. They'll tell you ways to use their products in different ways."

Women's Union Formed

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 20 women have decided to strike out on their own to form the Service, Office and Retail Workers Union of Canada (SORWUC), citing bad experiences with existing unions as their reason for forming the new group.

Jean Rands, Local 1 president, says existing unions are "inadequate."

"We decided to organize independently mainly because the overwhelming majority of women are not organized and the existing unions haven't done much about it," she said in an interview.

Miss Rands said women and women's needs aren't represented by the leadership of current unions.

"We decided there was no point in joining an undemocratic union when it is fairly easy to set up a new one."

She said SORWUC objects to the bureaucracy of unions and their highly paid leaders and is making some changes in its union structure.

"A person can only hold a paid position for a maximum of two years, then they have to go back to work. That way they won't be able to get so removed from the workers."

The new union's prime organizational targets are banks, insurance offices, department stores and restaurants, all of which employ many women, most of them not union members.

Miss Rands said: "Department stores, for instance, have historically proved they will fight hard against unionization. They are very hostile indeed."

She said militancy and "creative tactics" will be the new union's weapons in organizing workers.

McFarland's Win Easy

PICTON — Picton mayor Margaret Ackerman conquered her campaign against Harvey J. McFarland to the battle between David and Goliath but voters wrote a different ending to the confrontation. The attractive blonde nurse was defeated by an almost two to one majority.

Mayor Ackerman said she entered the mayoralty battle not with a large political machine but with a sling loaded with "a few facts."

Electors, however, rallied to support her opponent Harvey J. McFarland, the man who astounded ratepayers two years ago when he refused to contest the election race.

The ebullient millionaire, who championed Picton for more than two decades, stepped into the limelight last night after a two-year absence from the political scene. Surrounded by friends at a victory celebration at the Royal Hotel the mayor-elect declared he felt "just wonderful" about his election win.

"I feel that the people of my town which I have served for 20 years have shown confidence in me to return me with such a large majority," he said.

Mr. McFarland asserted words could not express his appreciation to supporters who voted him to victory yesterday.

"May God give me the good health and the strength to carry out my responsibilities to the town of Picton," he remarked.

Mr. McFarland beamed at a board in the hotel showing election results and said the highlight of his win occurred when he captured mayor Ackerman's own poll.

Mayor Ackerman remained at her home as ballots were counted and confided that yesterday was the longest day of her life. She said this morning she was "very, very disappointed" in the outcome of the mayoralty race and feels there is "one hell of a time" ahead for Mr. McFarland, since only three council veterans were returned to council with him.

She remarked that she wished him the best of luck and hoped his health would permit him to do the job he has promised.

"Everything was left in a very tidy ship," she said.

Mayor Ackerman added the election was very decisive and said she would write a note to Mr. McFarland today conceding her defeat.

She said she would not commit herself at this time concerning her future in municipal politics.

Results Slow

PICTON (Staff) — Election night in Prince Edward County lost its fast moving excitement this year as results trickled in piece-meal over a six hour period.

The newsroom of the Picton Gazette, where an election board is customarily posted, was deserted due to bad weather and the lateness of returns. For the first time in many years only the total votes for each candidate were recorded there instead of a poll - by - poll breakdown. Many ratepayers, however, did telephone for election results but few were available until well after 10 p.m.

Town clerk Andrew Jarvis labored with his assistants until 2 a.m., tabulating final results for Picton. All of Prince Edward County's remaining nine municipalities had reported final results by midnight. Athol township was the last to call results to the offices of the Picton Gazette, where a news staff kept the public informed of the candidates' progress.

Musical Taste

CALGARY (CP) — Thieves with good musical taste got away with $3,753 worth of guitars here recently. "The culprits apparently knew exactly what they were looking for when they took only the most expensive equipment," police said.

Prince Edward Seats Settled

PICTON (Staff) — Former Wellington reeve Robert Boyce last night defeated incumbent Douglas Marvin by a wide margin in a hard fought election race. He polled a total of 391 votes while the uncontested reeve won 180 ballots. Mr. Boyce is returning after a two-year absence from village politics.

In a contest for four council seats, William Salmsbury led the polls followed by veteran William Greer, Joseph Karas and Keith Barnet. Losers were Bert Hiles and Borden Greatrix.

South Marysburgh geography teacher Allan Raley failed in his bid to unseat incumbent township reeve Clifford Walker, who remained in office with a 92 vote majority.

In the race for council seats, Joseph McAlpine led the polls followed by Kenneth Minaker, Bernard Keogh, and Douglas Miller.

In Sophiasburgh, veteran campaigner George Foster retained his seat as reeve defeating deputy - reeve Roy Brooks by a wide majority. Deputy reeve-elect Jack Sprague trounced challenger Mac MacDonald with 416 votes to his opponents 351.

Sophiasburgh township council was acclaimed this year.

A race for the reeveship in Hillier this term was won by deputy reeve Lewis Wight, who defeated councillor Donald Sutton for this seat.

Incumbent Hillier reeve and warden of Prince Edward County Ross Bennett will retire from office this year.

Athol township farmer and columnist Harry Evans lost his bid for election as reeve to opponent Keith Perry. Contender for deputy reeve, Vernon Armstrong was beaten by challenger Harold Sills. This office was created in Athol for the first time this year.

With three councillors to elect in Athol, voters gave strongest support to Leland Ostrander. He was followed by David Leavitt and Stanley Rankin.

In Ameliasburgh township, with three councillors to elect Arnold Wetherall led the polls with 580 votes followed by H. G. Babbitt and Stanley Goodfellow.

Reeve Russell Thompson was returned by acclamation. Deputy reeve Roger Redner also was acclaimed as incumbent Norman Post retired.

Hallowell deputy reeve Keith MacDonald was acclaimed reeve this year and William Rutherford became deputy reeve by acclamation. With three councillors to be elected, David Lockwood led the polls with 523 votes followed by Herbert Rolston and Fred Stafford.

Bloomfield village enjoyed a lively contest for council and newcomer Ben Prinsen led the polls with 295 votes. Others elected to council were Donald Baxter, Jack Sleeman and Donald Harvey.

North Marysburgh did not have an election this year since all councillors took office by acclamation. New reeve is Jack Wells. First township deputy reeve is Mrs. Avis Hind. Councillors are Jack Carter, Gordon Norton and Kenneth Hicks.

Crombie Toronto Mayor

Metro Reform Phalanx Will Curb Construction

TORONTO (CP) — Metro Toronto starts off two years of civic government with new men at the head of five of its six municipal governments and with a solid "reform" phalanx dedicated to blunting the priorities of construction development.

A strong trend toward youth heralded also in Monday's balloting as three under-40 mayors reached office. They were headed by David Crombie, 36, a freshman alderman who leaped from the underdog position to become Toronto city's youngest mayor of the century.

A bouncy university lecturer who stands five feet, five inches tall, Mr. Crombie administered decisive defeats to two fellow council members and four outsiders to take over the civic leadership vacated by retiring veteran William Dennison, 67.

In Metro's second largest municipality of North York, 30-year-old Mel Lastman, a merchandising whizbang, took over the vacated mayoralty while lawyer Paul Cosgrove, 37, beat incumbent Robert White, 52, in third-largest Scarborough.

Mayor White was the only council chief with his office on the line before the electors. Four of the city and borough mayors had retired while the sixth—Philip White, 52, in York borough—received an acclamation.

In the other boroughs, Dennis Flynn, 40, Toronto city information officer, won Etobicoke on his second try while Willis Blair, 49, lawyer and Conservative politician, won small East York following the retirement of Miss True Davidson, its perennial reeve and then mayor for 12 years.

The reform trend—synonymous here with slowing down apartment and office building—ran strongest in Toronto city where 12 of the 23 returned council members are in that category, probably indicating that big high-rise developments and road construction projects will run second to preservation of the neighborhood and the quality of life.

This was typified by Mayor-elect Crombie who six years ago was an early member of a reformist group called the Civic Action Party (Civac) along with Tony O'Donohue and David Rotenberg, who ran second and third to him Monday. Civac has since disintegrated.

Irish-born Mr. O'Donohue, whose enthusiasm as an anti-developer had waned in favor of providing jobs for construction workers, ran about 24,000 votes behind Mr. Crombie's 80,000-plus, while Mr. Rotenberg, city council's finance chief with a recent reputation as a "street-opera" man," was another 20,000 to the rear.

By some observers the strong Crombie tide was seen as indicating a lack of interest by the voters in completion of the controversial Spadina Expressway between northwest Metro and downtown Toronto, which the Ontario government killed this year. Mr. Crombie strongly opposed its revival.

The same issue, however, was partly responsible for some of the strong showing by women candidates in the election.

Other women elected were prominent among the "reform" element.

PCs to Announce 'Shadow Cabinet'

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Victories by Progressive Conservatives in two of three byelections held in Prince Edward Island Monday show "the party is on the march again," says George Dewar, interim party leader.

The Conservatives won Kings 1st and Queens 2nd ridings, but lost a tight race in Kings 4th to Premier Alex Campbell's Liberals.

However the Liberal government, which won all three seats in the last general election, still holds a solid majority in the 32-seat house. The byelections left standings at 25 Liberals and seven Conservatives.

Dr. Dewar, whose party was swamped 27-to-5 by the Liberals in 1970, said the byelections indicated the people had reservations about some of the policies enacted by federal and provincial Liberal governments.

But Gordon Bennett, acting premier while Mr. Campbell is in Ottawa for meetings, said he felt the voting did not show a rejection of the government and its policies. He said the people had listened to Conservative requests to make the opposition "numerically strong and had taken it to heart."

Riding The Roof

Following early snowfall John Parry of the Savoy Mountain Snowmobile Area in Massachusetts could cruise almost to top of the roof of his father's former potato barn. Parry's potato farm has been converted to snowmobile area, and barn now houses large restaurant and snowmobile sales and service business.

CIRCLE MEAL

Often groups of pelicans feed together in a tight circle, slowly rotating to stop any victims from escaping.

Mother Tired of Ads Using Child's Pleas

TORONTO (CP) — A mother of three children told members of the Ontario Food Processors Association Monday she is tired of seeing children used to apply pressure on parents to buy sugar-coated cereals.

Lorraine Fox, a nurse, said that after the cereals are advertised for the gimmick contained in the box, they are displayed in stores where "all those yummy-gummys with give-aways are right there at eye-level."

"The good sick-to-the-ribs cereals are hidden away."

Phyllis Fernandes, a mother of five, also a nurse, said processors get away with their claim of providing a nutritious breakfast by listing "with a cup of milk" in small print.

"I'm afraid all the nutritive value is in that milk," she said.

The two were part of a 12-woman panel.

The women criticized most chain stores for poor quality fruits and vegetables. They said price was a factor when they shopped, but quality and the courtesy shown by the store staff also is considered.

There was support for greater control over frozen foods with a demand for some kind of dating code.

R. E. Oliver, president of the Canadian advertising advisory board, noted that most written food complaints are from men.

"The great majority are from reasonable people discussing reasonable issues. They write to us because they feel their complaint would not fall on receptive ears at the local level, or because they tried to lodge a complaint with the store or manufacturer and did not get satisfaction."

John White, Ontario minister of industry and tourism, told the processors Canada may need a special citizen's body that would allow industrial mergers forbidden under competition legislation.

He said competitive conditions being imposed on Canada with British entry into the European Economic Community and President Richard Nixon's 1972 economic measures may force Canada into a mechanism of this kind.

Boost Pay, Cut Staff

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — City Council ratified a 42.7-percent wage increase for its 43 firemen, Monday night, then voted to cut eight men from the force.

The wage increase, contained in a three-year agreement, was recommended earlier this fall by a provincial arbitration board. Council had hesitated to sign the agreement, saying the city could not afford the increase.

The basic monthly wage for a first-class firefighter, the key classification, will go to $970 on July 1, 1974. At the start of this year, a first-class firefighter earned $675 a month.

Famous Names Face Russians

TORONTO (CP) — Four Toronto Marlboro Juniors, including two sons of former National Hockey League great, Gordie Howe, have been named to the Ontario team that will face the Moscow Selects here next Sunday.

Defencemen Marty Howe and his younger brother, Mark, who has already faced the Russians as a member of the U.S. Olympic hockey team at Sapporo, Japan, in February, are among the four Marlboros on the team composed primarily of players from the Ontario Hockey Association Senior Series.

Orillia Terriers make up the bulk of the Ontario club announced Monday with 10 players. Barrie Flyers contributed three while Galt Hornets and Oakville Oaks added one each.

The only player not from the OHA is forward Bob Munro of the University of Toronto.

Bordeleau and Glenn Goldup are the other Marlboros on the squad. The junior club leads the OHA Junior A Series.

Galt's Sonny Pennington will share the goaltending chores with Jean Lavesseur of Orillia against the Moscow team, said to include 10 members of the Soviet team that played an eight-game exhibition series with Team Canada in September.

Other Terriers on the team are defencemen Tom Polanic, Ron Danville and Doug Kelcher along with forwards Gary Monge, Mike Draper, Clare Alexander and Jim Keon.

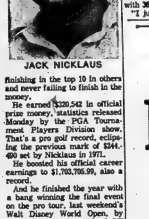
Joining them are defencemen Darryl Sly and forwards Corky Adams and Pat Monahan from Oakville and Barrie and Henry Monteith of Oakville.

Trio Shares AL Pitching Honors

BOSTON (AP) — Lids Tiant (119) and earned runs given (105).

Tiant, a right-hander picked up by the Red Sox after many considered his career ended because of arm trouble in 1971, won the award by a margin of the second time with a 1.91 mark.

Tiant, who led the league with a 1.60 ERA with Cleveland in 1968, had 4-4 mark until promoted to a regular starting job last August. He came close in pitching for the Red Sox to the East Division title compiling a 15-6 record with six shutouts.



Perry, acquired from San Francisco Giants after the 1971 season, had a spectacular year for Cleveland. He compiled a 24-16 record, sharing the most victories with Wood, who topped the league with 29 complete games and compiled a 1.52 earned-run average.

Wood, the White Sox' knuckleball artist, had a 24-17 record. He led the league in most starts (39), most innings (277), hits allowed (225), most batters faced (1,206), runs surrendered

Now That's Performance!

He competed in 19 tournaments, winning seven of them,

JACK NICKLAUS

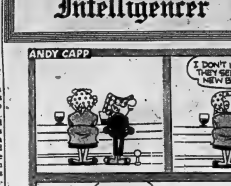
He earned $320,542 in official prize money, statistics released Monday by the PGA Tournament Players Division show. That's a pro golf record, eclipsing the previous mark of $244,490 set by Nicklaus in 1971.

He boosted his official career earnings to $1,703,705.99, also a record.

And he finished the year with a bang winning the final event on the pro tour, last weekend's Walt Disney World Open, by nine strokes. His total of 287 was the lowest winning score of the year and his nine-stroke margin was the biggest victory spread on the tour.



Nicklaus's triumph in the pro tour's final event was worth $30,000. He also won the inaugural Disney World in 1971.

Trailing Nicklaus on the final earnings list were Lee Trevino, $214,805; George Archer, $145,027; Grier Jones, $140,177; Jerry Heard, $137,146; Tom Weiskopf, $129,622; Gary Player, $120,719; Bruce Devlin, $119,788; Bobby Nichols, $118,926, and Lanny Watkins, $116,616.

WANTS PLAYOFFS ON TV

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mayor Peter Flaherty has urged National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle to prohibit a local television blackout of any playoff games involving Pittsburgh Steelers. He also asked Steeler president Dan Rooney to join in the fight against the NFL-mandated blackouts, noting that local TV coverage "will have no significant effect on attendance" at Three Rivers Stadium.

KEEPS FRENCH TITLE

PARIS (AP) — Robert Galisio retained his French welterweight boxing championship Monday night with a 12-round decision over Marcel Cerdan Jr. Galisio, 145½ pounds, was cut on the nose in the first round and cut Cerdan's in the seventh. In the second round, Galisio floored his 144-pound opponent.

Ward Finds WHA Home

Ron Ward was saying. "I can't believe all this stuff."

What Ward can't believe is the way he's moved up in the world—the World Hockey Association, that is.

First he was moved up from defence to centre on New York Raiders. And that moves, suggested by Raiders coach Camille Henry, got Ward moving in the scoring department.

He moved right up into first place in the WHA scoring race. League statistics released show him with a WHA-high 23 goals plus 19 assists for 42 points, five more than Gord Labossiere of Houston Aeros.

Christian Bordeleau of Winnipeg Jets and Bobby Sheehan of the Raiders are tied for third with 36 points apiece.

Was Dave In Bounds?

TORONTO (CP) — Was Dave Fleming in bounds when he completed a 16-yard pass and was credited with a touchdown in Hamilton Tiger-Cats' 13-10 victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders in the 1972 Grey Cup Sunday?

Saskatchewan players protested at the time that Fleming had one foot at least partly on the sideline when he came down. This would have put him out of bounds under Canadian Football League rules and nullified the touchdown.

Officials declared it a legal catch.

The play was regarded as national television networks, but many observers felt camera angles made it impossible to be sure of where Fleming's foot first touched.

A Canadian Press photograph may add fresh fuel to the controversial play. It shows Fleming's foot definitely hiding from view part of the sideline.

The Canadian Football League says its out-of-bounds ruling applies to a receiver "who, on landing, touches a sideline, a sideline in goal, dead line or any object or ground beyond such lines."

Fleming was slanting toward the sidelines when the pass arrived late in the first quarter. He went up for the ball and came down on one foot.

"My foot came down inside," said Fleming, a University of Pittsburgh graduate. "Yeah, I guess it was close."

Ted Dushinski, defensive back with Saskatchewan, argued unsuccessfully that Fleming was out of bounds. He pointed out identations on the white side marker to an official, but was unable to convince him they matched Fleming's cleat.

Ray Robinson, the Rider who tackled Fleming as he caught the ball, said later he did not see where Fleming landed.

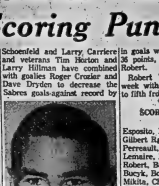
Kings, Sabres Find More Scoring Punch

MONTREAL (CP) — Los Angeles Kings and Buffalo Sabres, each last in their respective divisions a year ago, have made large strides toward respectability in the National Hockey League standings this season.

Balance makes them both fourth-place teams with averages of .500 or better.

A year ago, the West Division Kings' offence scored just 53 goals in their first 26 games and the defence allowed 106 goals while winning only five games, losing 20 and tying one.

But this season rookie coach Bob Pulford has two potent forward lines—Ralph Backstrom, Butch Goring and Serge Bernier; Juha Widing, Bob Berry and Mike Corrigan—which have helped provide an increase of 34 goals over last season's output in the same number of games.



On the defence, Jim Hill, Komadoski and Barry Long and veterans Harry Howell, Terry Harper and Gilles Marotte teamed with goaltenders Rogatien Vachon and Gary Edwards to trim 29 goals, to 86 from 115, from the total allowed a year ago.

Los Angeles and Philadelphia Flyers are tied for fourth position in the West Division with identical 11-11-4 won-lost-tied records.

While playing 23 of 26 games as a unit, this line has scored 41 of Buffalo's 93 goals.

Rookie defenceman Jim Schoenfeld and Larry Carriere and veteran Tim Horton and Larry Hillman have combined with goalies Roger Crozier and Dave Dryden to decrease the Sabres goals-against record by

BOB PULFORD

The Sabres have almost doubled their points over last season's 18, and are in third place in the fourth place in the East Division with an 11-11-4 mark.

In the individual scoring race, centre Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins is alone at the top with 38 points, one more than Red Gilbert of New York Rangers and Perreault of Buffalo.

Robert led all scorers last week with nine points to vault to fifth from 18th place.

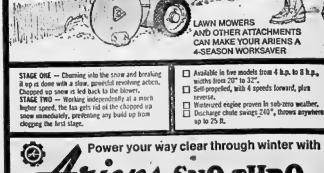
Buchanan Belts Opponent

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Buchanan of Scotland knocked down previously unbeaten Chang Ki Lee and stopped the South Korean boxer in the second round of a scheduled 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

Buchanan, the former world lightweight champion, hit the Asian junior welterweight king with a right hand that buckled his legs at about the one-minute mark of the second round. Moments later, Buchanan sent Lee reeling into a corner with a hard left to the face and dropped him with a left-right to the head.

Lee got up at four and took a mandatory eight count. Buchanan then hit him with a flurry of punches and referee Johnny Ballanco stopped the bout at 1:43 of the round.



Lee, a no. 4 contender, 135½ pounds in winning for the 45th time against just two losses as a pro, is no. 3 in Ring Magazine. Lee, 136, has a 19-1 record.

Power clear through any drift

WITH THE ARIENS

TWO-STAGE SNOWTHROWER

Chewing up snow and blowing it away are two separate actions. That's why Ariens handles each one separately, at different speeds. With the two-stage combination of power and speed, you can tackle heavy wet snow, ice crusted snow — even waist-high drifts.

LAWN MOWERS AND OTHER ATTACHMENTS CAN MAKE YOUR ARIENS A 4-SEASON WORKSAVER

STAGE ONE — Churning into the snow and breaking it up is done with a slow, powerful revolving auger. Chopped up snow is fed back to the blower.
STAGE TWO — Working independently at a much higher speed, the fan gets rid of the chopped up snow immediately, preventing any build up from clogging the first stage.

Belleville Has Hand In Big Hockey Show

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Belleville won't hold centre stage in the biggest hockey show in Canada this winter, we're guaranteed a front row centre seat.

Teams from Russia, Czechoslovakia and Sweden will be competing in a 10-day Canadian tournament and during this city won't witness any live tournament action, the Quintes have been scheduled for an exhibition meeting with the Russians Friday, Jan. 5th.

Kingston Aces, Galt Hornets and the Orwen Sound Downtowners have been picked to represent Canada in the tournament play against the Moscow Dynamos, Timras Hockey Club of Sweden and the Prague Hockey Club of Czechoslovakia.

Canadian Amateur Hockey Association president Joe Krycska announced plans for the tournament in a press release Tuesday. The tourney will be a 15-game affair with total points to determine the victors.

As part of the tour by the European hockey powers, exhibition games have been arranged in Brantford, Belleville and Orillia.

The teams will include a number of players who participated in the September showdown with Team Canada, which means that Belleville's hockey fans could see some familiar Soviet faces when the Dynamos hit town for the January exhibition game against the Quintes.

Despite the powerful USSR entry, the Belleville section's current plans do not call for boosting the local lineup with import players. "As far as I know right now we'll go with the lineup we have," said team spokesman Lionel Bobby. "It's an exhibition game, but everyone wants to play against them."

Some of the Quintes may see action in regular tournament play as members of the Kingston Aces. George Godson, Lorne O'Donnell and Greg Marchen were all called upon to bolster the Limestone City entry in a November exhibition meeting with the Russians.

The tournament, sponsored by the Royal Bank of Canada and running from Dec. 26 to Jan. 6, will include four games played in Kingston. Russia will open tourney play with an 8 pm game at the Memorial Centre on Tuesday, Dec. 26.

Two days later Sweden will face the Aces on their home grounds while the third Kingston match will feature Galt at Kingston Jan. 2nd. The final tournament game in that city will be the following day with the Czechs providing the opposition.

The CAHA president noted that the international tournament will be the first between established clubs played in this country.

"It is going to be a very exciting tournament, and if it attracts anything like the attention it deserves, there is every reason to hope it will be repeated in future years", said Krycka.

Knapton Joins Quintes

The Belleville Quintes may have received their biggest OHA Senior A hockey boost of the season today.

That "boost" could come in the form of left winger Ken Knapton who is negotiating to join the Quintes. The rugged left winger is currently signed with Oakville but is finding commuting arrangements from his Peterborough home difficult according to Lionel Botley of the Belleville team.

"I'm hoping that he can give us the same kind of lift that Dick Cherry gave Kingston last year," said Botley.

"They were floundering until they signed him and wound up in fourth place. He (Knapton) could give us a big lift."

The portsider is currently among the leading Senior A scorers with seven goals and 12 assists for 19 points. His scoring potential is only too well known by the Quintes after he fired four goals in a November 10th 10-4 win by the Oaks in Belleville.

"He's a hard worker and he's rough, which is something we need," enthused Botly, "we're trying to work out details with Oakville." Knapton was expected to be in Belleville today to talk with team officials.

Ken Knapton signed with the Belleville Quintes late this morning.

Lake Placid Wants Olympics

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Almost 70 per cent of the 350 persons at a "town meeting" Monday night voted to have the town of North Elba formally commit itself to seeking approval of Lake Placid as the site of the 1976 Winter Olympics.

The town of about 6,000 was the site of the 1932 Winter Olympics, the first held in the United States.

Several local officials have been actively seeking the 1976 Games since November when Colorado voters rejected a proposal to have their state contribute funds to the Games in Denver, the site chosen by the International Olympic Committee.

The IOC, later formally stripped Denver of the Winter Olympics and is to pick a new site next month.

Proctors Pace League

Proctor's won the battle of the Prince Edward North Shore hockey glacis Monday by taking an 8-5 win over Wellington.

The victory left Proctors undefeated after nine PENSHL games and opened up a four point lead over second place Wellington.

Rollie Berry paced the winners with a hat trick and one assist while Roger McGee scored two goals and assisted on another. George Ostrander (1) and Jerry Ryan rounded out the Proctor attack.

For the losers it was Mike Lavender connecting for two goals while singles came from Bob Lavender and Vaughn Cunningham.

Proctors received a strong netminding effort from goalie George Bedingfield in the game which saw them drop three of the four minor penalties.

Such is the life of a Gas House Hockey League defenceman. Bob Dafoe of Cassidy Electric dives to help goalie Joe Scanlon clear a loose puck (top) and crashes into opposing blueliner Charlie Rowbotham of Wilson Concrete, only to see his team go down to a 2-0 defeat. Gas House Hockey

Vern Fraser pulled the plug on Cassidy Electric. Fred Bedard burned Rollins Lumber. And the Hospital kept The Intelligencer in stitches during Gas House Hockey league action Monday.

Fraser posted a 2 - 0 shutout for Wilson Concrete against Cassidy's to best Joe Scanlon in a goalies' battle. Pete Enright scored on a deflection at the 38.00 minute mark to break a 0 - 0 tie with Wilson's winner. Keith Parks counted the other marker for the concrete team.

Bedard tallied late in the third period to earn Meade a 5 - 4 decision over Rollins after the lumbermen had jumped into an early 3 - 0 lead. Alec Belch scored two goals for the winners while Dave Fox and Lee McBrien added the others as Jack Lucas drew three assists.

Rollins were paced by Barry Marshall with a pair of goals followed by Scot McLaren and Keith Dickey with one each.

The Hospital team came up with a hard hitting performance to dump the Intelligencer 4 - 1 and move within three points of Jim's Pizza for the top Gas House spot.

Hyalie Bryant, George Jacklin, Barry Van Zeelen and Knight counted for the winners with the lone Intelligencer tally going to Dennis Barager.

Nab Fugitive

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Paul Mercier, 28, one of two escaped convicts issued passports by the external affairs department, was arrested here Monday in a robbery investigation.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Nov. 17 that his department had issued passports to Mercier and Jacques Mesrine, hoping the documents would lead to their capture.

Mercier, serving 34 years for attempted murder, armed robbery and car theft, escaped from prison here last summer with Mesrine.

Mesrine, 36, serving 10 years for armed robbery, kidnapping and escaping custody, is still at large.

Salaries Urged

TORONTO (CP) — Doctors should be paid salaries for their services, the Ontario Federation of Labor (OFL) says in a brief to be presented today to a committee sponsored by the Ontario Medical Association. The committee is studying the medical profession in Ontario.

Princess Dates

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne dated a lieutenant in the Queen's Dragoons twice during the weekend and spurred rumors of a royal romance.

Anne and Lieut. Mark Phillips, 24, like the princess a top equestrian, stayed until the small hours at a Saturday night hunt ball near Leyburn in Yorkshire.

A woman member of the hunt said afterward: "Anne and Mark were on the floor for just about every slow dance. They seemed a little embarrassed, as so many people were watching them."

Tumor Back

OTTAWA (CP) — Lester B. Pearson is being treated for a recurrence of the tumor that caused him the loss of an eye two years ago, but his condition is improving, a spokesman for the former prime minister said Monday.

Seek Protest

OTTAWA (CP— The Canadian Labor Congress has sent a telegram to Prime Minister Trudeau asking him to protest proposed French nuclear tests in the South Pacific. Canada has voted in favor of two United Nations resolutions condemning the continued testing of nuclear weapons, but CLC President Donald MacDonald said in the message he felt direct protests to the French government were necessary.

Bank Robbed

HIGHGATE, Ont. (CP) — Two masked gunmen escaped in a waiting car Monday with an estimated $10,000 from a Bank of Montreal Branch in this community 10 miles east of Chatham.

Less than an hour later, three suspects were arrested and a bag containing a quantity of money was recovered, provincial police said.

Pipelines Leak

MORINVILLE, Alta. (CP) — Crews Monday night had collected more than one-half of 250,000 gallons of oil spilled when two pipelines ruptured during the weekend, a Home Oil spokesman said.

The oil, enough to fill 10,000 barrels, covered about five acres of agricultural land in the two locations. One spill was less than a mile east of here, the other about 14 miles north of Edmonton.

PCs Win Two Ridings In PEI Byelections

The strengthened Opposition party will name the chairmen of various committees during a caucus meeting. These chairmen will be the party's chief spokesmen in the Commons during debates on their subjects.

More than usual interest is held in the appointments because of the possibility of the minority Liberal government being defeated in the Commons. In that case, the Conservatives would be called upon to form the government.

The party has 107 seats in the Commons, compared with 109 for the Liberals, 31 New Democrats, 16 Social Crediters and two independents.

Conservatives insist that their spokesmen on various subjects would not automatically become cabinet ministers if they form a government.

They say that applies in Westminster where the Opposition forms a shadow cabinet, but not in Canada.

But, while a caucus committee chairman may no automatically be cabinet material, he at least has an inside track.

There is a caucus meeting to deal with each government portfolio.

The Conservatives will give no indication of how shadow changes have been made in committee chairmen from the last session.

The party had 73 seats at dissolution of the last session and when Conservative leader Robert Stanfield has considerable new blood to choose from, he selection his chairmen he took the advice of a special six-man committee.

One report says Mr. Stanfield is going to give the new members a chance in some of the committees. That could mean that some of the chief spokesmen of the last Parliament will lose their jobs or be reassigned.

Some of the big voices from the Opposition benches were: Marcel Lambert, Edmonton West, finance; Eldon Woolliams, Calgary North, justice and solicitor-general; John Lundrigan, Gander-Twillingate, manpower; Lincoln Alexander, Hamilton West, labor; James McGrath, St. John's East, regional expansion; Michale Forrestall, Dartmouth-Halifax East, defence; Gordon Fairweather, Fundy-Royal, privy council, satus of women and sovereignty; Heath McQuarrie, Hillsborough, external affairs.

Riders Return

REGINA (CP) — A subdued group of Saskatchewan Rough Riders returned Monday from the Grey Cup game to an enthusiastic welcome from about 1,200 fans.

The Roughriders, who lost 13-10 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday, were accompanied by their wives and children as they slowly circled the ice surface at the 4,600-seat Exhibition Stadium.

"Our club did itself proud," head coach Dave Skrien told the fans during the 15-minute reception.

Premier Allan Blakeney said there were two themes running through this year's Grey Cup between Canadian Football League's eastern and western champions.

"Eastern sports writers said the Roughriders could not give Hamilton a game, and the second theme was that the CFL was willing to go international."

"The Riders killed both of those theories in the Grey Cup. With Grey Cup games like that, the CFL will be around for a long time."

Premier Blakeney added: "One team won, but no team was beaten."

The players were not individually introduced, but the fans called for quarterback Ron Lancaster to speak. Holding his young son in his arms, the veteran thanked the fans for their support and said "we didn't win, but we came awfully close."

Whalers Strike Goals

BOSTON (AP) — New England Whalers struck for four goals in the first 12 minutes of the game and coasted to a 7-3 World Hockey Association victory over Ottawa Nationals Monday night.

The Whalers, who extended their unbeaten streak at home to 11 games, moved into a tie for the East Division lead with Idle Cleveland.

Tim Sheehy scored two goals and assisted on a third for New England, which held a 44-33 shooting advantage. Five other players—Larry Pleau, John French, Terry Caffery, Tom Webster and John Danby—chipped in with goals.

Risky Business

HALIFAX (CP) — Canadian welterweight boxing champion Clyde Gray of Toronto risks his high ranking for the world title when he faces Irish Pat Murphy of New York in a scheduled 10-rounder here tonight.

Gray, 25, has a record of 34 wins, two losses and a draw, and is ranked second to world welterweight champion Jose Napoles of Mexico.

Murphy, two years younger than Gray, has won 27 of 31 bouts, lost six and drew one. He was stopped on points in seven rounds by third-ranked Billy Backus of Syracuse, N.Y., and dropped a 10-round decision to ninth-ranked Buddy Boggs of Baltimore this year.

Former Canadian welterweight champion Len Sparks of Montreal, making a comeback bid after five years, faces Dave Wyatt of Washington in an eight-round semi-final.

Glennie Going Great Guns

TORONTO (CP) — A year ago Brian Glennie's future with Toronto Maple Leafs was tenuous.

The National Hockey League club was over-stocked with defence personnel and the former junior policeman could be found more often in the press boxes of the rinks where Leafs played than on the ice.

Injuries suddenly loomed large in the young defence man's career.

Last year, hurts to other players rushed Glennie to establish himself as a permanent member of the Leafs' blueline brigade—even before the staff deteriorated with defections to the rival World Hockey Association.

This year Glennie is the recognized leader on the Toronto defence, especially since the early-season neck injury that has kept veteran Bob Baun on the sidelines.

Injuries, however, continue to plague the Leafs and Glennie is among the more seriously hurt. But he continues to play for two reasons.

His shoulder injury, suffered in October, could take several weeks to get proper treatment. Meanwhile he's able to contribute to the Toronto effort despite the pain.

Secondly, Leafs are short on defencemen and unless Glennie's condition deteriorates he'll likely play the rest of the season in spite of the injury that restricts movement in his right shoulder.

Toronto, which plays against the Canucks in Vancouver tonight in one of three scheduled games, has been further hampered with the loss for at least the game of centre Norm Ullman (bone bruise on right instep) and winger Paul Henderson (pulled groin).

Glennie, however, continues to play without grumbling other than to admit "it's sore."

"He's a gutsy guy, I'll tell you that much," admitted coach John McLellan of Toronto because of the shoulder.

"Saturday night when we tied Philadelphia (Flyers) he took a shot on the neck and didn't miss a shift. He blocked another shot with his wrist, and he had to wear a plastic shield on it to play Sunday.

"But he never missed a shift."

One of Glennie's biggest boosters on the Toronto club is goaltender Jacques Plante, who has operated behind a number of good defencemen during his 43 years.

"He's a very intelligent hockey man, and if you watch him you realize he has studied situations and he knows exactly where to position himself when another team has the puck in our zone," Plante says. "He does it exactly the way I explain it in my goaltending book."

The 26-year-old Toronto native has built a reputation during his three years with the Leafs as being one of the NHL's solid belters.

"He's one of the hardest-hitting defencemen in the league," says McLellan. "Now if only we had a couple of forwards who would do the same."

Tonight's other games have Los Angeles Kings visiting New York Islanders and Detroit Red Wings at St. Louis Blues.

Thomas Building Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joe Thomas, who successfully outfitted five-year building programs with two expansion teams, doesn't have that long to restructure Baltimore Colts.

Nor does he think it will take that long.

"This isn't even a two-year project," says the general manager of the National Football League club. "We should be back in contention next season.

"We have a good nucleus of young players. If we add a couple of more in the draft and a couple in trades, we'll be all right."

With a 5-7 record, and remaining games against Kansas City Chiefs and Miami Dolphins, the colts could well wind up with their first losing season since 1956.

But four victories in the last five starts by Baltimore has convinced Thomas that "the whole structure of the team has been turned around."

That was the announced objective of John Sandusky when he replaced Don McCafferty as head coach after the Colts had lost four of their first five games.

Thomas insisted that younger players see more action the remainder of the season, with special emphasis on determining whether Marty Domres could be Baltimore's quarterback of the future.

The controversial move meant the benching of Johnny Unitas, an NFL great who was in his 17th season.

Domres, used sparingly as a backup to John Hadl for three seasons with San Diego Chargers, had thrown only four passes for the Colts this year before starting in game No. 6.

In his first start, the Colts lost 24-20 to New York Jets in the final minute of play. Then Miami blanked Baltimore 23-0.

Sunday, the Colts have won four of five—losing only a 24-21 decision to San Francisco 49ers.

Domres has thrown 10 touchdown passes, including three in each of the last two games, but has been intercepted only twice in 175 attempts, while completing 93 for a 53.1-per-cent average and 1,116 yards.

Sandusky, who has not been told whether he will be rehired next season, said:

"We have some age in the offensive and defensive lines, there's no question about that. But with a little help, we could be contenders."

The ability of defensive end Bubba Smith, running back Norm Bulaich and wide receiver Glenn Doughty to play at full strength next season would solve a lot of problems.

Smith, an all-pro last year, has missed the entire season following pre-season knee surgery.

Bulaich, a third-year pro with recurring leg injuries, carried the ball only 37 times this season, and rookie Doughty caught just three passes before being sidelined with a pulled muscle.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

WED. DEC. 6

Aries (March 21-April 19): New approaches to old problems abound—be flexible and try one. Friends are cordial, more likely to offer co-operation.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Press forward along established lines, get some of the personal preparations for later changes out of the way.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Perhaps you find your schedule isn't going to work. Be more receptive; ask, if you do not get the desired comment.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You are under observation, as it were, on matters that you may not be fully concerned about. Find a broader perspective.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Speculation hangs unexpected results. Steady communication is critical—what is said once will not be repeated where you can hear it.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Stick to people who have a firm positive drive, cheerful viewpoint. Your own creative energy is strong and available.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Preparations are yet to be made before you plunge into expansive ventures. New ideas and contacts prove exceptionally rewarding.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This promises to be a middle-of-the-road sort of day, with friends able to make more than their usual quota of suggestions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A variety of hidden situations inadvertently turns out to be beneficial to your interests. Avoid haste and fatigue.

Capricorn (Dec. 23-Jan. 19): An old question is resolved by a new answer, perhaps for good. It's up to you to find a better formula.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The experience you are now should relate to what you need to learn. There are relatively unfamiliar people and facts to deal with.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Much of your success today depends on how you see the drifts of circumstance and what your reactions are.

Angina Pectoris Is Cramp in Heart

By G.C. THOSTESON MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having chest pains. The doctor said it was the heart muscle. Would you explain more about this, and is it something to be alarmed about? Just how does it affect the heart?

Well, some patients understand a lot about the way a heart operates, and some have very little about it, and a doctor has no way of knowing which is which. I guess you took it for granted that you knew.

The heart muscle is what makes the heart beat. Each contraction of this special muscle pumps blood through the chambers of the heart.

If the heart muscle is damaged or weakened (by a heart attack, by narrowed arteries limiting blood supply to the muscle, or by any other means) the heart muscle is overworked, it can cause pain of the type known as angina pectoris (literally, chest pain).

If, for example, you get cramps in the legs or elsewhere from too much exertion, then you stop exerting and the pain stops. But the heart, of course, can't stop working. It has to keep on, pain or no pain.

Fortunately, the heart muscle is made of very durable tissue, and can stand a great deal of hard work. It has to. So it isn't necessary (or, possible, of course) to let it stop working entirely. But you have to ease the burden temporarily. There is also medication (primarily nitroglycerine) which can give the heart a temporary lift at such times.

I wouldn't say that angina is something to be alarmed about, but the condition very definitely does demand attention. Let your doctor guide you in medication, but for your part of the problem, you must understand how your heart works. You must also learn how much you can exert yourself without overloading the heart muscle.

There are many degrees of angina, from mild to severe, just as many other health conditions vary in intensity. Severe angina can be a very serious condition. But people with mild or moderate angina live with it for many years—but they must know how to take care of themselves, and how to avoid unnecessary strain on the heart muscle.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am told there are doctors who take off cataracts from the eyes with lasers, no surgery. Is this true?

There is a new technique which uses a very rapidly vibrating, needle-like instrument that liquefies the lens of the eye (the cataract) so it can be sucked out.

The error is in thinking that this is not surgery." It still is surgery.

Recovery time is reported to be much shorter than the older techniques, but the method is new, and being done, that I heard, in less than a score of places. Surgeons still live in dispute over whether it will displace conventional methods. The instrument used is quite costly.

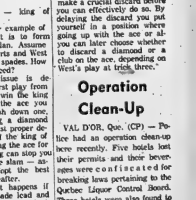
Opening lead — king of spades.

Here is another example of how important it is to form an over — all plan. Assume you're in six hearts and West leads the king of spades. How would you proceed?

Actually, the issue is decided by your first play from dummy. If you win the king of spades with the ace you are sure to finish down one, eventually losing a diamond and a club against proper defense.

But if you ruff the king of spades, preserving the ace for later use, nothing can stop you from making the slam — assuming you adopt the best procedure thereafter.

Let's see what happens if you ruff the spade lead and cash the ace of trumps, both opponents following suit. You then play a low diamond, forcing West to choose between going up with the ace of allowing you to win the trick in dummy with the jack.



If he goes up with the ace, that is the only trick you lose, for you can later discard the J-10-7 of clubs on dummy's ace of spades and Q-J of diamonds.

And if, at trick three, West permits you to win the diamond with the jack, you are on equally sure ground. You discard the king of diamonds on the ace of spades, concede a club trick, and later ruff two clubs in dummy to bring yourself to twelve tricks.

The objection to winning the opening spade lead with the ace is that it forces you to make a special discard before you can effectively do so. By delaying the discard you put yourself in a position where going up with the ace or ahead you can later choose whether to discard a diamond or a club on the ace, depending on West's play at trick three.

Operation Clean-Up

VAL D'OR, Que. (CP) — Police had an operation clean-up here recently. Five hotels lost their permits and their beverages were confiscated for breaking laws pertaining to the Quebec Liquor Control Board. Three hotels were also found to be tolerating prostitution.

School Funds Again Sliced

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Thomas Wells of Ontario announced Monday "further substantial" cuts in provincial funds available for school construction in 1973.

Mr. Wells revealed the decision in tabling in the legislature the second interim report of a committee which studied education cost in the province and found them to be excessive.

The committee report in fact, proposed that provincial funding of he Ontario Education Capital Aid Corp. be limited to $50 million a year, instead of the $169 million the province paid into it in 1972. It was $202 million in 1971.

Mr. Wells proposed in the legislature to further reduce the corporation fund, which provides school boards with debenture financing, but he didn't give any figures except to say the cuts would be "substantial."

At a news conference, Mr. Wells said he wasn't sure there was validity in the committee's $50 million limit and "we'll have to look at it closely."

T. A. McEwan of Mississauga, committee chairman, told reporters the $50 million would be more than adequate to maintain the education system in the next decade.

By 1981, he said Ontario will have 200,000 less students, which means many old schools could be phased out.

Mr. Wells emphasized both to reporters and in the legislature that despite the fiscal restraints on boards, there will be enough money to build facilities "which are clearly needed."

Neither would the reductions prevent the building of new schools in new housing subdivisions, so long as there was a demonstrated need.

The province already has announced major cuts in hospital and university construction to cope with what Premier William Davis has described as mounting deficits in government programs.

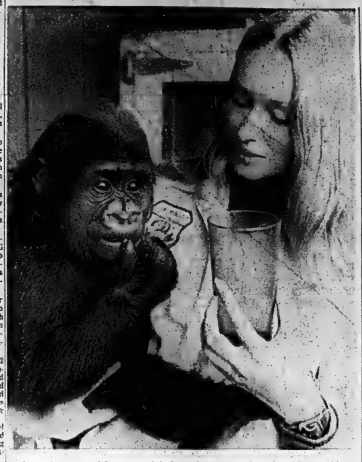
But Mr. Wells said the major reason for the cutbacks to boards was the declining birth rate and fewer immigrants. In 1972-73, boards will spend between $120 million and $125 million on capital construction.

In its 134-page report of 22 recommendations the committee, set up in June 1971, said 90 per cent of elementary and high school students attend schools built in the last 25 years and there was no need for more.

Harsh criticism was levelled against the boards for "five and 10 year projections on building needs which were "totally lacking in realism."

For most boards the projections were "far in excess of the number of pupil places for which any real justification can be made." Boards should fully justify any future applications for facilities.

It called for more expertise at the ministry level to help the boards plan better.



The committee also proposed that the province pay the full cost, and not just 90 per cent of new school buildings.

But acquiring a school site should be a cost on the tax payer and not the board, and town councils should share the cost and maintenance of such facilities as swimming pools and gymnasiums. These facilities would become community property and available for use by the public.

'No Focus' To Study Is Charge

TORONTO (CP) — James F. Foulds (NDP—Port Arthur) told the legislature Monday that on two occasions he almost resigned from the select committee on the utilization of educational facilities because he found it "had no focus, no plan of attack, no real rationale for its actions."

Mr. Foulds, in criticising select committees in general, said they are used by the Progressive Conservative party "to provide busy work for its own backbenchers and, to try to seduce the Opposition members into the club."

'Signs' for Drinks

Coco is a 16 month old, 25 pound baby gorilla and is the pupil of Penny Patterson, a 25-year-old Stanford University graduate student in developmental psychology. During the last four months, Penny has taught Coco three sign language "signs" in a research project she hopes will be beneficial in teaching sign language to retarded children. In her daily sessions, which last up to five hours, Coco "signs" for a drink (above) for food, and when she wants to go out. (AP Photo)

Ban on Studs Will Be Enforced

TORONTO (CP) — The law (L—Huron-Bruce) who questioned action he said was taken banning the use of studded tires on Ontario highways will be enforced, despite what it might do to the tourist trade, Solicitor-General John Yaremko said Monday.

Mr. Yaremko was replying in the legislature to Murray Gaunt (L—Huron-Bruce) who questioned action he said was taken by provincial police a week ago at border points where American tourists were warned they would be subject to a fine if they drove with studded tires on Ontario highways.

Mr. Yaremko said he had asked provincial police officials about a report that hundreds of American motorists had been stopped and had been told that the report was incorrect.

He added, however, that "the law is the law and it will be enforced."

Potter Doubts Policy To Cut Hospital Jobs

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Richard Potter said Monday he "doubts very much" whether any jobs will be lost as a result of government's spending cutback to Ontario hospitals.

The health minister, replying to continuing opposition criticism on his retrenchment program, also said the government's home-care program for the ill would be extended.

Dr. Potter said he believed that any job cutbacks which resulted from the government's freeze could be accomplished by attrition.

Opposition members had predicted that the cutback of 1,500 hospital beds could result in as many as 1,200 hospital employees being put out of work this winter.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon had asked how many jobs would be lost.

Dr. Potter said Ontario Hospital Association executives supported his program and "they have until the first of April . . . to try to readjust to the new funding. They feel, as I do, that with the ordinary turnover that there is in these hospitals, . . . it won't be a question of individuals losing the job; it'll be a question of not replacing some of them, as they leave by attrition."

The health minister said the government was not "trying to cut out active treatment beds unnecessarily.

"We are trying to cut back on them because it has been proved that they are not being used that efficiently and, they are not necessary for many conditions."

He said the government is increasing nursing home accomodation, the number of chronic beds being made available and the number of patients cared for in the home-care program.

Potter Promises Survey Of Hospital at Whitby

TORONTO (CP) — A detailed, independent survey will take place at Whitby Psychiatric Hospital, Ontario Health Minister Richard Potter said Monday.

Dr. Potter told the legislature the survey team will be assembled by Dr. L. O. Bradley, executive director of the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation.

He referred to a report from a committee of hospital employees," who made comments and recommendations on the reorganization of the hospital, which started last May 1.

Dr. Potter said of 10 recommendations made in the report, only three remain to be dealt with by the hospital.

These are defining the objectives, policies and procedures of the hospital, finding places for patients no longer requiring hospital care and the establishment of a multi-disciplinary committee.

The health minister said all recommendations would be dealt with by the Bradley committee.

Dead Fish Only Loss

TORONTO (CP) — Sulphuric acid spilled from a derailed train near Welland, Ont., Friday killed fish in a creek leading into the Welland River, but no noticeable effect on the river is expected, Environment Minister James Auld said Monday.

Mr. Auld, reporting to the legislature on a trip he made earlier in the day to the derailment site, said almost all the spilled acid had been contained and he expected the remainder in the tankers would be pumped out by today.

He added, however, that samples would be taken from the Welland River "until any visible hazard has passed."

PRE CHRISTMAS SALE!

10% DISCOUNTS

Like phosphorescent sea plants, light-transmitting fibers supported by pale green stalks, glow inside a smoked acrylic chamber. Walnut finish base accents square enclosure. 16" tall.

Reg. 54.98

A wispy suggestion of desert palm framed by a flowing canopy and an acrylic compote on a low wooden base. Apple green-gold spray (as shown) adds to the excitement. Also in clear. 15" tall.

Reg. 43.98

Many great savings!

The graceful dispersion of leafy formations suggest a peaceful vision of a nocturnal willow, dipping to merge with its surroundings. Unique in their construction, these natural looking accessories feature flexible branches for maximum freedom of expression in arrangement. DREAM TREE is available in either a beige or olive theme. (both shown).

Reg. 34.48

It's news indeed to embody all of the most successful styling aspects of established models into such a popularly priced unit. The gold-trimmed base and smoked cylinder support a multi-tiered spray of almost 300 illuminated fibers. Clear (as shown) and yellow.

Reg. 34.48

This unusual accessory is the thing for the nautically inclined, as an executive gift, and for that very special person. The fiber optic spray rises from a rich wood tone ceramic base. 8½" tall.

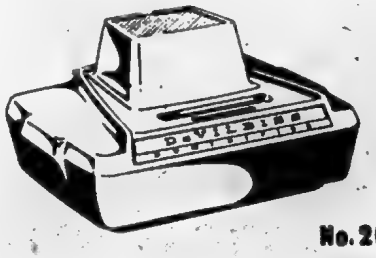
Looking After Canadians

Are friends "shocked" when they enter your home?

Frequently static electricity will shock you into realizing that you have a low humidity problem.

Do you suffer from unhealthy "Desert Dryness"?

When air is low in humidity, it seeks out all available moisture; your skin may become dry and cracked, your fingernails brittle; furniture will dry out, and often books fall apart from dried bindings.



For a healthy atomosphere, get to the heart of the problem, "THE LACK OF HUMIDITY".

The best way to prevent "desert dryness" is with an efficient room humidifier. The DeVilbiss Humidifier effectively replaces moisture that winter heating drains from your home. Tiny water droplets are absorbed by the dry air in your home, producing a healthier atmosphere and reducing the possibility of respiratory problems in your family.

We are currently featuring the DeVilbiss Humidifier at the low price of $16.47
This model has many extras found only in high priced humidifiers.

- instant cool vapour
- extra large capacity 24 hour operation
- easy cleaning
- replaceable air filters
- durable construction
- lifetime lubricated motor

Denturist Law Changed

Potter to Give Dentists Control

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Richard Potter has drastically revised proposed legislation on denturists to place them under the direct supervision of dentists.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Potter tried to insert the provision as an amendment to a bill he brought into the house near the close of the session last spring.

But he withdrew the bill and introduced a new one containing the controversial provision after an angry opposition charged him with trying to change the principle of the original bill.

The new bill, sent to second reading without debate, will probably be debated later this week after the opposition had had a chance to study it.

The new provision was a dramatic departure from the original bill, which provided that denturists—those who make false teeth—be independent of dentists and deal directly with the public.

Both opposition parties contended that the bill's principle had been violated by the amendment proposed in the afternoon and Dr. Potter withdrew the bill after a fiery debate.

He told reporters later he did not agree that the amendments had violated the principle of the old bill but withdrew it "to avoid a hassle with the opposition."

Both the dentists and denturists claimed victory in the unexpected change in events.

Dr. Warren Heaslip, president of the Ontario Dental Association, said in an interview he was "happy" the government agrees denturists should not have an independent professional status. He said the intention of the legislation is still to set up a special, qualified group of denture therapists providing an ancillary service in the dentistry profession.

Ben Sweet, president of the Denturist Society of Ontario, said in an interview withdrawal of the legislation gives his group "time to marshal our forces to break any new attempt by the minister to change this bill."

About 375 dental technicians, who also make dentures, operate in the province.

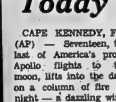
About 70 denturists sell dentures directly to the public in contravention of the Dentistry Act of Ontario. Some have been convicted after raids on denturists' offices.

Denturists say they can sell false teeth to the public $100 to $150 cheaper than dentists. The dentists say denturists are not properly trained for this service to the public.

About 21 dental clinics, sponsored by the dental association, operate in the province, providing false teeth at standard price of $180 for both upper and lower plates. The service began last winter.

Dr. Potter told the house the dental profession has assured him that the price will not be raised without negotiation with the government, that more clinics for false teeth would be opened and a similar service would be provided by individual dentists where necessary.

Dr. Potter said it was this commitment of a fixed denture price, plus the experience in Britain where it was decided that any type of dental auxiliary work should be done under the supervision of a qualified dentist, that made him change his mind. Dr. Potter said in Britain last summer to study their health plan.



He denied to reporters that the change was due to "any lobby by the dentists."

Apollo Flight Starts Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen, the last of America's proud Apollo flights to the moon, lifts into the dark on a column of fire tonight — a dazzling windup to a epoch of lunar exploration.

Astronauts Eugene Cernan, Ronald Evans and Harrison Schmitt were pictured as "all charged and ready" for the 12-day journey that may be man's final visit in this century to his celestial neighbor.

The blastoff is scheduled for 9:53 p.m. EST. Despite the few ever-present hitches, launch officials called the countdown of Apollo 17 one of the most trouble-free in the 17-flight Apollo series.

The skyscraper-tall Saturn V rocket and its cargo of men, scientific equipment and sacrificial mice will rise with a hellish roar on a 2,280 - foot tail of flame that may be visible 500 miles away.

For the half million or more spectators gathered in the area, weather conditions were not perfect. The forecast called for considerable cloudiness at 12,000 feet—the altitude the rocket reaches in about a minute.

Weather posed fewer problems for space officials. Launch director Walter Kapryan said there would be a threat to on-time liftoff only if upper-level clouds contain ice particles that might create lightning strikes as the rocket slices through. He discounted the possibility.

The rocket can be launched any time during a 2½-hour time period beginning at 9:53. It can be rescheduled, if necessary, for the same hours Thursday. Then, because of the position of the moon and sun, the next date for liftoff times, the flight would have to be postponed until Jan. 4.

Although this is the last moon flight, it is not the end of space exploration. Three crews of three men each plan to man an earth-orbiting laboratory for periods of one and two months next year, and the space shuttle is in prospect for the late 1970s.

3 Children See Father Die As Ulster Violence Swells

BELFAST (CP) — Three young children watched their father die on a village sidewalk late Tuesday as one of Northern Ireland's worst days of violence drew to a close. Five men were killed within 24 hours.

The confirmed death toll rose to 653 in more than three years of communal violence in the province.

The father who died was a Protestant militiaman, William Bogle, 37, who had taken his family for a drive in County Tyrone. They were in the Village of Killeter when a bomb shook the car.

Bogle staggered to the sidewalk and collapsed, crying: "I'm shot! Help me, I'm shot!" He died in his wife's arms.

A British sergeant was killed in Belfast when a homemade mortar he had found behind a convent blew up in his face.

The army said a young guerrilla was killed in an exchange of fire with a patrol but the other army killing was a mistake.

The victim was one of two bricklayers working on top of a house in Belfast that the army said had been used frequently as a sniper perch. A patrol mistook the two workmen for snipers and opened fire, killing one and wounding the other.

The hooded body of a man with head and chest injuries was discovered dumped in a Belfast street early today.

Police said the dead man, apparently shot, was the latest victim in a wave of mystery murders that has claimed more than 100 lives in Northern Ireland this year.

Kissinger Again Meets Hanoi Pair

PARIS (AP) — Henry Kissinger met with North Vietnamese negotiators today for the third time during their current series of talks on a ceasefire in Vietnam.

President Nixon's top foreign affairs adviser was the first to arrive at a house in suburban Neuilly which the Americans selected as the day's meeting place.

Kissinger met twice Monday with Le Duc Tho of the Hanoi Politburo and Xuan Thuy, chief of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks. North Vietnamese sources said the meeting that had been scheduled for Tuesday was cancelled at Kissinger's request.

The Neuilly meeting place was the third location that Kissinger and Tho have used this week. The house being used today is owned by a Paris jeweller.

There have been no announcements of any kind from either side of progress — or lack of it in the talks. Official spokesmen have refused to give any indication whether Kissinger and Tho are nearing agreement on modifications in draft ceasefire agreement they worked out in October.

White House press secretary Ron Ziegler said there had been heavy cable traffic Tuesday between Paris and the White House during the pause in the negotiations. He said that President Nixon had sent new instructions to Kissinger.

South Vietnamese sources said that Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, chief of the South Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks did not meet with Kissinger Tuesday. The last conference between the two men was Monday night, after Kissinger had met twice during the day with the North Vietnamese.

Winter Job Program Announced

OTTAWA (CP) — A $500-million federal program aimed at reducing winter unemployment was announced today by Finance Minister John Turner and Manpower Minister Robert Andras.

Major part of the program is a $350-million fund to provide loans and grants for provinces and municipalities to finance capital projects this winter and in the next two years.

The plan also includes $60 million to federal departments for labor-intensive winter projects, an additional $80 million for Local Initiatives Programs (L.I.P.) and $10 million in grants for on-the-job training.

Federal officials hope the expenditures will help to create 140,000 jobs this winter.

The $350 million winter capital projects fund will make loans available to the provinces and municipalities up to May 31, 1975, with incentives to stimulate new programs and concentrate work in the winter months.

Half of on-site labor costs incurred before the end of the program will be forgiven before the program's end, while the other half will be forgivable if incurred between Dec. 1 and May 31.

It Is Easy to Save Water With Brick in Every Tank

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Six months ago, Tilly Spetgong, a serious gal with a goofy idea, walked into city council carrying a brick. Councilman Steve Morgan ducked under his desk.

"He must have thought I was going to throw it," she said. "But all I wanted was to put one in my toilet tank in town."

The unusual proposal to save water stunned the council, but it was approved. And it so convulsed this residential community of 63,000 across the Delaware River from Philadelphia that it swiftly accepted the scheme—to become probably the first with a brick in nearly every toilet.

The idea is that the brick will take up space in the toilet tank, displacing a small amount of water that is not necessarily needed for flushing.

"It was a wacky idea that got people laughing, and also made them aware that people politic and people can conserve," said Mrs. Spetgong, a 44-year-old mother of two who used to raise chickens and now, admittedly, "raises the dickens" as a member of the conservation advisory board.

The council ante'd up $2,000 to buy 34,000 hardened bricks, the kind that won't break in any rinse kind of water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes.

Last weekend, about 175 persons disfigured 27,000 bricks, two to a home. They will finish this Saturday.

Mrs. Spetgong said: "If the average family of four flushes a total of 20 times a day, we would save 34 million gallons of water every year in Cherry Hill."

Joyceville Fugitive Stabbed at Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A Joyceville penitentiary fugitive was stabbed to death and a Toronto man was wounded by a gunshot early Tuesday.

Harold D. Hickey, who escaped from the prison last spring, was first reported to have died from gunshot wounds but an autopsy revealed he died from stab wounds in the chest.

William Samuels, a York borough resident, suffered gunshot wounds in the chest when he heard noises behind his house and went outside to investigate.

Mr. Samuel's wife called police and an ambulance when her husband came back into the house bleeding from the chin and forehead. The bullet wound was discovered when he was admitted to hospital. He is in fair condition.

No knife was found at the scene but police recovered a .32 calibre revolver beside Hickey's body.

Police at first believed Hickey had shot himself after attacking Mr. Samuels. "It's a real mystery," said Inspector Jack Webster, head of the Toronto homicide squad.

NATO Studies Demand for Troop Cuts

BRUSSELS (AP) — NATO defence ministers met today with the growing public demand for troop cuts in Western Europe their chief concern.

Three of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations—West Germany, Belgium and Denmark—are considering reductions in their armed forces. There also is strong support in the United States Senate for withdrawal of a sizable part of the 300,000 U.S. troops in Western Europe. But the military chiefs of the Atlantic Alliance nations and most of the defence ministers contend that any reductions would weaken the NATO nations in bargaining with the Soviet bloc.

Apple Growers Hail Plant Announcement

TRENTON (Staff) — Important of the announced location of a new $1.5 million industry that will provide 75 jobs here, has produced enthusiastic response from town officials, Industrialists, employment officials and local farmers. Within the past several months, the town was shaken by news of two plants closing and a third entering into interim receivership.

In a statement from his office Monday, Quinte riding MPP and Ontario health minister Dr. Richard Potter, reports a half - million - dollar Ontario Development Council loan has been made to Fisher Brothers Incorporated of Montreal, a 60-year-old all-Canadian firm.

Those chiefly affected by the location of the new 12-month operational plant are the apple growers, who number between 250 and 400 in the surrounding counties of Hastings, Northumberland - Durham, Prince Edward and Ontario.

Harold Bonter, president of the Quinte Fruitgrowers Co-operative, said local apple orchards have been left with crop surpluses since abutchoot of a canning factory in Prince Edward County two years ago. Since then, he says, apart from sale of approximately 71 million pounds of prime apples annually, the farmers were able to sell only half of their 12-million pound apple crop to a vinegar manufacturing company near Cobourg.

This past season, he said, much of the yield usually sold to processors was dumped into the fields to rot.

Mr. Bonter said even at a total sale last year of $1.8 billion of apples for all purposes, "most didn't get their expenses." Prices for juice sales fluctuated between $28.50 per ton to $33, if delivered to the factory for juice processing.

Of the 8,100 acres in the four counties, he could find state figures concerning co-operative members. However, this firm being here will strengthen the whole apple industry.

"It will help relieve the pressure on the others and allow us to upgrade the apples better," he said.

Mr. Bonter said the co-operative has been working closely with local industrial commissions and outside interests in an attempt to attract a processing firm because "there is nothing this side of Toronto for the processing of apple juices. It's not worth it to make a long haul."

FBI vice - president William Roney in an interview from Montreal Monday, could not give exact quotes on prices for the first years of operation. However, by the fourth or fifth year, the company is projecting annual sales volume of $7 or $8 million.

Mr. Roney said FBI had negotiated with the Ontario government on the basis of there being no apple processing plant in the area.

He said his firm plans to use "all the apples for processing from your area."

Said Canada Hampower, Trenton manager James K. White Monday: "The addition of 75 jobs will certainly help the Trenton area, especially with the two plants closing in Trenton Industrial Commissioner Paul Trigo noted it "would have quite an impact."

This year, both Knox-Gelatine and Cosmos Imperial Mills in Trenton, announced closing. The total employees to be laid off is 185. In October, Canadian Fluid Movement Ltd., went into receivership. Future for the 43 employees is uncertain, although the plant continues to operate under the receiver.

Wet Weekend To Raise Funds

The Belleville Family YMCA will get its feet wet in fund raising this weekend when their Swim-a-thon begins.

Area children have been canvassing all week and will continue until Saturday, gathering pledges for so many cents a lap at the pool, the proceeds to be contributed to the Y.

Children will have a green card which will bear name, address and telephone number for identification.

Once the swim-a-thon has been completed over both Saturday and Sunday, children will return to their sponsors to collect pledges.

The card will bear the number of laps completed and a staff signature authorizing the form. These donations are to be completed no later than Dec. 18.

Cheques are to be made payable to the Belleville Family YMCA and receipts for sums less than $5 are available only on request.

Magazine's Gift Guide Lists Presents for Rich

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

So you've got a head start on your annual Christmas headache — trying to fit in increasing expenses promising into a shrinking budget?

In true Christmas spirit, spare a moment from your worries a bout inflation and unemployment to consider the rich.

They have their problems too — finding just the right, little trinket for their friends and friends who already have everything.

Help is at hand — in a slick Christmas Guide issue of Town and Country. "The dependable guide to good living" for the affluent. Bonus for the holiday edition of the magazine were delivered to Belleville this week, leaving the mind boggling over where the circulation manager got his mailing list.

Now the word is out. If you want to age your bettors this year, choose gold watches without numerals on their faces, jewelry shaped like animals and birds or supperrealistic porcelain figurines of animals and birds in their natural habitat.

The nature kick is in. Don't give a chat that's not natural to outside or sable. No private jet owner is his furriers' ads; if you have to ask it's not for you.

Even the traditional bottle of boone goes swankly in Town and Country. "It tastes expensive . . . and is" says a half-page lay-out picturing a bottle of Kentucky bourbon. Again, no price is mentioned.

If imagination has deserted you, consult Rolls Royce. The company has two pages of gift ideas from $38,100 to $2. The former is a convertible; the latter a stocking - stuffer, soft - cover history of the company, useful for the glove compartment.

The Swiss strike a few pages on.

"Just think, for the price of a Rolls Royce you can own a rolex watch," burbles Audemars Piguet. The company's timepiece is "the watch in the world." a gold pocket model will set $25,000. But it's a reliable guide, after watches it the most popular gift for the upper income group is, brooches. This year they must be shaped like an animal or a bird, like the parakeet with jewel - body, ruby and diamond head and tail and gold wings. He costs $8,000.

But this is low - brow stuff compared to the two emerald rings offered by a Philadelphia jeweler. Formerly the property of Russian royalty, one costs $18,000, the other $223,000.

The fad among the rich these days appears to be assembling "porcelain sculpture" collections. As long as the ceramics are realistic models of birds, beasts or flowers. Prices are limited only by tastes of 500 or so, they vary in price from $300 for an American - made lady's slipper to $3,000 for a pair of Royal Worcester mallards.

Even the catalogues listing the pottery offerings come high at $5.

But if you want to give the man in your life "something you've spent time looking for, something that shows you think of him as an individual," look up one of your hunting friends and buy an old wooden duck decoy. They're selling for $20 in New York and are highly recommended. A pair of mounted steerhorns at $750 is also recommended and if every Hastings county barn door mounted a set. You might have more difficulty rustling up an African antelope skull as a gift, it costs from $250 to $750.

Although Town and Country is published in New York, it has a gift suggestion for some lucky Canadian. It is an estate in "Ontario's lovely lake country" an hour's drive north of Toronto. The realtor is offering it for just $1,600,000.

Then, with the return of warm weather, the cold patch paving will be torn out and replaced with permanent bot mix-material.

Clendenning Insists Accused Represented

Judge J. L. Clendenning has directed the Crown Attorney's office to ensure that persons taken into custody mobe with legal counsel prior to their first court appearance.

He suggested a procedure used at Napanee Jail, whereby a representative of the Ontario Legal Aid service checks daily for new prisoners in need of counsel. If they have not retained a lawyer, the representative directs them as to the best course of action.

In many cases, persons standing before Judge Clendenning for the first time have been in custody several days. If they have not retained some form of counsel, the duty counsellor must act on their behalf or the case must be remanded until counsel has been obtained. In either alternative, time is lost for both the court and for the accused person, the judge indicated.

Local Phenomenon In AMA Journal

Local public health officials assisted researchers in the most last spring for a common factor while both patients were in a Toronto hospital.

Discovery of the parasitis — one normally found in frogs the other in such wild animals as foxes — was report ed in the AMA Journal by doctors Michael Shea, Alan Mabyrley and John Walters of St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto.

The first patient, a 23 year-old housewife, had a "migrating shadow" obscure part of her vision. Parasitologists identified the frog worm and asked the woman whether she had been handling frogs.

She had. Frog legs had been a favorite dish in the 17-year-old girl was sent to them with living worm in one eye. After removing a mature worm and 33 daughter "buds", the Belleville area doctor picked up the parasite from an afternoon of pet dog accustomed to licking her face.

Wet, Then Cold

Mild, rainy weather temporarily displaced below-freezing temperatures in the Bay of Quinte area today.

After a Monday-night low of eight degrees, which followed day-long snow, temperatures started rising yesterday, an upward curve that reached 47 degrees by 9 a.m. today.

But the Canadian Forces Base Trenton weather forecaster said the warm, wet weather lull would be brief. Colder air was expected by mid-afternoon with possible snow flurries later.

Temperatures tonight drop below 20 with a high of 30 forecast for Thursday.

Franklin Stoves Blamed for Fires

Two fires in Thurlow Township this week have been linked with the Franklin stoves.

Disaster was narrowly averted at 1:30 p.m. Sunday family this morning when fire-men answered a call to put out a fire in the wall above one of the stoves.

Mrs. John Reid discovered flames in the kitchen ceiling shortly before 8 a.m. She took her baby and two - year - old child outside before returning to the smoky kitchen to call Thurlow firemen.

Fire department spokesman said the flames had worked their way up the partition from a duct from the stove. It goes up to connect with the chimney. Damage was confined to the wall and ceiling.

Mr. Reid was called home from work but the family is back in the house.

On Monday afternoon, Thurlow firemen were called to Scuttlebole Road near Latta where a couple who had gone out to vote returned to their house full of smoke. The trouble was again traced to a ductwork above a Franklin stove, this one an older model.

Airhart Marmora Deputy

MARMORA (Staff—Councillor Grant Airhart was elected the first deputy reeve for the village at Monday's municipal election as he doubled the vote of his single opponent.

Mr. Airhart polled 426 votes as compared to 209 for Gordon Bennett.

John R. Reynolds was elected reeve by acclamation, as were the three council members. William McKenzie, Leo Provost and Albert Gray.

Two of this year's council, William Monk, a veteran of 13 years, and Kenneth Trumble, councillor for the past two years, retired from municipal life.

Also in Marmora and Lake township, former councillor Graham Bell almost doubled the vote for the reeveship against incumbent reeve and past county warden John Wilkes. Mr. Bell received 461 votes to Mr. Wilkes 259. Gordon Jones was returned as deputy reeve by acclamation.

New Bridge for A New Sidney Street

Construction of the, new four - lane Sidney St. railway viaduct will come to a halt shortly, resuming in the spring. The $785,000 overpass will eventually be twice as wide as shown here. Once the west half of the structure is completed, the old metal bridge will be torn down, making way for the easterly portion of the viaduct. Spring will also bring the reconstruction of Sidney St. from College St. south to Bridge St.

Trenton Police, RCMP Crack Down on Crime

TRENTON (Staff) — A crime wave in Trenton over the past month and a half has led to an intensive crackdown by town police and the layint of 24 charges, ranging from armed robbery, break, enter and theft to charges under the Narcotics Control Act.

During a news conference Tuesday, Trenton police Chief David Saunders referred to the recent upsurge in crime here as one of the worst in recent years. He said drugs were a definite factor in many but "not in every individual case."

During the month of November, two retail bagbeses were hit by armed, masked gunmen, who escaped with minor amounts of cash. Police said it has been some time since armed robberies formed part of the crime picture here.

Chief Saunders reported the most recent of the two robberies, at the Trade Winds Restaurant on Dundas Street East, Nov. 25, led to the arrest and charges laid against two Trenton youths. On the morning of the holdup, two armed, masked men entered the restaurant at 3.30 a.m. closing time. One held employees, the other rifled the till. The take was $200.

Because narcotics were a big factor in what Chief Saunders termed "round - the - clock investigation," RCMP from Belleville were called in to assist in raids on several Trenton residences.

The town's two - man criminal investigation team of Detective Sergeant Sid Vickers and Constable Ernie Dingman was assisted by identification officer Constable Wally Hopkins plus an extra man, regular Constable John Collins, in addition to uniformed members of the force.

Chief Saunders could not give complete details concerning charges laid against the 10 convicted in the recent crime wave, but he supplied names and the number of offences.

They are:

—Henry Pile, 18, of no fixed address; one charge, armed robbery in connection with the Trade Winds case; eight charges of break, enter and theft; one charge of possession under the Narcotics Control Act.

—Wayne McGowan, 18, of Dufferin Street; one charge, armed robbery, laid as a result of the Trade Winds case.

—Robert Sears, 19, of RR 2, Trenton; one charge, possession of a concealed weapon, a gun was no involved.

—Paul Vogl, 18, of no fixed address; three charges, break, enter and theft, three NCA charges of possession.

—A juvenile; five charges, break, enter and theft.

Concerning the Nov. 11 armed holdup and theft of $400 in cash from Reilly's Market on Dufferin Avenue, Chief Saunders said there are "charges pending" concerning this case, still under investigation.

Further details on all cases, he said, might hinder investigation.

Speed Limit Lowered

WALLBRIDGE (Staff) — Sidney township council Tuesday set new speed limits for two residential areas of the township.

Pending approval by the ministry of transportation and communications, speed limit on White's Road, Montcrue Road and the adjacent Country Club Village subdivision, will be reduced to 40 miles an hour from the present 50 mph.

Reeve Jack Bush said consideration had been made of reducing the limit still further but it was rejected.

He explained that if the speed had been dropped to low 40 mph, school buses would not be required to put on flasher lights when letting off students on the roadways.

In other business, the council gave final approval to designating as through roads Flying Club Rd. from Highway 33 to the sixth concession and Oak Hill Lake Road from Highway 33 to Highway 14.

New signs will be placed on feeder roads, compelling traffic to yield to vehicles on the two new through roads.

Firehall for Bayside Proposed

WALLBRIDGE (Staff) — Sidney township council Tuesday moved headlong into discussions on a location for a third municipal firehall even before tenders have been called for the construction of a second one.

Locating a firehall in the Bayside area had been an issue in the Dec. 4 municipal election here, defeated candidates for council Thomas Nobles and Paul Aziz having championed the building of such facilities, where they maintained the population is (along Highway 3).

The argument by the two candidates was that the second station house to replace temporary quarters at Highway 401 and Wallbridge-Loyalist Road should not be built adjacent to the municipal offices here but at Bayside.

In recommending that action should be taken soon to meet the demand from Bayside area residents for improved fire service, the township's new deputy reeve Glenn Meyers yesterday said the best approach to securing a third firehall site would be to ask the Hastings County School Board to donate land to the township close to Bayside Secondary School, location of the former SS 2 Sidney public school whose lands went to the county board when it was established four years ago.

Indicating that contributions to tax coffers from trailer park residents at Bayside are lower than those for private homes, Meyers said the township may have to consider charging an added levy on the trailer residents to support the increased fire service they called for at a pre-election public meeting here.

The deputy reeve called for negotiations for land to begin immediately with the board of education but this was deferred until council can assure itself that the former school property is the best site.

Centennial Band Concert Tonight

Spend 50 cents Wednesday night for an evening of Christmas music entertainment. Your half dollar will help more than 60 young musicians to take part in an experiment in living that so far hasn't failed.

The 26-member senior concert band from Centennial Secondary School begin their show at 7.30 p.m., the profits from which will be used to partially finance a goal tour through southern Ontario.

The most valuable by-product of the three-day tour to begin next Tuesday will be "the living experience of each student having to take care of himself, his music and instrument and realizing what it is like to eat three meals each day in a restaurant," said Monty Emmerson, conductor-music teacher.

"There is tremendous pressure on the musicians who will play six concerts over three days, travelling to three towns, King City, Ingersoll and Woodstock," he said.

Cost to each student is $4.50 plus the expense of meals. Accommodation and bus rental is handled through fund-raising projects such as the Christmas concert.

Tickets will be available at the door of the school theatre Wednesday evening.

This tour marks the third of its kind for the school. After bandsmen finish their rigorous schedule they return to school Friday to catch up the work they missed.

"They aren't getting out of working, but asking for more," said Mr. Emmerson.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls yesterday.

11.19 a.m. . . . Hillcrest Public School; false alarm.

1.20 p.m. . . . Ontario School for the Deaf; smell of smoke in hall but nothing found.

6.11 p.m. . . . 258 Park St. North; oil furnace over-fired.

Ayrshire Sets Milk Record

A young Ayrshire cow, Silver Maple Bernie, owned by Archie Roy of Howick, Quebec, has broken the Canadian production record for a Junior 4-year-old.

The Ayrshire produced 24,857 pounds of milk, 894 pounds of butter fat in 305 days and continued milking for 365 days producing 26,395 pounds of milk, and 1,001 pounds of fat.

Mr. Roy obtained Bernie as one of a group of 11 heifers from Maurice Benson, of Jaffray, N.H., who previously had purchased them from Emerling Brothers of Springville in Western New York.

Leg Broken

AMELIASBURGH (Staff)—Two motorists escaped injury in a two-car collision near Kente School in Ameliasburgh early today but a passenger in one of the vehicles was taken to hospital with a broken leg.

Drivers of the cars, John Pinkle, 52, of Belleville and Norman Reston, 23, of Trenton, were unhurt. Nettie Buck, a passenger, received a broken leg. Total damages to both vehicles were estimated at $800 by police.

Hospital

A public relations remedy might be in order in the wake of a Belleville General Hospital board of governors meeting Friday.

That appeared to be a reasonable diagnosis after the hospital board was faced with a motion to censure this newspaper for acting "against the public interest" in outlining Ontario health minister Richard Potter's plans for cutbacks in his department.

It is to the hospital board's credit that they defeated the motion, and to their discredit that the matter even came up for discussion.

In supporting the motion, Dr. Kenneth Douglas frankly admitted the facts of Dr. Potter's quoted criticisms of his home-town hospital.

These included a sweeping statement by the Belleville cabinet minister that the Belleville hospital is currently one of the most inefficient in the province.

In a press conference following Friday's meeting, a panel of hospital spokesmen, including administrator Philip Rickard and chief of medical staff Dr. Peter Scott appeared to confirm Dr. Potter's observation, informing the press that Belleville General's average length of patient stay is 2.69 days above the provincial average, and that BGH ranks 23rd on a list of 33 comparable institutions in a recent study of bed utilization.

The job of this newspaper is merely to report such situations, not create them.

* * *

In the same manner, The Intelligencer owes it to its readers to report both sides of every story. That is why, the week previous to Dr. Potter's health cost - cutback announcements, the Intelligencer devoted a great deal of space to the positive aspect of BGH activities in outlining the rehabilitation week program.

During the entire week, the public was kept informed about the hospitals in general, and Belleville General in particular, are accomplishing in such fields as cancer research and diabetic control. Perhaps this is what board member Enos David had in mind when he suggested "improved hospital public relations."

As for Dr. Douglas' comment at Friday's board meeting that "the public is not capable of understanding without knowing the facts", he should understand that is the very reason why Dr. Potter's criticism of provincial hospital operation is of vital concern to the man on the street, who pays such a great portion of his taxes to support health care.

In other situations, such as a case now before the College of Physicians and Surgeons' disciplinary committee concerning a doctor's practice who allegedly claimed reimbursement for treating 300 patients in one day, The Intelligencer is equally concerned about reputations at stake, and will bear this responsibility in mind until such time as authorities might confirm the charges in question.

* * *

Friday's board discussion of "a frank and informal conference with the press about hospital matters" conjures up images of past meetings between the two groups, at which the newspaper merely gained a better insight about which avenues of hospital information were closed to reporters.

For example, a reporter investigating highway accidents can be passed from pillar to hospital administration post in efforts to secure a general description of a crash victims' physical condition.

Attempts to publicize deserving hospital projects, such as women's auxiliary fund-raising, can meet dead-ends when reporters are informed not a single photograph of a freckle-faced tot trying out a new wheelchair will be tolerated by this supervisor or that department head.

In an era when health care and education are taking an ever-increasing bite out of our tax dollar, the more the public is acquainted with such fields the better.

Newspaper censures are naive and potentially dangerous in a free society because they usually are a polite way of assuring that only the news with which one agrees gets printed.

Tito Regime Target of Yugoslav Emigres in Canada

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst

Since so many Canadians are recent arrivals from other countries, it's understandable many of them maintain keen interest in their homelands. The Portuguese here avidly follow soccer scores in Portugal from the Portuguese - language newspapers.

British immigrants to Canada fly home constantly to see relatives left behind. Italians in Canada save up to help out needy families back home. Some save to go back and try and live with folks also, not possible on an Italian salary.

Still others like many Czechs, Poles and of course Baltic Canadians hanker after but will never visit again the homelands they not only left, but fled from. However the current campaigns on Canadian soil by immigrants and new Canadian citizens of Croat and Serb origin to attack the present Communist regime in Yugoslavia indicate a distinct disinterest in Canadian institutions and a misunderstanding of our historic tolerance.

Croat emigre groups in Canada have openly admitted support for Croatian terrorist bombings in Western Europe. One Croat leader here said on television he would be prepared to face deportation if the immigration authorities decided his anti-Tito activities were unacceptable on Canadian soil.

A few years ago a Serbian-Canadian organization was forbidden to broadcast inflammatory comments about Tito and present-day Yugoslavia and the mission ordered its program removed from a Toronto radio station.

The Croat and Serbian emigre resistance to Tito - and all his work, is hard to explain in a few brief words. Basically it is a conservative, anti-Communist opposition to Communist government in Yugoslavia and in the case of the Serbians, a push for the return of the Serbian monarchy which disappeared during the Second World War.

The Croatian enemies of Marshal Tito (himself curiously enough also a Croat) are semi-fascist, pure and simple, calling for a Croat nation in southeastern Europe.

As recently as the Second World War, when the Nazi invasion of Yugoslavia placed Croatia as "an independent kingdom" under fascist Italy, Croatians have laid claim to separate status. The axis powers paid lip service to this demand between 1941 and 1945.

The wartime Croatian kingdom (with a member of Italy's House of Savoy as ruler) was a brutal, oppressive state, a creature of Fascism.

The Croatian Fascist Party or Ustasi also had its own troops with the German SS. It was a thoroughly unwholesome regime and one which was extremely hated when Tito and the Communists took over Yugoslavia.

One can imagine the reprisals which Tito's Communists took against Croatian nationalists, a legacy of counter-barbarism which is the root cause of the present Croatian world terrorism against Yugoslav embassies.

The Federal Government didn't help matters at all by inviting Tito to Canada last fall. For the Serbians who ruled the multi-racial country before the war, the Croatians were a minority, who want a Croatian monarchy and a Croatian, not Serbian-dominated kingdom in Yugoslavia.

The feuds continue on Canadian soil. None of them have anything at all to do with the country or our national goals.

Robert Stanfield's 'Shadow Cabinet' Options

By FARMER TISSINGTON
From The Intelligencer's
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield is on record as saying that when his caucus names MPs as official opposition critics for federal departments these MPs will not necessarily be the party's choice cabinet.

It's a deliberately cautious declaration, based partly on the Tories' take over the government—presuming they do eventually. If the government suffers an early defeat and Mr. Stanfield accepts the call to form a government, you can bet his cabinet will be composed largely of the MPs who have been the departmental critics in opposition.

Should an election intervene and the Tories win it, obviously Dr. Stanfield would have a number of additional MPs to call upon for cabinet duty and the claim of the critics would not be as strong.

But in either case, you can form a reasonable picture of what a Conservative cabinet would look like by scanning the list of members who become the chief party spokesmen in each area of federal responsibility. The process of choosing these spokesmen is a little tortuous. It starts when the party asks each MP to fill in a form listing their areas of chief interest and concern. These are assessed and members are selected to serve on the 22-odd standing committees of the Commons. About seven Conservatives will be named to each committee and each MP can expect to serve on about four committees.

The MPs named to represent the party on the standing committees also form the caucus committee for each area of interest. The caucus committees will meet to choose their own chairman, although this is usually a formality as Mr. Stanfield will likely nominate one MP as the possible chairman and his advice is almost certain to be accepted.

This chairman of a Conservative caucus committee then becomes, automatically, his party's chief spokesman in the all-party committee standing committee on the same subject; official opposition critic of the particular government department and the department's minister in the House; and, perhaps most significantly, a member of the shadow cabinet and the man with the inside track to liaison over that department if and when the Conservatives form a government.

The selection of these MPs will probably take place at a second caucus session called by the Conservatives for early December as the party sharpens its strategy in readiness for the opening of parliament Jan. 4.

"The Perambulating Politician" is the name bestowed on Pat Nowlan, the Conservative MP who won his Nova Scotia seat handily.

Taking a leaf from the Miles for Millions campaign, Mr. Nowlan started at 6.30 on the morning of Sept. 25 literally to walk the length of his riding through the beautiful Annapolis Valley. Twenty days and 180 miles later he reached the boundary of the neighboring riding of Digby-Yarmouth. There Conservative MP Bob McCleave greeted him in an appropriate ceremony, complete with piper and cheer leaders.

Mr. Nowlan says he has never found a better way to meet and talk to constituents; many of them joined him for a brief stroll as he moved through their community. He was accompanied by his "Paddy Wagon," a converted school bus, which provided sleeping accommodation.

It was a great campaign gimmick but would not be so popular during a winter campaign. Nor would it suit MPs like Thunder Bay's Keith Penner who finds it difficult enough to fly to all parts of his vast riding, let alone walk its length.

And finally, it should be recorded it was only a matter of days before some Parliament Hill wags were referring to the prime minister as Trudeau the Winger, instead of the Swinger.

Legendary Horses

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

One of the most remarkable things done by our Provincial Government is its apparent preservation into the late Twentieth Century of the proverbial camel hump.

As no one has noticed such a creature anywhere around the Front Canal of late years, it must be assumed that they are all kept in Queen's Park where their nerves are carefully extracted for the use of the Government.

Certainly it must take the nerve of a canal horse all in the same day for a Government to:

(a) Admit to having advised Her Majesty's Judges of this Province that they should not accept gifts during the Christmas Season from prospective litigants (this was just a mistake).

(b) To be able to show no apparent concern when the Attorney General is asked to explain the never explained, an unexplained breach of Section 110 of The Criminal Code of Canada in the matter of a gift of 450,000 to the Conservative Party by a friendly contractor engaged to do contract to build new offices for the Workmen's Compensation Board.

(c) Top everything off by telling us that we do not actually need 52 beds in our recently expanded hospital which beds it appears are currently in use by local patients under the orders of their doctor.

I think it is time the camel horses were retired.

Pen Pals Sought By Koreans

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

I am a teacher of Keho Missionary School located in Seoul which is co-educational, and I have been in charge of school activities for three years.

Our school has about 1,200 students and they are from 12 years old to 19 years old.

We have been doing various school activities besides main subjects and the students have several Clubs; collecting stamps, taking pictures, climbing mountains, fishing, hunting, pen pals, etc.

Every Korean student learns English in his junior and senior high school and as a required subject. And lots of the boys and girls in our school have been asking me how they can get pen friends in your country.

They would like to correspond with students or citizens in your country, to improve their knowledge of English, history, geography, customs, and other subjects and increase the mutual understanding between the two countries.

Unemployment 4.5 Per Cent By 1975 Says Economic Body

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

Recently the Economic Council of Canada must have shocked many people, and particularly our politicians, when it reported that if all the breaks come its way Canada might reduce unemployment to 4.5 per cent by 1975.

The politicians, particularly, at least in the opposition politicians, have been talking of full employment in terms of four per cent and less across Canada, carping at the government because we are now running at some six per cent and making fulsome promises about what they would do if given the chance, .

To give them credit for honesty of purpose they really must have been startled at this figure. For we have to take the assumption that they have believed in the case they have been making.

But along with this let them not have overmuch credit for obviously, if we grant them honesty, they must have been in content with their apparent ease not to look beyond it. For a good many people have long known they were talking nonsense.

And nobody, of course, has been talking more nonsense than the new Liberal leader (which in this case is to be regarded as an opposition) as he puts the entire blame for unemployment on Ottawa. For he has claimed the level should be four per cent as the unemployment target for Ontario.

Let us grant even it longer of purpose, even though inside of him he has used a figure of four per cent and more as full employment in the province, and even though it could never justify six times per cent when challenged, in fact doesn't even try.

However, it can be found that the findings of the Economic Council may now force second thoughts.

For there is some cruelty in the positions that have been taken.

For quite impractical, unrealistic, hopes can be built in the public. False targets and false promises can make it vision a clear horizon which simply isn't there.

Even more importantly, they can be dangerous. For they keep attention away from the the vital question, of what adjustments are, required for a healthy employment situation in our changing society.

Actually the most important development out of the council report probably could be some credit and direction on just what the standards on unemployment should be.

As of now there is no universal formula for arriving at an unemployment figure.

Some direct dietetate workers, others don't. And there are so many variables that practically any figure can perhaps be justified.

There has been at least one suggestion that the council itself should undertake to set such a standard.

This could be a most valuable contribution.

Belgium's Language Hassle

By CY FOX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Within weeks of the enlargement of the European Common Market, Brussels, headquarters of the 9-nation burgeoning economic community, has become the scene of a national political crisis.

Belgium's problems are reminiscent—similar in form if other major industrial countries in the West, including Canada.

Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens this week of the coalition government led by Premier Gaston Eyskens was imperilled.

The Belgian crisis constitutes, in fact, the apparent end of one Flemish parliamentary's efforts to resolve, more or less peacefully, the conflict that has been its two main language groups—the Flemings and the Walloons.

Little more than a year ago, many Belgians felt that at last their country was approaching the point where its politics were no longer to be determined almost exclusively by the constant friction between the Flemish-speaking population in its northern area and the French-speaking Walloons.

Instead, economic problems were beginning to affect the linguistic split the chronic language quarrel seemed to be overlaid largely by the kind of compromise hardly revealed by events—as the two sides—which Eyskens was gradually introducing.

And the compromise itself, based on a relatively rigid adherence to the linguistic frontier dividing Flemings from Walloons, proved to be financially costly and in many respects awkward to operate.

In addition to Brussels, a boom town populated by large segments from both ethnic communities, there are numerous German - speaking communities and businesses, mostly around the city of Liege.

The sometimes-affluent French speakers constantly protested the high proportion of local Flemings for great or right and profited unfavorably by central's expansion into neighbor parts of Flanders.

Eyskens' plan was the fact that the great linguistic split had even insinuated itself into the structure of the Social Christian party to which Eyskens himself belongs.

The Socialist party's with organized the coalition government, was less weakened by the national divisions of Belgium than its partner.

Sargent Wants Probe Widened

TORONTO (CP) — Eddie Sargent (L—Grey-Bruce) wants the provincial government's investigation into the Fidinam affair expanded to include all Progressive Conservative election costs.

Mr. Sargent asked Premier William Davis in the legislature Tuesday if he would allow investigators to look into the $5 million election costs that you had last year to ascertain how many donations were tied to government contracts. . . .."

Attorney-General Dalton Bales ordered an investigation into the Fidinam matter last week.

Fidinam (Ontario) Ltd., a Swiss-based firm, donated $50,000 to Tory campaign coffers last year. The firm also has a contract and a $15 million loan from the Workmen's Compensation Board (WCB) in connection with a $32 million high-rise project in which the WCB will be a major tenant.

Mr. Sargent also asked the premier if he would find out the name of the law firm which handled the WCB deal.

Mr. Davis said he would get the name of the law firm but declined to answer the rest of Mr. Sargent's question.

Wells Won't Intervene

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government has no present plans to intervene in the contract disputes between thousands of Ontario teachers and school boards in the province.

Education Minister Thomas Wells old the legislature Tuesday he had "great confidence and faith in the people on both sides of these disputes."

Bernard Newman (L—Windsor Walkerville) had asked whether Mr. Wells would intervene in the disputes in view of the fact that thousands of teachers had submitted resignations effective at the end of the year.

He also asked if the government had any contingency plans if the teachers did resign.

The education minister said it was up to the individual school boards to formulate their own contingency plans to ensure the schools remained open. He said he presumed most did have plans.

Higher Welfare Benefits Asked

TORONTO (CP) — New Democrats in the Ontario legislature tried without success Tuesday to wring a promise from the government to raise welfare benefits before Christmas.

Rene Brunelle, minister of community and social services, said a decision on any increase was government policy which would be announced "in due course."

Five Detoxification Centres Are Planned

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario plans to build five more detoxification centres for the treatment of chronic drunks in 1973, Health Minister Richard Potter said Tuesday.

Dr. Potter said they will be located in St. Catharines, Ottawa, Sudbury, Thunder Bay plus a fourth unit for Toronto.

In addition, five rehabilitation centres will be built with two in Toronto, one in Windsor, one in Kitchener-Waterloo and one in Renfrew.

They will become the chief Conservative spokesmen on their specia' subjects during debates in the Commons.

For Mr. Wagner, one of two Quebec Conservatives in the parliament that meets Jan. 4, Mr. Stanfield chose the prescribed subject of external affairs.

Mr. Hellyer (Toronto-Trinity), former head of Action Canada and transport minister in the Trudeau government, who sat first as a Liberal and then as an independent in the House, becomes the spokesman on industry, trade and commerce.

Shulman Tries to Link Bales to Labor Fight

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Dalton Bales Tuesday furiously denied a report that he had attended a Progressive Conservative fund-raising party at the home of a man whom Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—Toronto High Park) linked with construction bombings and extortion tactics.

During a tumultuous session of the legislature, Dr. Shulman said police had a report from a detective that Mr. Bales was at a party at the home of a man he identified only in the legislature as Cesaroni, the secretary-treasurer of an acoustical and lathing firm.

While he didn't say so in the legislature, Dr. Shulman later confirmed that the detective was not a police officer, but a private investigator named Max Chikofsky who claimed to have seen Mr. Bales going into a party at Cesaroni's Port Perry home on Oct. 10 or 11, 1971; 10 or 11 days before the last provincial election.

Dr. Shulman later told reporters a police guard had been placed on his home after he made the legislature speech.

He said a policeman in a car was stationed at the front of his home, and a second uniformed policeman was on duty at the side of his house.

During the speech, Mr. Shulman was constantly interrupted by cries of "put up or shut up" and "liar" from Progressive Conservative members.

At one point, Labor Minister Fernand Guindon angrily slammed his desk and stalked out of the legislature chamber.

The NDP member linked Cesaroni with Toronto union war and the attempted bombings and machine-gun strafings of a Toronto company which employed workers involved in construction.

He said those allegedly involved in the bombings believed they were immune from such government action as a royal commission because they believed they had "a powerful friend" in the front benches of the provincial cabinet.

Dr. Shulman then said police had a report from Mr. Chikofsky who said he saw Mr. Bales at the "palatial" home of Mr. Cesaroni.

"I've never been to the home of a person named Cesaroni as far as I can recall," Mr. Bales said. "I demand that the member withdraw the statement."

He invoked a parliamentary rule which requires that one member of the legislature accept the word of another when he denies such an allegation.

Mr. Bales said he did not know a Mr. Cesaroni and accused Dr. Shulman of "doing his usual little act. It's all very vague."

Drill. Shulman said he would "gladly accept." Mr. Bales' word that he had not met Cesaroni. "But I insist there was a police report saying he was there."

Dr. Shulman later said the report went from the private detective who claimed to have observed Mr. Bales to police officers.

Dr. Shulman said he would questioning Mr. Bales' integrity but was suggesting "he had been used."

Pesticide Control Tightened

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Environment Minister James Auld announced Tuesday new regulations to tighten the control of pesticides sales.

The 2,800 pesticides sold in Ontario will be placed into four categories, depending on their hazard.

The regulations are to go into effect Jan. 1 but retailers have until Sept. 30 to clear their shelves of restrictive substances.

"We want to be sure the right people get the right pesticides, channeling the more toxic substances only to those areas where they are vitally necessary," Mr. Auld said.

No licence would be required to sell innocuous products such as insect repellents.

Products that pose no health hazard if used with care, affect only their target organisms and have containers suitable for ordinary landfill sites, are to be sold to vendors licensed by the ministry, he said. There are 1,005 product in this category.

More concentrated formulas used in agriculture and forestry that present no hazard when handled by experienced people are to be sold by holders of wholesale vendor's licences or Class 1 or 2 retail vendor's licence.

They may be sold to another vendor with the same classification, a exterminator, the holder of a permit or licence granted by the ministry, or a farmer.

There is one exception — picloram, a persistent herbicide used to clear bush on a large scale, will not be sold to farmers because such use is considered impractical.

There are 275 compounds that may be sold only by licensed wholesalers and retail vendors with a Class 1 licence.

Licenced wholesalers may sell these products only to licenced wholesalers or Class 1 vendors. Class 1 vendors may in turn only sell the r ... licensed exterminators and holders of special permits.

A restricted number of these may be sold to farmers, and transactions involving the last two categories must be recorded the name and address permit.

A ministry official said there are little or no regulations on the sale and storage of pesticides, although there are on use.

Licences will cost between $10 and $100 each year. Retailers with stocks are given a "use month space" to decide if they want to purchase licences, the official said. Those wishing to start selling pesticides m u s t have a proper licence.

15-hour Trek Saves Sons

Man Walks 40 Miles On Frost-bitten Feet

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Many times as Fred Kopmann walked on and on searching for a rescuer he lay down in the foot-deep snow just wanting to go to sleep.

But each time he got up and struggled further because he knew his three sons back in the stranded truck were depending on him.

"I was literally giving up when I lay down," he said in an interview Tuesday.

"I would feel my eyes closing and know that I was lapsing into unconsciousness and I would be glad that it was all going to be over soon.

"Then I thought of those pending on their father—and I would get up again."

Mr. Kopmann kept on for 15 hours in sub-zero weather and after covering 40 miles found an emergency telephone at 10:45 Monday night.

His sons, Rolf, 11, Michael, 9, and Frank, 6, were rescued more than four h o u r s later and taken to hospital in Calgary where they are in good condition recovering from exposure and frostbite.

Mr. Kopmann, a 39-year-old paper hanger, is in Banff Hospital recovering from frostbite which has turned his feet purple.

The trouble began Sunday night when his four-wheeled drive vehicle broke down on the Kananaskis forestry road in the Rocky Mountains about 45 miles southwest of Calgary.

"All night myself and the three boys squeezed together under one blanket.

"I knew I had to keep the children awake because the cold would creep up on them if they slept."

Halfway to the highway he arrived at the unmanned plant of Calgary Power Ltd. at Kananaskis Lakes.

"I just couldn't have gone another step and I would have died right there," he said. "That telephone saved my life.

"The man on the other end told me how to get into the plant and then sent a ranger to pick me up."

He then worried about his sons and "prayed they had done as I instructed and stayed inside the vehicle."

The boys had—except when they ran around the truck several times to keep warm and once when Rolf walked a few yards down the road to see if anyone was coming.

Rolf said from the Calgary hospital he and his brothers never gave up hope that their father would find help.

"I knew he would come back; I knew he wouldn't forget us."

Fewer Farms

EDMONTON (CP) — There has been a decrease in the number of farms and a sharp increase in the capital investment per farm in Alberta, C. Z. Sterling, statistician with the provincial marketing division of the agriculture department, says there were 62,762 census farms in Alberta in 1971 compared with 84,315 in 1951. In the same period capital investment rose to $90,000 from $21,000. Between 1961 and 1971 the average size of a farm in Alberta rose to 790 acres from 645 acres.

GM Says Price Gap Cut

OSHAWA (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. said Tuesday it has been working "consistently and successfully" to narrow the price gap between motor vehicles in Canada and the United States since the two countries signed their auto trade pact in 1965.

GM issued a statement in reply to Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie who urged the company to reconsider price increases for 1973 model vehicles effective Dec. 4. The increase averaged $52 or 1.1 per cent.

GM said this price increase "is limited to the recovery of the cost of improved bumpers and other safety and emission equipment without markup."

"There have been no price increases to reflect increased costs of labor, material, etc. We are reviewing these other cost factors and competitive circumstances and within the next few weeks will come to a decision of final 1973 model prices on cars sold by GM of Canada."

The GM Canada increase of $52 followed an increase of $54 announced by GM in the U.S. Mr. Gillespie said he cannot accept a $2 price spread as a reduction in the over-all differential.

'Bacchanalian' Revelries Ban Upheld in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the states can shut down bars that feature nude dancers and other "bacchanalian revelries."

Justice William Rehnquist said the freedom guaranteed under the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution does not go beyond books and movies to "gross sexuality" in public.

Besides, he said, the First Amendment in ending prohibition gave the states broad controls over the sale of liquor in bars and night clubs.

The ruling came in a case from California where, officials said, "acts of sexual intercourse, masturbation, sodomy, bestiality, oral copulation and flagellation" were being passed off as "dancing" and entertainment.

The decision upholds 1970 regulations authorizing the state's alcoholic beverage control department to suspend or revoke a liquor licence when officials conclude there is conduct "contrary to public welfare or morals."

Polluters' Take-over Advocated

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — The International Joint Commission was told Tuesday that industries should be taken over by the public if they refuse to adopt pollution controls.

Norm Richard, manager of the Thunder Bay and District Labor Council, demanded that pollution be made a criminal offence with provision for heavy fines and imprisonment of managers and owners whose companies cause pollution.

He said every industry should be made responsible for its pollution and pay for all damages.

The permanent commission representatives held a one-day hearing Monday on pollution of Lakes Superior and Huron and boundary waters.

Mr. Richard said no community along Lake Superior's north shore has secondary sewage treatment plants and some officials have not even heard of tertiary sewage treatment plants.

He said provinces, states and federal governments should have more pollution control laws and they should be strictly enforced.

Market Found

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Maj. Ed Crosby of the Salvation Army says he's found a use for tattered clothing once relegated to the garbage can.

"We've located a market for these ripped and shredded garments," he says. "High school and college kids buy 'em. We used to throw this stuff away and wouldn't think of selling it because it was just too beat up.

"But kids started coming in and asking for it all the time.

And, says Crosby, "we don't mark the price down a whole lot . . . it's too much in demand."

Rockets Fired

SAIGON (Reuter) — Fifty-four Russian-made rockets rained into Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base and the nearby area today killing nine people and wounding 54, the South Vietnamese command said.

It was the biggest rocket attack against Saigon since February, 1968, when the Tet offensive was launched with an 86-round rocket barrage against the same installation.

No Layoffs

TORONTO (CP) — Two locals of the Canadian Food and Allied Workers Union ratified an agreement with Loblaw Groceteria Co. Ltd. Tuesday that guarantees no layoff of full time employees in 17 stores.

The guarantee covers about 300 employees of stores that formerly were operated as branches of the Loblaw-owned Dominer, Busy B and Pickering food markets.

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government announced today it will spend $12 million to back up its priority employment program, designed to combat winter unemployment.

Delay Airbags

CINCINNATI (AP) — United States auto makers were granted an indefinite delay Tuesday by implementing government orders to install air bags.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the federal government to delay enforcement of standards for so-called passive restraint systems, pending development of new specifications for testing them.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted 98 young Buffalo area men Tuesday on charges of violating the Selective Service Act.

Heavy Loot

VANCOUVER (CP) — A thief in British Columbia should be having trouble spending his ill-gotten gains. A man took three canvas bags containing $1,000 from a city tax department truck. The money was all in coins, from city parking meters.

Must Fly High

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials of small charter airlines which use Burrard Inlet near Vancouver for takeoffs and landings have been cautioned by the transport department that they must be careful to maintain an altitude of more than 1,000 feet over built-up areas because of noise. The department held hearings after receiving complaints from area residents and ship owners that pilots were disturbing them because of low flying.

Repair Job

With next season's in mind, fishermen in the Vancouver area spread their nets and check for any rips before they are stored for the winter. Fishing in the Strait of Juan de Fuca was tapering off at the end of November, with fishermen catching the tail end of the chum salmon run. (CP Photo)

Fugitive Says He's Innocent

BELGRADE (CP-AP) — Srete Dzambas, 36, a Yugoslav who escaped last summer from Millhaven penitentiary near Kingston, maintained his innocence Tuesday in a statement to the Yugoslav magazine Ninety-Two.

Dzambas and three other men were convicted last April of the 1970 slaying of a dishwasher during a Toronto restaurant burglary attempt.

"I am innocent," Dzambas told the magazine. "I had no part of the robbery for which I was given a life term. My only connection with the other convicts was in the fact that I had known them before."

Dzambas was one of 14 prisoners to escape from Millhaven last July and was the last to be apprehended. He flew to Rome and then returned to Yugoslavia where he managed to obtain an identity card and was accepted to serve his military duty.

He was arrested last month at an army barracks on an Interpol warrant.

It is not yet known whether he will be extradited to Canada. Canadian authorities said last month that the Yugoslav is wanted only on a charge of escaping jail, not an extraditable offence.

British Liquor Laws Relaxed

LONDON (AP) — British drinkers, who downed an average of nearly 30 gallons of beer each last year, toasted Tuesday what they hope will be the end of some of the weirdest liquor laws in the world.

A government commission proposed that British pubs stay open 14 hours a day, 5½ hours longer than at present, and that liquor stores be open 15½ hours a day, seven hours longer.

Pubs and liquor stores in England and Wales now have split hours—between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. and 10:30 p.m., although Londoners get an extra half-hour.

The new hours would be 10 a.m. to midnight.

Cuban Anti-hijack Plan Meets with U.S. Favor

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States has accepted a major portion of a Cuban plan to deal with hijacking, including an indirect American pledge to keep anti-Castro refugees from harassing the island.

State Secretary William Rogers incorporated this idea into a draft proposal he sent to Cuba Tuesday by way of Silvia Maspnata, the Swiss ambassador to Havana who represents the United States in the absence of formal diplomatic relations.

State department sources said the American draft agreement also accepts the Cuban language including ships as well as aircraft. An American-originated concept is a clause calling for the extradition of hijackers as an alternative to prosecution.

While the state department declined to discuss publicly the substance of the negotiations, officials privately provided the outlines of the proposals made by both sides and offered an insight into the thinking behind them.

Meanwhile, Transportation Secretary John Volpe ordered new procedures to protect planes, crew members and passengers from hijackers.

The regulations, which will go into effect within 60 days, require that airports station armed policemen at passenger checkpoints when persons are boarding planes. All passengers will have to be screened electronically before boarding and all carry-on luggage will be inspected prior to takeoff.

State department sources said the original anti-hijacking plan offered a week and a half ago by the Fidel Castro government through the Swiss was brief and clear.

The Cuban draft, however, did not include a clause for extradition, a provision subsequently written into the U.S. proposal.

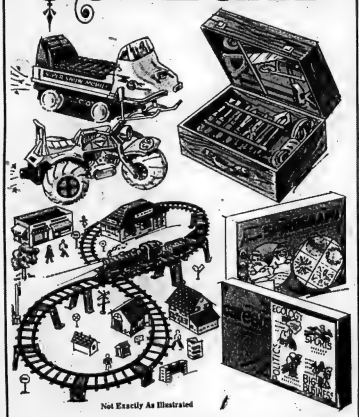
Police Kept Quiet About Driving Charge

HAMILTON (CP) — Deputy Police Chief John Arno said Tuesday he withheld information about the involvement last Friday of Controller Jim Custeau—a successful candidate in Monday's civic election—in a car accident which led to Mr. Custeau being charged Tuesday with impaired driving.

Deputy Chief Arno said he did not make public a report of the incident until after the election because he felt it might jeopardize Mr. Custeau's chances for election and "it is very unethical to cut the feet from under a guy for one mistake."

"I wanted no newspaper trials before the man was charged," Deputy Chief Arno said, adding that the charges did not have to be laid immediately after the incident.

Mr. Custeau, an alderman for 12 years, was successful in his first bid for board of control.



Deputy Chief Arno said accident reports are not necessarily public knowledge—"although in most cases the news media have access to our files."

"When a man who is running for public office commits an offence two days before an election I will do everything in my power to withhold any information that might harm him."

YMCA Calls Summit Conference

By COLIN BRUCE

The Belleville Family YMCA has called a Monday night, summit conference of all agencies in the United Appeal to discuss their expulsion from the annual fund - raising, appeal campaign.

Some members of the YMCA regard the United Community Services as a machine running out of control, in its management of funds gathered through the campaign.

"We (the agencies) started the United Community Services in unity our fund-raising campaign into the United Way," said Y treasurer Frank Heisz.

This body was made up largely of volunteer people, with no permanent building or year - round employee with campaign procedures their major expense.

"Since that time the UCS has come under a full - time director and spent $30,000 in 1971, more than the budget of any other agency," said Mr. Heisz. "In the same year, $1,000 was used for campaign promotion.

The agencies (13) who were initiators of the United Way and ultimately the UCS have been invited to send their executive committees to the meeting for "an airing of facts."

The Bay Scouts of Belleville left the UCS group last year when that body suggested boys' membership fees be increased. They also are asked to attend the meeting.

"We have nothing to hide," said Di Diamantides, general secretary of the Y. "We want discussion on which way to go."

Mr. Diamantides said a written invitation would also be extended to the board of the UCS, and its executive director.

"I won't go," said Isidore Cooperman, executive director of the UCS. "There is nothing to be gained by such a meeting."

The object for the meeting is for the Y to present its "case" said Mr. Diamantides. "We want to find out how best we can serve the community."

The decision to remove the Y from the appeal came in a release by UCS Board president Andrew Robb. It said the Y was not fulfilling its role in the community.

The UCS suggested last year the Y participate in talks throughout the community to ascertain its position and discover what programs were both wanted and needed. The Y complied with this request.

"That's how we do things here," said Mr. Diamantides. "If there is criticism we want to hear about it."

Members of executives of each of the agencies' 12 remaining agencies will hear the Y "side of things" and will be asked for ideas.

The Y, while acting up the mailing list to attract executive members to the meeting, had the UCS door closed in its face.

"We contacted the UCS for the names of the people we wanted at the meeting but no answer came back," said Mr. Diamantides.

While no official reply came to the Y, Mr. Heisz was contacted by Hugh Pepper, member of the UCS board of directors and chairman of the budget committee.

"At that time, Mr. Pepper told me the names would not be made available," said Mr. Heisz. "It was a perfectly reasonable request, they just don't want to co-operate."

Mr. Pepper explained his decision saying, "There was a flood of emotions . . . better to wait for emotions to subside . . . until the UCS annual meeting in January."

By phoning each of the agencies, Mr. Diamantides was able to obtain the necessary names and said, "everyone is coming."

Mr. Cooperman was also asked for a list of names and refused.

Mr. Heisz commented, "it's the tail wagging the dog," referring to the UCS control over the agencies who formed it.

"Why has all this gone wrong?

"What is the justification for the UCS move to expel the Y from the appeal? Where is the communication? There are too many questions to be answered," said Mr. Heisz.

"Isidore is not talking to us."

Mr. Cooperman has retained a "no comment" stand on any Y issues, saying it would be up to Mr. Robb to make the statement. Mr. Robb is in Europe on business.

"Perhaps the other agencies will agree with us and perhaps they won't, I don't know," said Mr. Heisz.

Mr. Heisz guessed a committee might be formed because of the meeting to investigate the situation and present a brief to the annual meeting of the UCS.

One of the Hazards of Seeking Election

The labors of seeking public office don't always end election night. At least they didn't for Belleville council candidate Stu Meeks — who yesterday clad in skin diving equipment — several times slushed through the ice as he removed a campaign poster which he'd floated near the Moira River Dundas St. bridge. But the unique advertisement — even if its removal was a laborious process — may have paid dividends. Mr. Meeks topped the aldermanic polls.

Pollution Checker Said Needed

The environmental protection act is just a piece of paper until official inspectors are placed across the province to respond to citizens' complaints.

Belleville's anti-pollution group, PACE, has come to this conclusion as the result of bitter experience.

It is requesting the government to appoint a person at the Moira River Valley Conservation Authority with power to act on complaints of environmental contamination. PACE wants this power extended to every conservation authority in the province.

The tipping of diesel oil into the Moira Nov. 11, an act witnessed by three people, sparked PACE's resolution.

Men from a truck labelled with the logo of Leo Contracting, the company putting in a sanitary sewer in the Moira River, were observed dumping the oil into the river from a parking lot behind 180 Front St.

PACE hoped to take the pollution case to court. But, said president Doug Sword last night, The Environmental Law Society in Toronto says the group hasn't an airtight case because the witnesses did not take a water sample of the river immediately.

Nor did they know to which agency to turn. The witnesses telephoned both city police and the city engineering department, only to be told those bodies had no jurisdiction over the matter.

If PACE gets its way, help will be immediately at hand in the case of a future incident. Any occurrence of gross pollution could be reported to the way the city council ploughed off the oil spill," said Mr. Sword in his report to PACE's regular monthly meeting at Grove Alexandra School Tuesday night.

the Moira River Valley Authority. It could send out a field man immediately to take whatever action is necessary under existing laws.

Helpless Owner Sees House Razed

A Prince Edward County woman sat helplessly outside her burning, isolated home for 20 minutes last night before she was able to call for help.

By the time firemen arrived, the house's roof had collapsed and nothing could be done to save the two-storey brick structure.

Mrs. Edwin Brown was awakened shortly after midnight by noise coming from the first floor. Alone and without a telephone, she tripped on her way down the stairs but recovered to discover the family room ablaze.

In her bare feet and wearing only a night dress, Mrs. Brown left her door dog and fled outside to her car where she waited, without keys, for 20 minutes until another vehicle came by. She rushed to Redberryville, three-quarters of a mile away, and called the Ameliasburgh Fire Department which dispatched four trucks to the scene within 11 minutes, too late to help.

The Browns moved into the house only last month and had not yet installed a phone. The building and contents were partially insured.

Mr. Brown, who went to work at midnight, arrived home at about 1 a.m., in time to see the house collapse to the ground. He went back to work after attending to his wife.

The house, a half mile from neighbors on the county road had the garage to be completed, a fire department spokesman estimated its value at $30,000.

Cause of the fire is not yet known but an investigation has begun.

Shovels to Showers

Morning showers have all but washed away the three inches of snow which fell on Belleville and surrounding area in the last couple of days, as Mrs. J. Quinsey and Mrs. Nellie Brown, both of 7 Turnbull St., found out on a morning walk in the downtown business area.

Evening Will Provide University Information

PICTON (Staff) — A university information program to provide insight for students and parents will be held at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute Wednesday, Dec. 13.

Larry Richardson, head of counselling at PECI said most of the 16 Ontario universities will send representatives generally known as secondary school liason officers. Ryerson Polytechnical Institute and the ministry of universities and colleges also will send delegates. Through brief presentations, slides and films, parents and students will be offered insight into university programs, courses and campus life. Questions and answer periods will follow.

Mr. Richardson said each representative will be assigned an area in the school with students and parents able to choose three sessions to attend. Each is 40 minutes long and the over-all program will require approximately 2½ hours.

The PECI counsellor said university application forms must be submitted by December 15 and it is hoped the program at the school will assist grade 13 students especially in making their decisions.

Mr. Richardson noted parents particularly are urged to attend the session at PECI since it may provide their only chance to ask specific information directly of university personnel.

"It is necessary that they be aware of what is involved in the proposed course of study, what costs are likely to occur and how and where financial assistance can be obtained," he said.

Barbers To Fight Bylaw

Belleville's renegade barbers plan to fight in court for the right to remain open six days a week.

Bill Kuipers, manager of the Quinte Hotel barber shop, said that he and at least two other shop owners have retained a lawyer.

He was served with a summons by city police shortly after opening this morning for contravening a city bylaw by remaining open Mondays. Maximum penalty under the bylaw is $[illegible]5,000 fine.

The shop manager said he would continue to stay open Mondays, as well as Thursday and Friday evenings, until he has been convicted.

Another barber, Paul Clare, said he expects his shop, St. Paul's Place, to be charged later this week. The third shop-owner is also legal counsel is Sal Marino.

Kuipers was optimistic about his chances in court, saying a St. Catharines judge dismissed a similar case in the Niagara city after a barber shop owner was charged with breaking the closing bylaw for the third time. Kuipers expects his case to set a precedent for other shop owners in Belleville who wish to run their own hours.

Under the present bylaw, barber shops can open until 6 p.m. five days a week.

Touring Players May Perform in Belleville

The Quinte Arts Council hopes to bring the Touring Players to Hastings County next February or March.

The Toronto - based group, which performs only Canadian-penned plays, is well known for its dramatizations of Stephen Leacock short stories.

If negotiations are successful, the company will perform for both adult and children's audiences. The major presentation would be Some Evening Sunshine, a compilation of four Leacock stories, while kindergarten to grade four youngsters would see A Snowflake for Elmo.

Representatives of the QAC met Tuesday with officials from the Touring Players and came away satisfied about the area's chances to see the company. QAC vice-president Manfred Zucchini said the plan also received support from other QAC members at an executive meeting Tuesday evening.

He said the players would be in the area for two or three days, performing in Marmora or Madoc as well as in Belleville. Since the group is totally bilingual, Mr. Zucchini also hopes to interest the county's boards of education in French performances for language students. Co-operation on facilities will also be required.

The Touring Players are a professional company that attempts to perform in areas where there is no constant theatre. Much of their time is spent travelling throughout northern Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Zucchini said the Leacock play is an adaptation of four short stories that, in continuity, are to be written to be performed together. The stories are The Marine Excursion of the Knights of Pythias, The Extraordinary Entanglements of Peter Pumpkin, Beacon on the Hill and The Great Election of Missinaba County.

Comedy Bizarre Three One-acters

A sexual vignette of passion to be performed at the Pinnacle Playhouse? Live?

Flo Yanover made this description of her upcoming production of Mill Hill and offered, "this (play) is one of the many ways of going to bed."

"Spicy," is one adjective that can be applied to the one-act finale for the theatre's production, Comedy Bizarre, opening tonight.

Three one - act plays, Mill Hill, The Tiger, directed by Verna Patterson and The Resounding Tinkle, directed by Peter Kitcher are drawn from areas of drama seldom touched in the past by the Belleville Theatre Guild, resident company of the Pinnacle Playhouse.

The trio, aptly titled Comedy Bizarre, deal with the ridiculous, the fantasy and the absurdities of human existence.

Mill, Hill, as sensual as its material might seem, takes place in a parlor, not the bedroom, and focuses on the sexual hangups of three otherwise normal individuals.

Despite the paintings and sighs and assorted ecstatic sounds made by the three-member cast, the play continues itself to words rather than actions, and it is family entertainment.

Stage manager for the complete trio, Rene Robertson said, "it will provide some of the real humor for the evening."

The Resounding Tinkle opens the show. While humor is not the prime concern of the production, it will be the saving grace for a good percentage of the audience.

Taken from "theatre of the absurd," the play illustrates on one hand the insanity of the cast and the general public it represents, and on the other the social acceptance of the insanity.

Dialogue includes the need to equip eagles with glasses to prevent them from getting dizzy and also supplying pacifiers in the event the glasses do not work.

"The audience will have to draw their enjoyment from our presentation rather than the actual, confused content of the play and its veiled social comment," said a cast member.

Between these two theatrical experiments comes the play that leaves the audience asking "did they go to bed after all."

The Tiger involves an adaption, a French lesson and consumes the energy of the cast and inquisitiveness of the audience from beginning to end.

More than 40 hours have been used in rehearsal and three casts, crews and directing staffs are excited.

This is something new for the playhouse, which last year confined itself to well known theatre classics such as the Rainmaker and She Stoops to Conquer.

All directors agree, "the plays are not to educate, shock or offend but to entertain all."

For complete ticket information and reservations, call the Pinnacle Playhouse at 967-1442.

Doing What Comes Naturally

Art Display Ends Saturday

It is a display of works loaned by the Canadian Society of Painters in water colour, circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario.

The 25 works on display have been lent by former Belleville artist Philippa Faulkner.

Questions And Answers

By The Ontario Motor League

Each winter, doctors treat colds with a wider range of medicines. Antihistamines and other decongestants are apparently valuable to cold-sufferers, but unfortunately they also can affect driving ability.

National Institutes of Health studies show that many cold remedies, as well as tranquilizers and other prescription drugs, can reduce the alertness of a driver under medication.

Some antihistamine preparations and other remedies — depending on the individual — may reduce reaction time and impair physical co-ordination, both of which are essential to safe automobile operation.

Because a driver is ordinarily unable to prejudge his reaction to a specific medication, the Ontario Motor League recommends that drivers carefully read the labels on non - prescription medicines and interpret such phrases as "may induce drowsiness" as a warning against driving under medication. Specific advice of the doctor prescribing other medicines should be obtained as to the possible effects on driving ability.

If, while driving under medication, the individual observes fatigue or dizziness, or notices that he has made a series of minor driving errors, it is wise to ask another licensed driver to take over the wheel. Or, if possible to stop and telephone for another driver's assistance.

When treating a heavy cold, it may be sensible to avoid driving altogether. The driver who stays home a few days to rest up is probably insuring a faster recovery, as well as his own safety and that of others on the highway.

Pedestrians can be a greater hazard to drivers in winter because those on foot are concentrating on their own problems of avoiding ice or deep snow, or managing an umbrella. We suggest that drivers be especially watchful for pedestrians during the bad winter weather.

Posted speed limits are for ideal conditions. In winter, half the posted limit may be too fast. The real speed limit is your good judgement.

Keep the gas tank filled as much as possible during the cold weather. A full tank checks condensation and that means less risk of water in the gas with possible tie-up if some of it freezes in the line.

Beware of "warm" or "wet" ice. Ice and snow are twice as slippery at 30 degrees as they are at 0 degrees. So be on guard when the temperature is just above freezing.

Should you find yourself skidding this winter, don't panic. Avoid braking and steer in the direction in which the rear of the car is skidding. As the car begins to straighten, carefully straighten the front wheels to avoid over-steering and another skid.

Use automobile headlights during heavy daytime snowstorms. Any step that a driver takes to "see and be seen" during bad weather is a safety measure.

The safest way to slow down and stop on slippery, icy road surfaces is to "pump" the brake pedal lightly and rapidly. The pumping technique means brakes are applied for an instant and released for an instant, thus keeping control of the vehicle in the driver's hands.

When driving on ice and snow, remember that any sudden movement can cause a skid. Don't speed up, turn or brake sharply on slippery roads. Slow down and keep plenty of distance between your vehicle and the one ahead.

Any trip taken during the unfavorable wintertime conditions takes longer. In winter, always allow extra time to complete any trip.

Don't take chances this winter; be sure to clean the snow and ice off all windows before moving from the curb or out of your driveway.

Loggers Return To Horses

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP) — An Idaho couple, in an attempt to save the environment, is trying to push timber industry cutting practices back 50 years by logging with horses instead of tractors and bulldozers.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brown formed the Hatchet Horse Logging Corp. to prove that horses, an almost forgotten part of early logging days, can remove timber with little or no environmental damage.

The Browns also want to prove horse logging can be done as fast or faster than by machine and at equal or lower prices. They say they are succeeding.

The young company already has earned the approval of the U.S. Forest Service, Pacific Northwest environmentalists and Georgia Pacific Corp., one of the country's largest timber companies.

Georgia Pacific has contracted with Brown's firm to log more than 100 acres of timber —about one million board feet of wood—near Bonners Ferry by the end of the year. Brown said about one-third of the job has been completed.

Brown, who as a young boy helped his father log timber with horses, said he decided to give the old method a new try about two years ago.

"We hired some workers, obtained some well-trained horses and logged out some areas for small mills near Loon Lake, Wash., and Noxon, Mont," Brown said. "We managed to do both jobs at a reasonable price in rapid time without scarring up the land.

"Logging with horses proved to be relatively quick and easy because they can haul logs around trees without tearing up everything in sight," he said. "Unlike bulldozers, horses are cheap and you don't have to worry about them breaking down."

"I think we're doing a tremendous job demonstrating the merits of this type of logging," Brown said. "As it catches on, I think there is going to be large comeback of horse logging firms.

"I'm not saying horses are going to take over machine timbering operations. But you can bet this isn't something that's going to die out."

Peyton Mancour, a spokesman for the U.S. Forest Service in Missoula, Mont., said the forest service is already planning on contracting with horse-logging firms for several timber operations in other areas.

Planetary System Detected

VANCOUVER (CP) — A research fellow in geophysics at the University of British Columbia says he has established the existence in space of the first known, full-fledged planetary system revolving around a star.

Oliver Jensen, 25, says Barnard's star, a "wobbling" body about 36 quadrillion miles from earth, has possibly up to five large planets revolving around it. This is three more than was suggested by the American astronomer Peter van de Kamp, whose 1960 thesis was based on 31 years of astronomical observations of the irregular motion of Barnard's star.

It seems to wobble through space as if it were being dragged about by the gravitational force of some smaller, unseen mass.

Mr. Jensen's conclusions are based on a new computer-based mathematical technique called maximum entropy spectral analysis. He used van de Kamp's data without adding any new astronomical observations.

He described Barnard's as a faint red dwarf star, about one-sixth the size of the sun. It's not visible to the naked eye, although it's one of the 10 or so closest stars to the earth.

Using a method of analysis more often used in geophysics —the physics of the earth—than in astronomy, Mr. Jensen concluded that the irregular motions of Barnard's star fell into periods of 26 years, 11 years, 3.8 years, 2.9 years and 2.4 years.

Each of these periods would representing the orbiting time of a planet, and each planet would have to be about the size of Jupiter—approximately 300 times that of earth.

Mr. Jensen said that van de Kamp's two planets are proven and of the remaining three, one is highly certain, one is highly probable and one is probable.

"Being so massive, I would suspect that these planets have liquified gaseous material, like hydrogen. They are not at all like earth.

"What this research does establish is that a relatively near star has a planetary system similar to ours. While it's the only one we know of at the moment with several planets, it does show that such systems can't be such rare occurences."

Foreign Devils Return, Find China Is Changed

PEKING (AP) — The foreigner, once detested as an imperialist intruder, is returning in ever increasing numbers to China, which still vigorously waves the banner of anti-imperialism.

Nineteen months ago the Americans were described as the most expedient imperialists of all. This year, following the February visit of President Nixon to Peking, more than 500 Americans have made the China tour, often including visits to the Great Wall, the eating of Peking duck and lessons in acupuncture.

Three months ago, the Japanese government headed by Eisaku Sato winced under repeated Chinese changes it was headed down the garden path to militarism. Yet a month ago the new prime minister, Kakuei Tanaka, returned from Peking with diplomatic recognition. In the words of Hsinhua, the New China news agency, he had "opened a new page in the history of relations between the two countries."

In fact nearly 4,000 Japanese made the pilgrimage to Canton, Shanghai and Peking in the first nine months of 1972.

More than 500 delegations of kinds from 90 countries—many of them Communist but a large number not—have come to China.

This has been accompanied by a vast exodus of Chinese table tennis players, basketball, football, ice hockey, badminton, skating and gymnastic teams to 52 countries around the globe, 16 of them with no diplomatic ties to Peking.

Chinese trade delegations, journalists, doctors and diplomats have joined the parade as China's influence continues to widen internationally.

The ebb and flow of foreigners into China, and of Chinese going out, is a product of Communist chairman Mao Tse-tung's "revolutionary line on foreign affairs." Under it, the people of a country are described as essentially good, even if their leaders may be less than admirable.

Though the foreigners are coming back, they do so under Chinese terms. The run-down Tudor houses on "Banker's Row" in Shanghai, occupied by poor Chinese families, the mouldering mansions on Canton's Shameen Island, festooned with proletarian laundry, and the once-elegant Peking houses where foreigners once lived, are evidence that the old order has passed.

A few foreigners still live in solitary splendor in Shanghai, their business with the People's Republic smoothed by a gracious existence in spacious homes staffed by servants. But they are the handful which prove the rule, the relics of the past. No longer is Shanghai divided into British, French, Japanese and Chinese areas. It is all Chinese.

From the 17th floor of the Old Broadway (Now Shanghai) Mansions, visitors are shown the splendors of the old Bund, a row of stately buildings now doing duty under different names.

The Broadway Mansions itself, where foreign correspondents lived after the Second World War, is maintained in carpeted luxury, a hotel for Chinese visitors.

Canton's Shameen Island, floating in the Pearl River, it half a mile long, 400 yards wide. It used to be the site of the French and British consulates: after 10 p.m. its two one bridges were closed to Chinese. Today, Chinese stroll under the shade of its splendid banyan trees or sit over a game of chess. The foreigner draws curious stares.

The Protestant and Roman Catholic cathedrals have fallen into disrepair, and the paint has peeled from the superb villas which line the riverfront. But government offices and Communist trade missions, meticulously maintained, illustrate what it all once was.

Few foreigners live in Canton or Shanghai compared with the thousands of yesteryear. But the foreign population of Peking-chiefly diplomats and journalists—grows rapidly.

So far, 81 countries have recognized the People's Republic, among the latest Japan and West Germany. When they move into their embassies, possibly early next year, the diplomatic population will make a large upward bound from its present 1,200.

Most diplomats and foreign correspondents are restricted to the Peking area, though with the new open diplomacy they have begun to see other parts of the country in periodic guided tours.

Many complain of boredom: there is virtually no theatre, no Western movies, no symphony concerts, no night clubs or cabarets, no bars.

But there are compensations. Peking food is among the best in the world, the city itself is a collection of cultural splendors, and the Chinese, though less accessible than in the past, are civilized, well behaved and friendly.

There are, too, some positive negatives: no tipping, no mugging, no appreciable smog, and no narcotics.

The old Peking Club, where foreigners once ate strawberries and cream beside the swimming pool, became the International Club under the Communists, a grey, sleepy echo of the brilliant past. It now is being replaced by a bright, new multi-storey structure on Chang An Boulevard, the wide avenue which runs past Tiananmen, the Gate of Heavenly Peace. Next to it is an apartment complex for foreigners.

Some of the 40 or so correspondents now resident in Peking occupy individual houses, but most live in apartments reserved for foreigners. Spacious and well built, these are described by their occupants as comfortable "ghettos." little islands in the vast Chinese sea.

Diplomats and newspapermen complain most about what seems to be a conscious effort to keep Chinese and foreigners apart.

To the foreigners of the old society this would have been a source of amazement: they spent their time maintaining the walls between themselves and the Chinese.

Now the walls between the foreigners and the Chinese.

First Trans-Newfoundland Trip Made 150 Years Ago

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The first white man to travel across the island of Newfoundland on foot completed the journey from sea to sea 150 years ago this month.

Main purpose of the journey in 1822 was to make direct contact with some of the Island's original inhabitants, the Beothuk Indians.

Cormack was a native Newfoundlander, born in St. John's of Scottish parents in 1778.

His guide was Joseph Sylvester of the tribe who came to Newfoundland from Cape Breton and settled at Ogone River, Bay D'Espoir, on the southwest coast.

A century and a half ago, the interior of Newfoundland was a wilderness. The only paths were the trails of the roving Indians, and those of the caribou as they migrated north and south with the season.

Despite all difficulties, Cormack was determined to see the venture through. But the Micmac wasn't so dedicated. Two weeks after they started the Indian was ready to turn back. After all, the people they sought—the Beothuks—were the deadly enemies of his people.

But Cormack was able to persuade Sylvester to continue and the Indian kept his part of the bargain, ensuring the expedition's success.

Cormack's report said "not a single Beothuk was sighted." But it is likely the adventurers were seen and avoided by the Beothuk.

While he did not succeed in his main quest, Cormack recorded a great deal about Newfoundland and its resources. He compiled data on the flora, fauna, minerals and the scenery. He sketched a map so accurate that it was used in a survey for the trans-insular railway 50 years later.

The failure to make contact with the Beothuks spurred Cormack on to organize the Beothuk Institution to preserve the language and culture.

When Cormack was seven years old, his father, a merchant, died in St. John's and Mrs. Cormack took the family back to Scotland.

Young Cormack received a good education at University of Edinburgh under the tutelage of the learned and famous Prof. Robert Jamieson who gave him a love for geology, botany and mineralogy.

As Cormack grew up he yearned to return to the New World and at the age of 20 he landed on Prince Edward Island and founded the settlement of New Glasgow, a few miles from Charlottetown, with a group of Scottish farmers.

Whale Lover

Author and conservationist Farley Mowat sits on floor to cast local during an interview. Known as a staunch defender of the underdog, he is working out plans for a foundation to study and preserve whales. (CP Photo)

Mowat Campaigns To Save Whales

OTTAWA (CP) — If he were Irish, Farley Mowat might be everyone's image of a leprechaun.

Red-bearded, a stocky, lively bundle of nervous energy, he flits about his hotel room appealing, playfully insulting, and badgering visitors about his latest project.

Dark rum, mixed with a little ice water, betrays the years he spent on the south coast of Newfoundland, where rum is the sweet warming tonic for foggy-coast dwellers and seagoers.

Controversial as always, the Canadian author and conservationist has been marshalling forces for a battle to save the whales living in Canadian waters.

Taking a cue from the American Project Jonah, which "is striving to protect the world's remaining whales, he is working out plans for a foundation to study and preserve these creatures.

That's very unlike Farley Mowat, taking an idea from the Americans," he said in conversation as he skimmed newly-bought books and revelled in the attention focused on him.

In the past Mowat has become known to the Canadian public as a staunch defender of the underdog. Wolves, the Caribou Eskimo, and the vanishing traditional lifestyle of people in Newfoundland outports have been subjects of some of his books.

His writings have often been challenged by more orthodox thinkers who feel he adds a liberal dose of fiction to his facts. But his books have sweyed thousands.

Among his well-publicized eccentricities is his fondness for the kilt, reflecting his pride in a Scottish ancestry.

He admitted being emotional. But he said that emotional people are needed to push a society to needed change.

"How many Germans did you kill during the war?" asked a guest, not sarcastically, after Mowat described his shock at seeing whales butchered at whaling stations and scale killed on the ice of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

"Two, I think," he replied quickly. "But that was at long range and I don't know for certain if they were killed. Yet seeing those whales butchered made me sick. Tears flowed down my cheeks."

Mowat's latest book is A Whale for the Killing, the story of Moby Joe, a fin whale that became stranded in shallow waters near Burgeo, Nfld.

Despite Mowat's efforts to save it, the defenceless whale died after being shot at by a few of the local people. The event led to bitterness between Mowat and the townspeople, and his departure from Newfoundland.

For Mowat, preservation of the various whale species begins at home. He said he hopes his proposed whale foundation will be formed within three to four months.

"In Canadian waters there is a sampling of almost every species of threatened whales. If we stop whaling, a nucleus of every species would be preserved which could reseed the oceans of the world."

His new foundation would argue for immediate cessation of whale-hunting a 10-year moratorium on killing of whales, and research into the life and behavior of the sea mammals. He wants scientists and "an informed cross-section of Canadians" in the foundation.

Canada, through three East Coast whaling stations, takes about two per cent of the world's annual whale kill. Russia and Japan take the largest percentages with 43 and 41 per cent respectively.

The Canadian whaling stations at Williamsport and Dildo, Nfld., and Blandford, N.S., are owned largely by Norwegian and Japanese interests. They employ a few hundred people with a relatively high number of Norwegians and Japanese, Mowat added.

He said he wants stations in Canada to stop the hunting, and also that Canada should stop foreign whale-hunters from obtaining supplies from Canadian ports. That would prevent the hunt, he maintained.

"In my opinion, unless there is a moratorium on killing in the next 18 months, many of the most advanced species will be reduced to the point where they will become extinct."

And while Mowat personally would not want to see hunting revived again, he said that if there is no moratorium soon, extinction would mean the permanent loss of this in future.

To Mowat, whale-hunting is genocide. Whales are thought by some scientists to be the peer of man in intelligence, he said.

"If we must eat our brothers, we'll have to do it, but for me it will be an act of cannibalism," he said about a possible revival of the hunt.

Canada has offered a moratorium on whale-killing at the environmental conference in Stockholm last summer, but Mowat said the government equivocated at a subsequent meeting in London.

But he has held discussions with Environment Minister Jack Davis about the [illegible] whales, however, and said he is encouraged by the minister's attitudes.

Canada set a kill-quota on fin whales this year of 360, but as quotas for this species have been gradually lowered from 800 in 1967, kills of some other species have been rising as hunters turn to alternatives.

A new quota on fin whales for 1973 will probably be set shortly.

Mowat said he will spend the next year in total commitment to saving whales and will put a major part of profits from his book into the foundation.

As part of the foundation's effort, Mowat said he hopes to be able to charter the schooner Bluenose II to study whales "as they should be studied: alive in the sea and not dead on a factory platform."

The vessel would ply the seas for a year looking for whales, so scientists interested in the creatures and, he hopes, establish communication with this "other highly intelligent form of life."

Happiness Passes Around

While Mrs. Mildred Weymark strums on her ukelele, other Special Care Volunteers join in singing old melodies with nursing or private home residents each week.

"These volunteers, 22 housewives," said Mrs. Jean James, Special Care Volunteers president, who are governmentally placed in these homes back to society."

Lack of bed space in the hospital is one reason for these placements. Another reason is the need for these elderly patients, without their own homes, to become familiar with family surroundings.

These volunteers travel by their own cars each week to visit and cheer patients in homes at Belleville, Picton, West Lake, Madoc, Trenton and Deseronto.

"Shine on Harvest Moon", "Charleston" and "H-a-p-p-y" are a few melodies included in the entertainment program.

Any other residents are welcome to join along also.

Aside from the lively singsongs, bingos, dancing and craft sessions are provided.

Tuesday afternoon at Bellcrest Home, these volunteers showed residents how to make Christmas decorations from small candy suckers, nylon and colored stove pipes. They also sang Christmas carols.

As a branch of the Mental Health Association, any monetary donations are accepted for expenditures as gas and craft materials.

Literary Licence

PERSHORE, England (CP) — Roy Bulson has an enviable job. As an expert on beer and pubs, he spends his time in practical research for books on the subject. With six books already published on pubs in Ireland, he's currently touring the West Country working on his next publication. He's been banned from driving, not surprisingly as he downs more than 100 pints of ale every week. So he travels in a pony and cart.

The Experts Say

Define Your Taste In Food and Wine

TORONTO (CP) — In spite of all the myths and mysteries made about it, learning to enjoy good food and wine is a pleasure that shouldn't daunt anyone.

Bob Torrance says: "You can take courses, if you like, and read books. Then you just practise.

"You have to define your own taste. There is good food you won't like and bad food you will.

"There is no such thing as right and wrong. There are people who drink white wine with red meat because they don't like red wine."

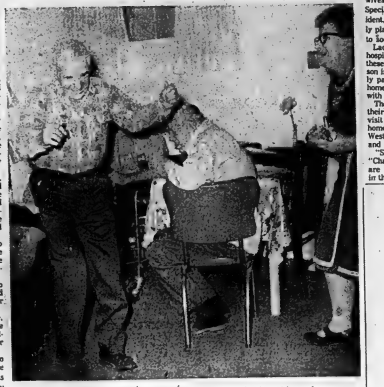
Mr. Torrance works with a food firm and acts, voluntarily, as chief Canadian judge for Holiday magazine's restaurant awards. This year nine Toronto restaurants were given awards for "dining distinction." Mr. Torrance said in an interview that gives the city a record for the number of awards per population.

He said he feels people should relax when they're dining out, and ask questions if they're not sure.

"The public has too much embarrassment. It's a problem in the restaurant industry. If people are embarrassed they'll take offence because they are embarrassed and get critical of waiters or the food.

"Most waiters started as busboys, they know their business. They'd be glad to explain a recipe or offer advice."

If you're in a strange city or don't know much about the restaurants in your own city, check with a hotel. There probably are magazines available that list restaurants by price and describe them.



If you're a true enthusiast, you might want to join a food club, Mr. Torrance said the International Wine and Food Society has a branch in Toronto and several others are in the process of being formed in Canada.

"They're for people who like camaraderie, who like courses in cooking and bulletins about food and restaurants."

If you feel you are unable to afford restaurants or food clubs, you may do your gourmet eating at home.

"When it comes to wine, you can go into a liquor store and ask their wine expert advice on what wines to buy or how to start a cellar.

"As well, when it comes to wines and liqueurs, the wine merchants have consultants who, hoping that you will buy their products, will spend time discussing wines with you."

Fashion Fur Has Returned The Long and Short of It

NEW YORK (CP) — Most women have welcomed the return of the fur jacket which disappeared completely during the reign of the miniskirt. A short fur jacket just didn't make fashion sense over a minimal skirt.

Then the skirts dropped and the jacket looked right again, especially with floor-length dresses. This winter there's even more emphasis on fur jackets and the beginning of what might be a return trend for the stole.

But the regulation fur coat still at the backbone of the Canadian wardrobe in the winter climate.

In the last few years a new note has emerged. Women are concerned about those animals facing extinction. Not many women could afford a leopard coat, of course, but they want to be sure the furs they choose are not on any such list.

Mink and some other animals are bred for the fur market. So they are always right. And the wild animals that furriers now use are not facing extinction. Often they are pests and their numbers must be kept down.

If you are thinking of a fur coat you'll want to know the latest styling. First, however, decide on the type of fur. That often decides the styling. There are three categories: long hair as fox, raccoon, lynx, wolf; short hair to include mink, muskrat, beaver, otter, and lastly, such flat furs as the lamb family.

This season many coats use two furs, as a flat lamb trimmed with a long-hair fur. This is especially effective in the fitted style, actually the latest trend, away from last year's more voluminous coat.

In Copenhagen, there was a capsule showing by the famous firm of Birger Christensen whose clients include the royal families of Denmark, Norway and Greece. This fall the firm sent out a 50-item collection to be shown at Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver.

For 1972-73, Birger Christensen likes finger-tip or stroller lengths, as well as a short double-breasted pea-jacket.

For casual wear, two versions in red fox—below-the-knee and stroller—sported a leather snap-front band and leather patch pockets.

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONWELL

Does Baby enjoy 'mess' hall eating?

DOES HE! Glance over your shoulder as you clean up the cereal he has dumped over your floor—did you ever see such smug satisfaction? Yet, it is not the mess, per se ("Percy! If you ever do that again . . ."), that Baby enjoys. It is the reaction he gets from Mom or Dad. As far as Baby is concerned, dumping his cereal bowl is the best way he knows of making a grownup like Mom jump when he wants her to jump.

Is today's woman apt to propose?

NOT any more than women of any era. Today's woman, "liberated" or not, knows what she wants of life. If it is marriage she is interested in and she is in love with a man she wants for a husband, she will see to it that the proper proposal is made at the appropriate time. She will also make sure that the man thinks the whole idea is his whether the words that settle the matter as she wants it come from his mouth or hers.

Are racing car drivers fearless?

CERTAINLY NOT. Dirt track contestants, Le Mans speedsters, Indianapolis 500 entrants—wherever the challenge is, or the prize —most of the drivers have about the same fear as the everyday motorist. Racing car drivers, though, depend on their skill and their coolness. If they do have a "greatest fear" it might be their dread of being against the accidental driver who has neurotically convinced himself he has no fear.

Ann Landers
'Other' Woman in Trailer Annoys Upset Daughter

Dear Ann Landers: I am 15 years old and have had one hell of a lousy life so far. My father and mother have been married 24 years and my dad has been an alcoholic and a woman chaser since I can remember. My mom has been talking about a divorce for 10 years but she will never do it because she still loves him in spite of everything.

The thing that has me half crazy is the fact that Dad bought a trailer four months ago and is keeping a woman in it. The trailer is less than 10 minutes from our house and he shuttles back and forth. My nerves are in shreds because of this and the doctor has me on tranquilizers. Mom cries a lot and, what with the drinking and fighting and no sleep or peace of mind, I'm a wreck. I might sound like a horrible kid but is there some way I can legally get out of this house? Can I ask to be put in a foster home somewhere? I have no relatives that I care to live with. Strangers would be better. Please, Ann, help me.—Desperate 15

Dear 15: Moving out of the house is not a good solution. You'd probably feel guilty about abandoning your mother and wonder what's going on back there and be in worse shape than ever.

My advice is to get some counselling and learn how to play the hand that circumstances has dealt you. Your school counsellor or an understanding clergyman can help you by just listening. If at 15 you run from trouble instead of learning how to handle it you'll be running all your life.

Dear Ann Landers: In reference to the complaint from Rusty Pipes and Assaulted Eardrums (whose problem was an unpleasant voice), I think you missed the point. You, Dear Lady, are an example. The reason you are on NBC radio every morning is because you write an advice column and your name is a household word. If your voice sounded like a grinder full of horseshoe nails, you'd still have a listening audience.

While you may be self-conscious about your midwestern twang, the hard "r's" and the hippy "a's" it's still your and no serious handicap.

Rusty, on the other hand, may have a real problem which might be corrected by voice training, even though he has no interest in broadcasting. An appealing voice is an advantage in any situation, social or professional. I would urge Rusty to check schools, colleges, universities or private voice coaches in his town.—Paul F. Barnes

Dear Paul: Now I know what my voice sounds like on the radio—a grinder full of horseshoe nails! You're sweet! Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: When a person receives a wedding announcement, not an invitation, and a card is enclosed which reads, "At home after Dec. 1," and then the address is given, what does it mean? My husband says it means: "We would like you to come and visit us at this address after this date."

I say it means: "If you want to send a wedding gift, here's where we will be living." Who is right?—Battle Royal

Dear Battle: Your husband's interpretation is incorrect. Yours is a bit crass, but closer to reality.

Bible Study To Be Held

December 10th is designated as Bible Sunday.

On Bible Sunday churches emphasize the central place of the scriptures in the life of the church and of the Christian.

The Bible Sunday offerings of the churches represent a large percentage of the funds the Canadian Bible Society requires to function each year.

This year Bible Sunday falls on the second Sunday in December.

Successful Living
Lenders Acknowledged

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: How do you ask someone for a pen or pencil you have lent them without feeling uncomfortable? — Grade Tenner and Shy.

Dear Grade Tenner: Older and wiser and nervier person than you have suffered through this dilemma over the years. So much so that even Shakespeare had a word for it: "Neither a borrower nor a lender be: for loan oft loses both itself and friend."

Let's see: You could say, "Mary, may I have my pencil back. I have to work on my assignment." Or, "Do you need my pen any longer. I know where you can get one real cheap."

If it is a small thing, let it go. Relax and keep your friend. Prove Shakespeare wrong for once. And from now on put your name on everything you own that's borrowable.

* * *

Dear Doris: I wonder whether Women's Lib has any idea how unsettling their talk is to a woman in her 50's who has given up her "life" to raise five children. She is too old to go back to work — no one wants her. She can't happily stay home because she hears she is not being fulfilled.

In my own case I got so far behind (slowing up!) after being away a few days doing part time work and yet I look at the women around me who run a house, raise children and bring in a fat pay cheque besides.

My husband doesn't complain about my not working but we women are bombarded with this propaganda.

Do you honestly think that no one suffers when a married woman pursues a career — Unfulfilled Housewife.

Dear Housewife: The Libs really started something, didn't they? They go too blessed far when they make a mother of five feel unfulfilled. Ask the spinsters whether they feel fulfilled or not!

Every woman should feel free to do with her life what she wants to. If she sees homemaking as her thing, if her children blossom because they have had her full-time attention, if her husband adores her and counts on her at 50, what is there that can touch all that, when it comes to fulfilment.

The Libs are protesting about underdogs — and they are being helpful in their own way to those who need them.

Let's hear from other fulfilled, homemakers.

* * *

Confidential to Ready and Willing: Don't try so hard. You have a loving husband; one who is also ready and willing, and is showing some control over himself. Your deepest satisfaction will come when you least expect it.

It can do only good for you to get this out in the open for a serious discussion. The reason for your skirting around about sex, confining your talk to joking about it, is your shyness on the subject. I'll send you my recommended reading list on Sex, Marriage and Birth Control, if you'll tell me where to send it and enclose stamped self-addressed envelope and 20 cents, writing me in care of this newspaper.

Then get one or more of the recommended books and both read them.

Police Work Not All Glamor

By Jeanne MacKenzie
Women's Reporter

There are glamorous jobs and then there are glamorous jobs, but according to Constables Daryl Wagar and Lynda Salisbury if you're considering a career in police work you'd better realize that it's a tough job that requires a lot of involvement with people. That alone calls for special qualities, and patience.

Daryl Wagar, who is 21 and a graduate of the two-year law enforcement course at Loyalist College, and Lynda Salisbury, 22, with a BA from McMasters are both police constables on the Belleville Police Force. A natural interest in the law drew them both into the profession and in addition Daryl had had previous part-time experience as a civilian dispatcher and employed it. Their training consisted of a 13-week stay at the Ontario Police College in Aylmer, Ontario, where they were instructed in self defense, small arms and drills, criminal code, psychology, English, and various other law subjects. Now they are putting their "basic experience" doing a variety of tasks that include traffic patrol, desk work and serving as escorts for female prisoners. In fact the variety of each day is one of the attractions, as Constable Salisbury says, "No day is typical. You just take what comes each day." Actually their duties are the same as any other policemen's with the eventual possibility of specializing in a particular field of interest. Both girls express an interest in youth work.

What qualities do they feel are necessary for a person interested in police work? Both Salisbury feels that a potential officer should "have an even temper along with the ability to take what's being handed out, open-mindedness and of course, a general interest in people." In addition, Chief of Police D. T. Crosbie says he looks for intelligence and inquisitiveness. He also feels that the biggest problem women would face, on the force would be having to use force in situations that called for it.

Everyone has their own concepts of police work and so did Constables Wagar and Salisbury before they got involved in it. According to Linda Salisbury, television had a lot to do with molding her images of police work but once she got into it she says it is completely different.

Yes, there's an element of romantic adventure and danger involved, and both know it's there but don't mind it. That's part of a job they both enjoy. It's a job that offers variety and skill and contact with people. It's also a job that brings different reactions from people. One of the girls says that no matter where you go in uniform, people will react, and if you're a female, reactions may even be more pronounced. Some, of course, find it difficult to believe that a police constable who is a woman actually can even exist. Others treat "you as if you were a joke". As Daryl explains, "Some people treat you any way they want just because you're a policewoman." That's where the toughness of the job comes in and also a potential "toughness" of character — a protection in a sense — that both constables would rather not see happen.

Duties Performed

Constables Lynda Salisbury and Daryl Wagar are shown here dispatching one of the many duties they perform as the two female members of the Belleville Police Department.

Women Natives Discuss Rights

OTTAWA (CP) — About 50 Indian women, representing both status and non-status groups, are holding a three-day conference here beginning today to discuss native rights for Canadian Indian women.

The conference will focus on the problem of Indian women and their children who have lost their treaty status and rights as Indians because they married non-Indians. Twenty guests, including Indian and Metis leaders, lawyers, and government officials have been invited to address the delegates.

The conference has been termed by its organizers as another step in the increasing political awareness of native women.

"Before the Lavell case we never fought the Indian Act," said Jenny Margetts, a Cree Indian and co-chairman of the national committee on rights for Indian women. "We just assumed it was too big for us."

In October, 1971, the Federal Court of Canada ruled that Jeanette Lavell had been wrongly deprived of her rights when she was removed as a member of the Wikwemikong band following her marriage to a non-Indian. The Supreme Court of Canada will hear an appeal on the case in March.

Actress Is Bank Manager

As television's Alice Kramden of Jackie Gleason's old The Honeymooners series, she had difficulty balancing her household allowance.

But, as the wife of Robert F. Six, president of Continental Airlines, she has supervised budgets and schedules in the building and remodeling of Continental's Presidents Clubs and has designed the interior of the first-class section of the airline's DC-10 fleet.

Now the board of the First National Bank of Denver has voted Mrs. Six its only female director. She learned of the directorship in a memo from her husband.

Because Six is a member of the board of the United Bank of Denver, First National Bank officials asked his permission to make his wife a director.

"Bob thought it was a great idea," Mrs. Six said in an interview. "He said he couldn't think of a better choice, and he asked him why he always calls me 'stupid?' He laughed and said it's just a term of endearment and anybody would be crazy not to want me for anything."

The nasal voice was familiar. But, this Audrey Meadows—unwrinkled, slim, her short auburn hair smartly styled—looks even younger than the Alice Kramden she portrayed more than two decades ago.

Then, she became serious. "While I don't pretend to be a financier," she said, "I do know that banking is a business and there are certain practices that are simply good business."

The most important, she said, is courtesy. "It's amazing how many bank employees act like they're doing you a favor when you bank with them," Mrs. Six added. "And, why do banks have to look so sterile?"

She says she hopes no one views her election as a victory for women's liberation.

Poinsettias Need Care

If you have kept your poinsettia from last Christmas, take extra precautions now to avoid giving it too much light, says R. W. Crawford, horticultural specialist, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

At our latitude, natural daylight is enough to initiate flower buds. Poinsettias must have at least 13 hours of complete darkness for every 24 hour period in order to bloom. So it is necessary to prevent any exposure of the plant to artificial light after September 1. Excess light may prevent bud formation and bracts from coloring.

The plants should be grown at 60 to 70 degrees. Low temperatures below 60 degrees, sudden temperature changes, drafts or dry soil will cause the lower leaves to turn yellow, wilt and drop.

Feeding the plants every 2 weeks with a complete fertilizer is a good practice. If the nitrogen in the soil is too low, the plant will be stunted and the top leaves will turn yellow. Keep the plant well watered.

Remember, your poinsettia should receive no more than 11 hours of light per day. So keep it in the dark for a colorful show this Christmas.

Leader Has Misgivings About Women's Lib

NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of Mormon women, whose pioneer forbears threw themselves wholeheartedly into the struggle that early in this century won women the right to vote, says the modern extremists of that movement sometimes goes too far.

"Anything that gets out of control becomes a hazard, whether it's fire, flood or women's lib," says Belle S. Spafford, president of the worldwide women's auxiliary of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

"But if properly controlled, these things mean power for us. We've reached the point in women's liberation where we need to look at ourselves objectively and see what we can do that's reasonable. We need a steadying hand."

Asked if it wasn't somewhat paradoxical for the leader of a heritage that took such a vigorous part in the women's suffrage movement to have misgivings about its present-day counterpart, she said in an interview:

"Any good movement can become distorted. You can abuse any principle and freedom can become licence. That's not good."

Mrs. Spafford, a warmly good-humored, silver-haired woman of 77, said she sees dangers in some aspects of women's liberation as tendencies in it to blur sexual identity and reject distinctive endowments of womanhood.

"We want to preserve the nobility, dignity and femininity of women," she said. "There's a danger of some of that being lost. But I think we have too many common-sense women for that to happen."

The 450,000-member body of church women that Mrs. Spafford has headed for 27 years is formally titled the Relief Societies of the Church. It carries on extensive education programs in home-management, child-rearing and cultural development, as well as large-scale service in nursing care and home teaching visits.

Mrs. Spafford, of Salt Lake City, also served as president in 1970-71 of the National Council of Women of the U.S., and now is on the executive committee of that umbrella group embracing 32 'different women's organization's totalling about 25 million American women.

Co-ed Schools

10,000 Firms To Help Build Space Shuttle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — North American Rockwell Corp. is recruiting an army of up to 10,000 sub-contractors to help put the $2.6-billion American space shuttle into orbit.

North American, the prime contractor for the biggest space project of the 1970s, must line up companies, large and small, to produce components and supplies for the shuttle orbiter.

These sub-contractors and suppliers will slice up among themselves about 53 per cent of the program's total cost during the next six years.

The space shuttle contract was awarded to North American last July by the National Space and Aeronautics Administration.

The vehicle—about the size of a medium-range jetliner—is designed for extended stays in space where it would launch, maintain, retrieve and repair satellites, monitoring and analyzing earth problems in such areas as air and water pollution, agriculture, hydrology, mineralogy and urban planning. Some call it a "space truck."

The orbiter will be an airplane-like craft, 110 feet long and 55 feet high with a 79-foot wingspan. The cargo area, 60 feet long and 15 feet in diameter, will be capable of carrying into earth orbit a 65,000-pound payload.

The shuttle will carry a two man flight crew and a two-man mission crew and will be able to accommodate up to 12 passengers.

The orbiter will travel an estimated three million miles during a typical seven-day mission, and plans call for it to be ready for another mission within two weeks after return to earth.

The shuttle's main mission will be to transport scientific payloads, laboratories, satellite systems and passengers into orbit. This would include placing civilian and military satellites in orbit for satellites and space launch carrying fuel into spacecraft, use in space rescue missions, delivering crew members and supplies to an orbiting space station, and taking experiments into orbit for periods up to 30 days.

More Goods Fewer Jobs Port's Fate

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — With increased population and more buying power since Confederation in 1949, more goods are being landed each year in this port city, the chief distribution centre for Newfoundland.

But there is less work for local stevedores who are losing out to automation.

Frank Andrews, president of the Longshoremen's Protective Union, says 10 years ago the union had 1,500 active members. Now there are less than 300 and the decline continues.

Seven years ago, the introduction of sideloading freighters to haul cargo from Montreal and other points meant the laying off of many men and became the chief issue of the most stubborn strike to hit the St. John's docks for many years.

Since then automation has been making inroads into the labor force. Earlier in 1972, the second roll-on, roll-off ferry service for transporting new motor vehicles from the Canadian mainland was introduced.

"In addition to the active membership of the Longshoremen's Protective Union there are about 500 retired members," said Mr. Andrews.

When the salt fish industry was in its heyday hundreds of vessels landed their catches here for shipment overseas and about 3,000 waterfront workers were employed.

Since Confederation, the federal government has built substantial piers and breakwaters in many small outports, where fresh fish processing plants are located. The new piers enable modern, refrigerated ships to call at these ports and load cargo directly from holding depots.

The island's increasing network of roads is also playing a big part in today's distribution. Canadian National can drop off carload lots of goods at points along the railway line and merchants can take delivery in their own trucks.

Captain N. A. Baird, manager of Newfoundland Steamships Ltd., operating two sideloaders between Montreal and St. John's, said "the past summer was a busy period and extra workers had to be taken on."

The harbor here has been improved considerably since Confederation and to date about $20 million in federal money has been spent on the port and more facilities are being considered.

However, the younger generation doesn't appear to be attracted to the waterfront. The longshoremen's union said: "It has been estimated that 90 per cent of the active membership are in their late 50s and young men are needed in our ranks."

Mr. Andrews said relations with the shipping companies have been good in recent years. A two-year working contract expires at the end of 1972 and negotiations are under way on a new pact.

BIG ROCK

Perce Rock, an island off the eastern tip of Québec's Gaspé Peninsula, is 1500 feet long, 288 feet high and pierced by an arch 60 feet high.

Crumple Can Coming Soon

TORONTO (CP) — Within a year, the Canadian consumer may be buying food products packaged in a new kind of "can" that will crumple in one hand.

The "crumple-able can," the latest attempt by the packaging industry to reduce costs, storage space and damage to the environment, is expected to hit the consumer market at a rate of about 100 million in the next 12 to 14 months.

The package industry says at least 12 large Canadian companies are planning to package some of their products in the new containers instead of in glass or tin. First products are scheduled to be juices, nuts, candy, snacks, olives, sauces and some automotive chemicals.

The new container is a flexible pouch made of micro-thin aluminum foil and film. It is designed to stand upright when filled.

The pouch was invented in France and is familiar in Europe where about one billion are sold annually. But it is new to Canada's $1-billion-a-year packaging industry.

Industry, aware of rising retail food costs, estimates the pouch may cut packaging costs up to 50 per cent. A saving of almost $1 a case is estimated over pull-top cans.

Packagers, also sensitive to criticism from ecologists, hope that because the pouches are easily crumpled and thrown in waste baskets, fewer will end up as litter. They burn easily.

Packagers also see advantages in elimination of excess materials, separate labels, caps and pull-tabs.

J. A. Wildman, marketing manager for the Toronto firm, E. S. and A. Robinson, which produces the unit, said the company has committed about $500,000 to producing it and has approval from the Ontario government's environmental authorities.

This approval is crucial. Another Toronto company, Dominion Dairies, last February thought it had approval for a new, non-returnable plastic three-quart milk jug. In July, the jug was banned by a new regulation in Ontario's Environmental Protection Act.

Business Instructor Quits at 86

VANCOUVER (CP) — Henry Duffus went from door to door passing out leaflets to get students to come to his first business school here in September, 1913. He started by paying $25 a month for his quarters where he taught his fifth 11 students.

Fifty-nine years and more than 10,000 students later Mr. Duffus has relinquished his last connection with the school bearing his name. At 86, he's retiring.

He said if he were starting again "I'd start another tomorrow. No matter how many machines there are you still want a girl who can type, who can keep books and be a good secretary."

There was a depression on when he started his school and his students left as soon as they found jobs.

"And I didn't try to hold them—if someone wanted a typist. My main job was to get them a job. . . We always got calls from business people who would tell us what they wanted. We got nearly everybody a job."

As the school got bigger so did the age range. Older men might want to learn accounting, he said. There was a greater demand for short and specialized courses rather than for all-encompassing business training.

In the 1920s the Duffus students had a girls' basketball team and a men's baseball team. There were school dances which drew 500 guests, said Mrs. Duffus who also taught at the school.

"There was emphasis on good grooming, personality training," she said. "We had our own little fashion shows to demonstrate what the successful girl wore from morning to evening."

Mr. Duffus continued to "do the books" until he sold the last of his shares, but he hasn't let time hang heavy.

Along with gardening at his West Vancouver home, the Duffus agenda involves painting, writing children's stories, cartooning, developing a correspondence course in penmanship, assisting with a Bible friendship group at the church and keeping fit.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

THURS. DEC. 7

Aries (March 21-April 19): For those eligible, the field is clear for romantic forays, initiative. Old habits become receptive to changes.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): You have the energy to grasp an idea and put it to use for a productive day. Interviews with interesting contacts go well.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): A helpful mood on all sides is normal, although it's still your behavior that makes anything good for you.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): More is going on than you'll like, some special need for more attention to loved ones. Everything becomes more manageable by afternoon.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): It's a good day for building sound relations with one you love, or for a casual contact to ripen into meaningful liaison.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Home and possessions gain in value and importance both from what you do and from the general tide of changing conditions.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Brief journeys turn out to serve other purposes than originally thought. You encounter new experiences as you go along.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Collect what you can of anything that is due you, making full use of whatever opportunity exists. You have much to learn.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): All action has to be carefully considered now, since you must make some definite moves. Friends offer introductions.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Time spent reviewing chronic nuisances may show you a way of alleviating the problem. You are better off working quietly.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Travel may bring you a contact who becomes significant later. Mixing your friends and business plans only confuses things.

Sight Is Factor In Car Sickness

By G.C. THOSTESON MD

In my remarks about car-sick children, I made no mention of faulty vision, which may well have been the most serious omission of the year.

A couple of readers pointed out instances.

Dear Doctor: My daughter went through the same torture. I even carried garbage bags for her to throw up in. Someone finally told me to let her wear dark glasses, sit up, and look straight ahead, not to either side. It worked.

And another:

Dear Doctor: As a child I got car sick and never outgrew it. Even with three children of my own, I still get sick in a car or swing. My children also had the problem but outgrew it. I only found relief when I started wearing glasses.

The explanation for this came from another source, an ophthalmologist who has had worked some years ago, Oliver L. Richards, Jr., MD, now of Ogden Utah.

He estimates that as many as 60 to 70 per cent of car-sick children have a certain amount of astigmatism—neither too much nor too little. To quote from his letter:

"We find that when the astigmatism error is between 0.75 and 1.25 diopters that the child is very frequently carsick. Less astigmatism than this causes no trouble, and more simply causes a blurring of vision which the person gets used to."

But with a low degree of astigmatism, the eye muscles attempt to adapt by rapid motion, and this rapid motion tends to achieve clear vision of the passing scenery, leads to the carsickness. While, obviously, some carsickness (motion sickness) can occur from other sources, this clearly is too important a cause not to keep firmly in mind.

Another point in the same letter advises:

"Another thing is that women or men in the age 40-to-50 bracket who start complaining of sleepiness in the evening when reading or typey, or start complaining of headaches when they wake up after a full night's sleep, or wake up in the middle of the night with headaches, or have headaches over the brow, these or similar symptoms are almost always, in this age group, due to the fact that they are starting to need bifocal or reading glasses."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If you had rheumatic fever in past years, is it possible that you could develop a mental illness later?

There would be no relationship. The big danger of rheumatic fever is that repeated attacks of it can inflame the heart valves, damaging them by the resultant scar tissue.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: People tell me they have colitis, others have diverticulosis. What is the difference between the two ailments? Can they be cured by diet? What causes these ailments?

Diverticulosis is one form of colon trouble; colitis covers quite a variety of troubles in the same organ.

The essential difference is that bulges (few or many) develop in the wall of the colon and that is diverticulosis. It is extremely common, but in many cases it causes no trouble, and unless severe, it can be quite readily controlled by proper diet.

Colitis in its various forms ordinarily is much more difficult to control, although it is true that in some cases diverticulosis can be complicated by inflammation, and in extreme cases can require surgery. Those, as I said, are extreme cases.

Colitis does not necessarily involve those bulges, as is the case with diverticulosis, but if bulge becomes inflamed, one has diverticulitis which is a form of colitis.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract.

UNITED NATIONS, NY (AP) — A UN committee recommended a 33.3 proposed salary increase for 15 World Court judges, saying a nine-per-cent boost for last year's 10-per-cent increase would be too little, too soon. The proposal would have increased the judges' annual pay to $30,000

Opening lead—queen of clubs.

A set of seven in four spades doubled and West leads the queen of clubs. East wins with the ace and returns the nine, at which point it looks as though you'll make the contract easily.

But when you play the king on the nine, West ruffs and shifts to the queen of diamonds. You cover with the king and ruff East's ace, and it now appears that you must go down one. Two club losers are staring you in the face, and they seemingly can't be salvaged.

True, you could try to save one of them by taking a heart finesse, but you know from the bidding that the finesse will lose.

However, when you study the matter more closely, you note that there are the makings of a loser - on - loser play. The distinguishing feature of this rare play is that you exchange a trick you don't have to lose for one that you do have to lose, and by a strange but satisfying alchemy wind up gaining a trick in the process.

After ruffing the diamond, you play a trump to the ace, ruff another diamond, cash the ace of hearts, ruff a heart, and then ruff dummy's last diamond. Having attended to these details you lead the queen of hearts. West has no choice but to cover with the king and you let him win the trick, discarding a club from dummy.

This deliberate concession of a trick that you don't have to lose is exceptionally effective. West is forced to return a heart or a diamond, and in either case you can discard dummy's last club as you ruff in your hand. Your only losers in the hand prove to be a club, a club ruff and the king of hearts.

Tomorrow: SAMSON Schmear case.

Pulford Tries New Methods

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Pulford uses playbooks, stresses defence, requires top conditioning, conducts chalk-talk sessions, analyses films and assembles football coach George Allen more than he does any National Hockey League coach. In fact, Pulford, the first-year coach of the Los Angeles Kings of the NHL, credits Allen, coach of Washington Redskins, for some of his success.

"I learned a lot from him, but you can't compare me to George Allen," says the 34-year-old Pulford. "He's coached 10 years and I'm only in my first. I've got an awful lot to learn."

The Kings, however, working with basically the same group that won 20 games all last year, are surprises of the NHL this season. Most of the credit has gone to Pulford, especially after the club's record-setting eight-game winning streak which rocketed them into contention in the NHL's West Division.

"These fellows have accepted my philosophy," he says, gesturing to the Kings cavorting in practice happily. "They've been extremely mature in their attitude toward me.

"It's been a big adjustment for them to make—and me, too. But I appreciate what they've done for me."

Pulford was a star centre for 14 years with Toronto Maple Leafs, helping them win four Stanley Cup championships, before playing two years for the Chicago Kings. As coach, he's built a cellar team into one of supreme confidence. The Kings have twice knocked off Boston Bruins, beaten Chicago Black Hawks and tied New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens.

Pulford admits his philosophy took shape last summer when he visited the training camp of Allen's Washington Redskins, ironically a club owned in part by the same man who owns the Kings, Jack Kent Cooke.

"I liked Allen's approach to the game," Pulford says. "He stresses defence and I think that's the key in this game, too. And they've always in top shape. Hockey players should be also."

Pulford's idea of the playbook—new to NHL—comes from Allen. Pulford says his use is over-rated but admits:

"It keeps them thinking about the game and it gives the rookies a clearer idea of what's expected of them. Hockey is a fast, often instinctive game and the playbook simply gives the players a chance to refresh their minds about what to do on face-offs, on power plays and the like."

Also new to the NHL is the use of films and chalk-talk sessions—products of football, Pulford notes.

"I plan to make more and more use of films," he says. "You don't want the players on the ice, practising all the time. They get stale. So we can show them their mistakes, and some of their good plays. It's partially a psychological thing but it keeps them thinking hockey."

Pulford, a player only a year ago, was given the Kings' job after Fred Glover was fired. Cooke went to Pulford and asked him what he thought hockey coaching was all about.

Pulford asked for time to reply, then came back with a 38-page thesis on the subject, complete with diagrams. He was hired that week.

Earlier this year, Pulford and most NHL coaches are behind the times. He hasn't gone back on that statement.

Lancers In Second

Loyalist Lancers held down second place in the Ontario College Athletic Association eastern division hockey standings, two points behind league leading St. Lawrence College, Cornwall.

The Loyalist team won both their weekend games — blasting Brockville 13-5 and edging Peterborough's Sir Sandford Fleming 4-3.

Despite centre Reid Mallory's five goals and one assist in the Lancer's two games, Cornwall's scorers captured the first three slots in the individual standings due to their 19-1 and 9-5 victories over Brockville and Algonquin respectively.

Lancer goalies Brian Helmer and Mike Caine lead the league in goal keeper averages as Caine has let in 11 of Loyalist's 16 goals while Helmer has been beaten five times.

Badminton Facilities Need New Color Scheme

By AL ZABAS
Staff Sportswriter

How many times have we all heard people complain about the institutional green covering the walls of many of our public facilities.

Yet Ken Rober, executive director of the Ontario Badminton Association, complains that there aren't enough gymnasiums and sporting facilities painted green.

"Most facilities that badminton clubs use across the province are painted either white or beige," said Rober, "and it is difficult to see the white shuttle cock against these walls. It becomes lost in the paint. Green is the ideal color not only for badminton, but for volleyball, indoor tennis, all sports that need to have the ball stand out."

Rober attended one of the three weekly sessions at Centennial Secondary's gymnasium Tuesday on a province-wide tour of the various badminton clubs that fall under the jurisdiction of the OBA.

"What I'd like to get is consistency across the province in the various programs the clubs have," said the director, "and eventually leave hard core workable programs that will continue over the years."

Facilities seem to be a real problem, as where you play frames the kind of game you play. If a player plays flat then you know he has been playing in a hall where the ceilings are low. Ideally, a height of 30 to 35 feet gives enough room to play properly. Lighting should not be glaring."

Though facilities are a problem with some clubs in the province, badminton also has to overcome the backyard, sissy image it now has," Rober. "But this is not the case, badminton is a competitive, strenuous and physically and mentally gruelling sport. The shuttlecock moves slowly and the volleys are long as a result. You have to be in good shape to play."

According to Ken Rober, though badminton was an Olympic demonstration sport at Munich this year, there are no definite plans to seriously push it as an official event in the Montreal Olympics in '76.

"Most football teams would not last five minutes against some of the better badminton players," said Rober. "Yet the sport can be played at all age levels. If you're playing with someone at your own expertise level, you can enjoy badminton at noon as you start."

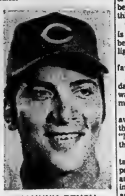
Bench Faces Surgery

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench will enter a hospital here Saturday to undergo surgery for a lesion discovered in his right lung three months ago during routine Cincinnati Reds physicals.

"They really don't think it's anything malignant, but it might be necessary to remove it," said the catcher who was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1972.



Bench said the "spot" was discovered on an x-ray in September, prior to the National League playoffs in which the Reds defeated Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds lost the World Series to the Oakland Athletics.

Bench said he had no physical trouble during that period and expects to be well enough to play this spring.

"I'm going to be 100 per cent," said the 26-year-old catcher. "That's what the doctors say and that's what I have to believe. I have to think of it in that manner."

Dr. LuisGonzales , a thoracic and cardiovascular physician in charge of Bench's treatment. Bench said he would enter the hospital Saturday with surgery scheduled for Monday.

"The overwhelming odds are that it is benign," said Dr. Gonzales.

JOHNNY BENCH

He planned one test today "to look into the bronchial tubes and hopefully to find out what the cause is. If it doesn't show what the cause is, we'll have to proceed as scheduled on Monday."

Dr. Gonzalez said that the lesion was "most likely the result of a fungus infection, or a little benign tumor, one of those two things.

"The appearance on the x-ray is much more indicative of a benign lesion rather than a malignant one," he added.

"We think everything is in his favor."

Bench, who will be 25 Thursday; was asked why the news was kept quiet for three months.

"A few of the players were aware of it," he said, adding that club officials were too. "Nothing big of it was made at the time."

He said that until the hospitalization was scheduled, he expects the team to make some announcement, but "I'm not going to call a press conference or anything to make an announcement like this."

"We didn't know when it would be cut on," he said, adding that he now expects to be hospitalized for a week or 10 days.

Silent Majority Paces Field

TORONTO (CP) — Silent Majority, winner of $302,929 in 26 races, this year, has been named Harness Horse of the Year in the Canadian Trotting Association's poll of race secretaries.

Silent Majority, owned by Mrs. Aline White and Irving Liverman of Montreal, also was selected three-year-old Pacer of the Year.

The CTA said Silent Majority won Horse of the Year honors by a narrow margin over Strike Out, another three-year-old pacer, but exact votes were not announced.

Other winners in the CTA annual poll:

Three - year - old trotter—Speedy Carlene, owned by Mac Cuddy Stable, Strathroy, Ont.;

Aged trotter—Fresh Yankee, owned by Duncan MacDonald, Sydney, N.S.;

Aged pacer—Rob Ron Robbie, owned by Dr. Steven Egan, Brooklin, Ont.;

Horsemen—Herve Filion, Lachute, Que.

Filion won horseman honors for a record fifth consecutive year in which he has already broken his previous record of 543 wins for a season and surpassed the single-season money-winnings record with $2,300,000 with a month of racing still to go.

Silent Majority and Strike Out were the leading three-year old pacers in North America during 1972. They met head-on in six races with Silent Majority winning three and Strike Out two. They finished third and fourth respectively in their sixth meeting.

Strike Out won $253,436 during the year and his wins over Silent Majority came in the $100,000 Prix d'Ete and the Beaver Stakes, both at Montreal's Blue Bonnets. Silent Majority's wins were highlighted by the victory over Strike Out in the $154,733 Messenger Stakes last month at New York's Roosevelt Raceway.

In the two-year-old pacer category, J. R. Skipper, winner of 15 of 23 starts for $122,622, was picked by a narrow margin over Duncan MacDonald's Armbro Nesbit.

MacDonald's Fresh Yankee was retired last month at the age of nine years after career winnings of $1,294,252, the second-leading trotter in the world.

Wyatt Dill was a winner in eight of 15 starts this year to put $53,736 in Theroux' bankroll. Speedy Carlene won $71,138 with 11 victories in 24 races while Fresh Yankee retired with 12 wins in 25 races for $143,415 in her final season.

NFL Players Against Canadian Expansion

TORONTO (CP) — The National Football League Players' Association (NFLPA) doesn't want the NFL to expand into Canada but would welcome the Canadian Football League in the United States.

Ed Garvey, NFLPA executive director, said Tuesday, expansion of the NFL into Montreal or Toronto would probably mean the end for the CFL.

This would snuff out a source of competition for players, resulting in a drop in football salaries.

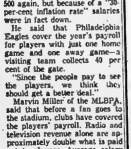
Last week the CFL Players' Association said it was opposed to both CFL expansion into the U.S. and the NFL coming to Canada.

Garvey made his comments following a meeting between the CFLPA, NFLPA, the Major League Baseball Players' Association and the National Hockey League Players' Association.

The associations from the United States said that in sports where there was more than one league—basketball and hockey—salaries climbed because of competition.

But with basically only the NFL and one baseball management group, salaries are not rising fast enough, they said.

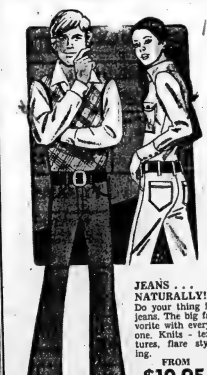
Garvey said that in 1959, before the American Football League was formed, the average NFL salary was $9,200 a year. Between 1959, when the AFL was formed, and 1966 when the two leagues merged, the average NFL salary had risen to $20,500.



In 1967 it climbed to $27,500, but dropped in the next three years. Last year it reached $27,500 again, but because of a "30-per-cent inflation rate" salaries were in fact down.

He said that Philadelphia Eagles cover the year's payroll for players with just one home game and one away game—a visiting team collects 40 per cent of the gate.

"Since the people pay to see the players, we think they should get a better deal."



Marvin Miller of the MLBPA, said that before a fan goes in the stadium, clubs have covered the players' payroll. Radio and television revenue shares are approximately double what is paid out to players. Average salary in the major leagues is about $32,000.

Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHLPA, said the average salary in hockey this year will be $40,000-$45,000. He said the salaries had increased about 10 per cent a year until the World Hockey Association came along, but this year they had jumped about 40 per cent.

"I think he got about a yard on that play—straight down."

Maple Leaf Captain Hits 300 Milestone

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dave Keon has reached another milestone in his National Hockey League career with Toronto Maple Leafs.

The little centre scored a goal and assisted on another Tuesday night to lead the Leafs to a 5-3 victory over the Vancouver Canucks. The goal was his 13th of the season but it gave him a career-total of 300 in the NHL.

DAVE KEON

In other games Tuesday night, Los Angeles Kings chopped New York Islanders 6-1 and St. Louis Blues edged Detroit Red Wings 2-1.

Keon, who suffered through an off-season last year, has been a leader with the Leafs ever since he joined the club in the 1960-61 season, winning the Calder Trophy as a rookie, the Lady Byng Trophy twice for gleem and effective play and the Smythe Trophy as the most valuable player in playoffs when Leafs won the Stanley Cup in 1967.

However, his 300 goals are not the only barometer of his value to the team, for Keon's defensive skill is comparable to the best centres in hockey.

Add to these his penalty-killing ability and his work on the power play and Keon's value to the Leafs is considerable, especially at this time when the team is experiencing an unusual number of injuries to key players.

However, despite the injuries, the Leafs have won their second straight game on the road and Keon's steady play is partly responsible for this.

The Noranda, Que., native, and Leafs' all-time scoring leader, scored the first goal Tuesday night and set up the winner as the Leafs moved closer to fourth place in the East Division.

With the win, Toronto moved within two points of fifth-place Detroit and seven back of fourth-place Buffalo Sabres.

Pierre Jarry with two goals and Gary Monahan and Darryl Sittler with one each were the other Toronto scorers while Orest Schmautz and Don Tannahill replied for Vancouver.

In Uniondale, N.Y., the plight of the expansion Islanders, last in the East, was illustrated by their lack of shooting against the Kings, who got two goals each from Bob Berry and Don Kozak.

JETS CO-OWNER DIES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dave Simkin, 59, a major shareholder in Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, died Monday of an apparent heart attack. He collapsed during his daily visit to the Jets' office and died in hospital. He is survived by a son, Joe, in Lima, Peru, and a married daughter, Ricki, in London, Ont.

Ward Keeps Raiders Rolling

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Ward seems to be enjoying his switch from defence to offence and who can blame him.

Ward, who started the World Hockey Association season for New York Raiders as a defenceman, was switched to centre by coach Camille Henry and the move seems to have paid off.

The Cornwall, Ont., native, whose pro hockey career included a brief stint with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, scored two goals and assisted on another Tuesday night as New York's 6-4 win over Houston Aeros.

The three points gave him a total of 45—tops in the WHA. He has 32 goals and 20 assists.

In other games Tuesday night, Quebec Les Nordiques defeated Winnipeg Jets 4-2, and in two sudden death overtime games, Chicago Cougars defeated Minnesota Fighting Saints 3-2 ND Cleveland Crusaders downed Philadelphia Blazers 4-3.

Ward seems surprised at his success in putting the puck into the net.

"I just shoot the puck and it goes in," he said in explaining his success. "I can't believe it."

Although he scored two goals Tuesday in New York's win, he was outshone by team-mate Gene Peacosh who scored three goals as the Raiders took advantage of a sloppy Houston defence in the first period to take a 4-1 lead.

The Raiders added two more goals in the third period, both scored by Peacosh.

Norm Ferguson got the other New York goal while Paul Popiel, Gordon Labossiere, Murray Hall and Brian MacDonald scored for Houston.

Les Nordiques stopped the Western Division leading Jets by scoring four goals in the second period after giving up the first goal to Winnipeg. Yves Bergeron, Jean Payette, Pierre Roy and Jean Guy Gendron scored in the first period for Chicago while Mike Antonovich in the first and Mel Pearson in the second scored for Minnesota. The game attracted 3,477 fans.

The Crusaders' victory over the Blazers moved them into first place in the East. They got two goals from Ron Buchanan and one from Ted Hodgson in regulation time while Philadelphia got goals from Danny Lawson, John McKenzie and Bobby O'Donohue.

But with 30 seconds gone in sudden-death overtime, Garry Jarret scored to give Cleveland the victory. The goal, his 12th of the season, came in a head-to-head clash with Bernie Parent, the Philadelphia goalie.

Hornets Hungry

GALT, Ont. (CP) — The league-leading Galt Hornets scored no more than half their 26 shots on goal Tuesday night as they romped in a 15-5 victory over Sarnia Downtowners in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game.

The Hornets got four goals from Ron Smith, three from George Westfall, two from Bill Hway and the others from Vance Miller, John Mickerson, Peter Brennan, Bruce Reier, Mike Doersam and Mac Westgate. Ron Hergot came up with six assists.

The Downtowners fired 19 shots on the Galt net. The ones that got home were fired by Bill Abbott, Wayne Weller, John Weeks, George Boorman and Doug Sawyer.

Tourney Dates Set

TORONTO (CP) — Six teams from four countries will compete in Ontario this month in Canada's first international hockey tournament.

Heard Herds NBA Bulls

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago Bulls coach Dick Motta couldn't say enough about Garfield Heard and the hustling forward couldn't do enough.

"He's probably the most amazing player I've ever had," Motta said after Heard led a second-half shooting spree and finished with 24 points as the Bulls romped to a 135-106 National Basketball Association victory over Detroit Pistons Tuesday night.

"He's so quiet he never talks to me and I don't talk to him," Motta said. "But for the first time since I've been on this club I've got a forward who can rebound."

In other NBA games, Golden State Warriors defeated Houston Rockets 108-101, New York Knicks beat Kansas City-Omaha Kings 125-103, Baltimore Bullets stopped Cleveland Cavaliers 103-100, Atlanta Hawks edged Portland Trailblazers 122-121, Buffalo Braves downed Phoenix Suns 108-97 and Los Angeles Lakers routed Milwaukee Bucks 116-94.

There were no games in the American Basketball Association.

Heard, who swiped a starting spot from Bob Love, and Chet Walker ignited a 36-point Chicago explosion in the third period that broke open a close contest and boosted the Bulls to a 90-74 lead. Heard and Walker each scored 12 points during the eruption and each finished with 24 points.

The Lakers controlled the action from the start and then insured the triumph with a third-period blast led by Gail Goodrich, who bucketed 10 of his 24 points during that stanza.

The Dead and The Living

With graves forming a backdrop, peasants transplant the year's second rice crop in the northern Mekong Delta province of Dinh Tuong, South Vietnam. In the Delta, the dead are buried on platforms of earth built above the water table. Sufficient fresh water and a good irrigation system in this part of the Delta allow two crops of rice a year. Test Plant To Desalt Sea Water

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli scientists are studying a new process to take the salt out of sea water. Authorities say it could help all water-short countries by cutting costs.

A million-gallon-a-day plant at the Red Sea port of Eilat is designed to produce fresh water 10 to 15 per cent cheaper than the most modern units in the West, and almost 40 per cent cheaper than older units.

If the test plant is successful, says Shaul Arlosoroff, Israel's deputy water commissioner, Israel hopes to build a plant with American aid in 1975 to produce 12 million gallons a day to irrigate farmland. Plans in the following decade are for a unit to pump 100 million gallons a day.

Most big conversion units are U.S.-type "flash evaporation plants," Arlosoroff says. The Israeli method, developed over three years and proved in small production, is called a "multi-stage horizontal distillation process."

It uses a new design of compressor, with aluminum instead of copper in the heat mechanism. No other details are being released.

The cost of desalting water varies in different countries, depending on local conditions, the cost of construction, fuel and other factors.

Desalting in Israel costs $1.50 for 1,000 gallons in big, fairly modern plants, said Arlosoroff. More up-to-date units could do it for $1 and the new process might bring the price down to 85 cents, he believes.

"We have reached the limit of utilizing our water supplies by conventional methods . . . by 1985 we will be in a crucial situation," Arlosoroff said. "We don't see any way but desalination to solve it.

Drinking water is not the problem. The shortage—already being felt—is in agriculture.

Gray's Win Unanimous

HALIFAX (CP) — With a knockout victory shading him several times, Canadian welterweight boxing champion Clyde Gray of Toronto won a lop-sided 10-round unanimous decision over Irish Pat Murphy of West New York here Tuesday night.

Gray, who weighed 147½, began stalking Murphy in the second round. But because of self-professed overconfidence and his opponent's knack of pulling away from dangerous clinches, Gray missed several opportunities to put Murphy away.

In the second round Gray, a native of Windsor, N.S., trapped the 151¼ pound Murphy along the ropes and punished him with lightning combinations. From then on, the Canadian champion scored with a slashing left hook and a pumping jab, forcing Murphy to backpeddle through most of the fight.

In the final seconds of the 10th round, Gray battered the American with strong lefts and rights to the head, but as in earlier, dangerous clinches, Murphy pulled back and shuffled out of reach.

Two of the three ringside judges gave Gray all 10 rounds. The third judge had the Canadian champion winning eight, with two rounds drawn.

Gray opened a cut on Murphy's nose during the bout and the New Yorker brought a slight swelling under Gray's left eye. There were no knockdowns.

It was Gray's first fight in Nova Scotia and he got a standing ovation from the 2,500 on hand. It was another step in the Toronto boxer's march toward a match against world champion Jose Napoles.

Right after the fight Gray's manager Irv Ungerman said he plans to challenge the winner of the Billy Backus-Hegmon Lewis fight Friday in Syracuse, N.Y. Backus is a former world welterweight champion.

British Empire welterweight champion Eddie Blair has also been challenged by Ungerman.

The win over Murphy left Gray with a record of 35 wins, two losses and a draw. He is ranked second in the world by Ring magazine and fifth by the World Boxing Association.

Reds Study Hypnosis

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds have assigned a team scout to study hypnosis and psychological motivation techniques for possible use on baseball players.

Rex Bowen has been assigned by Cincinnati general manager Bob Howsam to study such possibilities, The Enquirer says in the first newspaper story of a two-part series.

The goal of such study, Howsam said, is to produce the optimum performance from each player.

He said the Reds already have made one change that may have helped in the recently-completed season when they won the National League title, then lost to Oakland in the World Series.

Bowen, Howsam said, spent some time before the season with John Nash Ott, former Chicago banker who has become a specialist in lighting and light reflection.

Bowen's report on their meetings indicated that the color green, traditionally is used for the underside for balls of baseball caps, was one of the worst colors possible for that purpose.

The report, Howsam told The Enquirer, showed that a medium grey would be better, as it allows all portions of the color spectrum to pass through in "soothing" degrees.

Howsam made the color change on the bills of the Reds' caps prior to the last season. He doesn't credit the color change helped the team, but says "anything that will give us a little advantage I'll try."

Howsam also is investigating the use of musical records.

"Certain players have mental blocks," he said. "How many times have you seen a pitcher with tremendous ability who can't get the ball over the plate?

"That might not be strictly a physical problem. It might be mental and might be easily corrected.

"It could," Howsam said, "be merely a matter of confidence."

"After all, baseball often comes down to confidence and concentration."

Russia Series in '74?

CHICAGO (AP) — A 10-game series-in 1972-74 between a top Russian team and as many as six National Hockey League clubs appeared in the making Tuesday as the NHL's governors concluded a two-day meeting.

NHL president Clarence Campbell got the go-ahead to meet in Montreal next Tuesday with representatives of the Soviet Ice Hockey Federation, to set up the series which would include six games in North America and four in Russia.

Several weeks ago, the Russians broke off proposed negotiations on the series, but Campbell said the Soviet hockey group now is ready to talk business.

"The Russians have made it plain their objective is to acquire as many hard dollars as they can," said Campbell. "In the past 18 years, touring Russian teams never got more than $5,000 per game in this continent, including the recent series with Team Canada."

The Russian series to be worked into the regular NHL schedule was the major news from the governor's closing session, Campbell said. He declined comment on the current legal battle with the World Hockey Association except to say $300 million "is at stake in the litigation."

Realignment of the NHL in 1974-75 when membership will be increased to 18 teams was put over until a special meeting in January at a still undetermined site.

The status of Kansas City, along with Washington, D.C., already given conditional franchises for 1974-75, remained doubtful because of financial complications.

After the regular meeting adjourned, Ed Thompson of the Kansas City group met with Campbell and the NHL financial committee to outline the city's revised plans to nail down the franchise.

Campbell said the Kansas City case would be taken under advisement pending a final decision before a Dec. 15 deadline. The Kansas City problem stems from a Nov. 7 defeat by voters in a referendum on a county plan to finance a stadium.

The 1973-74 series with a top Russian team as far as the NHL is concerned is a joint venture with the NHL Players Association.

Campbell said the Russians prefer playing only three NHL clubs in the six North American games and a decision must be made in the Montreal meeting whether six or three NHL clubs will participate.

There is a possibility such clubs as New York Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks and St. Louis Blues, with large capacity stadiums, would play two-game sets with the Russian team, to be one of the top three clubs in Soviet competition—the Army, Dynamos or Spartaks.

"The Russians would like to play in the same rink twice, with at least two days between games," said Campbell. "The problem is fitting the series into the regular NHL schedule."

Regarding receipts, each host country would keep its own except for the two extra North American games for which the Russians would get a split—estimated by Campbell as at least $25,000 or $30,000 a game.

The governors also decided that next year's NHL schedule should not begin before Oct. 10, and end on April 7.

No Change At Top Of Scoring

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

With the top three scorers in the National Hockey League idle Tuesday night, the NHL scoring race looks much the same as it did after Monday's games. Jacques Lemaire of Montreal Canadiens, the NHL's top goal getter, is in fourth place with 36 points on 21 goals and 15 assists.

Stanfield, Lewis Demanding Action

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield and New Democratic Leader David Lewis called Tuesday for a series of bold government measures to come to grips with unemployment across Canada this winter.

Their demands, similar to those made during the Oct. 30 election campaign, came on the heels of Statistics Canada figures which said 324,000 Canadians were unemployed in November, the highest proportion of the labor force in that month for more than a decade.

Meanwhile, Donald MacDonald, president of the Canadian Labor Congress denounced the figures as "a continuing blot on the record of the Trudeau administration" and joined the call for the government action to create jobs.

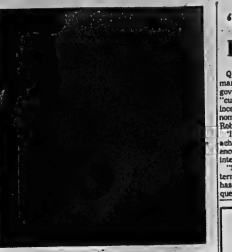
None of the three mentioned an announcement by Prime Minister Trudeau last Friday in Regina that the government will spend at least one-third of a billion dollars in program to make work this winter.

Mr. Stanfield said the government should have long since launched a winter works program in co-operation with the provinces.

"This action should be coupled with a program of stimulative tax cuts and incentives for job creation in small Canadian businesses."

Mr. Lewis said a full-scale public works program is needed, "a massive program of housebuilding and building of all sorts right across Canada."

He said the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for November, which fell to 6.6 per cent from 6.9 in October and 7.1 high to tolerate.



Henderson's Charge Meets Quick Denial

OTTAWA (CP) — The latest in a perennial series of charges by Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson that the government has been downgrading his office brought swift reaction Tuesday from both government and opposition leaders.

Prime Minister Trudeau, returning from a weekend visit to London, told reporters at the airport the government has "always offered" Mr. Henderson the personnel he requested "at the salaries he wanted" to help carry out his duties as independent watchdog over federal spending.

However, he declined to comment in detail, saying he wanted to know first whether Mr. Henderson, who made his latest allegations Monday night in Calgary, was raising any new issues or merely dredging up old complaints.

Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said it was "regrettable and barely understandable" that the government would not give Mr. Henderson the resources to do his job.

Memory Phone

This British push-button dialling unit with a memory store was exhibited in London recently. It can store 10 frequently called numbers which can be called automatically by pressing only two buttons. It also remembers the last number called so that if it engaged it can be tried again by pressing another button. It can be used with any ordinary dial telephone. (CP Photo)

'Cultural Security' Primary Quebec Aim

QUEBEC (CP) — The primary objectives of the Quebec government will be ensuring the "cultural security" of the province within a framework of economic federalism, says Premier Robert Bourassa.

"It is necessary that Quebec achieve its cultural independence," Mr. Bourassa said in an interview.

"Since the beginning of my term as premier, the priority has been placed on ecuritic questions. It was difficult to do otherwise. I had been elected principally on such a platform.

"Now that the economic situation seems a little better and social tensions have eased somewhat, it is time to tackle a major dossier for Quebecers on their cultural security."

The federal tie must be loosened so that "Quebecers feel it is the Quebec government that mainly controls them, that has the proper tools to ensure the cultural future in the fields of education, language and communications."

Reform Police Training

QUEBEC (CP) — A reform of police training which eventually will require all Quebec police officers to have three years of post-secondary training was announced Tuesday by Justice Minister Jerome Choquette.

The reform will be introduced gradually, he said, but from 1979 on all police recruits will need 3½ years of junior college and six months of training at Quebec's Police Institute.

Election Alterations

City clerk Adam Stalker (left) and deputy Earl Dafoe pore over civic vote totals in recount that altered election-night lineup of leading council candidates. Biggest switch came for Stu Meeks who traded places as top vote-getter with Alderman Jean Smith, and dropped to third spot as 1,500 votes were sheared from first count of his election win. For details see page 3.

Irish Republic Votes On Catholic Church Role

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish voted today in a referendum on Prime Minister Jack Lynch's proposal to end the special position of the Roman Catholic Church in the Irish republic.

Lynch proposed the constitutional change as a step toward reunification with Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland.

The three major political parties favor the change, and the church has indicated that officially it does not oppose it. But the traditional conservatism of Irish voters—93 per cent of them Catholic—makes the result of the vote uncertain.

Lynch and his supporters argue that repeal of the constitution's Article 44, source of the church's favored role in the republic, would remove a major obstacle to winning the support of the Protestants in the North for Irish unity.

The 1.7 million voters also were asked to approve lowering the voting age to 18 from 21 years. Again, the conservatism of the electorate made the outcome uncertain.

The change would add 120,000 young voters to the rolls, and their voice could be decisive in future elections for the Dail, the lower house of parliament. The Dail for years has been rather evenly balanced between Lynch's Fianna Fail—or Soldiers of Destiny party—and the two opposition groups, Fine Gael and the Labor party. Fianna Fail has been in power since 1957, but it has often been hampered by the lack of a sizable majority.

Weather To Be Colder For 50 Years

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's weather was cold today and it's going to get colder—for the next 50 years.

That's the forecast from the weathermen as temperatures in southern Ontario dipped into the low teens.

But southermen say temperatures have been dropping for more than a decade and may stay below normal until the year 2020.

Morley Thomas, acting director of the federal government's weather office here, said temperatures in Eastern Canada have been below normal for all but one month of this year.

He said it is part of a worldwise cycle in which temperatures began to climb during the 1800s, reached a peak in 1956 and have declined to a point where the summer-winter average has dropped one degree since 1940.

11 British Soldiers Wounded by Rocket

BELFAST (AP) — A guerrilla rocket slammed into an armored car in Belfast late Wednesday, wounding 11 British soldiers as the Irish Republican Army maintained its latest offensive in Northern Ireland.

The rocket, believed by security forces to be one of the IRA's lethal Soviet-made RPG-7s, hit the army vehicle in the Roman Catholic Lower Falls area.

In the Ballymurphy district of the Northern Ireland capital, three soldiers were wounded—one seriously—when a patrol was fired on Wednesday by snipers, apparently lodged in a Roman Catholic church, the army said.

The attacks came as the 25-year-old wife of a Protestant reserve policeman in the city was beaten up outside her home by a gang of men. She had 28 stitches put in severe head wounds.

"We can't bomb tomorrow Paddy, we're at the funeral of last week's victims!"

Canada Concentrates On Truce Supervision

BRUSSELS (CP) — Foreign ministers from the NATO alliance began their annual two-day meeting with final attention fixed mainly on the role of a proposed international observer group in Vietnam.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp is expected to sound out State Secretary William Rogers of the United States again on whether the Americans will accept Canada's conditions for participation in the observer team.

Canada has laid down four main conditions for taking part: The commission must be acceptable to the North Vietnamese, the Viet Cong, South Vietnam and the U.S.; there should be an international—body to which the commission would report; a firm reporting procedure should be laid down, and the commission should be guaranteed freedom of movement.

Nixon to Keep 300,000 Soldiers in Europe

BRUSSELS (AP) — President Nixon tells European allies today that he plans to keep 300,000 U.S. troops in Europe until mid-1974, provided the Europeans do their share in their defence and unless there is an agreement with the Russians on reduction of forces.

Nixon's message was brought to the semi-annual meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by State Secretary William Rogers. It was previewed Wednesday by Defence Secretary Melvin Laird, who predicted that Congress would approve the president's recommendation.

The NATO foreign ministers were to devote much of their time in their meetings today and Friday to planning for negotiations with the Russians on mutual, balanced reduction of forces in central Europe. They are awaiting a reply from Moscow to their invitation to begin exploratory talks on Jan. 31.

Apollo Late Computer Acts Up

HOUSTON (AP) — The men of Apollo 17 streaked toward the moon today, leaving behind the cares of a cranky computer that delayed their journey for nearly three hours. They left on man's last planned 20th-century lunar voyage with a liftoff which turned earth's night to noon.

"Good show, babe! Little late, but good show!" cried a relieved and elated commander, Eugene Cernan, as he and crewmates Dr. Harrison (Jack) Schmitt and Ronald Evans rocketed away from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

"We had to work at it," said Mission Control, "Glad we made it."

"Guess who else is," said Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist who became the first American scientist in space.

After the launch, the first ever for the United States in darkness, the astronauts orbited earth twice and then were propelled on a path toward the moon, where they hoped to find the missing links in man's knowledge of lunar evolution.

The flight is the last of the 11-mission Apollo series, the climax of a rush toward a landing on the moon which began in the early 1960s.

The smooth flight was blemished by only two small, nagging, but not serious problems. An alarm system in the cabin of the spacecraft was sounding without reason whenever the astronauts threw certain switches. Cernan also reported for a time that not all the latches which lock the command module and the lunar module together had operated.

Mission Control said the alarm system problem was not serious enough to affect the mission and the two-operative latch later took hold.

It was a more serious problem earlier, however, that delayed Apollo 17's launch. Officials on the ground said the lost time would be recovered by a speeded-up voyage to lunar orbit and Monday's moon landing would occur at the originally scheduled time.

A computer which refused to acknowledge a manual signal from launch-control technicians caused the Apollo 17 countdown to stop less than half a minute before the huge Saturn V rocket sets were to ignite.

Battling against time, engineers at Cape Kennedy and at the Marshall Spaceflight Centre at Huntsville, Ala., quickly developed and tested a plan to outwit the confused computer. The new system worked and Apollo 17 blasted into space at 12:33 a.m. EST, 1 hour and 8 minutes behind schedule.

The launch was smooth and spectacular.

Fear Truce Setbacks

PARIS (AP) — Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho resumed their secret talks today shortly after an American spokesman said there might be "disappointments and setbacks" in the pace of final peace negotiations.

Reaction Mixed

TORONTO (CP) — A legislation committee's recommendation that the Ontario Municipal Board OMB be retained but with changed functions has drawn mixed reaction. Albert Campbell, Metro council chairman and a long-time opponent of the OMB, said the report does not change his main complaint about the board, — that it branches out into full-scale consideration of such things as planning needs when dealing with a municipal project.

Stolen Money Found

TORONTO (CP) — Two American men and two women, charged with possessing stolen money, were brought here overnight from the border point of Gananoque, Ont., as Toronto police stepped up an investigation into an Oct. 18 robbery of $261,000 from a downtown bank. They were arrested after U.S. customs officials at Watertown, N.Y., found three $100 bills which police said bore serial numbers of money stolen in Toronto's biggest cash holdup.

Killaloe Reports End

KILLALOE, Ont. (CP) — Every six hours the Toronto weather office would broadcast a weather report that would include Killaloe. Today the Ottawa Valley community's name disappeared from weather reports. For economic reasons, the department of transport closed the weather station that has made the name Killaloe familiar in forecasts since 1938.

Cancer Find Thrills Sabin

HARRY TRUMAN

Truman's Doctors Hopeful

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former president Harry S Truman, fighting congested lungs and a weakened heart, remained on the critical list today after spending a restful night with his wife and daughter at his bedside.

A spokesman at Research Hospital and Medical Centre said at 2:15 a.m. EST that Truman's "vital signs continue to be stable as they have been during the night."

Earlier this morning, the hospital said that fluid in the former president's lungs had diminished and that attending physicians were "optimistic" about the chances of removing him from the critical list.

ROME (Reuter) — Prof. Albert Sabin, the man who discovered the anti-polio vaccine, says that he and other cancer researchers have arrived at "an exciting result, too good to be true."

Speaking Tuesday on a private television hook-up between New York and Bari, he declined details but said the research concerns anti-cancer viruses which exist naturally in the human body.

And in a statement here following the program, Sabin's Italian colleague, Dr. Giulio Tarro, stressed that studies were only preliminary, and practical application—if any—would take five years to develop.

The television program enabled Italian doctors to ask questions of a group of leading U.S. medical experts.

Dr. Tarro in his statement said: "I would not want cancer sufferers to have excessive hopes because cures are only preliminary studies and, in any case, even if we have got it right, one would need to wait five years before it could be practically applied."

During the television program, Sabin said the research was aimed at determining if the virus causes ordinary, herpes simplex—a mild form of infectious disease which usually attacks children—might also play a role in the genesis of human cancer.

Turner Thinking Of Early Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister John Turner is thinking of presenting a budget "very soon" after Parliament meets Jan. 4.

At a news conference Wednesday at which he and Manpower Minister Robert Andras announced new winter works plans, he said a new outline of tax and spending plans could come before a mid-month meeting with provincial finance ministers.

He hedged a bit, however, saying that the budget might be presented after the meeting he hopes will be held Jan. 18-19. It would come "soon enough," he added.

The minority federal government would use the budget to announce any major vote-getting fiscal changes designed to make friends among estranged electors and keep the New Democratic Party, which will hold the balance of power in the next Commons.

The throne speech debate will end Jan. 17 and the budget can be presented at any time after that.

Asked whether he still intends to allow a one-point personal income tax increase on Jan. 1 to go into effect, Mr. Turner told the press conference that his stand had not changed from the last few months.

"I'm not predicting tax cuts; I'm not ruling them out."

But he did give one hint of what his budget might contain.

Privacy Protection Promised by Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government came down today on the side of the individual in his confrontation with the computer society's growing appetite for facts about his personal affairs.

It recognized the right of individuals to keep certain information about themselves private, at least as far as government data collection is concerned.

The announcement coincided with release of a year-long study on possible invasion of personal privacy through information collected about people by governments or by agencies such as those that supply credit ratings to banks and other lending institutions.

Communications Minister Gerard Pelletier and Justice Minister Otto Lang, in a joint statement with release of the study, gave no details on what information would remain private and unobtainable.

The statement said only that the government accepts in principle the study's conclusion that there is a need to protect individual privacy in the information field should be taken by the federal government, described as the largest data collector in the country.

Philippines President's Wife Stabbed

MANILA (AP) — A dark-suited man slashed the wife of President Ferdinand E. Marcos today with a foot-long bolo knife as she was congratulating winners of a beautification contest.

A helicopter took Imelda Marcos to the Makati Medical Centre where she was reported "safe . . . out of danger." The hospital said the 42-year-old first lady of the Philippines was slashed on her arms and hands and lost a lot of blood.

Police said they killed the assailant, not immediately identified.

Defend Firing Of Harbor Head

HAMILTON (CP) — Lawyers began defending today, in an Ontario Supreme Court hearing, Hamilton city council's dismissal of a city harbor commissioner.

Kenneth Elliott, 39, is fighting to retain his $4,000-a-year, plus expenses, position on the three-man commission. He was dismissed by council in September after accusations of conflict of interest were raised against him.

Board Quitters' Letter on Way

The three breakaway Quinte Planning Board municipalities ordered by the minister of treasury, economics and intergovernmental affairs to return to the QPB fold in mid-October will be getting more news today from Queen's Park.

Brighton village, Brighton and Murray townships have not returned to active participation in the regional planning authority since receiving the ministerial directive to do so, nor have they paid their planning levies. Their combined bill now tops the $14,000 mark.

While copies of the new letter from the ministry are in the mail to the three municipalities, "another copy dictated over the telephone to Quinte Planning Board today will be read to tonight's regular QPB meeting.

Text of the lengthy communication goes beyond the October assertion by Minister Charles McNaughton that QPB "must stay together."

Six points are brought up in the letter, feature of the points raised by the ministry have not been disclosed but they go beyond a simple assertion of the October statement.

Trenton had withdrawn from QPB with the other three municipalities in April but returned to active participation in the board at the ministry's firs request. Trenton has also paid its contributions o be board's operating costs in full.

Just One Thing After Another

TRENTON (Staff) — Wednesday is one day Donald Briede of RR3, Tweed, would like to forget, as far as his car is concerned.

His trouble began when the car wouldn't start after he had parked it in a parking lot at the entrance to Trenton's downtown Dundas Street section. Using a tire iron he made a connection by crossing the solenoid and started.

But when the motor caught, the automatic gear engaged, shooting the car forward, Mr. Briede was nudged out of the way as the car moved ahead, striking a second vehicle owned by Mrs. Ruth D. Robertson of 108 Prospect Hill, Trenton.

His car then jumped a six-inch cement abutment and fell six-feet off the government dock into the Trent River. He told investigating Constable Lynn Begbie it was like watching a tank without an obstacle.

And then one tow truck proved insufficient to haul the 1966 Pontiac from the river. A second was needed. Damage to the Briede car was estimated at $400, to the Robertson car, $80. Mr. Briede was uninjured. No one was in either car at time of the mishap.

Bring Out The Horses

Belleville Agricultural Society president Douglas Rollins tries out the controls of vintage road grader presented to the fair board yesterday by Hastings county. Giving instruction on equipment use is Hastings Warden Carman Gibson. The grader, last used by the county about 25 years ago, could form nucleus of future museum of antique farm machinery. ES

Antique Road Grader Could Start Museum

What could be the nucleus of an eventual museum of antique agricultural machinery has been made available to the Belleville Agricultural Society.

Hastings county, through Warden Carman Gibson and members of his county council roads committee, Wednesday presented Quinte Exhibition officials with an old, horse - drawn road grader which had been out of municipal use for the past quarter of a century.

In turning over the grader to fair board president Douglas Rollins, Warden Gibson said he hoped that one day the old road machine would form part of an antique museum if such were established.

Until such a museum is established, he said the county would collect a token "dollar a year" rental for the machine.

For his part, fair president Rollins said he was proud to accept the grader n the county's terms and assured county officials that it would be the first display item in any such exhibit.

In the meantime the fair board will use the old grader in helping to maintain the fairgrounds surface track and also for leveling exhibition grounds in front of the stables and at gate entrances ways.

Fair Manager Ev Gowsell added his appreciation for the county goodwill gesture, noting that Hastings was the only county which regularly made cash contributions to the Quinte Exhibition.

Referring to the suggestion of an antique agricultural equipment display, Mr. Gowsell said he thought it was a good idea.

"Old farm machinery is rapidly disappearing," he said. The exact age of the old road grader is unknown by present county officials, but Harry Kelly of Foxboro, former county road worker, said he operated the machine at least 40 years ago.

"It was an old machine then," said Mr. Kelly.

At that time the grader was fitted with a tongue for two-horse operation, but later it was converted for use behind a truck or tractor.

For the past 25 years Mr. Kelly has used the grader for maintaining the driveway from the road to his house north of Foxboro.

Prior to turning the machine over to the fair board, county roads committee workmen repainted the grader and fitted it with a plaque bearing the Hastings county crest.

Ministers Here

Environment minister James Auld, health minister Richard Potter and a gallery of governmental representatives will officially open Belleville's water pollution control plant tomorrow.

The new extensions to the existing facilities took 16 months to construct, costing $1,800,000. The total complex is designed to service a population of up to 52,000.

Opening ceremonies will take place on the site at Newberry and St. Paul Street at 2:30 p.m.

Publisher Retires

Keith Packer (right) Trentonian publisher since 1962, is greeted at social event marking his retirement by Kenneth R. Thomson, president, Thomson Newspapers of Canada and son of newspaper mogul Roy Thomson. Mr. Packer is second-longest term employee of Thomson group, his service dating back from 1944 as a radio advertising salesman in North Bay.

Trentonian Publisher Given Rousing Sendoff

TRENTON (Staff) — An appropriate name for the surprise retirement party for Keith Packer Wednesday night, could have been This Is Your Life — Keith Packer, based on the style of a well-known Hollywood television program.

It was this format that was used to honor the retiring publisher of Trenton's tri-weekly newspaper, The Trentonian and Tri - County News. As well, Mr. Packer holds the position of having the second - longest service with Thomson Newspapers of Canada.

The special party followed the Trenton Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner meeting. It was a time for meeting old friends, listening to heart-felt tributes, several humorous recollections and anecdotes, and the presentation of gifts.

Mr. Packer and his wife were called to the head table. As they sat alone, a host of old friends, fellow employees, son William and - daughter Jane, hidden from view, spoke a few words into a microphone and then were introduced as the honored couple.

Last to appear was Kenneth R. Thomson, president and chairman of Thomson Newspapers of Canada, and son of founder Lord Thomson of Fleet.

Mr. Thomson spoke of Mr. Packer's "contribution to the entire organization." He said he had been instrumental in training many of the chain's present top-level employees. The Toronto president said that of six Thomson publications in Canada recalled the year he first met Mr. Packer.

"He joined the sales staff of our radio station (CFCH) in North Bay in 1944. The moment he did so, Keith and I had something in common, for it was that same radio station which gave me my first job as a record changer during the summer holidays when I was 16.

"Keith was a cracker-jack salesman, one of the best we ever had in either broadcasting or publishing," he said. "But in addition, he had the executive capacity to grow with the job and inevitably he became manager."

From North Bay, Mr. Packer rose to manager of CHEX television station, Peterborough. He joined the newspaper side of the Thomson chain in 1961, serving briefly in Oakville, Galt and Chatham before coming to Trenton in 1962 to manage The Trentonian, at that time converted to a new printing process — offset.

Mr. Thomson quoted several humorous recollections many old friends had of the retiring publisher, ranging from his love of poker, his colorful language, especially associated with the game of golf, and his devotion to family. Then, a color television set was presented to Mr. Packer on behalf of his associates in Thomson Newspapers.

Trentonian editor Roy Cor nish, in unveiling an oil portrait of Mr. Packer, recalled some of the history of the Trenton newspaper scene, affirming there "couldn't be a better publisher than Keith Packer; it is a parting we all regret."

Mr. Packer, admitting he is well known as a forthright man who "If I had anything to say, said it and if anybody didn't like it, well bad luck," was deeply moved by the occasion. "To say I'm overwhelmed is to use a very small word," he said.

He spoke highly of his long association with the newspaper chain, recommending the company as a solid future for anyone "interested in working hard.

"Many people don't appreciate Lord Thomson, Ken Thomson or the people of head office . . . but what we have, we have earned from the Thomson company," he said, quipping "90 cents of every dollar earned from the company, my wife takes credit for."

The publisher paid special tribute to his 30-member staff, offered thanks to his many friends and fellow company employees, stating he should ask to be kept on so that he could "do it all over again."

Mr. Packer was also presented with a set of cufflinks by D. James McDonald, a director of the Chamber of Commerce and former Trenton mayor. Mrs. Packer received a bouquet of red roses presented by a member of the Trentonian staff.

Jean Smith Tops Poll

Recount Shuffles Aldermen's Standing

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Misgivings by city hall election officials on first tabulations of Monday night's civic vote yesterday prompted a recount that has shuffled the order of aldermanic candidates who led the polls.

Errors, mainly blamed on confusion caused by post-election pressures, were revealed by the new tally, ordered by city clerk Adam Stalker.

Results of the checkup:

Jean Smith, three-year woman councillor, emerged "absolutely floored" as first choice of city voters, trading third place with

Stu Meeks, freshman politician who had the mortification of first being credited with a thumping defeat of nearly 8,000 votes — then hearing 1,560 had been recounted out, a jolt he shared with

Arnold Orr, city council veteran, placed second by post-election miscalculation, while in reality running sixth.

His runner-up status went to another city hall veteran, Alderman Ben Corke, whose election - night statistics had placed him fourth.

The recount also shuffled councillors Paul Russell and Jack Ireland up one place — respectively to fourth and fifth — in the aldermanic line-up.

Standings of the other four councillors-elect — Dr. John Stock, Joe Cox, Ald. Arthur Keegan, Roger Porter — remained unchanged.

Three defeated contestants in the 18-candidate slate also had their vote counts reduced. They were George Zegouras, who led the losers in 11th spot and dropped four votes to the recount; George Murray and Alex Manjaris, low men on the polls.

The dramatic changes were in tabulations originally credited Mr. Meeks and Ald. Orr.

Mr. Meeks, ambulance company director, had his whopping first count of 7,928 shern off slightly more than 1,500 votes. Ald. Orr dropped nearly 750 votes.

The elated woman councillor — who placed ninth in her first council bid in 1969 — said she had been "very thrilled" to have run third. To discover she actually headed the polls left her "absolutely floored".

City clerk Stalker, also election returning officer, attributed miscalculations to possible strain of demands on his staff for speedy tabulation of poll totals.

Returns to his office from the city's 81 polls lagged election night, partly due to the size of the ballot. His staff began first count tabulations next morning, pressed by media deadlines and attempts to meet demands of routine office work.

During the hectic morning, totals on an adding machine tabulating aldermanic polls may not have been cleared at the end of one candidate's count in some cases, he said. The totals may have carried over onto other candidates' tabulations. The machine could also have misfired on occasions, Mr. Stalker conjectured.

A second — and official — count was due today and would have revealed the discrepancies, said the clerk.

But a hunch apparently touched off the earlier recheck.

Mr. Stalker said he decided to call a recount yesterday after pondering a 1,050 - vote variance between the Meeks vote and that of runner-up Ald. Orr.

"I just had a feeling it seemed too much of a spread," said the clerk.

The explanations did little to ease Mr. Meeks' baffled reaction after he was phoned the results of the long recount shortly before 5 p.m.

"It was leading the closest alderman (Orr) by 1,054 votes — and he's dropped to sixth place . . . There are 1,534 votes off my count. It leaves a bellyful lot to be desired.

"Mind you, I'm happy just to be on council . . . But I feel there's something definitely wrong with our system if that can happen."

Ald. Orr confessed the recount was a "bit disappointing" although he didn't want credit "for any votes that weren't mine.

"But it wasn't an intentional mistake, so I don't fault anybody."

No changes were reported in vote counts on the mayoralty or public utilities polls.

Aldermanic vote totals with previously-reported counts — if different — in brackets, are:

Elected — Jean Smith, 6,536; Ben Corke, 6,476; Stu Meeks, 6,394 (7,952); Paul Russell, 5,257; Jack Ireland, 5,213; Arnold Orr, 5,322 (6,076); Dr. John Stock, 5,896; Joe Cox, 5,849; Arthur Keegan, 5,569; Roger Porter, 5,426.

Defeated — George Zegouras, 4,805 (5,285); Ted Kelly, 4,367; Albert Lentini, 4,364; Richard Williams, 3,880; George Murray, 3,700 (3,962); Vera Heimbach, 2,631; Alex Manjaris, 1,717 (1,809).

Municipal Changes

In a remarkable comeback, construction magnate Harvey J. McFarland finds himself once again mayor of Picton.

Mayor McFarland's personal saga is one of those North American classics of men who come up the hard way, starting with very little and gradually expanding into a successful business operation. Then came entry into municipal politics, election to the Mayoral office and international contacts which includes a friendship of some years standing with President Richard Nixon.

Out of office for two years, Mr. McFarland is not getting any younger. He is young in spirit though and this should help him considerably in facing the demands of office. That it will be demanding is implicit in the words of the defeated incumbent, Mrs. Margaret Ackerman. She feels Mr. McFarland is in for a difficult time since only three council veterans were returned with him. This rather gives the impression of an earlier administration easier to handle through familiarity. If there are new faces, there will be fresh ideas from them and this should work to the advantage of the community. We may be sure Mayor McFarland will be equal to this new challenge.

With Mrs. Ackerman going down to defeat, Picton council still has a woman member in Bessie Ward. Here in Belleville, Mrs. Robin Jeffrey won the Mayoralty from Dr. J. Russell Scott and Mrs. Jean Smith also was returned.

Indeed, Mrs. Smith topped the polls, stealing the lead, when the final count became known, from ambulance company operator Stuart Meeks. But Mr. Meeks, actually finishing third behind Mrs. Smith and Ben Corke, earned top marks for initiative with his "Vote Meeks" sign in the Moira River, a move that highlighted his concern for the waterfront and condition of the river. But on this, his first try for Council, Mr. Meeks must have had other things going for him to have done so well. Call it charisma or whatever, it certainly paid off.

The sharp showing by incumbents Arnold Orr, Mrs. Smith, Ben Corke, Paul Russell, Jack Ireland and Art Keegan also reflected electoral confidence in known ability and integrity while the election of former councillor Dr. John Stock, Joe Cox, Roger Porter (who at 28 is the youngest member) as well as Mr. Meeks provides early evidence of the effective transfusion of new blood.

Questionable Fares

The subject of pornography is in the news again with word that city police and OPP have been looking at books and magazines throughout the Quinte region.

Stores are certainly permitted a degree of freedom in this regard that would not have been the norm just a few years ago. It may even be asked if familiarity with the material, if only at the cover level, has not bred an immunity from whatever shock value it may have.

More questionable — and dangerous — in our view are the detective magazines which become more lurid with each succeeding issue.

Pornography, by contrast, can be an outlet for a certain type of person which, left unsatisfied, could lead to unfortunate consequences.

It is ironic that we should be speaking of police investigations (published of course in the United States), but if our men here take a look at the material we mention they will get an eyeful.

Fire Trap

The recent fire in a 16-storey office building in New Orleans, when firemen's ladders proved too short to rescue anyone and several people fell to their deaths from top windows, is a matter of concern.

High-rise is very much with us these days and it is imperative that such buildings not only meet stringent fire standards but also be accessible to fire-fighting and rescue equipment.

We can only imagine the horror of those final moments for the people trapped in the upper floors. What happened in New Orleans could happen elsewhere and municipal authorities everywhere should ensure that the appropriate safety measures are in force.

'Outlook' Conference Turns Inward

The Technological and Business End of Agriculture

By HENRY HEALD
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The evolution of farming from rural life to food production industry is nowhere more evident than at the annual Outlook Conference held each November in Ottawa by The federal agriculture department.

Delegates attending Outlook '73 were inundated with statistics covering everything from the price of fertiliser to the depreciation allowance on a combine. The 350 representatives from federal and provincial agriculture departments, farm organizations, agribusiness and universities bear little resemblance to the popular concept of the farmer.

Even moving the conference from the Central Experimental Farm down to the government's new conference centre seems to highlight the change. Out at the farm a bored reporter could at least let his gaze wander across ploughed fields to silos and barns to remind himself that he was covering a farm conference.

"No more. Agriculture is a business that has to return a reasonable percentage on investment, adapt to new technology, compete in world markets and produce more and more food from fewer resources and with less manpower.

It is no wonder then that the chief spokesmen at this year's outlook conference were the foreign trade experts, the market analysts and the economists; rather than the plant and livestock experts.

The research papers are still presented giving the official look for domestic and world consumption of wheat, apples, eggs and tobacco. But the emphasis is clearly on marketing.

And rightly so. Growing crops and raising livestock are things Canadians have learned to do to perfection. Selling them is another matter. With small countries and rich country tastes, Canadian food producers have to be best in the business to keep the industry viable.

So it is not surprising that "Market Development and Expansion" was chosen as the theme for Outlook '73.

The first four speakers highlighted this new aspect of the agriculture industry. Professor E. P. Neufeld, University of Toronto political economy department, summarized the short term prospects for the Canadian economy. James P. Grandy, deputy minister of industry, trade and commerce, dealt with the problems facing agricultural commodities in world trade and the possibilities of the 1973 GATT talks eliminating some of the non-tariff barriers. Paul Baher, chairman of the new National Farm Products Marketing Council, discussed the role of marketing boards in stabilizing production and prices; and Dr. G. I. Trant of the agriculture department's economics branch, dealt with the challenge to farmers to develop quality competition in products in which Canadians have the comparative advantage.

Mr. Grandy is hopeful that the 1973-74 trade talks will ease some of the import levies, quota restrictions, export subsidies and other gimmicks used by many countries that make it tough for Canadian farmers to compete. But he said it would be 1975 or later before the results were felt.

Thirty per cent of gross farm income — an average of $5,800 per farm — comes from external trade. That shows how important world markets are to Canadian farmers. On top of that, the potential for agricultural expansion is greater than the potential for growth of the domestic market. So if the industry is to develop its full capacity, it must sell abroad.

The two keys to selling abroad since we cannot compete with the low wages of many agricultural producing nations, is quality of product and continuity of supply. There is no point in persuading Japan to buy top quality Canadian bacon if a hog shortage next year is going to cut off the sales. Government officials are already concerned that the higher wheat prices will persuade western farmers to grow more wheat and less barley and risk losing the new initiative Canada managed to take last year in world coarse grain markets.

In this context, the concern about national marketing legislation has virtually gone and producers see national marketing boards as necessary to improve their products, stabilize production and promote sales, both domestic and overseas.

Mr. Eaton whose council has now successfully steered the creation of national agencies for broiler chickens and eggs, pointed out that the surpluses that upset marketing and depress prices are usually in the rengs of two to five per cent.

Racial Tensions Hit U.S. Navy Vessels at Sea

By PETER BUCKLEY

WASHINGTON (CP) — Despite President Nixon's obsession with making things perfectly clear, there is a decidedly murky quality about the future of United States international economic policy as a result of the high-level appointments he has made so far.

Trade and monetary specialists in Canada, Europe, Japan and other areas seeking to know who will call the shots during the president's second term are understandably confused.

The confusion doesn't extend to the question of the importance that these issues will be given during Nixon's next term. The president has emphasized that his administration will concentrate much of its effort on international trade and monetary questions in future and senior aides have frequently emboldened the theme in recent public statements.

But one of Nixon's concerns in the past has been the lack of co-ordination in the U.S. approach to trade and monetary matters, and the failure of the U.S. and other nations to treat such questions as being interlocked and mutually dependent.

It had been widely expected that he would set out clear lines of authority and decision-making on international economics for his second term. So far, the lines have not emerged.

George Shultz, the soft-spoken former industrial relations professor, is to remain as treasury secretary, but with the added role of assistant to the president in charge of a new council on economic policy.

The Shultz council is to be responsible for all economic matters, domestic and international, the White House says. Shultz is being described as the national trade matters has not been specifically defined.

No new role has yet been announced for Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson, one of Nixon's most influential and attractive cabinet officers. He has been frequently mentioned in speculation for a new White House position in over-all charge of trade. But such an appointment now would appear to leave intact the old trade-economic divisions that Nixon deplored.

Adding to the confusion were the comments made after the White House when William Casey was moved from the chairmanship of the Securities and Exchange Commission into a policy-making undersecretary's office at the state department, responsible for international economic matters.

Press spokesman Ronald Ziegler said Casey's appointment was "one of the most important Mr. Nixon had in mind for his second term."

And the state department had been reported to be confident that the central role it would be assigned in U.S. foreign economic policy, after the downgrading suffered at the hands of the treasury during the reign of the omnipotent John Connally.

The state department's influence on economic relations now would appear to be less paramount under a system which assigns the chief decision-making power to Henry Kissinger of economic Shultz, Connally's successor at the treasury.

However, the extent of Shultz's control over international trade matters has not been specifically defined.

For too long, the black sailor afloat had to be a messman, run the ship's laundry, be an officer's steward, expect promotion to lower non-commissioned rank.

Racism Hits Crews of U.S. Ships

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

The United States Navy, the world's largest, and one of the most powerful military establishments on earth is being thrown into a state of chaos by groups of black "lower deck" men and junior officers and ratings rioting at sea against various commanding officers.

The race riots which have hit the jumbo carriers USS Kitty Hawk and USS Constellation as well as a big fleet tanker in Subic Bay, the U.S. Navy's sprawling base in the Philippines, include white sailors and officers who openly support the blacks.

Incidental to these outbreaks, which have resulted in actual riots in these monster ships, has been a growing wave of vandalism in the fleet. The super carrier USS Forrestal was crippled recently by a multi million dollar fire alleged to have been set by a disgruntled white seaman.

The skipper of the USS Constellation, who refused to bargain at sea with black and white crew, also admitted on his return to base that extensive bombing equipment had been interfered with and vital parts of ship's equipment thrown overboard.

Curiously, the present chief of naval operations, Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, is no reactionary, but a far-out progressive (as admirals in any navy go) who has become famous for his "s grams."

Pronounced "see grams" in American English, they inform the hundreds of admirals of officers and men at sea and on shore in the navy's sprawling installations about changes in dress, drinking regulations, even news of openings of bars and discotheques for the sailors at sea and on shore.

There even is talk of altering the U.S. naval uniform to permit use of distinctive hair cuts. No one is saying how a sari carrier pilot grappling with the essential tight-fitting helmet with communications equipment built in while sporting the bib and wide Afro-American hair style.

The reason is simple. There are few, probably no black Americans with that hair style who fly America's multi-million dollar jets on Vietnam air sorties. In fact, this kind of trend, is basic to the whole problem. Black American sailors, like their racial counterparts in civilian industries on shore, don't get the better jobs afloat.

The land based problems of race in the United States have now found their way to the seagoing navy. And as with industrial reaction to this problem on land, the hard view about keeping the ranks white by keeping whites on top, blacks underneath, the House of Representatives armed services communities is ready to look at race at sea as a problem in navy discipline.

If this is the only way it is to be investigated, even greater troubles await the strife-torn U.S. navy.

More so than any navy in history, except perhaps the Royal Navy at the beginning of this century when Admiral "Jackie" Fisher rammed through essential changes, the U.S. navy cannot cope with internal unrest on the basis of disciplinary action only.

The deep social problems of America now are spreading through these floating symbols of social wonders. In fact, the alienation which modern technology on shore has created is another major reason besides racial crisis, why the world's biggest navy is in trouble.

'Humanizing' Work Scene

London Free Press

The Canadian council of the United Automobile Workers deserves nothing but praise for its choice of a drive to "humanize" the work place as a priority item in 1973 negotiations.

There is no question that this factor in industrial progress has been relegated to the background while big unions and management have conducted their bitter and sometimes damaging battles over economics in the past several years.

It is to be fervently hoped however that the UAW's campaign to remove the "boredom, the brutalizing and the indignities" from the work place is not conducted with the same unwavering reliance on the adversary fight-to-a-finish, lick-'em-at-all-costs method that has marked so many industrial negotiations in the past.

The main result of those tactics in unrounded distances has been to brutalize the public and public interest with little net gain for the dignity of either labor or management.

Responsibility for the absence of reason and goodwill in some labour-management showdowns in recent history has by no means been on one side. In this issue of making the work place more attractive, labor's place to earn one's living there is surely more opportunity than ever for co-operation between labor-and-management.

It is as much in management's interest as labor's to see that working conditions are such that they encourage respect, interest and efficiency among workers. If the matter is approached with realism on both sides, the maintaining objective in industrial relations should be achieved without overpowering difficulties.

Fidinam Inquiry

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's Queen's Park Bureau

There have been developments in the Fidinam affair.

Attorney-General Dalton Bales has ordered an investigation by his officials into whether the company's donation of $50,000 to party funds may have breached the criminal code.

And P. A. Saunderson, president of Fidinam, has issued a statement giving some details of his company and of the background of the building development in which the Workmen's Compensation Board will be located.

It seems likely, however, that we will continue to hear more about this controversy.

There still are questions and suspicions in the public mind. The Saunderson explanation didn't give all the answers that were needed. And the Bales inquiry, aside from the fact it is only going into the political decision, is a departmental affair and won't have the stature with the public that an independent investigation would have.

So the government probably will be under the gun on the affair for at least a while yet.

If this is so, and if the government runs into still more trouble over the issue, it should look for little sympathy.

For the government itself has cooked most of the stew it has landed in.

Firstly, right from the start of the affair more than a year ago it has been evasive.

It has not volunteered information. It has consistently left the impression it has been forced into each action that it has taken as is the case in the current Bales inquiry.

Its attitude has left the impression there has been something to hide.

It has tended to look on the affair as a straight business deal.

It has not appeared to appreciate that this is a public organization using public money and that because of this, very different considerations apply. The most important is that everything should be done in the light and that there can be no question, or appearance, of anything secret.

If it wanted to be smart the government might even make a full statement on this controversy.

The government should let the public know every cent that is going into the Fidinam development; every cent being put in by everybody, who the participating companies are; who they represent and how much they stand to make out of the deal; and particularly just who, why and what Fidinam and P.A. Saunderson are and how their bona fides rate.

The public must want a full story and if it got it, the public might give the government P.A. Saunderson even at this late date.

Small Crowd Delighted With Comedy Bizarre

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Only 40 people Wednesday night saw one of the Belleville Theatre Guild's finest productions, Comedy Bizarre.

Laughter subdued stage dialogue as the less than half-filled opening night house saw a performance that has changed the image of the playhouse, thought capable of doing only "old standards".

Comedy Bizarre is a collection of three deep plays which happen to be very funny. After more than a month of rehearsals, the three one-actors caught the audience off guard with the opener, directed by Peter Kitchen, The Resounding Tinkle drawn from Theatre of the Absurd.

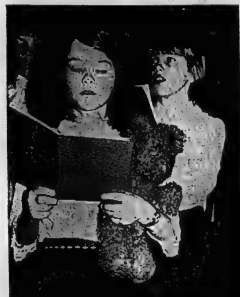
The dialogue between actors Margery and Richard Mellon is so absolutely ridiculous, as is the nature of this type of theatre, it becomes hilarious, setting a precedent for the evening.

The final touch is Uncle Ted played by Margaret Graham. In the Resounding Tinkle there is nothing strange about a female uncle or anything else.

From the ridiculous to the even more ridiculous with The Tiger, directed by Verna Patterson.

Somehow, through the magic of theatre or whatever, Charles Smith and Catherine Knight make it sound perfectly believable that a French lesson can be the result of any doubts that the audience was there to laugh.

Rob Garrison, male lead, has a peculiar problem in that he can't successfully make love to a woman unless he first masquerades as Sir Walter Raleigh.



The irony of the situation comes when the woman's husband finds, after catching the lovers, he also performs better after a little dress up game.

The wife is played by Dianne Coyne, her husband is played by Ralph Gorecy. Flo Yanover directed the piece.

The show is bright and funny. It is one of the most enterprising shows done by the guild in some time and is packed with entertainment.

A single cast comment, "the audience was just great, small but great".

In intermission, "I've never seen anything like it from Kin Kin group, what a change, a very good show."

Treasurer Comments On P.E. County Report

PICTON (Staff) — A brief concerning local growth submitted to the provincial government by the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce has been termed "rather pessimistic" by provincial treasurer Charles MacNaughton.

A letter from the treasurer acknowledging the brief was read at a recent chamber meeting. It was prepared and forwarded to government officials following the Lake Ontario Region report, Design for Development.

Mr. MacNaughton observed the brief opposed depletion of the whole of Prince Edward as a recreation area and said certain facilities such as beaches in the county should be available for all. He agreed, however, that Prince Edward need not be developed "exclusively for recreational purposes."

He felt the chamber's views on the tourist industry were "rather pessimistic" since members indicated county residents could not find year round employment in tourism. It was also suggested campers and visitors to the provincial parks leave very little money with local merchants.

Mr. MacNaughton said he felt improved tourist accommodation and dining and drinking facilities would boost the local economy. He cautioned the chamber against relying totally on industry for future development and growth since automation has lowered employment figures in manufacturing.

The brief mentioned local recognition of the fact that one - tier government might become necessary in Prince Edward. Mr. MacNaughton described this as significant of local insight.

Chamber directors generally were pleased with the recognition of the brief and voted to acknowledge Mr. MacNaughton's letter with a request for any further details pertaining to development plans for this area.

Council Seeks Shaw Company

The Quinte Arts Council wants to bring the George Bernard Shaw Theatre Company to Belleville. How successful they'll be remains to be seen.

QAC representatives made an approach to officials of the Niagara - on - the - Lake Arts Council during a recent meeting in Hamilton. The theatre group has its nucleus in the Niagara area.

The officials said they would consider the proposal but could make no guarantees at the present time.

The QAC wanted the Shaw troupe to visit here last fall but the company went to Kingston instead.

Belleville Plan Draft Is Ready

Preparation of Belleville's official plan enters a new phase tonight at the last regular Quinte Planning Board meeting of the year.

Roger Truemner, representative of consultants Totten Sims Hubicki Associates, will be on hand to present a draft of the Belleville section of the Quinte Planning Area official plan and a draft of a concept plan for the city.

The draft of the Belleville section of the plan will include sections concerning population projection, economic aspects, administration and financial resources, development concepts and policies.

If the board is satisfied that work by the consultants has been completed adequately, Totten Sims Hubicki will be directed to prepare a final version of the Belleville section plan.

At the last board meeting, Oct. 26, concern was expressed by Alderman Arnold Orr that the consultants may be falling behind schedule on preparation of the planning study and official plan.

A preliminary schedule presented to the board by Totten Sims Hubicki had indicated the firm's intent to have the draft of the plan for the Belleville section done by the end of August 1972, with work on the entire $23,500 contract job finished within 18 to 28 months.

Successful Living

We Look What We Are!

By DORIS CLARK

We have been talking about character values: Our professor of political science (quoted before) suggests a few extras: Cleanliness, courtesy, punctuality, good work, an emphasis upon education and self - improvement, paying bills on time, keeping the home painted and the yard free from debris, working with local volunteer agencies, and so forth.

These are all positive virtues and make life easier, especially since we are an interdependent and democratic society.

His suggestions about such things as keeping the house painted are worth some second thoughts: These things go with good morals; and it seems to me that without reminders from time to time, we forget to notice how the place we live in looks to the person who live with us.

Take "keeping the house painted" in a symbolic sense: We could apply the same thing to being well groomed, dressing in clean, well pressed clothes, hair combed, whiskers either shaped or shaved, eyebrows on straight.

All these things suggest an orderly life and an orderly mind — the kind of a mind which is free to do some serious thinking.

Dear Doris: I am going with a bachelor who is 15 years older than I am. I think the world of him and I know he likes me very much. We have been going out with each other for three years. The problem is: He keeps telling me that I remind him of a girl he used to go out with years ago. This really hurts me, but I don't know what to tell him. I don't want to be just an image of a long gone love. What should I say to him — Sandy

Dear Sandy: There used to be a popular song which had in it the words: "I shut my eyes and I think I'm kissing Billie Burke". Billie Burke was a long-ago glamor girl of the silent screen. You would not remember. I know a widower who, in all enthusiasm, said to a new prospect, "I just like to think of you as a second Dorothy."

But who wants a guy who can only see you as a replacement for someone he adored in the past.

Tell him you know he means it as a compliment, but you are fond of him because he is himself — even though you have had other lovable friends. And you'd like him to enjoy your company because you are you. Or show him this column!

• • •

Dear Doris: My 21-year-old daughter works part time at the children's house as a volunteer, has her grade 12 diploma and grade 10 violin. Could you please recommend a school where she could socialize with people for a while to help her reach a decision regarding her future?

I was wondering about the International School in Denmark. My girl is very reserved. — Pop With A Problem.

Dear Pop: If you are thinking about a spot where she can get a new perspective on the world and still pursue her own kind of interests, you could not do better than to steer her to International People's College, 3000 Elsinore, Denmark.

Here they have three-month, six-month and nine-month semesters in the humanities, or languages, or current affairs or creative arts.

The glorious bonus is the opportunity to mingle with students from many nations of the world. It will give her a new look at the planet we live on; make it easier for her to reach out to the stranger — who will no longer be really a stranger! And help her to find some worthwhile self-expression.

Maids Almost Sacked

ROME (AP) — A bill has been proposed in parliament to cut to half the recent increased costs of employment which have almost priced Italy's house maids out of a job.

After decades of almost medieval servitude, the housemaids, long a fixture of the Italian home, this past summer finally won insurance and pension benefits like other workers.

That, with recent wage increases, boosted the cost so that domestic service became a luxury most Italian families could no longer afford.

The government decree which required employers to pay social security and pension contributions for housemaids increased the cost of domestic help by almost 30 per cent.

Salaries of household servants had almost doubled over the last 10-years, from an average 40,000 lire—$66 a month to $138 for a full - time maid.

Social security payments previously were due only if a maid was working more than two hours daily for one employer, and cost a maximum of $8.50 monthly. The decree extended the benefits to all domestic employees at a cost of at least $61.50 monthly for a full-time maid.

"According to our books, 20,000 maids were given the sack in Rome alone," said Franco Nardecchi, secretary of the Rome Association of Employers.

Rev. Ermilio Cippar, a Roman Catholic priest who heads an organization that safeguards the interests of domestic employees, said many maids had been cruelly fired and then hired back again at a lower salary.

At present, the cost of a full-time maid—including board, wages, social security coverage and an extra month's pay at the end of each year—averages $228.50 monthly.

New legislation prepared by the president of the Chamber of Deputies labor commission and three other Christian Democrat parliamentarians would cut the social charges by half.

The trade in "imported" maids has flourished.

Maids from Spain, Yugoslavia, African countries, and India number close to 4,000 in Italy. This immigration is relatively new in Italy, where labor once was considered low-priced compared with other countries.

Foreign maids usually accept much lower salaries—$120 monthly—and are not entitled to social security or similar benefits.

For years, maids have been such a fixture of the middle class Italian household that many housewives have gone out and taken a job to pay the maid's salary.

"I'd rather work six hours as a secretary and have a maid than do all that housework," said Piera Stagnaro, wife of a city hall employee.

WEDDING

Chapman — Joyce

A double-ring wedding ceremony was recently performed when Rev. J. L. Dean united in marriage Monica Jean Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Joyce, Belleville and George Edward Chapman son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Potter, Bloomfield. Robert Leslie rendered wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown which featured an empire bodice in solid pink polyester crepe and a pink floral polyester georgette skirt. The bride chose a pink bow accented by pink petals and seed pearls for a headdress from which her shoulder length veil fell. She carried a bouquet of white daisies with pink baby rosebuds.

Mrs. Brenda Prinse of Belleville, the bride's attendant, wore a floor length blue crimplene gown with an empire bodice, bishop and short puffy sleeves. Blue flowerettes adorned her hair and she carried a bouquet of blue and white baby mums. Best man was James Eland, Belleville.

Following the wedding ceremony, the reception was held at the bride's home where her mother received guests wearing a navy blue three-piece double knit suit complemented by a yellow carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a two-piece suit of gold nylon lace over gold satin and accented by a pink carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will reside on West Lake, Bloomfield.

Social Editor Resigns From Her Position

After more than 12 years in the editorial department of The Intelligencer, the last seven of them as women's editor, Mrs. Allison Sickle is giving up her role with the newspaper's social department.

For reasons of health and on her doctor's advice, Mrs. Sickle has found it necessary to give up full-time duties on the social desk and instead will do part-time work in the newspaper's proof room department.

Mrs. Sickle came to The Intelligencer in 1960 as women's reporter and then ahead of the social desk with the late Mrs. Gladys Ward, and seven years ago was named women's editor.

One of the highlights of her journalistic career was the winning three years ago of the Lady Jaffray trophy given by the Ontario Garment Salesmen for fashion promotion. Two years ago The Intelligencer social department rated runner-up position in the same contest.

"I will miss the social desk and its contact with the public," Mrs. Sickle admitted as she took up her new proof room duties.

Ann Landers
Fashion 'Freaks' Warned

Dear Ann Landers: I know you get through to the men very well because you are on their side, but please be a friend to women for a change and warn them against putting fashion before safety. There are so many examples, I don't know where to begin.

First, the no-bra fad is one of the dumbest things females have ever done to themselves. If they don't mind looking like a herd of fresh cows, they should at least consider what they are doing to their breasts. That doctor who warned of a generation of Super-Dooper Droopers knew what he was talking about.

Another hazard is the bell-bottom trousers, long skirts and maxi coats. They get caught in escalators, are dangerous to drive in, and thousands of women have tripped on all that extra yard goods and ended up in leg casts.

The no-hosiery fad is another horror. It is unhealthy to go without stockings. Infections are easily picked up and blisters and other foot problems occur more easily when a bare foot is rubbed by a shoe. And speaking of shoes, the new sky-scraper platform soles are murder on the back and risky to walk in.

Save these dumb women from themselves, Ann. Please.—Sick Of Fashion Freaks

Dear Sick: OK. I'll do my best. Hear ye, sisters who are slaves of fashion: Return to your brassieres, scuttle your bell bottoms, long skirts and your maxi coats, put on stockings and throw away those crippling platform shoes. Also, don't let the fashion czars ruin you, be independent, be free, be safe, be comfortable.

Do you think anybody will pay attention to this? Neither do I.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sitting here reading a letter from our son who is away at college. He's a freshman. I recall vividly the way he looked when he left to apply for admittance. He was barefooted, wore an unpressed pair of jeans with a rip in the knee, a faded shirt, and his stringy hair was hanging down his back.

It occurred to me as he walked out of the house that if our doctor showed up looking like that, my son's attitude would be one of disgust or perhaps mistrust. If our pastor appeared on the pulpit looking so shabby, my son would wonder: "What's he trying to prove?" If a pilot came to work in that sloppy get-up, his passengers would question his competence or perhaps his stability. If a judge showed up in the courtroom looking unkempt and disheveled, my son would have no respect for his authority.

I am weary of hearing young people say: "What I wear doesn't matter. I'm the same person, regardless of how I look!" Why don't these kids realize that at first meeting, appearance is all there is to go on? People must judge by what they see.

I'm so sick of sloppy kids in torn, ragged, ill-fitting clothes. I just had to let off steam somewhere. Thanks for being there. Ann.—Mother

Dear Mother: A million mothers could have written your letter. You've said what's been on their minds and in their hearts for a long time. To all of you I say this: If the kids are clean, ignore the rest of it. The get-up we consider weird is only a fad—and fads change.

Lost to Marriage

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Vancouver Island has lost its first and only female provincial court judge to marriage. Myrtle Saxton of Ucluelet, who made legal history when she was appointed the island's first female judge in 1970, now is Mrs. Robert Thompson of Campbell River. She decided not to continue as a relief judge for areas near here, because it would have interferred with her home life.

Shulman's Censure Moved by Bales

TORONTO (CP) — Debate in the Ontario Legislature became heated early today as members continued their discussions on Dr. Morton Shulman's charges that linked Attorney-General Dalton Bales with racketeering in construction unions.

Although the NDP motion for Toronto High Park made a partial withdrawal of a statement that accused Mr. Bales of attending a party at the home of a lathing contractor convicted of price fixing, Dr. Shulman's immediate status as a member of the legislature was still hanging.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Shulman, offered to resign if a by-election was called within several weeks.

Mr. Bales demanded in the legislature that Dr. Shulman be censured by the house and Speaker Allan Reuter said he would rule later on the matter.

As the debate continued into the early hours of today the Speaker threatened to suspend the sitting because of what he termed "Grave disorder."

Mr. Reuter made his threat as members shouted at each other across the chamber when Vernon Singer (L—Toronto Downsview) said Dr. Shulman had used McCarthy-like tactics.

Mr. Singer referred to Dr. Shulman's withdrawal of the charges as "qualified, mealy-mouthed and meaningless."

Bert Lawrence secretary for resource development, said Dr. Shulman had "dishonored himself" and "should never run again."

"You talk about dishonor," retorted Dr. Shulman. "Nobody's ever paid me off. You people can be bought and you have been bought."

The issue erupted Tuesday night when Dr. Shulman made a major speech about crime in the construction industry. He said Mr. Bales had been seen attending a fund-raising dinner at the home of a contractor linked with crime.

Dr. Shulman said his source was Max Chikofsky, a private investigator. Later, Mr. Chikofsky denied having seen the attorney-general at the party and denied telling Dr. Shulman he had seen Mr. Bales there.

In the legislature Wednesday, Dr. Shulman said he made a false statement but maintained the private investigator had told him of seeing Mr. Bales and said a police report on the matter did exist.

Then, still later, Mr. Bales asked for an interruption in the house business so he could respond to Dr. Shulman.

"I have never experienced the feeling of disgust I had last evening," he said. Mr. Bales said it was the worst attack on the character and integrity of one member of the house by another that he has ever witnessed.

Dr. Shulman had identified the contractor who was alleged to have held the party only as a Mr. Cesaroni.

Tony Cesaroni, of Port Perry, said in a telephone interview that the party Dr. Shulman was referring to was given for Dr. Matthew Dymond, former provincial health minister and Conservative MPP for Ontario riding.

Mr. Cesaroni said Mr. Bales did not attend the party.

Company Head Says He Fears for Life

TORONTO (CP) — The head of a Toronto company which has been the target of bombings and shootings said Wednesday there should be a royal commission investigation into unsolved violence in the lathing industry.

Stanley Soain, 27-year-old general manager of Acme Lathing Co. Ltd., said he has lived in fear of his life for the last year. He said police make regular nightly checks of his home and of the Acme plant.

Early Wednesday, he said, police warned him to take precautions starting his car and to keep the vehicle locked.

Mr. Sosin was in the legislature members' gallery Tuesday night when Morton Shulman, NDP member for Toronto High Park, launched an attack on Attorney-General Dalton Bales relted to trouble in the lathing industry.

"Nothing is going to be solved in the legislature," said Mr. Sosin. "They (the politicians) are just interested in getting at each other's head."

The Acme official added that police told him they have made no headway in their investigations into violent incidents at the plant.

OMB May Lose Monetary Control

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Board should be retained, but it should no longer have responsibilities of municipalities, a legislative committee report tabled in the legislature said Wednesday.

The committee, chaired by John MacBeth, (PC—Toronto York West) suggested citizen groups should have a greater say in government participation around the province.

"We think we are in tune with what is happening across the province now where the citizens want to get into the act and we are saying—let them in, but let them in at the municipal level and not at the OMB level," Mr. MacBeth said.

The OMB should become an appeal body only" and should only deal with matters where "the evidence has already been properly documented and put before the (local) council," said Mr. MacBeth, a former reeve of what now is the borough of Etobicoke.

The committee also suggests the OMB should not have to arbitrate municipal boundary readjustments.

That should be the responsibility of the minister for intergovernmental affairs, the report states.

It recommends that the government should clearly state the policies it expects the OMB to follow. Such declarations should be issued routinely to the board, to all municipalities and policy is not clear the board should ask for clarification.

The OMB should not be rigidly bound by its own previous decisions, but should attempt to follow a consistent policy.

It should accept reports and other written material without insisting on the author going oral evidence and it should conduct its hearings in an informal manner, the report says.

The government should endorse the principle of helping ratepayers and others who want to study their council's proposals and perhaps appeal to the OMB," the report states. "The Attorney-General should be asked to devise the most suitable scheme."

The committee also states that the government and the OMB "should encourage municipalities to find ways of assist part in local decision-making."

Textbooks with Bias Will Still Be Used

TORONTO (CP) — Textbooks in Ontario classrooms found to contain racial bias will not be banned immediately despite opposition demands to this effect, Education Minister Thomas Wells said Wednesday.

Mr. Wells, replying in the legislature to a question by James F. Foulds (NDP—Port Arthur), said his ministry planned to have the books or their offending sections replaced within a few years when the books are reprinted.

A provincial commission set up to study Ontario school textbooks reported recently that about 70 publications contained items against Canada's native people.

Mr. Wells said teachers have a certain degree of choice: "They can, if they wish, cease to use those books."

Liberal Offers PCs $50,000 Bet

TORONTO (CP) — A Liberal member of the legislature offered to donate $50,000 to Progressive Conservative coffers for the next provincial election campaign Wednesday.

But, the catch from Eddie Sargent (L—Grey-Bruce) was that Premier William Davis open up the party's "$5 million campaign fund" from the last election and prove to him that the big donations—$50,000 and more—were not connected to government contracts.

Mr. Sargent referred to a $50,000 campaign donation by Fidinam (Ontario) Ltd. a Swiss-based firm.

Mr. Sargent told the legislature as the budget debate continued that the donation cheque was made out to William Kelly, the PC party, treasurer.

"I think he works on the assessment basis," the Liberal member said, adding the size of the government contract and the size of the political donation were probably related.

"I'll bet $50,000 of my money," Mr. Sargent said in challenging Mr. Davis. "If he proves me wrong, I'll give him $50,000 for his next election pot."

Future Chess Whiz

Five-year-old Robert Le Donne concentrates on a move while attending the Shelby Lyman Chess Institute in New York, where he is receiving instruction in the ancient game. Lyman, the chess master who became famous as the TV host of the Fischer-Spassky championship match, claims that the boy's talents are "extraordinary". He compared the boy with such chess prodigies as Morphy, Capablanca, and Reshevsky, who all played before they were teenagers. (AP Photo)

Too Many Doctors in Ontario?

TORONTO (BP) — An Ontario Medical Association (OMA) inquiry studying the medical profession in the province was told Wednesday Ontario is heading towards an excess of doctors and a consequent increase in health costs.

Dr. William Walsh, president of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, told the hearing he thinks Ontario is suffering from problems of distribution and organization and not a shortage of doctors.

Dr. Walsh said with the present expansion of its medical schools he thinks the province will be able to meet its own needs, "but we must recognize there is an expanding pool of immigrant doctors."

"I think sooner or later we shall come to a point where we have an excess of doctors," said Dr. Walsh, who also is assistant dean of medicine at McMaster University.

"With more doctors there will be more and more cost to the health care system."

Echoing the concern expressed last week by Health Minister Dr. Richard Potter, Dr. Walsh said it is unfair to restrict Ontario students wishing to become doctors while accepting doctors without restriction from anywhere else in the world.

Dr. J. C. C. Dawson, registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, said there not only is a bad distribution of doctors, but a surplus in certain specialties, with general surgery "the outstand example."

The college released figures showing that of 931 doctors newly registered in Ontario last year, 342 were graduates of Ontario medicals chools, 168 came from other Canadian schools and the rest from abroad.

Health Change Charged Fast

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The provincial government may be trying to make too many changes too quickly in the health-care field, the president of the Ontario Medical Association (OMA) said Wednesday.

Dr. Lou Harnick of Toronto said in an interview that the OMA will give the government's changes a chance to work, but "will be the first to yell" if its members find that health care in the province is suffering.

Big Fitness Push On

OTTAWA (CP) — Sports Participation Canada, a private agency devoted to promoting the idea of fitness, hopes to motivate 3,500,000 Canadians to take up regular exercising by the time the general Keith McKerracher said Wednesday.

Mr. Kerracher told the national conference on health and fitness that only 400,000 Canadians now have a regular program of exercising.

Within a year, Canadians won't be able to light their cigarettes, put sugar in their tea or coffee or even have a glass of milk without being reminded of the need for exercise, he said.

The Eddy Match Co. will be printing almost 20 million match boxes containing fitness messages. St. Lawrence Sugar will distribute millions of sugar packages in restaurants with the same messages. A number of dairies also will put the messages on their milk cartons.

To get Canadians away from their television sets or off the grandstand and onto the playing field, the motivation may be the fear of dying, the fun of playing with others or the hope of a better sex life, said Mr. Kerracher.

One of his hopes is to film a 60-second commercial for TV that would allow viewers to take a fitness test in their own living room. If he had his way, he added, everyone who took the test would fail it.

Committed

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government's budgets in the next few years will reflect its commitment to "total environment," Bert Lawrence, resources development secretary, said early today.

Toronto Taximen Claim Harassment

TORONTO (CP) — The airport taxi war between the Greater Toronto Cab Conference and the municipality of Mississauga flared on paper again Wednesday.

The conference, representing Toronto-licensed taxis, asked Attorney-General Dalton Bales in a letter to take "some action to have Mississauga act in accordance with existing law."

The letter was written on behalf of Al Sadoff, director of the cab conference, by lawyer H. Lorne Murphy.

It claims Mississauga enforcement officers are harassing Toronto cab drivers and threatening them with summonses if they pick up fares at Toronto International Airport.

Mr. Murphy said Toronto-licensed cab drivers had received 24 summonses since an appeals court had quashed two convictions last October.

At the heart of the dispute, which began about 20 years ago, is a Mississauga bylaw which claims power to license taxis serving the airport. A 1955 Supreme Court of Canada decision ruled a municipality could only license taxis which pick up and leave fares within its boundary.

Following that decision, the cab conference advised its Toronto drivers they could pick up fares at the airport, located in Mississauga, as long as the fares were not dropped within that municipality.

Union Station Loot Believed Recovered

TORONTO (CP) — Two men and two women arrested Tuesday night while crossing into the United States have been charged with possession of stolen money which police believe to be part of the $251,000 robbery at Toronto's Union Station Oct. 18.

Police here said Wednesday the four were being held by provincial police in Gananoque, 16 miles east of Kingston, and Ronto.

The police spokesman said three $100 bills, bearing the serial number of bills taken in the Toronto robbery, were discovered by U.S. customs officials inspecting four people entering that country at Watertown, N.Y.

Daniel Bohlen of Urbana, Ill., appeared in Watertown court Wednesday charged with criminal possession of property. The charge was dropped when he agreed to surrender, along with his companions, to Ontario Provincial Police.

John Czechowicz, U.S. customs port director, said "the over-all situation didn't look right" as the occupants were being processed.

"We know what normal tourists look like and these people didn't fit that discription. They just deviated from the normal."

Mr. Czechowics said the occupants declared about $1,800 in merchandise, mostly clothing which they said was purchased in Canada. They all claimed American citizenship, he said.

The Toronto police spokesman said detectives have gone to Gananoque to follow up the investigation, which he said had spread also to Quebec.

There is a $25,000 reward posted for information leading to the arrest of the five men who robbed the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch at Union Station. The robbery, which took less than one minute, was the largest cash holdup in Toronto's history.

Amphetamine Control Tight

OTTAWA (CP) — When the federal program to control abuse of amphetamine drugs goes into effect Jan. 1, it appears doctors will be allowed few opportunities to prescribe these mental stimulants.

The program was to have started Sept. 1, but was postponed so conditions under which these drugs can be prescribed could be clarified. Clarification is expected to be complete in about two weeks.

When these conditions are set out in detail, doctors will find themselves sharply restricted in their use of amphetamines.

A doctor ordering amphetamines must supply the federal health department with the name of the patient. If the drug is to be used for longer than 30 days, he must name a second doctor who has examined the patient and concurs with the treatment.

Three advisory committees of non-government, medical and drug experts have left only a few conditions for which amphetamines and two similar drugs would constitue "medically-approved treatment."

One committee, calling them addictive, said they should not be used as diet pills, stimulants, pep pills, depression relievers or for several other commonly diagnosed conditions.

Dr. Ian Henderson, chairman of this committee and of the Canadian Medical Association's pharmacy committee and an expert on drugs at the Ottawa General Hospital, summed up the findings:

"There are very few reasons to start a new patient on any of these amphetamine or amphetamine-like medications."

If all the conditions indicated by the advisory committees were met by the government, the list would include only:

—Mental retardation (minimal brain function). It is believed this recommendation includes narcolepsy, a state of overactivity in children who have minimal brain dramage, and the even more rare narcolepsy, a state in which a person has uncontrollable tendencies to fall asleep.

—Epilepsy, as additional treatment. One report said amphetamines are useful for children who are sleepy from the effects of other medications needed to control their seizures.

—Parkinson's disase, where some improvement is shown. One committee said this should not be an approved condition.

—Clinical research in approved, controlled situations.

—Diagnostic purposes (one dose).

Whether all these will be included on the government list of approved uses, or whether any will be left out, remains unknown. Government spokesmen who could [illegible] available.

Dr. Henderson's committee said all amphetamine-like drugs, including several not specified under the government program, should be considered in the same drug category as the basic amphetamines.

However, it said government restriction on the main ones was "a wise decision at this time."

"Many Canadians are already dependent on one or more members of this family of compounds," Dr. Henderson said in an interview.

"A weaning process over six months to one year may be necessary for many patients who otherwise may become major problems to a large number of physicians because of withdrawal symptomatology."

Brockville Hospital Chairman, Doctor Quit

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The board of governors of Brockville General Hospital refused Wednesday night to accept the resignation of its chairman, Henry Noble.

Mr. Noble resigned earlier in the day after he was criticized in a report by a board of inquiry, appointed by Ontario Health Minister Dr. Richard Potter, to investigate conditions at the hospital.

Dr. Thomas Code, chief of the staff, also resigned after the report was critical of his medical staff.

The board of inquiry was set up early in the year following a dispute between the medical staff and the board of governors. It had made several recommendations and then followed up with a second investigation in October.

In its report Wednesday the board of inquiry said a number of its earlier recommendations had not been carried out fully.

The report said in some respects Mr. Noble had used his office to replace the office of the hospital administrator.

The inquiry board said it was disappointed that its earlier recommendations were not fully carried out. It also said the medical staff made errors in its priorities and should have demonstrated its good faith by assuring patients in the hospital received the best possible care.

The report said: "We are extremely critical of the attitude of the medical staff. We are dealing with a hospital, not a political arena, with a place of healing, not a battlefield. The preoccupation with power politics must be replaced by a new attitude of responsibility for quality control of patient care on the part of the medical staff."

Boy's Death Caused By Overuse of Drug

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — A coroner's jury investigating the death of a 14-year-old Peterborough area boy recommended Wednesday that spray used with the drug Isoproterenol, used for an asthmatic condition be made available only by prescription.

The jury found that James Harris of Baillieboro died recently of chronic asthema. The boy's condition was aggravated by overuse of the drug, it said.

Margaret Harris, the boy's mother, said her son had used the spray containing the drug for about seven years and was using one container every 10 days.

Dr. Cecil Collins-Williams, director of the allergy division at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto said the dosage mentioned would mean the boy was taking 15 doses a day.

He said if the drug was overused, it had a tendency to form the opposite function to what it is intended; it would expand rather than contract air passages.

Dr. Collins-Williams said the main cause of death apparently was due to overuse of the medication.

The jury was told the particular spray can was available on drug store shelves without a prescription.

Auto Union Presses For Cut in GM Prices

TORONTO (CP) — Dennis McDermott, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers union urged Trade Minister Alastair Gillespie Wednesday "not to take no for an answer" from General Motors of Canada on his request that the company reconsider 1973 price increases.

Mr. McDermott said in a statement that General Motor profits for the first nine months of 1972 were $1.49 billion and the company was "able to absorb the average $52 per-unit increase it announced last Monday."

"There is no need for Mr. Gillespie to be timid about his request," said Mr. McDermott. "Under the Canada-U.S. auto trade agreement, the Canadian government has been forgiving the Big Three automakers $50 million a year in what would otherwise have been customs duties.

"On behalf of the UAW's 120,000 Canadian members and the car-buying public, I urge Mr. Gillespie to tell General Motors to quit robbing Canadians and close the gap with U.S. car prices."

Mr. Gillespie said Tuesday night he would not let the matter drop, although the company said it would not reconsider its decision to raise 1973 prices. Mr. Gillespie said he was "extremely disappointed."

Union Forced

BEIRUT, Lebanon (ap) — The presidents of the two Yemens agreed to unite their countries under threat of arrest, the newspaper Al Anwar said Wednesday.

The leading advocate of one Arab nation, Libyan leader Muammar Kadafi, was reported by the paper to have told the two heads of state meeting in his capital last month:

"It occurs to me, despite all protocol rules, to detain you here in this hall and declare to the Arab world that you will not leave it until you reach a clear formula announcing the merger of North and South Yemen into one state."

The two countries had been fighting on their borders.

Bad Slip

EDMONTON (CP) — "Want to make $40 a day? One month vacation with pay? Meet lots of guys? Make $300 a week tax free?"

Charles Victor Guyett, 18, of Edmonton handed out 22 cards bearing this message and two telephone numbers.

After a woman complained he found himself on the receiving end of a 10-month suspended sentence for procuring.

Dr. Lawrence Sandberg says his research team has isolated a substance called tropolidin, which has a chemical property similar to motor oil, enabling arteries to stay young, flexible and elastic.

Trend Ignored

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Premier William Davis was accused Wednesday of ignoring the growing environmental concern of many people with his plans to build a new community northeast of Toronto.

At the inaugural meeting here, town health officer Ruknettin Haluku said Turkey's estimated 17,000 prostitutes provide an important safety valve in society's sexual life.

Teach Ojibway

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — A course in conversational Ojibway was approved for a local separate school by the Sault Ste. Marie district separate school board Wednesday.

Superintendent Fred Mills recommended that the course be offered to students in Grades 6 to 8 at St. Hubert school because of the large number of Indian children attending the school. He said few Indian children and young adults were able to speak their native tongue.

Issues Dodged

DETROIT (AP) — A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency report on possible effect of extending shipping on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway failed to "really deal with some of the potential problems," a Sierra Club spokesman said Wednesday.

Jonathan Ela, Midwest representative of the national environmentalist and conservationist club, was an observer at the two-day Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway Winter Navigation Project Seminar which ended here Wednesday.

Can Quintes Save Season?

by Eric Emerson
Sports Editor

It is December 7th. Kids everywhere are waiting for Santa Claus. Store owners are waiting for Christmas shoppers and Christmas shoppers are waiting for hours. And we're all waiting for the Belleville Quintes.

The Belleville Quintes are waiting for the Messiah. They may have found him in Ken Knapton.

Ken Knapton is seven feet, three inches tall. He skates 162.7 miles per hour and has a shot that even Ken Knapton couldn't stop. With him in the lineup the Quintes will go undefeated, cop the league championship, the Allen Cup, challenge for Lord Stanley's mug and go on to bury the Russian National team. You read it here first.

KEN KNAPTON

Actually, Knapton is more in the five-ten neighborhood, but he does seem to be a class Senior A hockey player. However, on some of the Quintes' recent efforts, Bobby Orr, Sophia Loren and unlimited cash would gain a real spark.

That isn't to say that the Quintes are a bunch of fat cats, sitting back collecting fat salaries and fighting at their benchladders. Knapton was making as much as $15 a week travelling expenses, plus salary with, Oakville. Here, if attendance keeps surging Ken will become just a working part of the share - the - poverty program.

And it isn't to say that the team lacks the talent to compete in Senior A hockey. You don't walk into Galt and come out with a 5-4 win as the Quintes have done this season by signing a bunch of stiffs.

On the other hand, the growing number of empty pews at the Belleville Memorial Morgue, are not an indictment of the city's hockey fans. Sure Belleville backs a winner and they may not flock in droves to watch if good fourth or fifth place team, win or lose. But aren't there enough real fans in this city who would appreciate a good senior game, regardless of the score, to keep the loser alive?

Good senior hockey is a beautiful game. Better positional play, harder bodychecking and fewer meaningless brawls than the junior version. The trouble is, when was the last good Senior A hockey game played in Belleville? Only a masochist or an NHL owner can enjoy sitting through 10-1, 10-4 and 14-1 debacles.

The resurrection of the Belleville Quintes, if it is to happen, won't come from adding one or two good hockey players. It will come from the players already in the line-up. We may not have the high-octane firepower of teams like Orillia, Galt and Barrie, but a 14-1 loss? Jim's Pizzeria isn't that bad.

Knapton can help the team, maybe even save the team, but it has to be players like Edmunds, Wayne McConnell, Dave Creighton, Bagnell, Jury, etc., who bring it to life.

* * *

The latest addition to the Quintes is a Toronto native, who played Junior A hockey in Niagara Falls and Oshawa; saw a year's service with the Springfield Kings and played three years in the International League before joining the Oaks for two seasons.

In his first year with Oakville, Knapton counted 30 goals and followed with an 18-goal season last year. He has worked on the power play and penalty killing unit with the Oaks.

Originally Ken was slated to sign with the Kingston Aces, but as he says, "Since Kingston was as far from my home in Hornepayne as Oakville is, the Oaks didn't want to release me."

He was transferred by the CIP Victoria paper products company from Oakville to Peterborough this year where he now lives with wife Jane and daughters Renee and Cherie.

"A senior team just can't afford to pay the kind of travelling expenses I was getting with Oakville," he explains of his decision to grant him a release. "It makes it better for me now, because I now other guys from Peterborough to share the driving."

"He's a hitter," says Liveat Boily who handled the Wednesday night coaching duties with Wayne Brown working shift work. "and if he keeps battling like he did tonight, he might provide the spark.

Brown and Boily huddled after last night's practice and decided, once again, that lack of body contact was the team's major downfall.

"I've never seen a team that's won without hitting," claimed Boily, "when you get one or two guys doing that it seems to spark the others. With us it's just the opposite."

Ray Johnston played the first couple of games and was disliking it out. After that, he decided that he liked our style of play better, we play a nice friendly style."

From examples such as this, it seems unlikely that Knapton can carry the Belleville Quintes to a playoff spot, but the Quintes could carry Ken Knapton into one. If the players themselves finally decide to go out and bust a gut on the odd occasion they can still save this Senior A season from being the dud that it's been so far.

"They ran out of pucks and had to get some frozen hamburger patties from the refreshment stand!"

Hawley Wrestles for First Pin

The referee watches closely as Napanee wrestler Peter Hawley tries to pin Quinte Secondary's Mike McKenna in the Napanee — Bayside - Quinte exhibition tri meet, side Tuesday. Hawley, who has been wrestling for three years, brought first year wrestler McKenna's shoulders to the mat in the third round for his first pin of the year. Freestyle wrestling rules will govern Bay of Quinte COSSA for the first time this season.

Marion Maud Dusts Off Frontenac Dash Leader

Marion Maud ended Jim Dusty's domination of the five-eighths mile dashes at Frontenac Downs Wednesday.

The six - year - old mare driven by Dave Gibson took the seventh race in a record time of 1:18.2. Marion Maud beat the old record by three-fifths of a second.

Jim Dusty's failed to improve his three wins and one second place finish as he did not show in Wednesday's dash.

Tupper driven by Joe Hogan trained to the featured sixth race victory in a time of 2:13.2.

Don Johnston recorded a first at the Downs as he won both the first and second races for the daily double. The double of Real McCoy and Mar Con Spark paid $11.00.

Belleville's Gerry Walsh placed second with Presto Heel in the first. The win paid $2.60 and $2.10.

Attendance at Wednesday's racing was 624, with mutuels $28,089.

The second - to - last card at the Downs takes place this Sunday, Post time is 1:45 p.m.

High School Wrestling Switches to Freestyle

Bay of Quinte COSSA wrestlers will be fighting under a different set of rules in this year's matches.

International style wrestling rules have been adopted by the Ontario Federation of School's Athletic Associations over the National Collegiate Athletic Association's American rules.

The result of this change has been that schools throughout Ontario have uniformly changed to the free style type of wrestling that was seen at the Munich Olympics.

The change over was planned by the OFSAA to take place over two years, but this year Ontario wrestling coaches were notified that free style wrestling rules become effective this year. With the former NCAA rules, Ontario wrestlers worked themselves into a blind end. All Canadian college, university and national wrestling follows the international style of fighting.

The result for Ontario wrestlers as that of Bay of Quinte wrestlers was that if they wanted to continue in wrestling after they left high school they would be at a disadvantage in a completely new style and scoring system.

According to Walter Uhrynuk, wrestling coach for the Quinte team, the Bay of Quinte wrestlers will not fully comply with the international rules immediately.

"This year will be the learning year for coaches, wrestlers, and officials," said Uhrynuk. "We won't be going to the hand to system that was seen at the Olympics. That system is complicated and needs an experienced official to referee. We might be using it in the final matches though."

Playing under NCAA rules each match has three two minute rounds with no rest period between the rounds, while free style wrestling allows for a one minute rest between the rounds. The Bay of Quinte League will be retaining the NCAA match ruling.

The free style ruling concerning a standing start for each round will be adopted as opposed to the NCAA's ruling of first round standing, second down for one man, and third down - on - knees for the other man.

There will also be a change in the manner in which points will be alloted as the take down will increase in importance. The referee will have the right to stop the wrestlers on the mat if it appears to him that they are not proceeding to a pin.

"With free style wrestling," said Uhrynuk, "agility and quickness will be more important than endurances for, formerly was under the NCAA rules."

Canucks For Sale?

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says financially-troubled Vancouver Canucks could be up for sale.

Columnist Dick Beddoes said today a reliable source within the National Hockey League hierarchy told him that until the sale is achieved, "the Canucks will be controlled by Chicago Black Hawks."

Beddoes also noted that Hawks' control of Vancouver would represent a conflict of interest in the NHL, which normally frowns on one team having any financial or operational control of another league franchise.

Vancouver's owner of record is Medical Investment Corp. of Minneapolis, known as Medicor. Medicor owns 80 per cent of the Vancouver team.

Beddoes says the Black Hawks have purchased Medicor's 60-per-cent share of the Vancouver club through either ownership of shares in Medicor or in collateral for a loan.

He says the loan was required by Thomas E. Scallen, president of Medicor and the Canucks, to repay a $3.5-million loan to the Bank of British Columbia.

The original bank loan was obtained by Scallen and vice-president Lyman Walters to repay a loan from the Capozzi family of Kelowna, B.C., negotiated in July, 1971.

The Capozzi loan covered the $2.5 million which Medicor transferred from Vancouver to liquidate Medicor debts in the United States.

On Nov. 16 Scallen was committed to a high court trial by Provincial Judge David Moffett on charges of theft of $3 million and issuing a false stock prospectus.

Walters was committed on the prospectus charge.

The theft is alleged to have occurred in December, 1970, from Northwest Sports Enterprises, corporate title for the Canucks.

The sale of the Canucks, says Beddoes, will pay off the Chicago loan and other mortgages on Medicor. Medicor is also financially involved in the Minneapolis-based ice show, Holiday on Ice.

Vancouver Canucks entered the NHL in 1970, paying $6 million for the franchise. The purchase of Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League and an indemnity to the Western Hockey League for its franchise in Vancouver for an estimated $2.7 million brings the total investment to about $10 million.

The Canucks financial structure hardly seems threatened. It earns approximately $2-million annually, including $750,000 from television revenue. With taxes, its net earnings amount to about half the gross take.

Beddoes says that with this financial picture, "the NHL does not have to be hasty in finding a buyer."

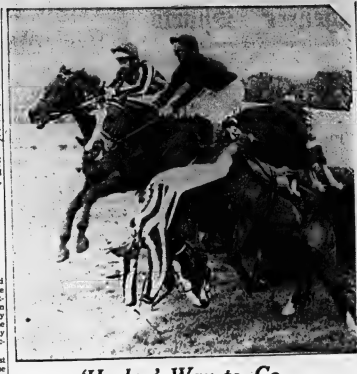
"But a few NHL governors, embarrassed by the presence of one of their partners in jail and by another charged with theft, want Medicor out."

Voyageurs Sailing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nova Scotia Voyageurs pulled one point further ahead of the idle Boston Bruins in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League Wednesday night, but only through the courtesy of a goal by Tony Featherstone with seven seconds remaining in the game.

The right winger's shot past goalie Doug Favell gave the Voyageurs a 2-2 tie with Tide, water Wings and put them two points ahead of the runner-up Braves, who have a game in hand.



In the only other game Wednesday night, Richmond Robins defeated Providence Reds 6-1 at Richmond.

The Nova Scotians needed to come from behind twice to stay abreast of the Wings, who opened the scoring in the first period on a goal by Rick McCann. This was matched by one by Voyageurs Larry Robinson in the second period, but Nelson Debenedet gave Tidewater the lead again before the period ended.

Featherstone collared a rebound off the backboards to slip home the tying goal. The result left Tidewater trailing Cincinnati Swords, Western Division leaders, by three points.

Two rookies shared the honors at Richmond, where the Robins sent the Reds down to their fourth consecutive defeat.

Left winger Allan McAdams, a former Charlottetown, P.E.I., junior star, scored three goals to spark the Richmond attack and goalie Ray Boutin, a last-minute replacement for Roger Kosar, shut out the Reds for 46 minutes of play and finished with 36 saves. He made his pro debut after Kosar was injured in the pre-game warmup.

Aid Promised Athletes

TORONTO (CP) — Premier William Davis announced Wednesday a major program to provide more financial aid for amateur sports in Ontario.

Mr. Davis did not indicate the extent of the increase in grants, but the announcement was a surprise in view of recent government moves to restrain spending because of a mounting provincial deficit.

Speaking at a banquet honoring 220 Ontario athletes, the premier said the new aid will go to help provincial competitors travel to Canadian and international competition and to various sports organizations to develop coaches, executive leaders and the athletes themselves.

"In this way, the various sports associations will be able to encourage more participation in their activities, develop a province - wide program, . . . and ensure that competitive experiences are available for the top athletes."

Mr. Davis also announced that Oshawa will be the site of the Ontario 1972 Summer Games June 30 to July 2. He said 1,200 athletes will compete for the right to represent Ontario at the Canada Summer Games Aug. 3-12, 1973 at Burnaby and New Westminster, B.C.

He also said the province intends to build an indoor training facility at Thunder Bay similar to centres developed by the government in Ottawa and Toronto.

Mr. Davis said grants were being increased because of coming major events, such as the Canada Summer Games, the World Student Games and the 1978 British Commonwealth Games in Edmonton. Also, the grants were needed because of an increased participation in amateur sport programs.

Mr. Davis said more money will be available to help pay the salaries of full-time administrative and leadership personnel. Currently, 13 sports bodies have full - time executive directors and five of those also employ technical directors.

As well, new funds will be spent on special summer programs in swimming and track and field.

Tigers Top Fielders

BOSTON (AP) — Detroit Tigers, led by shortstop Eddie Brinkman, had the American League's best defence en route to the East Division title in 1972.

Official fielding records announced by AL president Joe Cronin Wednesday showed the Tigers committed only 86 errors in 2,883 chances for a .984 percentage. The league record for the fewest errors is 95 by Baltimore Orioles in 1964.

Brinkman set a major league record for shortstops with a mark of 399 while handling 725 chances in all of Detroit's 156 games.

He was injured in the playoffs after bettering the American League record for shortstops, .985 by Leo Cardenas with Minnesota Twins in 1971, and Larry Bowa of Philadelphia Phillies, who held the old major league record of .987, also set in 1971.

As the Tigers won the league fielding championship for the third time in five years, Brinkman also set three other major league records for a shortstop. He committed only seven errors, four fewer than the mark set by Cardenas and Bowa, and played 72 consecutive games without a miscue, and handled 231 consecutive chances without an error.

BROOKS ROBINSON

Brooks Robinson led American League third basemen in fielding for the 10th time with a .977 percentage on just 11 errors. The Orioles, runnerup to Detroit with a team mark of .983, also had two other individual leaders—second baseman Dave Johnson with .990 and catcher Johnny Oates with .996. Johnson and Oates recently were traded to Atlanta Braves in the National League.

John Mayberry of Kansas City Royals won first base honors with .995, edging Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox' most valuable player award winner who had .9949.

Ken Berry of California Angels topped regular outfielders with a 1.000 mark in 285 chances. He also shared the lead with Chicago's Carlos May with 13 assists, and tied Oakland's Reggie Jackson by participating in five double plays.

Based on total chances, New York Yankee Mel Stottlemyre was the top fielding pitcher, participating in 71 plays with xit an error. Kansas City's Paul Splittorff and Boston's Lynn McGlothen also fielded 1.000, handling 57 and 48 chances, respectively.

Bergman Adjusts

DETROIT (AP) — Adjusting to life in the United States as a professional hockey player hasn't been a problem for Sweden's Thommie Bergman, he says, except for one particular problem—he isn't sure how to handle his spare time.

In his homeland, hockey was his hobby. Now it's his profession, and so far his only outlet for new-found empty hours is "just watching TV."

"It's a different life here, of course," the tall, blonde Detroit Red Wings rookie defenceman said after a recent National Hockey League game.

"I used to work in Gothenberg, Sweden, right to five every day. Here I have most of the day off and practise two or three hours."

The 6-foot-3, 194-pounder worked as an advertising agency in Sweden, then practised hockey two hours in the evening.

"I'm not used to so much spare time," he said.

Much of that spare time came the first two months of the season, but family life may start taking up some of it.

Bergman wanted to bring his wife Ewa and his five-month-old son Tobias to the U.S. when he joined the Wings training camp in September. But they didn't arrive until about two weeks ago.

"There was some kind of problem with the boy getting a passport," explained Bergman.

Red Wings general manager Ned Harkness purchased a release from the Swedish Ice Hockey Federation and said he spent "a pile of money" to get the young prospect, who will be 25 years old Sunday.

"He's worth every cent of it," Harkness added.

Gratton Grounds 'Jet'

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull scored his 11th goal in 17 games since getting permission to play in the fledgling World Hockey Association, but the 33-year-old Golden Jet had to relinquish the spotlight Wednesday night when his Winnipeg Jets bombed Chicago Cougars 7-1.

Jean-Guy Gratton, who had first 28 WHA games, doubled goals to pace the Jets' in front of 3,436, Winnipeg's smallest crowd this year.

In the only other game, John Danby had a big night at Boston, leading New England Whalers to a 4-3 victory over New York Raiders before 7,510 fans.

Winnipeg victimized starting with six goals but were held to one score for just over half the game by his replacement, Don McLeod.

Gerry Cheevers and Dunc Rousseau also scored for the Jets who moved 21 points ahead of second-place Minnesota Fighting Saints in the Western Division race.

The Saints, however, have played seven fewer games.

Bordeleau's goal was his 20th of the season, the first Western Division shooter to reach that plateau this year.

Danby, who assisted on the tying goal, fired the winner with 3:36 remaining in the third period to send the Whalers into a tie with Cleveland Crusaders atop the Eastern Division standings.

Craig Reichmuth, Kent Douglas and Ron Ward's 20th of the season kept the Raiders in the game until the 2-2 end.

Then Kevin Ahearn poked in Danby's rebound to tie the score, setting the stage for a great individual effort by Danby who skated in front of New York goaltender Peter Donnelly, faked him out of position, and cashed in the winner.

Dick Estrazin kept the Whalers in contention in the opening 40 minutes, scoring both New England goals.

Paduano Wins By Knockout

HULL, Que. (CP) — Donato Paduano of Montreal, former Canadian welterweight boxing champion, came on strong in the fifth round to defeat Jimmy Mallish by a technical knockout Wednesday night.

The two middleweights felt each other out in the first two rounds.

Mallish, from Buckingham, Que., who weighed in at 150 pounds, took the first round on points, but Paduano, 156 pounds, staged him up, the ballance began to shift.

In the fifth, Mallish was knocked down twice. He said he only got up as "a matter of pride."

TOUCHY SUBJECT

EDMONTON (CP) — School girls should be touched but not tackled, a school board official has ruled. Harry Hobol, physical education supervisor for the Edmonton Public School Board, says girls can play touch football but the tackle variety is out because they don't have the strength for it. School trustee Herb Jamieson added that he didn't think the protective padding would fit girls properly.

Dennis Stars on Own

By IAN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dennis Hull rode into the National Hockey League nine years ago with Chicago Black Hawks on the shirt tail of his older brother, Bobby.

At least that's the way the experts saw it and for a couple of seasons his production seemed to bear them out.

But the 29-year-old left winger doesn't need anybody to lean on now, even with Bobby gone to the rival World Hockey Association.

Dennis scored two goals Wednesday night and assisted on another as goalie Tony Esposito combined with Hull's scoring efforts in a 6-0 Chicago win over Los Angeles Kings.

Elsewhere, Buffalo Sabres came up with two third-period goals for a 3-2 upset of the Rangers in New York, Montreal Canadiens handled Minnesota North Stars 6-3 and Pittsburgh Penguins tied California Golden Seals 4-4 at Oakland.

Tonight St. Louis Blues are at Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings at Buffalo, Vancouver Canucks at Atlanta Flames and Minnesota is in Philadelphia against the Flyers.

Tempers were high in Chicago where 24 minutes in penalties, plus two game misconducts in Chicago's Dan Maloney and Keith Magnuson, were handed out.

Kings' Mike Corrigan and Maloney started the slugfests at 2:08 of the first period and the battle escalated from there.

Goaltender Bill Ranall of Los Angeles and Chicago's Pit Russell had a scrap later in the period. Then Magnuson got involved in a Maloney-Terry Harper fight in the second period which drew game penalties for both the Chicago players.

DENNIS HULL

The goals were No. 35 and 36 of the year for Hull and follow the pair of recent productive seasons in which the native of Point Anne, Ont., scored 30 goals in 1968-69, 40 in 1970-71 and 30 again last year.

Tex-King Hall, who supplied Esposito with all the offence he needed with a goal, at 1:47 of the game.

Rookie Hugh Harris and veteran captain Gerry Meehan provided the Sabres' third-period scoring punch to defeat the Rangers.

Meehan set up Harris with the tying score and then tallied with less than three minutes to go to give Buffalo its first-ever victory on New York ice.

The Rangers held a 33-28 shot advantage in the game and were held scoreless by Dave Dryden after Jean Ratelle had sent New York into a 2-1 lead near the end of the second period.

The win also marked the second straight for Buffalo in meetings with the Rangers and moved the Sabres, fourth in the East, seven points ahead of fifth-place Detroit and just two behind Boston.

Bernard Lemaire and Yvan Cournoyer scored two apiece at Montreal where the Canadiens stretched their lead atop the East to four points over the Bruins.

"The first goal was for Tee," said Cournoyer when the 37th of the season opened the scoring after a centre-ice ceremony honored Toe Blake — Montreal player and coach, Toe Blake.

It was Montreal's first victory in four tries. During the four-game stretch they had tied two.

Coach Scotty Bowman blamed lack of an all-out effort by his wingers for the four-game drought, something that was restored to the offence in Wednesday's win by Lemaire and Cournoyer.

Lemaire Grabs NHL Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jacques Lemaire of Montreal Canadiens scored his 22nd and 23rd goals of the season and assisted on another to move into first place in National Hockey League scoring.

Lemaire now has 39 points, one more than Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins and Rod Gilbert of New York Rangers. Gilbert picked up an assist in Rangers' 3-2 loss to Buffalo Sabres. The Bruins did not play.

Soviet Stars Not on Selects

TORONTO (CP) — Moscow Selects were to start practice sessions here today for their seven-game exhibition hockey tour with only one veteran of the Canada-Soviet September series in their lineup.

The Selects roster was announced Wednesday by Maple Leaf Gardens where the Moscow team meets a squad of Ontario amateurs Sunday.

But with the exception of Vitaly Solodukhin, none of the 21-man roster saw action against Team Canada in the eight game series last September. Solodukhin played in only one game.

Vladimir Astyfev and goalie Victor Zinger, two other Selects players were on the Soviet national team roster but never got to play against Team Canada.

Others on the Moscow Selects lineup: Viktor Krivulapov, Alexander Volchkov, Yevgeny Kaztachkin, Alexis Nikitushkin, Yuri Terekhin, Alexander Filippov, Yuri Gusakov, Vladimir Popov, Nikokai Shorin, Victor Shalimov, Valery Belousov, Yuri Blokhin, Alexander Gusakov, Vladimir Devyatov, Sergei Kapustin, Yevgeny Kotlov, Alexander Lobanov and Alexander Martynyk.

The Moscow club plays in Hamilton Friday night against the Red Wings of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, but the game here Sunday against a squad of OHA junior and senior players.

On Dec. 12, they play in Montreal against the Junior Canadiens who will be strengthened by seven players from the American Hockey League's Nova Scotia Voyageurs.

The roster for the Ontario Selects team has Mark and Marty Howe, Paulin Bordeleau and Glenn Goldup of Toronto Marlboros; Tom Plasic, Doug Dunville, Doug Kelcher, Gary Milroy, Keith Wright, Grant Moore, Mike Draper, Clare Alexander, Jim Keon and Jens Lavesseur of Orillia Terriers; Phil Scott, Corby Adams and Pat Monahan of Barrie Flyers; Henry Monteith of Oakville Oaks; Sonny Pennington of Galt Hornets, and Bob Munro of University of Toronto Blues.

'Toe' Takes Bow

MONTREAL (CP) — Hector (Toe) Blake, one of the greatest coaches in the history of the National Hockey League, was honored Wednesday night in a ceremony before the NHL all-star between Minnesota North Stars and Montreal Canadiens.

Blake, who played 13 seasons with Montreal and coached them another 13, was presented with a punch bowl, in the design of the Stanley Cup, a trophy Canadiens won eight times under his leadership.

"After a night like this . . . it's hard to grope for words," Blake said to a large mid-week Forum crowd. "I never had to sign for $1 million, but let me tell you that hockey is my life and what it has done for me is worth more than $1 million in many ways."

Blake had served until recently as a vice-president and assistant to Canadiens' general manager Sam Pollock. He now is a special adviser to the Montreal club.

Born in 1912 in Victoria Mines, Ont., Blake started his NHL career with the old Montreal Maroons. He shifted to the Canadiens and in 1938-39 and won the scoring championship with 24 goals and 23 assists in 48 games. He also was chosen as winner of the Hart Trophy, an award given annually to the player most valuable to his team.

Blake, who grew up in Coniston, Ont., and played his amateur hockey for Max Silver-man's Sudbury Wolves, received a gift Wednesday night from Silverman.

He was named a first-team all-star three times during his career and made the second all-star team twice.

One hockey personality missing from Wednesday night's festivities was Maurice (Rocket) Richard, who played with and later under Blake with the Canadiens for several years.

Blake said he was disappointed with the absence.

"He must have reasons of his own," Blake commented.

PADRES GET OFFER

SAN DIEGO (AP) — An offer to buy San Diego Padres by a Washington supermarket executive was acknowledged Wednesday by a spokesman for the National League baseball club. Joseph Danzansky, president of the supermarket chain, Giant Food Inc., said Tuesday he offered $11.75 million for the Padres. A spokesman for Bursie Bavasi, who has said the club isn't for sale but is trying to work out financial problems with San Diego city officials, said the president of the Padres "won't deny that figure." "He's been offered real much before from interests in Indianapolis, Buffalo, Toronto or someplace."

76ers Sight on Third

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Apollo 17ers are heading for the moon, but Philadelphia '76ers will settle for third place in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division.

The '76ers are a long way from the moon but they're just 3½ games behind Buffalo Braves following Wednesday night's 122-117 triumph over Kansas City-Omaha Kings, only their third success in 27 starts.

Elsewhere, Baltimore Bullets whipped Portland Trail Blazers 126-105 as Phil Chenier set a club regulation-time record with 53 points, Seattle SuperSonics took Milwaukee Bucks 95-91 and Detroit Pistons downed Phoenix Suns 114-105.

John Q. Trapp scored 16 of his career-high 35 points in the fourth period to pace the '76ers over the Kings. He gave Philadelphia the lead for good at 104-102 on a jumper with 7½ minutes left.

Baltimore's Chenier hit on 22 of 31 shots—he scored 13 points in the final period to help stave off a Portland rally—and erased the 49 points scored by Earl Monroe when he was with the Bullets. Geoff Petrie topped Portland with 26.

Lee Winfield and rookie Bud Stallworth each sank two free throws in the final 12 seconds to help Seattle beat Milwaukee despite 28 points by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Bucks.

Bob Lanier scored 33 points and grabbed a career-high 26 rebounds as Detroit downed Phoenix.

Petes' Winger Injured

TORONTO (CP) — Bob Smulders, a right winger with Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, is in hospital here with multiple injuries suffered in an automobile accident Tuesday near Omemee, Ont.

Smulders, who will be lost to the Petes for the rest of the season, suffered a broken right arm, multiple fractures of the right leg, facial lacerations and internal injuries in the two-car collision.

Following the accident, he was taken to hospital in Lindsay for emergency surgery. Later, he was transferred to hospital here.

Practising His Preaching

One of the unwritten obligations for health ministers is that you have to try and keep yourself credible. For former minister John Munro, it was a four-year losing battle with cigarettes. For new health minister Marc Lalonde, it may be keeping a healthy heart. Wired up and monitored by Dr. John Merriman (right) and Dr. Charles Pierce, Mr. Lalonde shows the stuff he's made of Monday at the opening of the three-day National Conference on Fitness and Health. Mr. Lalonde may find himself needing more political salve than savvy. (CP Photo)

Juneau Fights U.S. Influence in Pay-TV

OTTAWA (CP) — Chairman Pierre Juneau of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission wants to see that broadcasting's newest infant, pay-TV, does not get in the grip of American influence.

As the regulatory agency prepares to tackle pay-TV, Mr. Juneau said in an interview it does not intend to let pay-TV become another channel for mass importation of American culture and mass export of Canadian money.

One American-owned company has begun the system in Toronto hotels.

"We feel it is our responsibility," Mr. Juneau said. "To see to it that this new advance is going to contribute to the development of broadcasting and is not going to be only a repetition of what we have seen in the field of motion pictures.

"For over 60 years, motion picture distribution in Canada has been tremendously successful from a commercial point of view but we have exported all the money—except, you know, for the ushers and managers.

"But we have hardly invested anything in production and millions and millions of dollars—actually, hundreds of millions of dollars—over 60 years have been completely exported with no investment in production."

Mr. Juneau conceded that the CRTC may not have jurisdiction over pay-TV systems that are not linked with master antenna television systems (MATV).

"If it's strictly a closed circuit operation, with no relationship with an MATV system, then a question definitely arises as to whether the CRTC has any authority whatsoever. Then we would not be involved. . . .

"But usually it's difficult to operate the tv separately because if you operate a large building, a hotel, you need an MATV system because your customers want the regular television channels."

And that brings the operation into the CRTC's ballpark.

Mr. Juneau says the CRTC is willing to receive applications for experimental pay-TV operations but wants the applicants to think of ways that pay-TV can help Canadian broadcasting and culture generally.

"How is it going to help the development of more Canadian production? What is it going to do in the existing broadcasting system in the area . . .

"We would like the people who propose experiments to come up with suggestions and not come up with only the problems and let us develop the suggestions. We would like them to do part of the work."

He adds that the CRTC wants to encourage Canadian production, not restrict the right of Canadians to see foreign films on pay-TV.

"There has to be a balance. I personally would be the first one to react against any tendency to deprive me as a citizen of the sort of films I want to see and the sort of plays I want to see and the sort of books I want to read.

"And if I want to read an American book, I want to read an American book. I don't want anybody stopping me from reading it or making it too difficult for me to read the sort of books I want."

In making any Canadian-content regulations for pay TV, the CRTC would take into account the production capability in Canada so as not to set an unrealistic minimum level for Canadian production.

While the CRTC is beginning to grapple with pay-TV, it is also beginning to think about even more advanced developments.

Britain is preparing to introduce a new service, called Cee-Fax, which will enable a viewer to receive news on his television set—stock prices, sport results and other material—all of which would be continually updated.

If the day comes when such service partially takes the place of newspapers, Mr. Juneau said, it would be "unthinkable" that any one organization would be allowed a monopoly over the new distribution technique.

In a city with two newspapers, for example, the distribution system would have to be available to both.

But while the CRTC looks to the future, it also has to fight a rearguard action concerning port activities.

For several years, it has worked to control cable distribution systems that pick up distant television and radio signals and relay them by cable to individual homes.

Among other things, the CRTC has insisted that the cable systems provide a reasonable number of Canadian stations and has restricted the damage done by cable systems to the advertising revenue of local stations.

But Telecrompter Cable Communications Corp. of New York has asked the Federal Court of Canada to declare that its Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., cable firm is not a broadcasting undertaking and thus not liable to CRTC control.

The court action raises the possibility that CRTC efforts to guide cable and pay-TV development might be halted. Even if new legislation were then passed extending CRTC powers, there would still be an interval during which no CRTC direction would exist.

Plant May Save Whale

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A wild plant that grows only in the United States southwest may yield a lubricating oil which can replace sperm whale oil—and thereby stop the commercial slaughter of the seagoing mammals.

Moreover, the jojoba plant is being considered for cultivation by Indians of California and Arizona as a small industry.

To get potential buyers interested in jojoba oil, a professor at the University of California here is having several thousand gallons extracted from jojoba seeds for testing.

Dr. Demetrios M. Yermanos, professor of genetics and head of the project, said:

"Its real potential is as a substitute for sperm whale oil. There are very few plant species which produce an oil with any similarities to sperm whale oil."

Millions of pounds of sperm oil are used each year, said Yermanos, mainly as an additive to lubricating oils for engines and motors.

Jojoba plants grow in abundance on and near reservation areas and therefore, Yermanos thinks, are a logical source of revenue for southwestern Indians.

Welfare Bonus Sought

TORONTO (CP) — Singing a modified version of a Christmas carol, 40 women campaigning for Christmas bonuses for Ontario welfare recipients paraded through the offices of the ministry of community and social services at Queen's Park Wednesday.

The women, all mothers on welfare, are members of a self-help group called Operation Family Rights.

They want special Christmas welfare grants of $20 for each household head and $10 for each dependent.

The cabinet minister said he would have to discuss the request with his colleagues.

Justifiable Homicide

TORONTO (CP) — No charges will be laid against a 24-year-old Toronto man who stabbed an escaped convict to death Tuesday morning during a break-in attempt, police say.

Inspector Jack Webster of the Metropolitan Toronto police homicide division said Wednesday the Crown attorney agreed with police that this was a case of "justifiable homicide."

Police said William Samuels armed himself with a kitchen knife to investigate a noise behind his apartment. After chasing Donald Hickey from behind a store, Mr. Samuels was shot in the chest. He then struggled with Hickey, stabbing him to death.

Mr. Samuels missed death by inches as the bullet passed by his vital organs and through the fleshy part of his chest.

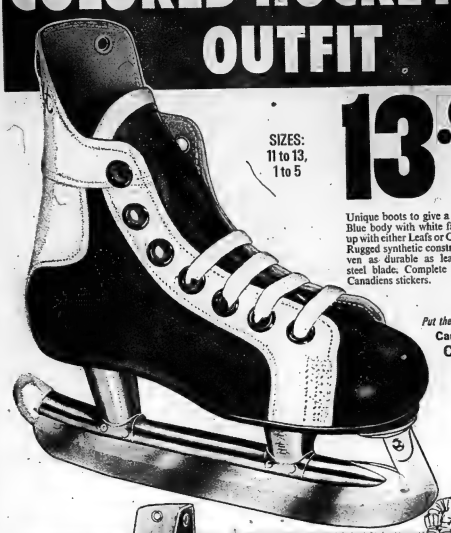
Loses Licence

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto undertaker has lost his licence and is prohibited from renewing it or taking part in the conduct or arrangements of a funeral for a one-year period.

Reginald E. Shrosler, manager of Brown Brothers Funeral Chapel Ltd., was charged last month with the inadequate burial of three indigent persons by the Ontario undertakers' board of administration.



The board's decision, reached Monday, was made public Tuesday by lawyer Barry Swadron.

Ghost Towns Being Stolen

BODIE, Calif. (AP) — Ask a ranger where to find one of California's ghost towns these days, and he's likely to look you over pretty closely. He may look you over when you come back, too.

Or he might just refuse to tell you at all.

The problem is, California's ghost towns are disappearing piece by piece into the backs of campers, four-wheel drive vehicles and even helicopters.

"Up in Boulder Flat, someone hooked a four-wheel drive vehicle onto the porch of one of the log cabins and jerked it away from the building," said Lee Symmonds, historian of Mono County, in east-central California, in an interview.

"It used to be that people hiked or drove into these places to take a few pictures and to poke around a bit. Most of them still probably do. But every year we see more and more vandalism."

One reason is the soaring market value for antiques such as bottles, kerosene lamps and miner's tools.

Symmonds said he once caught thieves dismantling a gold mill that had been donated to the Mono County Museum.

Burglars took $2,000 worth of artifacts from a miner's museum, "the small items like whisky bottles, moustache cups and an opium scale, that have a high value and are easily sold," said Clyde Newlin, a district supervisor of the California division of beaches and parks.

Pot hunters, as they are called, not only dig things up. "They'll even dismantle the interior walls, hoping to find something the owners have cached," said Newlin.

The Claraville Cemetery in the Piute Mountains was torn up, said Richard Bailey, Kern County historian. "They left the bones scattered all over the countryside."

Officials said one team of pot hunters hired a helicopter to get into the rugged canyons of the Inyo Mountains. They practically dismantled one entire town.

Even the curiosity seeker who considers himself innocent may be breaking the law, officials say. He picks up an old bottle or a wheel that appears to belong to no one, and this is theft. If the land is public, it is protected by the 1906 Antiquities Act. If it is private, state theft laws prevail.

Rockey Rockwell, a ranger at Inyo National Forest, won't even tell reporters where the ghost towns are.

"I'd like to, but I just can't," he said. "The pot hunters might find the place if you write about it, and then they'd dismantle it, piece by piece by piece."

Frisco Bay Asks Curbs On Growth

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A San Francisco Bay area regional body is urging its cities and counties to restrict population growth to enhance "the good life."

A resolution urging members in the nine counties to limit their plans for growth to 1.7 percent annually was adopted 34-10 by the general assembly of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The assembly, composed of representatives from 84 of the region's 92 cities and seven of its nine counties, called for a maximum population of 5.5 million people by 1980. That is 900,000 more than the 4.6 million now residing in the region.

"There are other things besides greater economic growth —water and air quality, for instance—that are just as important for the good life in this area," said Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Alameda County Supervisor Joseph Bort said the group should take more stringent action to restrict growth. Present zoning would permit development for 45 million persons, he said.

However, the group rejected a move to use planning and zoning powers itself to limit population.

The resolution adopted by the delegates calls on member cities and counties to:

—Establish land-use controls to limit planned residential areas.

—Restrict accessibility to urban services, such as transportation, water and sewer systems.

—Use zoning to limit locations and types of industries.

—Create tax penalties against economic developments which cause the biggest population increases.

—Set stringent pollution-control policies to curtail growth.

—Reform local tax structures so local agencies do not have to rely so heavily on revenues from growth-oriented property taxes.

Escape Clause

ROMFORD, England (CP) — Retired bank manager Harold West took no chances about death. His insurance policy included cover against being buried alive by instructing that a surgeon should, on his death, pierce his heart for confirmation. As an extra precaution, he arranged that his coffin should not be screwed down—just in case the surgeon bloodcurdling conditions were fulfilled when West died aged 90.

Toast For 2,000

BLACKBURN, England (CP) — For shoe magnate Tommy Ball, 55, inviting a few friends round for a house warming party meant a sumptuous feast for more than 2,000. Guests were greeted with a spread of 200 pounds of black pudding and sausages, two roasted oxen, 1,500 bottles of wine and 1,000 pints of ale—"Didn't want any of them to go without," the Lancashire millionaire said after the party.

Protest Overtime

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pulp and paper mill workers in British Columbia want an end to the industry's exemption from the 40 Hours of Work Act, which means there are no restrictions on the amount of overtime worked. Pat O'Neal, vice-president of the United Paperworkers International Union, says in a letter to IFC's labor department there have been several cases of "excessive overtime."

TIGER BITES PAAR

WEST MILFORD, N.J. (AP) — Television performer Jack Paar, filming a television sequence in which John F. Kennedy Jr., was to appear, was bitten on the wrist by a tiger at a wildlife preserve here Wednesday.

A spokesman for Jungle Habitat, a drive-through zoo, said Paar suffered a torn wrist.

Young Kennedy was not involved in the incident.

The six-month-old tiger weighs 75 to 80 pounds, a spokesman said.

ACTOR GETS 4 YEARS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Norman Gibbs, who appeared in The French Connection and The Godfather, was sentenced to four years in federal prison Wednesday on a charge of smuggling $1.5 million worth of cocaine into the United States.

The 24-year-old resident of New York City pleaded guilty to the charge Oct. 24.

Customs agents found 14 pounds of cocain in a false bottom in Gibbs' suitcase when he returned to Los Angeles from Acapulco, Mexico, July 23.

ACTOR CLEARED

ROME (AP) — French actor Pierre Clementi, 30, has been cleared of drug charges by an Italian court, after he spent 15 months in jail.

The court ruled Wednesday that his conviction was based on insufficient evidence. It upheld a two-year sentence against a friend of the actor, Annamaria Lauricella.

Clementi was found guilty last February after police found cocaine, LSD and marijuana in Miss Lauricella's home, where Clementi was staying.

ACTRESS DIES

LONDON (AP) — Actress Janet Munro, 38, who once reached stardom in British films, collapsed at her apartment Wednesday and was dead on arrival at hospital.

A year ago she was divorced from her husband of 10 years, actor Ian Hendry. They had two children, who were in the flat where she collapsed.

Miss Munro starred in a movie called The Day the Earth Caught Fire and was given an award in 1958 as best TV actress of the year.

Snake Latest Film Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — First rats, then rabbits, now snakes are making the movie scene as stars of a science-fiction film.

Willard, starring a horde of vorscious rats, was last year's surprise hit, breaking a long tradition that odious animals should not be shown on movie screens. A trend was started, and MGM followed with Night of the Lepus, in which giant rabbits threatened mankind.

Now Universal is filming Sssssss.

Sssssss is an unusual movie by an unusual producer, Sam Striepeke. He is undoubtedly the first producer to graduate from makeup man.

Striepeke, 62, has applied makeup to famous faces in such films as The Ten Commandments, West Side Story, The Magnificent Seven, Hawaii and Patton. He also wore one of the makeup wizard John Chambers on the monkey faces for Planet of the Apes.

Striepeke and writer Hal Dresner wrote a script about a scientist who is convinced mankind is doomed, but can be survive almost anything, he reasons, so why not try to transform a man into a snake?

"So he begins giving inoculations to his laboratory assistant," Striepeke said. "The transformation is gradual—peeling of skin, a coldness of the body, thickening of the nose.

"Then in a fight with the villain, the young man strikes with his teeth."

Striepeke took the script to his former boss at 20th Century-Fox, Richard Zanuck, who now is producing films for Universal with David Brown. Within two days the producers agreed to a deal. Within five weeks Sssssss was being filmed.

Paar to Return

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Paar held a news conference the other day at the 21 Club. There was a br, and a lot of people who write about television showed up.

The proceedings had an old-fashioned flavor, partly because you don't see as many news conferences for television stars as you used to. Somebody apparently outlawed them on grounds nothing sensible ever occurs.

But there was Paar, a rebel to the last, talking about his return to night-time television on a once-week-a-month basis next year on the ABC television network.

Paar, who left NBC's Tonight show in 1962 after five lively years, starts doing Jack Paar ... for ABC next Jan. 8 at 11:30 p.m.

L... Cavett, who occupied that time slot on a weekly basis until laid low by ratings, now will do his show just one week each month. Assorted comedy, dramatic and variety shows will fill the intervals between the Paar and Cavett weeks.

Paar emphasized that he agreed to do his shows for ABC only on provision that the network retain Cavett's services.

Paar, who gave Cavett his start as a writer on the old NBC Tonight show, praised Cavett as a "gifted, talented, witty man."

He expressed cautious optimism about his show's future.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

Aries (March 21-April 19): Spend-pect higher costs, larger quantities of anything than planned. Financial opportunities are all tied to long waiting periods.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Abrupt moves provoke their own limitation, endless rounds of discussions where just reasons are concerned.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): It is better to settle for what you can get now than to fritter options away in bickering, looking toward visionary future gains.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Imaginative ideas find few, if any, takers today. Strong feelings build into explosive words, require checking.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Those care about are in various difficult moods, or express wishes that are beyond your ability to fill. Patience!

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Charity begins at home — consider your needs first, work hard to compensate them instead of squabbling with neighbors.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Courtesy and prudence do much to alleviate stress. Making decisions on other people's affairs is particularly sensitive—don't.
